Know your businessmen—

Sheldon frankly says, "Business is GOOD!"

● ● ● ● ● ● ● ●

Len Sheldon says that when he pulled out of a partnership in a Dodge-Plymouth agency at Chariton going on three and a half years ago, two personal resolves prompted his choice of Belmond as his next place to settle.

First, he was determined to locate north of Highway 30 — having had enough of southern Iowa economy. And second, he was set on obtaining a Chevrolet dealership in preference to any other line.

Belmond qualified nicely on both scores, located in prosperous Wright county and with a Chevrolet dealership looking for a buyer. The Chevrolet garage, actually, had been closed down for several months. This meant a lot of hard work was required at the outset to turn Sheldon Chevrolet into a going concern.

Once Len got it cranked into motion, though, a really "going" concern it turned out to be. When he reopened the garage, he had two men on his shop staff and one other salesman beside himself. Today he's operating with four full-time mechanics and a part-time helper in the shop. And George "Coonie" Smith, supplementing as a part-time salesman the full-time efforts of Len and of Rex Benway, helps keep those new-car orders flowing in at a steadily increasing pace.

You won't hear Len doing any dismal talking about "recession" or the effect of farm price fluctuations on his business. He just comes right out and admits that "business is GOOD" — good enough to keep his entire staff working at just about top speed all the time to keep abreast.

Len was born a farm boy at Trenton, Neb., and graduated from high school there before his family moved near Chariton in 1940. He put his farming days behind him when he enlisted in the U. S. Navy in August of 1942. He got in almost 3½ years of service time before his discharge in January of 1946 with a rating of Pharmacist's Mate 1/c.

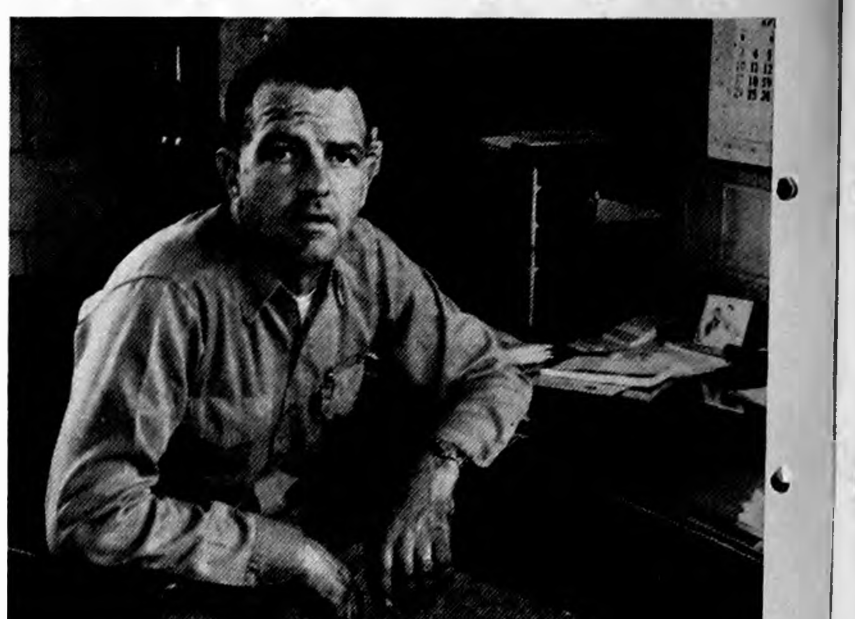
He says the rate was a bit misleading. He was at no time a pill dispenser, but was attached to the accounting division of the Navy medical corps and was, actually, a bookkeeper. Although he wound up his active service career on Okinawa, most of his time in uniform was spent at Washington, D. C. This, he says, was distinctly "good duty."

In fact, when he'd shed Navy blue for civvies, he returned to the same Washington office as a civil service employee. In this capacity, the job began to lose much of its charm and seem pretty routine and short on challenge.

He suddenly decided enough was enough and returned to Chariton, where he obtained the lease on a Skelly service station. This kept him occupied until in late 1949 he went into partnership with Harold Snider in a small commercial empire that included not only the Dodge-Plymouth agency but a small cafe, a Mobilgas service station and a farm delivery service.

As business of the auto agency picked up, the other adjuncts were dropped one at a time until the D-P dealership and garage were making the partners their living — as had been originally intended.

One thing Len noticed with dismay as he was endeavoring to sell Plymouths was that too frequently he sold a prospect on the idea of a new car — but the customer ended up with a Chevrolet. That repeated experience played a big role in his decision to settle for nothing less than a Chevrolet agency when the time arrived to branch out for himself.



LEN SHELDON — HE'LL TALK "CHEVROLET" ANYTIME

Len isn't a bit backward about admitting he regards an agency in this line the most desireable in the entire automotive field.

He isn't overly impressed by the prospects for th new compact cars to take over a really big chunk of the new car market. He's proud of the Corvair as Chevrolet's entry in this field; but he says the car with the big appeal remains the standard models such as the Bel Air four-door eight.

While the more extensive use of foreign compacts in metropolitan areas — espcially those on or near the coasts — left domestic auto manufacturers little choice but to get into the field, Len doesn't expect compacts will get past the "fad" stage in this part of the country. He sees the Corvair as a fine "second car;" but doubts that it or its rivals will cut into the popularity of standards like the Bel Air as "the" family car.

What Should You Do About Last Winter's Anti-Freeze?

Here's What You Should Know!

UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD ANTI-FREEZE SOLUTION REMAIN IN THE COOLING SYSTEM DURING THE SUMMER, as its deterioration will be much more rapid under summer driving conditions. In order to maintain protection against corrosion, drain the anti-freeze solution after one winter's use.

Reference: NAT'L BUREAU OF STANDARDS
→ NBS Circular 506
"Automotive Anti-Freezes"
U. S. Gov't., Printing Office,
Washington 25, D. C.

For maintaining the best possible corrosion protection and cooling efficiency the year around: (1) install a completely fresh filling of anti-freeze in the fall (2) drain solution in the spring (3) add a dosage of summer rust inhibitor to a fresh filling of water for warm weather driving.

Reference: AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR TESTING MATERIALS BOOKLET
1916 Race Road, Philadelphia 3, Pa.

DRAIN ANTI-FREEZE IN THE SPRING after freezing weather is past. Flush the system thoroughly and clean if necessary. Then install a fresh filling of summer rust inhibitor and water.

VOL. 41 NO. 30 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1960 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | 14 PAGES THIS ISSUE

"Unofficial" preliminary count sets Belmond's '60 population at 2,499

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

Jack Star, Chicago editor for Look magazine, and a photographer from New York have been dogging Richard Adams' footsteps this week as he's gone his rounds as Wright county speech and hearing therapist. It appears that "Rick's" story in a last month issue of the Des Moines Register aroused the interest of Look editors, prompting a decision to give the full treatment to the likeable young Negro's experiences in Wright county.

Unfortunately, the magazine pair weren't geared up to start their picture-taking and note-jotting when Rick made his weekly call on Belmond this past Monday. Whether that will cost Belmond its chance at the limelight, we don't know.

Monday night, Star and his camera companion covered a Rotary meeting at Eagle Grove at which Mr. Adams was speaker. Not too surprisingly, there was 100 per cent attendance! Because Rick is being married before the piece will appear in the magazine, his sweetheart is being brought to Clarion from Iowa City tomorrow so some candid shots of them can be included. Wedding's set for early June; publication date (tentative), a couple of weeks later.

Cleaning some clutter out from under a hedge on his front lawn the first of this week, John Van Gerpen grasped with idle curiosity an envelope amongst the debris. It was addressed to Northwestern Bell Telephone company at Des Moines — and contained a check for $9.01, ostensibly in payment of a month's phone bill. The stamp on the envelope apparently had been washed off by rain. John packaged the whole deal up in another envelope and mailed it to the Des Moines signer of the check — whose bank account will no doubt balance the better for this good deed performed.

Ray McDowell, 48, of Goldfield last week learned the hard way that it's dubious wisdom to pick up hitch-hikers. Monday of last week, en route to Dubois, Wyo., the Wright countian picked up a wayfarer by the name of Leslie Thompson. The latter remained a companion of McDowell's all the way to Wyoming and back.

On Thursday they drove to Des Moines and Friday morning were en route to Iowa City, where McDowell had an appointment. It was still early in the morning and McDowell had been catching some shut-eye while Thompson drove, when the latter suddenly began to beat up the Goldfield man, hurled him from the car — and continued the beating as McDowell lay in the ditch.

Recovering consciousness 16 miles east of Grinnell, McDowell found his car gone. A passer-by picked him up and took him to a Grinnell hospital. There he told Sheriff Bill Welsh, "He seemed like such a nice fellow!" . . . Police throughout the midwest are on the lookout for Thompson — and McDowell's auto.

Jack Williams' fellow Jaycees are viewing him with new respect these days, since he was chosen as one of the judges for the Miss Forest City contest held last Saturday. They're cultivating Williams' friendship, trying to learn the secret of how you get an assignment like that.

When we received the BHS ratings in the state music contest for vocalists and small ensembles held last week at Iowa Falls, we suspected that Vocal Director Ivan Kortkamp might have been left less than happy by the meager number of Division I's bestowed upon entries of his department. We know he's not less competent than when his vocalists were reaping greater honors, for his a cappella choir continues to be one of the finest high school choruses you'd be apt to find anywhere — and its concerts are the high points of any school year.

But while BHS instrumental music fortunes have risen under the skilled direction of Maurice Fahrney, the vocal music fortunes have waned despite Mr. Kortkamp's no less skillful guidance. We decided we'd pin Ivan down on his own explanation.

After expressing praise for the fine success enjoyed by the BHS instrumentalists, Ivan reluctantly (at our urging) confessed envy of the privilege Maurice has enjoyed of (1) being permitted to confine his teaching to his specialty and (2) having direction of the junior high band. A similar opportunity to "stick by his last" would strengthen the vocal department, Mr. K. opined. Meanwhile, he's doing the best he can with time allowed; and feeling pretty frustrated. These comments, we repeat, we COAXED from him. They weren't volunteered.

Belmond "makes" (anonymously) the popular Reader's Digest feature, "Life in These United States," in the May issue via an item submitted by Shirley Karpan, 22, of Kansas City, Mo. Shirley is a niece of Mrs. Russell Schaal, a journalism graduate of Drake university — and, currently, an airline hostess.

Miss Karpan's tale, which was reported last Sunday in Gordon Gammack's D. M. Register column (she's a Des Moines native), had to do with her description of corn detasseling for the benefit of a city-bred airline passenger. After listening incredulously, the passenger blurted, "Welll I always new sex was corny, but I never knew corn was so sexy."

What prompted this outburst was Miss Karpan's detailed explanation of how she'd detasseled hybrid corn as a young girl. It was in the summer of 1952 (when Shirley's mother, Mrs. Schaal's sister, died) and of 1953 that Shirley was a Tomco detasseler here. Nice bonus ($100) she just got, if a bit [illegible].

THESE BHS STUDENTS were chosen as charter members of Chester P. Luick chapter of the National Honor Society and were installed in membership by a group of visiting NHS members from Osage High school Wednesday afternoon of last week. Only missing member when this picture was taken last Friday was Clark McNeal, a senior, who has been elected president of the society for the balance of the school year. Others elected to offices were: Nancy Gallagher, vice president; Linda Hauge, secretary; and Eloise Soma, treasurer. Nine seniors and seven juniors were named full members of NHS and three sophomores as probationary members. Pictured above are, left to right: front row — Bonnie Nolan, Lynn Jenison, Miss Soma, Miss Hauge, Miss Gallagher, Kay Stecher, Carol Finn; second row — Judy Gordon (probationary), Barbara Musselman, Nancy Halfwassen (probationary), Sharon Christensen, Ardith Pals, Mary Cox, Diane Fetrow, Randi Dahlgran (probationary); top row — Jerry Jenison, Dennis Anderson, Paul Thompson.

16 BHS music entries top rated

Twelve Division I ratings were awarded to the Belmond High school instrumental department at the state music contest held last weekend at Iowa Falls, and four top ratings went to entries of the vocal music department.

Vocal soloists given "superior" ratings were: Ardith Pals, treble voice high; and Kathryn Finn, treble voice medium. Vocal groups that received Division I's were: mixed quartet — Velda Mennenga, Loree Baker, Gailen Vanness and Randy Brandmeyer; and boys double quartet — Gordon Johnson, Charles Svendsen, Dwight Mennenga, Richard Henn, Randy Brandmeyer, Randy Braner, George Wilson and Kenneth Johnson.

Div. I instrumental soloists

Instrumental soloists awarded Division I were: Randi Dahlgran, flute; Ronnie Heykants, clarinet; Loree Baker, alto saxophone; Dwight Mennenga, French horn; and Sharon Christensen, snare drum.

Woodwind groups top-rated were: clarinet trio — Ronnie Heykants, Shirley Davis, Bonnie Nolan; clarinet quartet — Heykants, Davis, Nolan, and Kristine Thompson; woodwind trio — Dahlgran, Heykants, Jon Hruska; woodwind quintet — Dahlgran, Heykants, Hruska, Barbara Packard, Dwight Mennenga.

Division II vocalists

Division II's in the vocal competition were awarded to three vocalists: Bette Johnson and Mary Cox, treble voice high; and Linda Hauge, treble voice medium.

Band, choir to contest

Instrumental soloists who received Division II ratings were: Nancy Halfwassen, alto saxophone; Kay Stecher, tenor saxophone; Gary Porter, cornet; Nadyne Johnson, snare drum. Randi Dahlgran, a student of Mr R. W. Courson, got a Division II as a piano soloist.

This Saturday the BHS a cappella choir and concert band go to Nevada to compete in the state music contest for large groups.

Host team sets seven records—

Blessed by an absence of wind and reasonably mild temperature, the 3rd annual Bronco Relays thrilled a good-sized crowd at the BHS athletic field Tuesday night with some fine performances as Belmond walked off with the Class A championship and Buffalo Center picked up the Class B team trophy.

This was the first year the field was split into two classes, so all the Class B achievements stood as records. Ten Class A marks were erased, seven of the new records being produced by Belmond entries.

One misfortune marred the meet. In the high jump, Emmett Studebaker of Kanawha mysteriously broke both bones in his left leg, a few inches above the ankle, as he was leaving the ground on a high jump effort. He is a senior and the son of former Belmond residents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Studebaker.

Dave Suntken, the Broncos' sprint ace, had a hand in three new records. He broke the high jump mark, set a new low in the 100-yard dash and led off the Belmond 880-yard relay team that was seven-tenths of a second off the old mark with a 1:38.1 timing. Jay Mennenga, Lynn Jenison and Mike Long completed the foursome.

Larry Kramer strode through the mile in 4:37.1 with absolutely no competition to knock 11.1 seconds off the record he'd set last spring. He also anchored the record-breaking medley quartet, that also included Vernon Pastour, Bob O'Connor and Jenison, which was 1.8 seconds off the former mark with a time of 3:54.2.

Bob Whipple got off his best football throw to date — a robust heave of 198 ft. 3½ in., that was nearly 12 feet over the previous record. In the shot put, Larry Tideback's 42 ft. 4¾ in. added 2¾ in. to the mark established two years ago by Tom McNulty.

Mike Long, besides having a hand in the Broncos' 880-yard and mile relay victories, placed second in the broad jump and was so close to Bill Roe of Garner at the finish of the 120-yard low hurdles that both contenders were given the same time of :14.4. Roe, however, was ruled first by an eyelash. This was a new event so the time stands as a record.

Only Class A trophy that the host Broncos permitted to leave town was that won by Garner in the 440-yard relay. Vernon and Dennis Pastour, Robbie Courson and O'Connor teamed up in the two-mile for a victory, as did Suntken, O'Connor, Jenison and Long in the mile relay.

Shyrock of Nevada was responsible for a new mark in the broad jump, Hochhaus of Britt in the pole vault and Samson of Nevada in the discus.

In Buffalo Center's drive to the Class B championship, Mickey Costigan and Glenn Tjaden each accounted for two individual victories and each ran on two out of three of the Bisons' winning relay combinations.

Following are the Class A results:

Broad jump — 1. Shyrock (N), 2. Long (B), 3. Gargano (St. Ed.), 4. V. Pastour (B), 5. Sutherland (N); 20 ft. 3¾ in. (new record; old record 19-8, Lande, BC)

High jump — 1. Suntken (B), 2. Stroh (G), 3-5 tie Roe (G), O'Connor (B), Peterson (Br), Hanson (FC); 5 ft. 9¾ in. (new record; old record 5-9, Suntken)

Football throw — 1. Whipple (B), 2. Smith (N), 3. Nedved (G), 4. Mason (B), 5. Rissitter (St. Ed.); 198 ft. 3½ in. (new record; old record 186-4, Tillotson, Nevada)

Shot put — 1. Tideback (B), 2. Miller (Br), 3. Whipple (B), 4. Schmidt (N), 5. Samson (N); 42 ft. 4¾ in. (new record; old record 42-2, McNulty)

Pole Vault — 1. Hochhaus (Br), tie 2-3. Rettamaier (St. Ed.) and Klaus (G), tie 4-5. Burk (B) and Shepherd (N); 10 ft. 1 in. (new record; old record 10-0, Hochhaus)

Discus — 1. Samson (N), 2. Brka (Br), 3. Pals (B), 4. Murray (B), 5. Miller (Br); 134 ft. (new record; old record 116-3, Samson)

Two-mile relay — 1. Buffalo Center (Drake, Bond, Olson, Weaver), 2. Klemme, 3. Dows; 9:12

880-yard relay — 1. Boone Valley (Neuberger, Tjille, Palmer, Mandsager), 2. Kanawha, 3. Sheffield; 1:40.9

Low hurdles — 1. Schwab (D), 2. Overgaard (V), 3. Coe (V); :14.7

ONE OF BELMOND'S most dependable track performers this spring has been Robbie Courson, whose excellent half-mile times have helped make the Bronco two-mile relay team among the state's best in Class A. This fine picture of Courson passing a Twin Rivers runner in the Humboldt Relays on Tuesday night of last week was taken by John Jaqua of the Humboldt Republican and Independent, a metropolitan press photographer before returning to Humboldt to join his father, Lawrence Jaqua, in publication of the Jaqua Printing company's twin weeklies. A news photo taken by John was judged "Best News Picture" entered in that contest classification at the 1960 Iowa Press association convention early this month.

McNeal winner of Grain Millers' scholarship test

Clark McNeal was presented with first prize of $50 for having scored highest in the scholarship test recently conducted among a group of more than 50 Belmond High school seniors contending for a $500 scholarship to be presented by the American Federation of Grain Millers, AFL-CIO.

Local prizes provided by Local No 25 of the Federation were awarded Wednesday just before noon at an all-high school assembly held in the auditorium. Besides the top prize to Mr. McNeal, a $30 second prize went to Carol Finn and the third prize of $20 went to Linda Stevens.

According to provisions of the state contes, a maximum of five out of 25 multiple choice questions could be missed without making a contestant ineligible for the $500 scholarship.

Harm "Bud" Meyers, local union president, and Elden Boyd, the local's educational chairman, say that these questions were obviously more difficult than had been intended as not one of the Belmond seniors taking the test missed less than six. The two union officials attended the special assembly yesterday to hand the winner's their checks.

Mr. Boyd advised The Independent that entries were received from only two other Iowa cities. Whether two or more scholarship contenders were advanced from tests held in these other communities, he did not know. He planned, however, to check with state union authorities to see if the Belmond winner cannot be given full consideration for the college scholarship despite having missed one more than the maximum allowance on the multiple choice questions.

NEOMA ENJOYS TRIP

Neoma Johnson and two girl friends from Minneapolis, Minn., stopped for a call a week ago Monday evening in the parental Talferd Johnson home. The young women were returning to Minneapolis after spending a 10-day Easter vacation on a sight-seeing trip to Florida and other southern states.

Preliminary "unofficial" figures on the census counts in the major communities in Wright county — and also in Hancock — were obtained this week by The Independent, showing Belmond's numerical growth during the 1950-60 decade to be the largest of any city or town in the two counties.

Belmond's total as released Tuesday to Mayor L. T. Trafford by Census Supervisor Bill E. Algood of Fort Dodge is 2,499. This is an increase of 330, or practically 15 per cent, over the 2,169 officially reported for 1950. In 1940, the local census was reported at 2,109.

Garner, with an unofficial gain of 309 — from 1,696 in 1950 to 2,005 — was the only near-by community reported to have had a larger percentage increase than Belmond's. The Garner gain represented a jump of 18 per cent and enabled it to come very close to overtaking Britt as Hancock county's largest city. Britt experienced only a six per cent increase, amounting to 116 persons and raising its total to 2,024.

Garner population figures for the past three decades have been: 1940, 1,549; 1950, 1,696; and 1960 (unofficial) 2,005. Britt figures have been: 1940, 1,813; 1950, 1,908; 1960 (unofficial) 2,024.

Belmond's population gain from 1950 to the latest census surpassed both Eagle Grove's and Clarion's by a comfortable margin. Eagle Grove picked up 238 in population, bringing its total to 4,414; and Clarion by unconfirmed report added only 130, raising its total to 3,280.

Between 1940-50, Clarion had the biggest gain in Wright county (179), from 2,971 to 3,150; Eagle Grove increased 152, from 4,024 to 4,176; and Belmond gained only 60, from 2,109 to 2,169.

Compared to Belmond's 15 per cent gain for the past decade, Eagle Grove's population increase to 4,414 represented a 5.4 per cent rise; and Clarion's jump to 3,280 was only a 4.1 percentage increase.

"Unofficial" figures released by Jack Allen, Hancock county census director, showed a fairly respectable population gain at Klemme, a rise of 60 from 555 to 615; but a slight drop was shown at Kanawha, and Goodell lost a total of five, dropping from 242 to 237.

With the Hancock county total not yet arrived at, Mr. Allen said that an early preliminary count indicated a virtual certainty that the county figure for 1960 is unlikely to exceed — and perhaps will not reach — 1,400. This compares to an official 15,077 in 1950.

Mr. Algood advised The Independent this week that the Wright county population total will not be available for a short time yet, as early this week not all enumerators from Wright had turned their books in to the district office.

ONE OF MANY GOP state presidential convention delegates who had the opportunity to meet State Senator Jack Schroeder of Scott county (right) at Des Moines last Friday was Gerhard Thompson of Norway township. Although he had little chance to engage in conversation with the Republican governorship candidate, Mr. Thompson says he was "favorably impressed" by the young legislator. Mr. Thompson added, "I have liked the program he has announced, in urging support of his candidacy. It strikes me as a sound one."

DOWS PHYSICIAN HONORED

Dr. G. E. Schnug of Dows was one of 15 Iowa physicians honored Sunday at the annual convention of the Iowa State Medical society by election to life membership in that organization. This honor is bestowed upon doctors who have practiced medicine for 50 years and have been members of the medical society for not less than 30 years.

Personnel of the Belmond post office last Saturday evening honored Ed Tracy on the occasion of his retirement from the postal service by holding a dinner-dance for him and Mrs. Tracy at Veterans' Memorial hall. As a highlight of the evening, the veteran carrier was awarded a citation from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield on his retirement after nearly 40 years in the postal service.

Participating in the courtesy for the Tracys were Postmaster and Mrs. George Jenison, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kessler, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Luick, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cramer and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hanson; also Mr. and Mrs. Charles Studebaker from Kanawha.

Mr. Tracy's first employment by the postal department was as a temporary "rural letter carrier" out of the Portsmouth, Ia., post office in 1920. This covered only a few days' time; but Ed liked the sample and on Dec. 3, 1920, was hired as a substitute city carrier at Mason City. He became a regular city carrier there on March 1, 1921.

In December of the same year, Mr. Tracy became a regular postal clerk at Mason City. His switch to rural carrier out of the Belmond post office came as a result of an exchange of jobs with Leo Kernan on Sept. 1, 1939. The Belmond rural carrier preferred the clerk's job that Ed held; and Ed had a preference for the rural delivery assignment.

Ed filled the position of rural carrier continuously — except for vacations — from the time of his "swap" with Mr. Kernan until his official retirement as of March 31 this spring.

No appointment as to Mr. Tracy's successor as rural carrier has been made, as yet.

City offers words of advice

Special attention is called to the advertisement placed in this issue by the city of Belmond citing ordinances whose enforcement is particularly essential at the present time of year.

Speaking for himself and the council, Mayor L. T. Trafford says, "We want these ordinances to fulfill the function for which they were put on the books. Enforcement of them will be to the distinct benefit of the great majority of Belmond's residents."

This notice in regard to the licensing and restraint of dogs, keeping property clean and disposing of refuse will be found on page two.

Mennenga funeral held on Tuesday

Funeral services for Margaret Mennenga, 68, life-long resident of Belmond, were held Tuesday afternoon at the Immanuel Reformed church. Rev. Julius Brandt officiated and Johnston Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in the Belmond cemtery, the following serving as pallbearers: George, Henry, Arnold, Harry and Elmer Mennenga and Kenneth Kephart.

Miss Mennenga died last Saturday morning at Belmond Community hospital, where she had been a patient for only two weeks. She had, however, been in failing health for a period of several months.

Born near Belmond on Dec. 30, 1891, Miss Mennenga was the youngest of 10 children born to Hey and Margaret Mennenga. She made her home with her parents for many years and cared for them until their deaths. The last two years of her life she resided at the Johnson Nursing Home here.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by two sisters, Catherine and Henrietta; and three brothers, Folerich, Heiko and Titus. Surviving are four brothers — Menno of Waterloo, Fred of Watford City, N. D., John of Belmond and Bernard of Santa Monica, Calif.

All of the pallbearers were nephews of the deceased.

WCARC MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Wright County Association for Retarded Children will hold its next regular monthly meeting at the Lincoln Elementary school in Eagle Grove on Wednesday of next week at 8:00 p. m.

City to sell issue of revenue bonds

A hearing on the issuance of $50,000 in water revenue bonds was advertised by the city of Belmond in the Independent issue of April 21 for Monday of next week, May 2, at 8:00 p. m. At the same hour, sealed bids will be received on the issue of bonds and if there are no bona fide objections they will be sold to the highest bidder for cash.

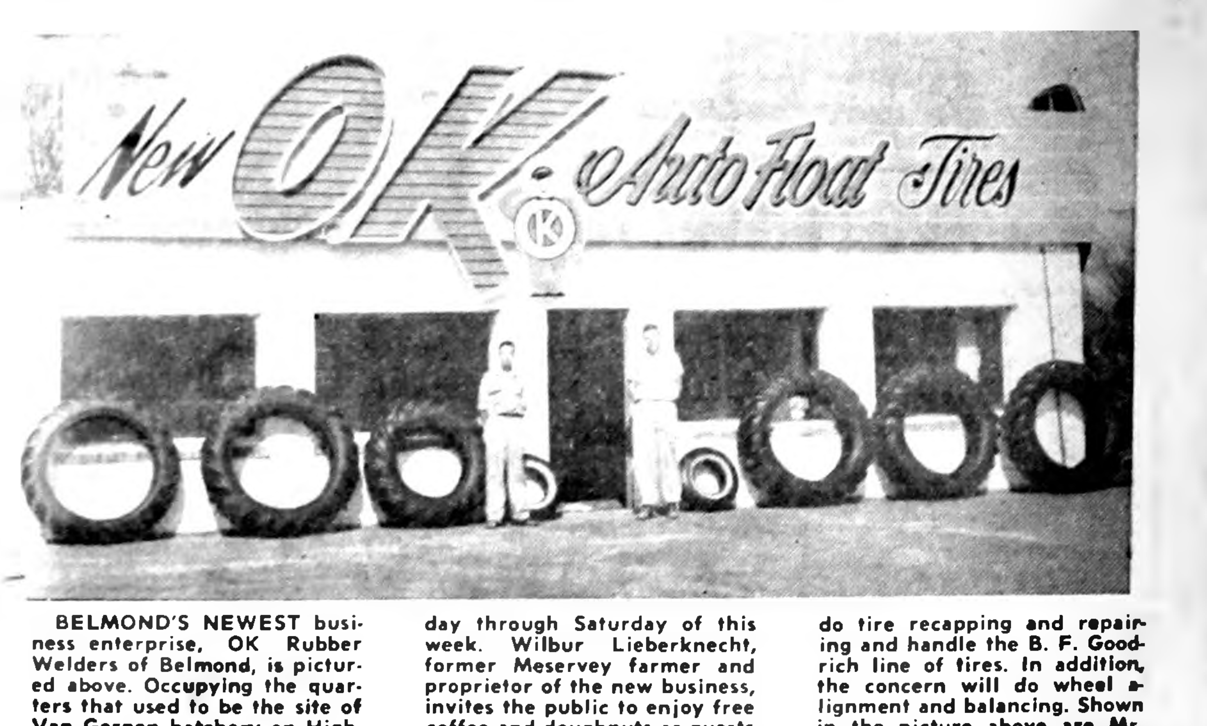
These revenue bonds will enable the city to pay for the purchase and construction of the new water tower on "the hill," without placing a general obligation against the municipal debt limit.

City Clerk Lois Hammond says that about $15,000 is in the water fund at present and that its income is sufficient at present rates to pay for the tank — plus new mains to serve with water "the hill" residential area — in six years' time.

Paid for wholly out of waterworks revenue, the bonds are scheduled for retirement at the rate of $8,000 annually on each May 1 for the next four years — starting 1961 — and then $9,000 on May 1 of 1965 and 1966.

Mrs. G. Janssen wins $25

Mrs. Gerald Janssen of Goodell was at the right place at the right time with the right number and as a consequence picked up 25 easy dollars in spending money Tuesday afternoon. Holders of the other $375 worth of numbers posted Tuesday failed to make an appearance, so the other 11 prizes that were "available" went unclaimed. For next Tuesday afternoon, the award fund is being returned to the $400 level to allow for the customary eight $25 prizes to be posted at 2:00 p. m. and four $50's at 3:00 o'clock.



BELMOND'S NEWEST business enterprise, OK Rubber Welders of Belmond, is pictured above. Occupying the quarters that used to be the site of Van Gerpen hatchery on Highway 69, the new tire firm is holding its grand opening today through Saturday of this week. Wilbur Lieberknecht, former Meservey farmer and proprietor of the new business, invites the public to enjoy free coffee and doughnuts as guests of OK Rubber Welders on Friday or Saturday. The firm will do tire recapping and repairing and handle the B. F. Goodrich line of tires. In addition, the concern will do wheel alignment and balancing. Shown in the picture above are Mr. Lieberknecht, at left, and his assistant, Dwight Daniels.

BETROTHAL of their daughter Linda is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Wolters. She is engaged to wed Roger Olson of Klemme. A June ceremony is planned.

WSCS OF METHODIST CHURCH WILL HOLD CENTENNIAL LUNCHEON

Annual spring luncheon of the Women's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church, to be held Thursday of next week at the church parlors, will take the form of a centennial celebration. It will mark the first beginnings of the Belmond Methodist church, back in 1860

Anyone interested is welcome to attend the potluck luncheon or the program which will follow. Persons wishing to dress in centennial costume for the occasion are cordially urged to do so.

"'Way Back When" pictures of groups and individuals will be displayed. It is the committee's hope that no less than 100 women will be in attendance to make the luncheon affair worthy of the centennial observance.

New officers, headed by Mrs. Dorothy McNeal, who was reelected as president, will be installed for the 1960-61 activity year. Worship will be in the charge of Mrs Guy McClenahan and the lesson will be given by Mrs R. H. Gowdy.

On the centennial luncheon committee are Mrs Russell Porter, Mrs. Luther Proeger, Sr., Mrs Frank Pruisman and Mrs Ed Gabrielson. In charge of the nursery will be Mrs. Duane Thompson.

Two April meetings held by Beta Sigma Phi sorority

Beta Sigma Phi sorority met April 4th at the home of Carol Ann Waddington. Ethel Brunes gave the lesson "The Printed Word and Your Life," using Art Linkletter's latest book.

On April 25th, the sorority met at the home of Genn Monson. Marvis Tideback presented the lesson "Make An Art of Living." Plans for the Founder's Day dinner and the Mother's Day breakfast were discussed.

A pot-luck dinner in the home of Mr and Mrs Glenn Meints Sunday honored her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Lerdal, on her birthday anniversary.

WRIGHT COUNTY has two directors on the board for the northern area of the Central Iowa Farm Business association, which has its headquarters at Webster City. They are Harold Nelson of Belmond, top row left; and Jack Burt of Rowan, third from right in bottom row. President of the association is C. Berhard Schrager of Dows and also among the directors is Howard Schwieger of Dows (standing next to Nelson, above), both of whom live in Franklin county. Kenneth Oakleaf of Webster City is northern area fieldman. The CIFB association has grown in membership from 79 in 1957 to a current total of 315 members, whose farms vary in size from 80 to 1,200 acres. Business volume done on these farms ranges from a gross profit return of $10,000 to $150,000 and averages $30,000.

● OBITUARY

ALBERT J. ANDERSON

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, April 18, at the Lutheran church of Holmes for Albert J. Anderson, 46, Belmond township farmer. Rev. Jordan Jacobson officiated.

Mr. Johnson suffered fatal injuries the preceding Friday when he fell from a tractor he was driving and was run over by a stalk chopper. Since he had for some time been subject to diabetic attacks, it was conjectured by his family that such an attack may have been responsible for the tragic mishap.

Mrs. Anderson made a practice of watching her husband as closely as possible when he was working in the field and on the day of his death had noted by means of binoculars that the unmanned tractor had stalled against a fence.

Driving to the field, she discovered the accident of which her husband had fallen victim.

Surviving in addition to his widow are Mr. Anderson's three sons: Leslie, an Iowa State university student and twice a national intercollegiate wrestling champion; Lyle of Belmond and Lowell of Holmes. Other survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lars Anderson of Eagle Grove; several brothers and sisters and four grandchildren.

Film Highlights

COMING ATTRACTIONS

"The 30-foot Bride of Candy Rock" is a spoof on science fiction movies that matches Lou (Mr. 5x5) Costello with a beauteous blonde six times his height. Sharing Thursday-through-Saturday's twin bill is "Timbuktu," a seething tale of World War II intrigue and violence in the French Sudan. Victor Mature and Yvonne de Carlo provide the dramatics AND romantics.

"One-night stands and one-night loves . . . hearts he broke and habits he couldn't . . . the women who passed through his life — and the one who stayed . . . " That's the publicity rundown on "The Gene Krupa Story," which occupies the New Belmond screen Sunday through Tuesday. Sal Mineo plays the noted jazz drummer — but the fantastic drumbeats that won Krupa a reputation as perhaps the greatest drummer of them all were recorded by Gene himself.

Paul Muni gives one of his great performances in "The Last Angry Man," next Wednesday and Thursday. In this picturization of Gerald Green's novel of the same name, Muni portrays a crusty, aging physician whose clientele is drawn from a city slum neighborhood. The National Legion of Decency gave this film A-1 classification, observing, "The self-sacrifice and dedication to humanity which characterize the life of Dr. Sam Abelman are intellectually rewarding as well as heart-warming."

Miss Sharon Kramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Kramer of Garner, became the bride of Richard Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. LuVerne Smith of Belmond, in a ceremony performed at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 10, at the Evangelical and Reformed church at Garner. Rev. Albert Guthmiller officiated.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. H. G. Voetberg. LeRoy Bredlow, soloist, sang "Because" before the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" at the close of the ceremony

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white lace, fashioned with a scoop neckline, short sleeves, and a full ballerina length skirt. She wore white lace mitts and carried a bridal bouquet of yellow roses. Her veil of illusion net was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Rosalie Rios of Garner, maid of honor, wore a gown of nile green chiffon over taffeta, and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations. Bridesmaids were Judy Kramer, sister of the bride, and Karen Jass, cousin of the bride, both of Garner.

Ronald Smith of Des Moines served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Allan Meints and Dwight Davis of Belmond. Guests were seated by Fred Cronk of Belmond and Charles Jass of Garner. The men of the wedding party wore dark trousers and ties and white dinner jackets and carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was dressed in a Navy blue dress with matching accessories and the groom's mother wore a brown suit with beige accessories. Each wore a yellow rose corsage.

A four-tiered wedding cake centered the table for the reception for 125 in the church parlors that followed the ceremony. It was cut and served by Mattie Farmer, aunt of the groom, and Mrs Harold Rapp of Garner.

Mrs. Calvin Kraus, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. James Jass, friend of the bride, presided at the coffe service.

Waitresses were Donita Stanley, Joan Klesel, Connie Jass and Carolyn Jass and Emilie Thome and Marilyn Weiland were in charge of the gift table. All are Garner friends of the bride

Mrs. Smith is a 1958 graduate of Garner High school and Mr. Smith graduated with the Class of '58 from Belmond High school. After a brief wedding trip south, the newlyweds are now at home in Belmond.

The bride is employed in the office of Northwestern Bell Telephone company at Garner and the groom is employed by Fullerton Lumber company at Belmond.

Several neighbors and friends surprised Mrs. Ernest Basener Friday afternoon at her home. They helped celebrate her birthday. Lunch was served by Mrs. Herbert Basener.

NANCY L. GABRIELSON AND LARRY FLANAGAN MARRIED APRIL 16TH

Nancy Lee Gabrielson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gabrielson, and Larry Joseph Flanagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Flanagan, were married on the morning of Saturday, April 16, at 10:00 o'clock at the chapel of St. Thomas Aquinas church in Ames. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. James Supple.

The bride was attired in a suit of cocoa brown and beige and wore a corsage of yellow roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister Connie, who wore a coral sweater dress with a white rose corsage.

The altar was decorated with Easter lilies and lighted candelabra. A background of soft music was provided by the church organist.

Members of the immediate families attended the ceremony, after which luncheon was served the wedding party in the dining room of the Sheldon-Munn hotel.

After a short wedding trip to Kansas City, Mo., the newlyweds are at home at 1320 Grand ave., Ames, where the groom is in his junior year of study at Iowa State university.

Meservey club may back organizing of Alexander club

It was voted to support the Meservey Garden club in its city park project.

Mrs. George Richards of Alexander was a guest. The president, Mrs. Jacob Pals, appointed Mrs. Harland Blewett, Mrs. Robert Raecker and Mrs. H. C. Fischer as a committee to assist in organizing a Woman's club in Alexander if there is sufficient interest.

Music was presented by a clarinet trio comprised of Sharon Kuhlers, Barbara Steenhard and JoAnn Nordman; and a clarinet quartet — made up of Barbara Steenhard, JoAnn Nordman, Susan Jurgenson and Dixie Lee Koenen.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

Meservey women at WSWS parley

The Women's Society of World Service of the Meservey EUB church was represented at the Mason City district meeting held at the Sheffield Zion church a week ago Tuesday by the following:

Mmes. Robert Raecker, district leader; Frank Guth, Garfield Raecker, Herman Fischer, G. E. Jurgenson, Walter Koehler, Ralph James, Herbert Basner, C. J. Wendel, Virgil Schluter, Vern Schluter, Clara James and Rev. and Mrs. V. E. Shickell.

Total attendance was 117, with representatives from Ackley, Allison, Britt, Stilson, Goodell, Ventura, Mason City, Manly, Dumont Bethany, Bolan, Nora Springs, Sheffield Zion, Sheffield Westfork, Aredale and Meservey. The noon luncheon was served by the ladies of the Sheffield church.

One state officer, Mrs. F. W. Bochmann, was in attendance and spoke to the group in the morning. Workshops were held and all took an active part.

The Meservey Highschool Junior and Senior banquet was held at the school auditorium Saturday evening.

John Kolb of Latimer drove to Meservey Sunday to get his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kolb, and have them spend the day with he and his wife. He brought them home in the evening.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Notice is hereby given that in the Council Chambers in the City Hall at Belmond, Iowa, on the 2nd day of May, 1960, at 8:00 o'clock P. M. bids will be received for Water Revenue Bonds of said City, in the amount of $50,000.00; sealed bids will be received, after which open bids will be received and thereupon the sealed bids will be opened and the bonds will then be sold to the highest bidder for cash.

That said bonds will be dated May 1, 1960, and will mature as follows:

$8,000.00 on May 1, 1961
$8,000.00 on May 1, 1962
$8,000.00 on May 1, 1963
$8,000.00 on May 1, 1964
$9,000.00 on May 1, 1965
$9,000.00 on May 1, 1966

Interest on said bonds will be payable on November 1, 1960, and semiannually thereafter. Principal and interest will be payable at the office of the City Treasurer of Belmond, Iowa. These bonds are not general obligations of the city but are payable solely and only out of the future earnings of the Municipal Waterworks System of the City of Belmond, Iowa.

The obligation of the bonds will constitute a lien on the improvements for which said bonds are issued to pay, and will also constitute a first lien on the net earnings of the Municipal Waterworks System of Belmond, Iowa.

All bids shall specify the rate or rates of interest, and all other things being equal, the bid at par and accrued interest and bid for lowest interest rate will be given preference. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder offering the lowest interest cost, which will be determined by aggregating the interest payable by the City over the life of the bonds in accordance with the terms of each bid presented, and deducting therefrom the premium, if any, stipulated in said proposal. Said bonds will be sold subject to the approving opinion of Bannister, Carpenter, Ahlers & Cooney, Attorneys, of Des Moines, Iowa, as to the legality, and their opinion will be furnished, together with the printed bonds, and all bids will be so conditioned.

Five senior girls seek queen title

Five "princesses" have been elected from among girls of the BHS senior class from among whom the "Queen" will be chosen by student vote to reign over the annual May Fete, to be held at 7:30 p. m. next Wednesday at the high school auditorium.

Nominated for the title of "Queen" by vote of the general student body were Bonnie Nolan, Linda Hauge, Eloise Soma, Carole Kurtz and Kate McLaughlin. The girl winning the title will be crowned by Sondra Stoltenberg, the 1959 May Queen.

As usual, the program will consist of physical education demonstrations of various types by students from the elementary, junior high and high school classes. Girls of the eighth grade will perform the traditional winding of the May Pole.

LUTHERAN AREA MEETING

A Joint Area Fellowship meeting of members of various Lutheran churches in this area will be held Sunday at 8:00 p. m. at the Holmes Lutheran church. The message will be presented by Rev. Oscar [illegible]aaveg of the St. Olaf-Trinity parish, Belmond.

COMING EVENTS —

TUESDAY, MAY 3—
The ladies of Clarmond Country club will hold their organizational meeting at 2:00 p. m. All lady members are asked to be present.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 4—
Home Study club will meet at the Blue Bell tea room with Donna Toftey and Adele Johnson as hostesses. Roll call will be a plant exchange.

Twister believed to have smashed hoghouse to bits

A small "twister" apparently touched ground on the Henry Arends farm about six miles southeast of Belmond during Sunday night's storm, demolishing a new, 14x24-foot hoghouse. The building, not at the time occupied, had cost between $400 and $500 and was shattered beyond repair.

The Arends are quite convinced that a tornado-like wind was responsible for destruction of the hoghouse as it was erected close to a fence but had been lifted wholly over the fence, with hardly any damage to the fencing. It was dashed to pieces in an adjoining plowed field.

Standing adjacent to a lane on the farm, the hoghouse was some distance from the other farm buildings, none of which were damaged any by the storm.

Mrs. Arends says the noise of the wind awakened here sometime between 10:00 p. m. Sunday and the early hours of the following morning, but she is uncertain what the time was. She suspects that the roar that awoke her was probably responsible for the damage done.

FAVORS MADE FOR SHUT-INS

Members of the Wetomachick Camp Fire group made Easter favors for the trays of local shut-ins and delivered them to the hospital and nursing homes, Scribe Twyla Stadtlander reports.

Tedmar Thompson to Fort Devons

Pvt. Tedmar Thompson arrived at the parental Gerhard Thompson home last Friday to enjoy a furlough from his Army duties until Friday of next week, when he is to report at Fort Devons, Mass.

Ted has just completed his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., after having entered the service in mid-January of this year. He will take a course of six or eight month's duration in the Army intelligence agency's school at Fort Devons before further assignment.

2 get sentences on OMVI counts

Judge Harvey Uhlenhopp on Wednesday of last week handed down sentences against two defendants who pleaded guilty before him on charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Clifford Clark of Garner, who was arrested here a week ago last Thursday by Chief of Police Ray Thompson, advised the court that he had no funds with which to employ a lawyer to defend him against the third offense OMVI charge. Harlan Larson of Goldfield was named by the court to serve as counsel for the defense.

Because a third offense was involved, a prison sentence was obligatory. Clark was sentenced to serve not more than two years at the state penitentiary at Fort Madison, his liquor book was cancelled and his driver's license revoked for one year.

Percy G. Roskamp, Clarion farmer, was charged with first-offense OMVI. He had been arrested April 13 by Highway Patrolman Ben Urban of Clarion 6½ miles south of Belmond. Officers testified Roskamp had failed to pass recognized sobriety tests at the time of his apprehension; and a blood test had shown the alcohol content of his blood to be appreciably over the level legally considered to indicate inebriation.

Russ Wood quits as S&R manager

Russell Wood, manager for the past 2½ years of the Spahn and Rose lumber yard here, has announced his resignation effective as of June 1.

He has purchased an on-and-off sale liquor store at New Prague, Minn. He and his family will move to their new home shortly after school lets out.

Charles Spahn of Dubuque, owner of the chain of lumberyards, has not yet announced who will succeed Mr. Wood as manager of the Belmond yard.

ATTEND CDA CONVENTION

Mrs. V. V. McLaughlin, Mrs. Mary Brady and Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser attended the Catholic Daughters of America state convention at Cedar Rapids on Friday and Saturday. Mrs. McLaughlin and Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser returned home on Saturday. Mrs. Brady went to Dubuque to spend a week visiting her son Bob, who is head of the history department at Loras college.

EIDES LEAVE FOR NORWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Helge Eide on Sunday before last were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stoffer and daughters to the airport at Des Moines. There the Eides took a plane on the first leg of an air journey that was to take them back to their homeland, Norway. They will headquarter at the home of a brother of Helge's, who lives at Halsnoy Kloster, but will visit a number of relatives during their visit of three or four months.

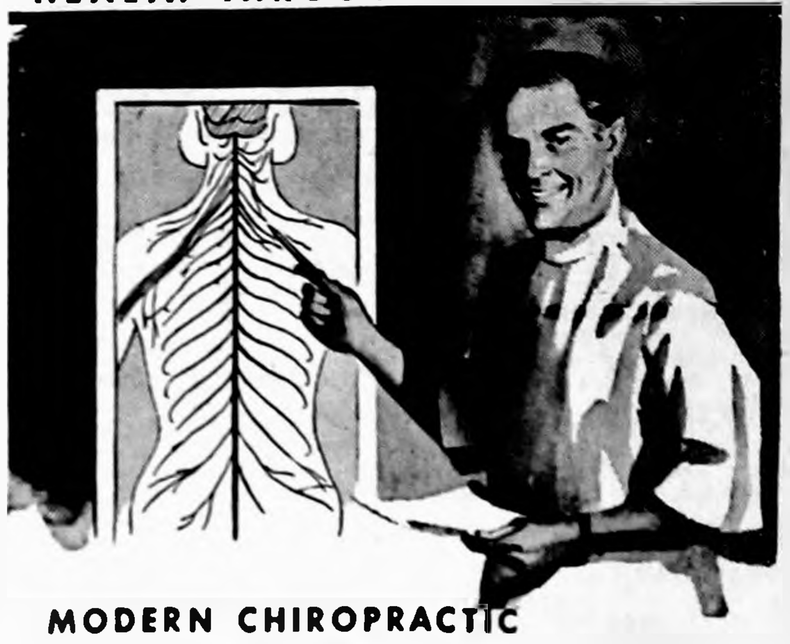
HEALTH THROUGH CHIROPRACTIC



MODERN CHIROPRACTIC OFFERS SURPRISING RELIEF TO Asthma SUFFERERS

Many asthma sufferers have been amazed to find that distressing asthma attacks can be relieved and eventually stopped through modern Chiropractic care. Interference in the flow of nerve energy to the delicate tissues of the bronchial area often brings on acute asthma attacks. Chiropractic restores the flow of nerve energy, relaxes the bronchial spasm and permits the patient to breathe normally. An X-Ray examination by your modern chiropractor will determine whether or not your case is within this specialized field. A surprisingly high percentage of asthma cases respond to Chiropractic care.

For information explaining how posture and health problems similar to your own can be helped through Chiropractic, ask your Chiropractor.

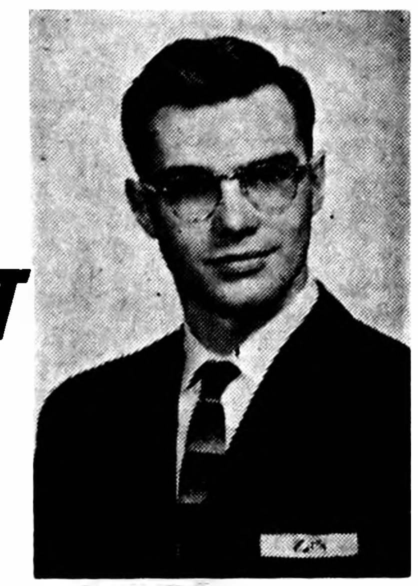
JOE TRIPLETT SEZ:



The reactions of the folks who read this column are many and varied. Curiosity is probably the most common one. They say curiosity killed the cat, but for me it means another live customer. Curiosity got the best of Alfred Meinders of Belmond the other day so he called me to ask what would be best for fifty acres of second year corn. No dead cats. Just a nice, big, live order.

I stopped in to see Clarence Stadtlander of Meservey the other day. This is about the third time I've stopped in to see Clarence and it's the third time I've come away without an order. I've tried every trick in the book to get him to sign. I finally found out that he's been spreading fertilizer for eight years and has had all the tricks in the book tried on him. He says that when he's ready for his fertiilzer he'll call in the order.

In the same class with Clarence is Harry Mennenga. I know he's going to use liquid in his planter as a plowdown, but sign an order? No siree! The reason I want to get an order from Harry on an order book is that he likes to call in his order today and say that yesterday is when he wants his fertilizer. After he reads this, his reaction probably won't be one I mentioned above. It'll probably be one of the varied kind.

Clarence Kirkendall decided to use the Ris-Van plan this spring for his bulk spreading fertilizer needs. He called me the other day and wanted to take several soil samples. Now, making out the order will be simple.

Verdel Hanson, a former Belmondite, has recently moved back to the Belmond community from Rochester, Minnesota. He wants to take life a little easier from now on so he will only be farming in a small way. To complete this life of ease he decided on R-V for his fertilizer needs. That's fertilizing in a big way the easy way.

The Norman Sampson-Airell Clark partnership had their oats ground covered with Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer the other day. Lewis Sorenson, who lives across the road, saw the truck out spreading, and now he wants some Ris-Van. Now, if Roy McClure across the road in the other direction would just do the same thing then Jim McLaughlin wouldn't stand a chance.

Which big seedcorn company is using large tonnages of Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer for this year's seedcorn crop? For the answer dial 293 on your telephone. Then 201 for your fertilizer.

The big fields out in the rural areas aren't the only business we're doing this spring. The lawns and gardens around town are getting a good dose of Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer, too. Until recently it never crossed my mind to order applicators for this type of spreading and Bill Dempsey hasn't let me forget that, either. If they don't get here soon it's hard to say what I may find in the milk carton one of these mornings.

Thought for the week:

IF YOUR BACK IS SORE,
THEN A WORD TO THE WISER

Get Ris-Van, Man,

THAT'S FERTILIZER.

Annual round-up of kindergarten pupils scheduled

Annual round-up of children who intend to enter Alexander kindergarten in the fall is scheduled for next Wednesday from 2:00 to 3:30 p. m.

A party for the boys and girls will be held in the kindergarten room. The children will have a chance to become acquainted with their teacher, Mrs. Van Dusseldorp, and to learn a bit about school life.

The mothers will attend a meeting and receive information concerning their children as future pupils.

Those eligible to register must be five years old on or before November 15. Invitations to the party will be mailed in the near future.

Supt. James D. Carroll should be contacted by the parents of any eligible child inadvertantly overlooked.

Aexander downs Dows in tourney

Last Thursday the AHS baseball team played Franklin Consolidated and lost 4-3, though Alexander got five hits and Franklin only three. Markwardt for Franklin was the winning pitcher and Dirksen for Alexander was the loser.

Saturday, Alexander played Dows in the sectional tournament and won 4-2. The winner got six hits and Dows got five. Hackbarth for Alexander was the winning pitcher and Estes for Dows was the loser.

Girls will present spring style show

Last fall the girls made wool garments, including suits, dresses, jumpers and skirts. This spring they have been making ensembles, dresses, skirts and jackets of cotton and synthetic materials.

Kramer heads BHS Drake entry–

Larry in stiffest mile test yet

The contention of Larry Kramer's admirers that the Belmond distance ace is Iowa's best current high school miler will be put to the test tomorrow when "Butch" runs against the cream of the crop in the open high school mile at the Drake Relays.

Last Saturday, Kramer posted the fastest outdoor time of the season in winning the open mile at the Teachers Relays at Cedar Falls in 4:29.1. In addition, his 4:27.9 that won the Class A indoor crown stands as the best high school mile performance in the state this year.

As in all high school events at the Drake classic, all mile runners will contend in the same open class regardless of school size. This makes competition at Drake the toughest a star in any event will find himself up against at any time during the season.

Coach Rich Koolbeck will also have Mike Long in the broad jump, Bob Whipple in the football throw and Dave Suntken in the 100-yard dash.

Belmond will be entered in the medley relay on Friday and the mile relay on Saturday, with its chances of qualifying in either of the events likely to hang on luck of the draw.

Kramer will be unable to anchor the medley foursome in its qualifying effort Friday a. m. because of running in the mile. Consequently, Bob O'Connor will run one of the 220's — along with Suntken — Mike Long will handle the 440 and Lynn Jenison will be called on for the 880. If the team should qualify with this personnel, Kramer could substitute for O'Connor in the finals and Jenison return to his customary 220 spot.

Saturday morning, Suntken, O'Connor, Jenison and Long will compete in the mile relay qualifying tests. If they make the grade, they will race again in the afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon and evening of next week the Broncos will run in the Dodger Relays at Fort Dodge.

Coach Koolbeck will take a full squad to this meet, in which Belmond will be the largest school in the Class B division and favored to take the team championship.

If weather conditions are favorable, Koolbeck plans to "load up" his two-mile relay team in an effort to break the existing school record of 8:35. The Broncos have come within 2½ seconds of this time, even though the best possible quartet has not yet been assembled in any meet appearance to date.

Koolbeck thinks Vernon Pastour, Robbie Courson, Lynn Jenison and Kramer could come very close to breaking the mark, if pushed. With the more experienced Bob O'Connor in Pastour's spot, the Bronco mentor feels quite certain the existing record could be smashed if running conditions should be satisfactory.

Pearson, Albers have best luck In ABC classic

Belmond had its first teams ever in the American Bowling Congress tournament last weekend at Toledo, O., as quintets representing Tomahawk Corn and Kinseth's Hotpointers competed in the pin classic.

Kinseth's team series, comprising 2,469 in the booster division, were: Ron Courson 486, Ralph Muhm 508, A. P. Thompsen 502, Anson Avery 511 and Kenneth Kinseth 562.

Pearson, Albers, Roger and Kenny Kinseth all bettered 1,600 in all-events. Pearson and Albers had 593 and 568 in the doubles for a respectable 1,161 and picked up 568 and 579, respectively, in the singles. Roger Kinseth had 517 in the doubles and 504 in the singles, while Kenny Kinseth's respective series in those events were 523 and 518.

Nine trophies won in single week

Last week was one that should be remembered long in Belmond High school track annals. It saw the Bronco cinder artists harvest a record crop of NINE trophies — and add five new marks to the local record book.

The mile relay team posted victories — and brought home trophies—from Humboldt, the Eagle Grove Relays and Iowa Teachers Relays at Cedar Falls. The medley relay foursome matched this achievement.

Because Larry Kramer was lost to the two-mile team at Cedar Falls due to competing in the open mile race, Belmond didn't win this event at the Teachers Relays. But first-place trophies for the event were picked up at Humboldt and Eagle Grove.

Dave Suntken lowered the BHS 100-yard mark to 10.2 seconds at Eagle Grove and Bob Whipple added a foot to his own mark in the football throw with a heave of 197-9.

The mile relay quartet broke the school record at Eagle Grove by 1.2 seconds, then Saturday at Cedar Falls slashed another 1.7 seconds off the old mark with an all-time best performance of 3.35.8.

Another record fell in the medley relay, with a 3.43.7 timing at Cedar Falls rating three-tenths of a second below the previous mark.

Ironically, Mike Long failed even to qualify for the finals in the broad jump at the Teachers relays — but his best effort of 20 ft. 3 in. was five inches better than the school record he established a year ago!

Clarion edges Broncs for B title—

Belmond breaks 3 EG Relay marks

After failing once in football, twice in basketball and once in track (the Class A state indoor meet) in their efforts to post an athletic victory over Belmond for the 1959-60 school year, the Clarion Cowboys finally got the job done in last Friday night's Eagle Grove Relays.

Clarion and Belmond finished 1-2 in Class B with 61½ and 56 points respectively, just ahead of the host Eagles with 54. Then in order came Hampton with 48½, Algona with 45½ and Lake City with 30½.

While the Broncos hadn't quite enough depth to handle the Cowboys on a team basis, they nevertheless made their mark during the evening's activities. They took first in three relay events and two individual events and established four new records in the process.

Whipple, Suntken take 1sts

In each case, the new time not only erased the old Class B standard but was the best that has ever been made at the Eagle Relays in any of the three Classes of competition — A, B or C.

Bob Whipple won the football throw for the Broncs with a heave of 197 ft. 9 in.; and Dave Suntken took the 100-yard dash in the record-breaking time of :10.2. It bettered the previous Eagle Relays best of :10.3 by Sims of Clarion in '58, and also lowered by another tenth of a second the BHS mark that Dave had set only a week earlier.

First of Belmond's winning relay teams captured the two-mile in 8:37.5, four-tenths of second off the mark set by Eagle Grove in 1957. Every Bronco runner held the lead at the end of his particular leg of the race.

Vernie Pastour brought the baton in with a yard or two to spare, and Robbie Courson added generously to the margin with a strong performance. Lynn Jenison held the advantage nicely and Larry Kramer then wound up with a 2:04.9 effort that clinched the new record.

Belmond's triumph in the medley relay was just about a replica of the two-mile conquest. Again, every Bronco runner brought the baton in well in front of the pack. Mike Long ran his 440 in approximately 53-second time; Suntken was a fraction over 23 seconds for his 220 and Jenison a shade under :24. Then Kramer finished with another half that was under 2:05, giving the quartet 3 min. 45.1 sec. for the distance, two-tenths under the best previous time — turned in by Eagle Grove in '57.

When time for the mile relay arrived, the disappointed Broncos already knew they could not keep the meet trophy out of Clarion's clutches. But the Belmond flyers really obliterated the standing mark for the final event in the process of picking up their third trophy of the night.

Hampton in '57 had posted the lowest prior time of 3:40.1. Suntken, Bob O'Connor, Jenison and Long pared that figure down to 3:37.5 as they won with some 40 yards to spare over second-place Algona

Suntken suffered a disappointment in the high jump, finishing only second with a leap of 5-8. On the other hand, Larry Tideback — making his first track appearance of the season — posted a surprise second place in the shot put with a toss of 40 ft. 11½ in.

Britt, Buffalo Center do well

Belmond's other points in the field events came on fourth places by Dean Pals and Mike Long in the discus and broad jump, respectively. The only other event in which Belmond scored points was the 880-yard relay, in which one very bad baton pass forced Dennis Anderson, Jay Mennenga, O'Connor and Long to settle for a fifth.

In the Class C division, two North Iowa conference teams were well up in the championship race most of the way before finishing in second and third behind Emmetsburg's 69 points. Britt amassed 61 points and Buffalo Center 53.

Buffalo Center had one winning relay team — the medley, in 3:55.5 — and took three individual championships. Britt was winner of only two individual events but placed consistently throughout the program.

Belmond High's track and field team turned in one of the outstanding performances among 16 aggregations that were entered in the Class B division of last Saturday's 37th annual Iowa Teachers Relays. The Broncos captured one individual event, a pair of firsts, one second and one fourth in relay competition.

Perhaps the most satisfying achievement of the bunch was Larry Kramer's victory in the high school open mile. Off to a poor start despite being assigned the pole position, Larry was badly boxed for all the first lap and well into the second. As a consequence, his initial quarter was much slower than he would have liked.

Once he'd worked himself free to set a pace to his liking, "Butch" was in command of the race. In the final lap, Bill Bergan of Cedar Falls took over the lead and endeavored to run the Belmond star into the ground. However, it was finally Bergan who collapsed under the strenuous gait and Kramer won with relative ease in the very fine time of 4 min. 29.1 sec. It was a disappointment to Larry that the time was two seconds over the record held by Daryl King of West Des Moines, but at least it provided good evidence that Kramer is back in shape after suffering from a chest cold.

Long gets bad start

Both the Bronco medley and mile relay teams won thier favorite events in typical fashion — holding the lead from the very first baton pass and steadily increasing the margin on each succeeding leg of the race. In both events, the BHS quartet established a new school mark.

Mike Long was caught in the pack at the start of the medley and had to pull clear out into the fourth or fifth lane on the back stretch to find the running room he needed. On the final turn he passed most of the opposition and on the home stretch went into the lead with time of slightly over :53.5 for his 440.

Mile relay mark lowered

Suntken, Bob O'Connor, Jenison and Long completed the mile relay in 3:35.8, which was 2.9 seconds better than the BHS record set last spring. The same quartet had lowered the old mark 1.2 seconds the night before at Eagle Grove.

In compiling their new Belmond record, Suntken raced through his 440 in :54.3, O'Connor followed with a :54.6, Jenison with :54.5 and Long dashed home in :52.4 to win going away.

Coach Rich Koolbeck deliberately shot for another BHS mark by putting together the best combination he's started this season in the 440-yard relay. Suntken, Vernon Pastour, Lynn Jenison and Long comprised the team, which finished second to Osage.

Osage breaks 440 record

The Green Devils knocked a half second off of the existing Relays mark of :45.5 held by Teachers College High of Cedar Falls. Three "unofficial" watches caught the Broncos in an average time of :45.8 — which, if official, would have exactly tied the BHS record held by DaDean Obrecht, Jerry Chandler, Bill Murray and Ron Courson.

Although the two-mile relay team finished fourth, Coach Koolbeck was highly pleased with the 8:50 time achieved with neither Kramer nor Lynn Jenison running in the event. Vernon Pastour ran his half mile in 2:13.9, Dennis Pastour surprised with a commendable 2:15.5 time for his stint, Robbie Courson shaded 2:11 and O'Connor — running his first competitive 880 of the year — galloped in with a 2:09.7.

14 from Belmond vying for county pin championship

Belmond will have 14 contenders for the Wright county men's bowling championship as action in the annual county tournament gets underway this weekend. Thirty-two of the 147 keglers who entered the tourney are assigned to the title flight.

Joe Thielen of Eagle Grove, the 1959 county champion, is not defending his title. Also missing from the title flight is the champion of a couple of seasons back, Arlo Stoltenberg, whose league average wasn't quite high enough to qualify him for another try at the crown.

There was no qualifying for the tournament this year, all flight drawings being made on the basis of league averages. Site of the 1960 tourney is Hi-Hatt Bowling at Clarion.

With Stoltenberg in the first flight are two other local league pinmen, Dr. A. M. Larson and Don Baker.

Other Belmond league keglers are assigned to the county tourney as follows:

CHEVROLET
OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45
WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER
Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in! . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

EDITORIALS

Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation.
—Matt. 26:41

"Look" article on charities raises king-size furore

Probably no article that has appeared in public print in the past year created more of a furore than the one in the March issue of Look magazine entitled "Where Does Your Charity Dollar Go?" Not only were dubious "charities" well worthy of scrutiny placed under suspicion, but the most highly respected health agencies in the nation were made equally suspect by innuendo and by association.

Being on the receiving end of publicity promulgated by these various agencies, we are in a good position to know that their standards of efficiency and economy vary a good deal. For example, The National Foundation (originally the infantile paralysis or "March of Dimes" fund) is clearly more wasteful of its resources than any other such organization with which we've had experience.

But the writer of the Look article very obviously set out to establish a pre-conceived point by any method that might be required. The end result was a regrettably weak piece of journalism that blithely grouped legitimate health agencies with rackets and made ridiculously little effort to give credit where credit was due.

That the article had so little in fact to support some of its most damaging contentions aroused fair-minded observers throughout the medical profession. A typical defense was entered by Dr. William P. Shepard, medical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

In a letter to Gardner Cowles, publisher of Look, Dr. Shepard pointed out some of the many valuable contributions made by the National Tuberculosis association, The National Foundation, the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association in research, education and community services.

Because he had no reason for defending the abused agencies, except as prompted by his own sense of fairness, it might be worthwhile to quote directly a couple of paragraphs from Dr. Shepard's letter. He stated:

"The writer apparently had no conception of the services rendered by these voluntary agencies. He decries the ratio of salaries to the total budget without realizing that services must be rendered by skilled and professionally trained people. It is a little like condemning a reputable clinic because a large portion of the budget goes for salaries for doctors, nurses and technicians.

"Many leaders are disturbed over the present conflict and are setting about an objective study of the whole matter and will, hopefully, come up with constructive recommendation. This article, besides the damage it does, will only make such a task more difficult."

Coordinating public support of the numerous health agencies soliciting such support IS a problem, undeniably. But meanwhile, we're privileged to give or not, as we wish; and certainly such agencies as the American Cancer Society, which is currently asking a few of our dollars, can point with pride to what our past contributions have achieved and ARE achieving.

No "senioritis" evident among those BHS track stars

As we have followed the Belmond High school track and field stalwarts along their triumphant march to new and greater laurels this spring, several things have set us thinking.

One that is distinctly worth mention is the fact that the backbone of this extraordinarily fine team is made up of seniors. We can remember years past when "senioritis"—symptomized by laxness in observing training regulations and a tinge of boredom toward such "kid stuff" as sports — prevented some Bronco cinder stars from achieving heights that earlier performances had promised for them.

Typical of their dedication and determination through a year that has been unparalleled in BHS sports annals, these seniors have week by week been improving upon their past standards. One cannot help but feel certain that they will yet cap their careers with a blaze of glory brighter than any they have yet earned for themselves.

Another thing that has struck us has been the respect that all Belmond has inherited through the performances of these young men. It's made our chest swell as we've listened to the awed admiration expressed by rival fans as the Broncos have run their opposition into the dust in race after race.

These young men have been winning ever greater honors for themselves because they are superbly conditioned, excellently coached, and a fair cut above the average in skill. But perhaps as important as any of these factors is an esprit de corps — a loyalty to one another and to their colors and to their school — that enables them to perform just a bit nearer to their full capacity than is normally to be expected.

This spirit, nurtured by that grand crop of seniors, has clearly spread to their younger squadmates. The result has been a steady string of performances that have surpassed all expectations. It's been a season of many surprises — and we're confident there are more to come.

We hope you took advantage of the opportunity Tuesday night to see the Bronco track and field team in its one, full-dress performance before local fans in the Bronco Relays. If you didn't, you'll have one, last, close-at-hand chance to see the boys in action at the important district meet at Eagle Grove a week from tomorrow.

You'll never have the opportunity to support a finer, worthier group of young athletes.

Schroeder impresses Osage editor

We had the pleasure Friday of a visit with Jack Schroeder, the Scott county legislator who is opposing Bill Nicholas and Norman Erbe for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. We liked what we heard in our visit. And we expect to hear a great deal more during the next few weeks.

This is a most unusual election year for the Press-News editorial columns. No endorsement has yet been made of any political candidate except Nelson Rockefeller. Two years ago and four years ago the editorial mind had been made up. But this year a decision has been made to "wait and see."

JACK SCHROEDER, HOWEVER, is not well known in this area. He expects to visit here in the next week or two and at that time voters of Mitchell county will have an opportunity to assess this young, vigorous and tremendously successful legislator.

We have been impressed with the number, and quality, of the newspapers which have already given their endorsement to Jack Schroeder. It is apparently not only his past record, but also his forthright stand on important issues facing Iowa that have caused these newspapers to reject the candidacies of the state's attorney general and the famed turkey raiser from Cerro Gordo county.

SCHROEDER'S LEGISLATIVE record, as we have said, is a highly successful one, particularly during the past session of the general assembly when he was selected Majority Leader. He won the Press and Radio citation as the senate's outstanding member during this term.

Schroeder's stand on taxes, highway safety, reapportionment and education are representative of his progressive viewpoint. It is easy to understand why so many Iowa newspapers have jumped on his bandwagon. — Osage Press-News

Press Should Keep Tab

A speaker at our annual newspaper convention last week stressed the importance of the community editor's job of reporting meetings of public boards and councils.

And he maintained it is as important to give complete coverage to a board which people believe to be made up of honest, forthright citizens as one made up of persons of a lesser reputation. His reasoning: People think that since they have elected a good board or council they can sit back and forget about local government. This leads to complacency and opens the door wide for wrong doings or "honest" mistakes.

IN ESSENCE THEN, IT IS BETter for the public to put a scoundrel in office, for then they will personally keep tab of what he may be trying to put over on them. It builds stronger local government eventually by creating interest among the electorate, so they can "turn the rascals out."

Regardless of this trend of thought, it's important that the community newspaper keep tab on all public meetings to supplement the minutes which are required to be published as public information. —Britt News-Tribune

When Theatre Closes

You can't help but have noticed.

There's a dark spot right in the middle of th block, across from the bank. A dark spot where used to be the brightest, busiest, happiest spot in town. The Northwood theatre is closed, and there's no immediate prospect of its reopening.

Cafes have been the first other businesses to feel the loss directly; there's nobody dropping in for a sundae after the show. But others will feel it too, as time goes on, increasingly.

THE KIDS ARE THE WORST losers; they've always been the show's biggest boosters, its steadiest customers—from the grades right through the teens and until, married, their babies keep them home. Movies have been a principal source of wholesome entertainment for young people for several generations.

But everybody loses when the theatre closes — in town and throughout the countryside. Northwood has had a good theatre for so long that we sincerely hope it won't be too long until those lights are bright again. — Northwood Anchor

FB, IMA Saying, "Boo!"

The Advance has not yet taken a position on the proposed constitutional convention. It would be better if the legislature could do the job, and there are indications the legislature will reapportion next year.

But the fear campaign conducted by the Farm Bureau and Iowa Manufacturers Association in Iowa is wholly wrong and dishonest.

IT IS BEING SAID NO ONE knows what a convention will do. They say the people won't be able to vote on it. They insinuate that only the city people will run it.

All these are wrong.

In the first place it will be set up by the next legislature—which is dominated by rural and small county legislators. They are not going to capitulate to the city people on representation in the convention.

IN THE SECOND PLACE, SAYing the people will not have a chance to vote on it is a bare faced falsehood. Only the people can adopt a constitution. The preamble of Iowa's constitution says, "We, the people of the state of Iowa."

In the third place the convention being set up by the rural-dominated legislature, is certain to be dominated by non-city people.

This fear campaign is unworthy of the noble precepts professed by those organizations. — Algona Advance

SCANNING THE HORIZON

WITH YE ED

TRIPLE PLAY —

One of the nice things about the newspaper business (editing department) is that every now and then you find somebody's done a piece of writing you can swipe that beats all hollow anything you could have done yourself.

That's how "Scanning" is getting itself filled this week — on a triple play started by Editor Bob Wright of the Montello (Wis.) Tribune and relayed by the Algona Advance's Old Goat to Ye Ed of The Independent.

Editor Wright explained the following Q. and A. discourse as inspired by numerous, rather pointed queries clearly intended to indicate that (1) the Editor is a nut; and (2) the Tribune sure could use some improvement. . . .

Q. Why don't you have funny papers?
A. We think we have the funniest paper in Wisconsin right now.

Q. Why don't you have an "Advice to the Lovelorn" column, like Abby Lane?
A. None of our readers has any such problems.

Q. Why don't you carry TV reviews?
A. Our set is busted.

Q. Why don't you publish pin-up pictures once in a while?
A. I dunno. We ran our own picture a couple of years ago and nobody asked for reprints.

Q. Why do you have all those misprints.
A. They're the most entertaining part of the whole paper.

Q. Why do you always say "we" when referring to your paper?
A. We want our readers to think they're outnumbered.

Q. Why do you make so many grammatical mistakes?
A. Cause we ain't never learned no better.

Q. Why didn't you publish that poem I sent you?
A. It was a lousy poem.

Q. What do you do with all your money?
A. We squander it on frivolities like food and clothing.

Q. What's the reason you don't replace that linotype you are always complaining about?
A. $15,000.

Q. Why don't you print weekly sermons?
A. Why doesn't the preacher run the newspaper?

Q. Why don't you run recipes?
A. We did and left a line out. Twenty people got sick and cancelled their subscriptions.

Q. Why do you devote space to such trivialities as "Joe Smith is feeling poorly this week?"
A. Because good old Joe has many pals who are concerned over his health, even if you are not. Who knows, somebody might read the item and send Joe a bottle of sympathy.

Q. Why don't you run a column of excerpts from Tribunes of years gone by?
A. We used to. But once we published an item from forty years back about a baby girl being born to Mr. and Mrs. Blank. Trouble was this baby had been telling everyone in sight she was only 34. Her lecture curled the wallpaper off the Tribune walls.

Q. What would you give me for writing a weekly column of moral homespun philosophy for the Tribune?
A. A poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Q. Last week I brought you a detailed obituary about Homer in California. You printed one short paragraph and you stuck it on the bottom. How come?
A. Uncle Homer had been dead eight weeks when you brought the obituary in. The main reason we cut the length of it was that we lacked the courage to throw ALL of it in the wastebasket.

Q. How come you're such a jerk?
A. Just lucky, I guess.

SHORT ON SLOGANS—

This political year of 1960 is certainly short on good, ringing slogans such as have sent men to the White House in the past.

Government hand-outs have made it difficult to put out a really attractive promise any more, for one thing. McKinley promised "The Full Dinner Pail" in 1900; and later Hoover drew votes on the pledge of "A Chicken in Every Pot, a car in Every Garage."

Today a candidate would have to promise to build a ranch house around that pot, complete with two-car garage, to create much of a stir.

With handsome Jack Kennedy so major a figure in the campaigning to date, it might be well to recall that Grover Cleveland whaled the tar out of James G. Blaine at the polls in '84 when Blaine (rightly or wrongly) was labeled an opponent of "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion."

That aroused not only the consolidated wrath of the Catholic voters, but the ire of those who thought a drop of spirits not amiss when the occasion be right.

Personally, we aren't going to feel that this campaign year is REALLY underway until some proper slogans start flying. After all, they've probably elected more presidents than sound, patriotic thinking.

Last week Lewis Hauge purchased a young Scotch bull bred by Wm. Herklemann of Elwood. The youngster is 13 months old and weighs 1,000 lbs. He is white in color and is a Cumberland bred bull, which is a great addition to Lewis's Shorthorn herd.

"Golfing Florist" helped put Belmond on map

Your writer's first recollection of seeing the name "Belmond" in print dates back 13 years ago this coming summer when the Des Moines Sunday Register carried a story and picture of "the pipe-smoking florist from Belmond," who had just won the Iowa men's amateur golf championship.

Probably a good many other Iowans who otherwise would be dimly, if at all, aware of the presence of Belmond on the state map were first introduced to the community's existence as the "home town" of "Golfin' Fred" Gordon. Which is to say that Fred has done more than his part in "putting" Belmond "on the map."

Fred and Mary Gordon admit today that they're in the florist business because when they bought the Belmond Greenhouse in September of 1945 a deciding factor was the house that went with it. They were rather indiffrent about the business itself — but they HAD to have a place to live, and the greenhouse just incidentally went along with the dwelling that adjoined it.

The Gordons took actual charge of the business from Don Harris on Nov. 1, 1945. Since then they've found it to have two attributes that have suited their fancy. First, it has provided them and their family with a comfortable living; and second, it has allowed them a degree of independence that few other lines of business would be unable to match.

The second attribute has worked very nicely into the semi-gypsy existence that extensive tournament competition involves a golfer in during "the season." Not that golf has been allowed to get in the way of "business;" but it's been a happy arrangement that conflicts simply haven't developed too often.

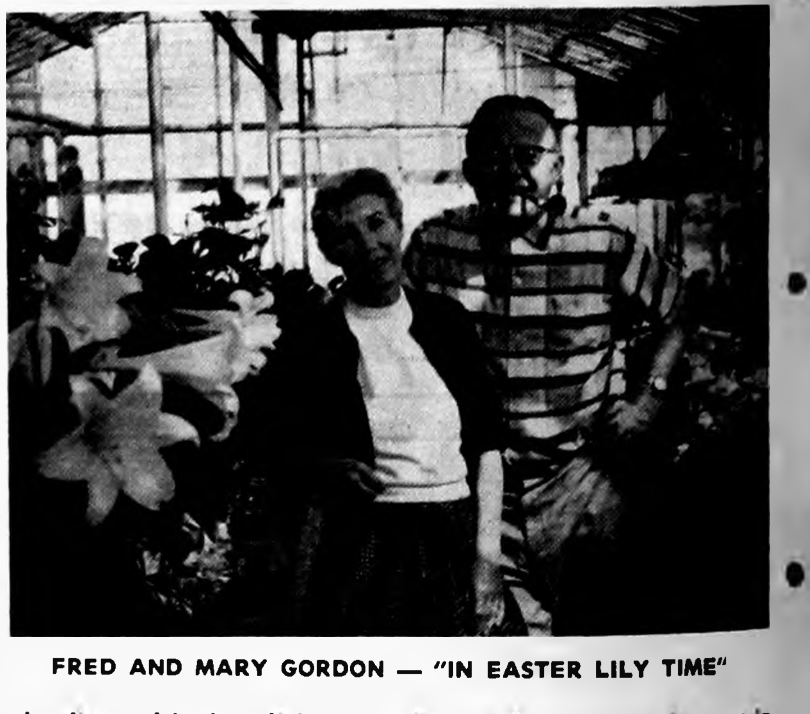
Fred and Mary didn't know a thing about the florist business when they acquired the greenhouse — except for a smattering of knowledge Fred had attained the preceding summer working for a few months in the greenhouse of his brother Jack, at Clarion. Their father, George Gordon, had kept Jack's business going while the latter saw military duty during World War II — so he was a source of helpful advice while Fred and Mary were getting their start.

While the Gordon's haven't enlarged the greenhouse, they have very largely rehabilitated it since they bought it; and in 1950 they built their present flower shop, at the same time they radically remodeled their home.

The Gordons had lived in and around Los Angeles before their move to Iowa in the late war years; but actually, it was a return to the midwest for both of them. Fred was born at Oskaloosa, from where his family had moved west when he was 11. And when she was six, Mary's parents — Mr. and Mrs. Manly Baird — had emigrated from Chadron, Neb., to California.

Needless to say, the Gordon living room is generously decorated with trophies that speak of the exceptional golfing career that Fred has enjoyed. Probably the achievement in which he takes greatest pride is attainment of the fourth round of play in the U.S. Amateur in 1955. Or perhaps rated on a par would be his winning of the Iowa amateur in '47.

Other major championships that have fallen to Fred's links skill are the Northwest Iowa Amateur, played at Spencer, and the Herman Sani Open, Des Moines. Fred has won the Clarmond Country club men's title seven times and Mary has captured the women's championship nine times. She is a fine golfer in her own right, but is handicapped by her slight physique. Her best finish in the state tournament was an advance to the quarter-finals in 1948. She has regularly made the championship flight, but finds contending with younger, stronger stars a little too much for her physical powers.



FRED AND MARY GORDON — "IN EASTER LILY TIME"

Fred and Mary have found the floral business to be a feast or famine proposition. A large share of the assured income centers in two months of the year — April, with Easter and the apex of the high school's social year; and May, with Mother's Day and Memorial Day.

In between, marriages and funerals, anniversaries and birthdays keep the Gordon's in "vittles" until the big season arrives again. It is the bedding plants that Belmond Greenhouse raises from seed under its own glass that put the most profit in the till. Purchase and resale of cut flowers demands a much larger volume than a town of Belmond's size can provide to produce much profit.

Mary gives much credit to Fred's father, George Gordon, for having the "green thumb" that make the Greenhouse's business in bedding plants as good as it is.

If the Gordons have done a good deal to publicize Belmond, they feel the major benefit has nonetheless been theirs. They say "Belmond has been a wonderful home to us. We owe Belmond a lot."

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

The most pleasurable, annual assignment of The Mainstreeters is selection of the Mother-of-the-Year. This tradition was started in 1946 and our choice this year, Mrs. Marjorie Hinman, is the 15th Mother to be honored. As usual, all of our past selections who have not passed on are being sent a rosebud of remembrance, while the current Mother-of-the-Year will receive a bouquet of roses as an expression of our admiration.

All but three of our "Mothers" are still living. Those departed are Mrs. George Kalkwarf, Mrs. Sam Johnson and Mrs. F. O. Fitts.

Here, in order, is the complete list of Mothers-of-the-Year chosen since Mrs. Sam Johnson was the first honoree in 1946: Mrs. "Molly" Barry, Mrs. Mary Lester Dillon, Mrs. H. F. Petersen, Mrs. Nic Nelson, Mrs. Charles Gealow, Mrs. D. D. Pals, Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin, Mrs. Fitts, Mrs. Lucia Courson, Mrs. Gabriel Gabrielson, Mrs. Kalkwarf, Mrs. Julia Packard Mona and Mrs. Selma Johnson. Bless them, every one!

Lu Cox reports that he never attended a convention where the delegates worked harder than at the parley of the National School Boards association, which he, Marvieu Mennenga and Don Faris attended last week. During the four-day convention they didn't so much as find time to witness a ball game or take in a stage show. Lu adds, "They really confronted us with scads of pertinent questions — but it seemed to be left up to the individual school boards to find the answers." The parley was at Chicago.

It would seem that the "unconfirmed" report we obtained last week on Clarion's unofficial population count was not from as dependable a source as we'd been led to believe. Rather than a 130 gain, as we had been told, Clarion had an increase over 1950 of only 68 persons. That brought the county seat's preliminary total to only 3,218.

Belmond's 2,499 remains unofficially official. Our gain of 330, besides outstripping Clarion's and Eagle Grove's, was more than twice that of Forest City—which we've seen reported as both 151 and 161. The latter would bring its '60 nose-count to a total of 2,917.

We watched with very considerable interest to see what Wright county's population turned out to be. It seems to be prevailingly the case that unless a county has a fairly sizeable city (such as Fort Dodge, Estherville, or the like), the past decade saw county population slip. Hancock dropped from 15,077 to 14,556; Winnebago, 13,450 to 13,054.

John Murray, Bruce Leinbach and Stan Brandmeyer discovered in the river not far from the dam Tuesday evening the body of a dog that plainly drowned beneath the ice during the winter. It was a fairly good-sized dog and wearing a black, studded collar. If someone thinks it might have been their missing pet, the collar may be seen at the Independent office for identification.

County Speech Therapist Richard (Rick) Adams tells us that last week was about the most exhausting one he has ever lived through. Look magazine's Editor Jack Star and a photographer virtually lived with Rick, from 10 to as many as 14 or 16 hours a day, recording his story for a future issue of Look.

Talk about military waste — Rick says the photographer took some 2,000 pictures during the week's time! How many will finally find their way into Look? a half dozen? Maybe 10 or 12?

Rick says the photographer went overboard taking shots at the few rural schools still open in the county, and he (Rick) is nervous that Look may depict such schools as still representative. He says the article probably will not appear in the magazine for some months; probably in September or October.

A year ago, George Sharp's modesty in not voting for himself on the first ballot for Jaycee president cost him the office. He missed by one vote, and support on subsequent ballots swung away from George. Of course, it's considered questionable etiquette — even if sound politics — to vote for yourself in a "friendly" election.

However, George felt he'd learned a lesson. Vote for the best man, even if it IS yourself.

When the vote for Jaycee president was counted Monday night, Mr. Sharp suffered increasing embarrassment as ballot after ballot bore his name (there were three candidates). It was a source of great relief for him when one of his rivals finally got a vote, beclouding the question of who George HAD voted for.

Broncos dominate Ft. Dodge relays

Belmond completely outclassed the six-team Class B field in the 2nd annual Dodger Relays at Fort Dodge on Tuesday evening. Because of space limitations in this issue, details of the Broncos' remarkable performance will have to appear next week.

Seven meet records were lowered by the Belmond track and field experts, and they also erased five school records from the books. They tumbled every BHS relay mark except for the 440-yard distance.

Individual firsts were won by Dean Pals in the discus, Larry Tideback in the shot, Bob Whipple in the football throw and Vernon Pastour in the 180-yard low hurdles. The Broncos also landed firsts in the two-mile, medley and mile relays.

Larry Kramer ran his half miles in 2:00.5 and 2:00.8 in anchoring the two-mile and medley quartets to victory.

CHESTER P. LUICK
No community ever had a better friend

Gave Belmond over half million—

5-2-85

Death takes Chester P. Luick

Chester P. Luick, whose many philanthropies to the benefit of his home community made Belmond the envy of other Iowa cities and towns, died quietly Tuesday afternoon at Belmond Community hospital. He had entered last Friday after suffering a slight stroke.

Because he had been in failing health for some time, due to advanced age, his strength ebbed steadily. Although his many friends and admirers knew that his condition was serious, the suddenness of his death nevertheless came as a shock.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Congregational church, Rev. William Hill officiating. Burial will be in the Belmond cemetery. As this was written, pallbearers had not yet been chosen. Johnston Funeral Home is in charge.

The body will lie in state at the church from 11:00 a. m. Friday until 2:00 p. m.

Well over a half million dollars, in one form or another, were given by Mr. Luick to the people of Belmond to make this community a better one in which to live. By no means all of his philanthropies were generally known to the public.

In 1952 he set up a trust fund having a value of more than $100,000 known as the Chester P. and Vida Luick Memorial Hospital Trust. Proceeds from this gift, the body of which was a 400-acre farm, were earmarked for improvements in Belmond Community hospital and purchase of equipment that would otherwise be beyond the reach of the hospital's finances.

This was followed in 1956 by the establishment of another trust, set up for the purpose of providing Belmond young people with a swimming pool. Body of this trust was a 280-acre farm. By the time the pool was completed and its spacious grounds developed and landscaped, somewhere between $85,000 and $100,000 had been spent on the project.

Largest gift honored parents

Last fall, Mr. Luick took steps necessary to make a reality of his most ambitious dream of all to the benefit of his "home town." A third trust was set up, comprised of real estate that included a 354-acre farm that lately sold for over $140,000, plus securities that brought the trust's total estimated value to approximately $300,000. Purpose of this trust is to build a community center to be known as the Fred and Alice Luick Memorial Building, in honor of his parents.

It will be an adjunct of the new high school, for which Belmond voters subsequently approved a bond issue, and will include a large gymnasium, auditorium and other facilities for special school and public activities.

Was BHS graduate

In addition to these well known benefactions, Mr. Luick's gifts to the community's benefit included $10,000 toward building of Belmond Community hospital and $25,000 for construction of the Congregational church youth center, which is used by a wide variety of youth groups.

Fred and Alice Luick, Chester P. Luick's parents, were among Belmond's earliest settlers. His father came to the tiny new settlement from Michigan in 1857. Chester was born in a log cabin on his family's original landholding on the outskirts of what is now known as Tyrrell's (then Franklin) Grove.

He was one of Belmond High school's early graduates and later took a business course at a college at Jacksonville, Ill. He farmed in partnership with his father until the latter's death at the age of 80 on Dec. 31, 1919. Chester continued to farm for some years thereafter, and to look after his land interests.

Depression days hard

Friends remember with great admiration the hard work and, at times, desperate effort Mr. Luick put into keeping intact during the depression years those holdings that were later to be so generously shared with the community of his birth.

He served in a number of positions of responsibility and trust, in Belmond's business life and otherwise, over the years.

He was married in 1917 to Sarah Griesy Lieuwen. After her death, he later married Vida Robbins Stebbleton, who was fatally injured in an auto accident in 1952, only a few months after the Chester P. and Vida Luick Hospital Memorial Trust had been set up.

Four step-children survive

In 1953 he wed Grace (Mrs. Ernest W.) Luick, who survives. Mr. Luick also leaves four step-children: Jean Stebbleton (Mrs. Evan) Parry of Cedar Rapids, Cleone Stebbleton (Mrs. George) Price of Brownsville, Tex., Helen Luick (Mrs. Donald) McNulty of Belmond and William H. Luick of Webster City.

In addition to his parents and first two wives, Mr. Luick was preceded in death by a brother who died in infancy; another brother, Harold Luick; and a sister, Edith Luick Leinbach.

Announcement of placings at the state music contest for large groups held last Saturday at Nevada brought both elation and disappointment to Belmond High school's entries.

Director Ivan Kortkamp's a cappella choir was one of only three out of 12 in the mixed chorus competition awarded a Division I rating. Its rating was unanimous among the three judges.

Harold B. Holst of the Iowa State Teachers college music faculty commented "This chorus certainly deserves the accolade of being called 'superior' in every good sense of the word."

Director Maurice Fahrney was well satisfied with the performance of the BHS band, despite the fact that his musicians received a Division II rating. Out of 11 competing bands, only three were rated Division I.

"This was one of the most strictly judged contests I've attended," Mr. Fahrney said, "in that usually a larger percentage of the bands are regarded worthy of top ratings."

While not happy with his group's rating, he said he regarded that the band had done very well and that its members owed no apology for the quality of their performance.

Law investigating 3 school thefts

Chief of Police Ray Thompson and the Wright county sheriff's office this week were investigating three thefts that apparently took place over the weekend at the school shop building and the gymnasium.

Although the door to the girls dressing room under the gym had to all appearances been forced open, there was no evidence that either the shop building or the high school building had been broken into.

From the coaches' office adjoining the boys dressing room, a starting pistol used for track events and a pair of binoculars were missing. Frances Rasmussen, girls physical education instructor, reported $4 gone from the desk in her office adjoining the girls dressing room.

Bernard Schroeder, industrial arts instructor, told authorities that he was missing $11 from a drawer in his desk at the shop building. The investigating officers reported Tuesday that it was proving difficult to pin-point the probable time that the thefts occurred.

First State bank gets water bonds

No opposing bid approached that of the First State bank of Belmond as the $50,000 in municipal water revenue bonds to pay for purchase and installation of the new city water tower were sold Monday night to the local bank.

No objections were registered against the proposed sale of bonds, prior to opening of the bids.

An interest rate of 3.6 per cent was offered by the First State bank as a flat rate. The First of Iowa Corp., Des Moines, bid an average interest rate of 3.97441 per cent on the bonds, which are redeemable over a six-year period of time. Becker and Cownie, Des Moines, offered a rate of 4.0805 per cent.

Wright county population down 238, census reveals

Bill Algood, district census supervisor, reported this week to Auditor Myron Price that Wright county's tentatively official population count for 1960 is 19,414. This is a decrease of 238 from the 19,652 total officially reported for 1950 and was in line with the prevailing trend toward a drop in population in primarily agricultural counties.

This marks the lowest level Wright's population has reached since the figure stood at 17,951 in 1910. Wright county's first population count was taken in 1860 and came to only 653. In 1870 it was up to 2,392; 1880, up to 5,062; 1890, up to 12,057; and 1900, up to 18,227.

After the drop in 1910 to 17,951, the county's population reached its highest level in 1920 at 20,348. The total slightly diminished in the next two decades, going down to 20,216 in 1930 and 20,038 in 1940. The biggest reduction in population occurred between 1940 and 1950, coming to 386.

Wright's reduction of 238 in population in the past decade represents a farm population drop much larger than that figure, because Belmond, Eagle Grove and Clarion showed a composite rise in population of approximately 630.

Architect making final school draft

Harold Bullington of Des Moines, representative of Karl Keffer Associates, architectural firm engaged to draft plans for Belmond's new high school and Luick Memorial Community Center, met Tuesday night with the school obard and Luick trustees.

Several weeks ago, Keffer Associates was instructed to proceed with the drawing of final plans for both structures after sufficient assets of the Luick Memorial trust had been liquidated to justify plans for the imminent soliciting of construction bids.

It is announced by the Luick trustees — A. C. Hanson, L. B. Cox and R. A. Henderson — that the 354-acre farm that represented a major portion of the body of the trust has been purchased by Lester Buseman. The farm sold for $400 an acre, bringing the trust $141,600.

Near-final plans for both the school and community center were presented by Mr. Bullington Tuesday, leaving only very minor modifications to be made before complete plans and specifications can be prepared for solicitation of bids. It is presently planned that bids for the construction work will likely be sought in July.

HOSPITAL RECEIVES GIFT

A memorial gift of $10.50 has been received by Belmond Community hospital in the name of the late Margaret Mennenga, given by friends of Miss Mennenga.

George Sharp new Jaycee president

George Sharp was elected to succeed Ray Borgstrom as president of the Belmond Junior Chamber of Commerce as the Jaycees on Monday night cast ballots on officers for the 1960-61 activity year that begins July 1. As retiring presidnt, Mr. Borgstrom will become a Belmond chapter represntative on the state board of directors, along with the new president.

Others elected to office were: Al Korthas, 1st vice president; Ed Gabrielson, 2nd vice president; Jack Williams, secretary; and Gordon Sandman, treasurer. Named to the board of directors were Duane Anderson, George Hinman and Joe McLaughlin.

The Jaycees voted to hold work sessions each Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening at the baseball diamond they are building to the rear of the Don Nolan, Larry Dorr and Lloyd Lewis residences on Second ave. NE.

This property has been leased to the JCC for five years by the Methodist church and will be used as a recreation area to supplement the school baseball diamond as site of peewee and midget baseball activity.

These work sessions will continue as long as improvements remain to be made in the grounds, which cover approximately three acres.

For shoppers, prizes galore—

Flying Saucer Days begin today

A "friendly invasion" of flying saucers was scheduled to occur yesterday, encompassing 11 communities in the Belmond trade territory — in addition to Belmond, itself

It figured to be an invasion of the very nicest kind, meaning potential savings of thousands of dollars to customers bringing "captured" saucers in to the 27 Belmond business firms participating in the unusual promotion.

These savings will be possible today (Thursday) through Saturday in the form of both absolutely free prizes and merchandise discounts that will run as high as 20 per cent off of customary prices.

Placards identify stores

About the only limitation placed on the prizes and discounts is that they will be allowed only to adults (or to children accompanied by adults) and that any one store will be permitted to give only one prize to a person.

Rules were set by the Belmond Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of "Flying Saucer Days," to make the distribution of prizes as fair to all as possible.

All concerns participating will be easily identified by placards reading, "This is a Flying Saucer Store." They will have plainly posted inside the store the numbers for which they are offering prizes or discounts.

These numbers went on display this morning and will be available to check against until closing time Saturday night.

Dozen towns "invaded"

Saucers from each of the participating stores were dropped on each of the dozen different "target" communities, including Belmond. The others that were targets of the saucer invasion were Corwith, Kanawha, Klemme, Goodell, Thornton, Meservey, Alexander, Rowan, Galt, Dows and Renwick.

Capt. Duran Hill, commander of the Belmond Civil Air Patrol squadron, was assigned responsibility for launching the saucers — and being a pilot rather than a "bombardier," he was hoping yesterday for calm skies that would enable him to zero in on his saucer targets with maximum success.

Participating stores

The following business firms are participating in Flying Saucer Days: Anthony's, Belmond Hardware, Belmond Independent, Coast to Coast store, Dougherty Jewelry, Elliott Hardware, Fullerton Lumber, Hattel's Super Valu, Hildman's, House of Flowers, Iowa Electric Light and Power company, Jim's Paint and Walpaper, Johnston Furniture and Harold's.

Also Kennedy Furniture, Kessler's, Kinseth Plumbing and Heating, Lloyd's Standard Service, Mello Maid, Nell's Place, Nolan's Rexall Drug, OK Rubber Welders, P&G Grocery, Ted's Shoe store, Thompsen and Keleher Clothiers, Town House cafe and Waddington's.

Elect Jeff Hruska president of PF

Officers for the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational church for the 1960-61 activity year were elected last Thursday night at the regular PF meeting held at the church youth center.

Jeff Hruska was elected as president, in which position he will succeed Nancy Gallagher. Also chosen to fill offices were: Randy Brandmeyer, as vice president; and Shirley Davis, secretary-treasurer.

TWO CLARION YOUNG MEN TO OPERATE DAIRY SWEET

Dick Berens and Harold Askvig, a couple of young men from Clarion, have rented the Dairy Sweet Drive-In from George Coburn for the current summer season.

They took possession of the business today (Thursday) and plan to formally open it under their operation with a grand opening Saturday and Sunday. They will serve free root beer as an introductory gift to customers dropping in to make their acquaintance.

Aunt Jemima coming here Saturday; will serve free pancakes all day

Aunt Jemima, America's "First Lady of the Griddle," will be in Belmond this Saturday to help make the third and final Flying Saucer Day an especially festive occasion by serving free pancakes from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

She will set up for business at a stand to be located on the First State bank corner. Aunt Jemima's appearance will be under sponsorship of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce.

Thousands are expected to take advantage of the joint hospitality of Aunt Jemima and the Chamber by enjoying a serving or more of Aunt Jemima's tender, toothsome griddle cakes.

She will be attired in the red kerchief and gingham dress that are familiar to millions through her picture on numberless boxes of ready-mix pancake flour.

Aunt Jemima will bring with her her own portable kitchen to make sure that the facilities are exactly to her liking. She will not only demonstrate her skill at the griddle, but will have other tips on cooking to offer and — as usual — spice her remarks with the type of good-natured anecdotes that have become as much her trademark as her bandana kerchief.

To encourage the kiddies to visither (if they need anything more than the promise of a helping of delectible pancakes), Aunt Jemima promises them candy suckers with her picture on them and Breakfast Club buttons. She'll also have a generous supply of free recipe booklets to distribute among the women.

Several firms are cooperating with Aunt Jemima in providing the appetizing snacks that will be served from her stand throughout the day. Folger's is providing coffee and Staley's, pancake syrup.

Belmond Co-op Creamery is donating butter and providing at cost half-pints of milk for those who prefer that drink to coffee. Hensel Brothers Produce has agreed to supply eggs for the pancake batter.

Final rites held here Wednesday for Ben Johnson

Final rites for Ben Johnson, 86, were held Wednesday afternoon at Trinity Lutheran church, Rev. Oscar Laaveg officiating and Johnston Funeral Home in charge. Burial was in the Belmond cemetery. The following served as pallbearers: Tolford Johnson, Galen Johnson, Harley Thompson, Harold Johnson, Percy Swenson and Melvin Thompson.

Mr. Johnson died Sunday morning at Belmond Community hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born Jan. 11, 1874, near Belmond, son of C. B. and Agnette Johnson, Benton Joel Johnson lived most of his life in this community. He wed Hannah Olson here Jan. 1, 1896. They lived near Belmond until 1905, when they moved to North Dakota and farmed for several years.

Later they returned to Belmond, where Mr. Johnson engaged in business for several years. He and Mrs. Johnson were the parents of two sons, Gerhard and Clifford, both of whom survive. Mr. Johnson also leaves three brothers — Theodore C. Johnson of Jackson, Minn., Albert Johnson of Huxley and Chester Johnson of Belmond; also a sister, Julia Johnson of Belmond.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his wife and two sisters.

MINNESOTA VISITORS

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Virgil Johnson home were Mr. and Mrs. Orland Hagen and Mrs. John Hagen of New Richland, Minn. Evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Markham and family of Ogden.

Ed Schimp aided by good friends

A number of friends turned to at the Ed Schimp farm Monday to do field work Ed has been unable to do on account of suffering a fractured vertebra in an accident last winter.

His "good neighbors" plowed 55 acres of land, drug and otherwise prepared for planting another 50 acres that had been plowed last fall.

No moola budged

The setting was fine — a warm, sunny afternoon. Plenty of people in town, it seemed. But not a smidgin of that Cash Gift Day moola found a taker Tuesday. Four hundred dollars were available for the claiming. The CGD committee is letting the whole pile remain the same for next Tuesday afternoon. It will be enough to divide once again into eight $25 prizes to be posted at 2:00 p. m. and half as many $50's at 3:00 o'clock.

GIFT TO HEART FUND

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Olson of Clarion have presented to the Iowa Heart Memorial Fund a gift of $5 in memory of the late Mrs. Martha (Ed) Schmidt of Belmond, according to Mrs. Gail Cundall of Clarion, Wright county chairman for the fund.

Mainstreeters make selection—

Mrs. Hinman chosen as "Mother of the Year"

Although she boasts 16 grandchildren and one great grandchild, the Mainstreeters' choice for Belmond "Mother of the Year" for 1960 is anything but a "granny sit-by-the-fire." The passage of time and affliction with arthritis in recent years have slowed her down a bit; but her alert mind remains as keenly concerned with current affairs and the world about her as it always has been during her adult lifetime.

That brief description should serve to introduce Mrs. Marjorie Hinman, widow of the late A. C. Hinman (who died Sept. 1, 1950), and mother of several of this community's highly respected citizens.

Born Marjorie McGrann at Eagle Grove on Feb. 21, 1885, Mrs. Hinman found it necessary to shoulder responsibility beyond her years when she was still a child in school. Her father, a railroad engineer, was killed in an accident when Marjorie was in eighth grade and she worked the remainder of her school years as a telephone operator to help support the family of three boys and three girls.

After her graduation from high school, she taught for a time at Hickory Grove school northwest of Belmond, then returned to Eagle Grove to accept employment at a grocery store as bookkeeper and cashier. It was this position she left when she wed Arthur C. Hinman on Dec. 18, 1912.

Her husband was a widower with two children, ages eight and four, so Mrs. Hinman found herself with a ready-made family to look after. The step-children, whom she has loved no less dearly than the six of which she and Mr. Hinman became parents, were Ellen, today Mrs. Gunnar Ahlstrom of Belmond, and Agnes Hinman, who presently lives in St. Paul, Minn.

Not a very stern disciplinarian, she nevertheless made a lasting impression on the children encouraging good behavior by a switch vigorously applied to the legs — and by sentencing members of her brood to a half hour of meditation in the bedroom when disobedience called for a bit of soul-searching.

A good cook herself, she brought all of her daughters up to be capable mistresses of the stove and skillet, also. Though she occasionally had the temporary help of a girl to perform maid duties when work was especially heavy, Mrs. Hinman managed the large household entirely by herself most of the time. At the dinner table, in addition to the family, there often were several hired men — so her job as cook, alone, was a heavy one.

It has always been characteristic of Marjorie Hinman to be deeply interested in problems of the day. Back in depression times, she was a key figure in bringing to Wright county a man who gained fame in that day for his efforts to set up a farmers' organization to defend landowners against mortgage foreclosure.

She has among her most valued mementos a personal letter she received from Franklin D. Roosevelt when he was running for the U. S. presidency for the first time. It thanked her for expressing her views on the farm problem.

She does not share the conservatism that is customarily expected in members of her generation. She is, for example, frank in her opinion that Belmond's streets are out-dated and that its residents should keep them "up with the times."

Mrs. Hinman has been an active member of League of Women Voters and played an important role in a survey of the Iowa river basin that the local unit conducted several years back.

She takes an eager interest in politics. She's a registered Republican, but she is not a straight-ticket voter, her children suspect. They're more inclined to believe that a candidate must win her approval on his personal stand on issues to be assured of her vote.

Her "modern" attitude is reflected in her enthusiasm for travel — and her preference for the airplane as by all odds the most desireable means of transportation. She's made three or four trips to California in recent years by air.

Mrs. Hinman and a group of her contemporaries find great enjoyment in periodical, rousing games of canasta. She used to play a good deal of cribbage with her husband, but has given up that game since his death. She finds some of television's offerings worth the watching (but won't tolerate the risque or suggestive). likes to tend her flowers during season — and finds time daily for her favorite reading, the Bible.

She reads extensively, but most of her reading is confined to newspapers and periodicals in preference to books. She's been a longtime and faithful member of the Congregational church. Her affiliations also include membership in the Rebekah lodge and Order of Eastern Star.

As a woman who has left an indelible mark on this community not only in her own right but through the influenc of her children, The Mainstreeters take frank pride in their selection of Mrs. Hinman as a most fitting recipient of the title of Belmond's "Mother of the Year."

MRS. MARJORIE HINMAN

Schmidt funeral held on Monday

Funeral services were held Monday at the Methodist church for Mrs. Martha Schmidt, 74, who had made Belmond her home for the past 37 years. Rev. M. L. Jones officiated and Johnston Funeral Home was in charge.

Burial was in the Belmond cemetery. Serving as pallbearers were Floyd Doctor, Wilmer Burk, George Coburn, Gunnar Ohlstrom, Wallace Cramer and Clair Dorr. Graveside rites were conducted by the Rebekah lodge.

Mrs. Schmidt died suddenly at her home last Friday.

Born at Meservey on July 27, 1884, daughter of George and Marie Wickersheim, the deceised married Edwin Schmidt of Meservey on Sept. 14, 1911. They moved to Belmond in 1923 Mrs. Schmidt became a member of the Methodist church and for many years was a Sunday school teacher.

She is survived by her husband and all of three daughters: Mona (Mrs. Edward) Landsburg of Britt, Ina (Mrs. Harold) Olson of Belmond and Nina (Mrs. L. V. Dorr of Clear Lake. She leaves a sister, Kate Paul of Meservey; and a brother, Crist Wickersheim of Des Moines; also six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Her parents, four brothers and four sisters preceded her in death.

Swimming pool manager and chief life guard hired

Gerald Kintzi, Belmond High school commercial instructor, and Jean Brogan of Thornton, a teacher at Manson, have been hired as Luick Memorial Swimming Pool manager and chief life guard, respectively, for the 1960 season.

Their employment was recommended Monday night to the city council by Elden Boyd, chairman of the building and grounds committee, and the city fathers put their stamp of approval on the choice of Boyd's committee. Mr. Kintzi and Miss Brogan both appeared before the council in person.

Bob Kellerman, chairman of the city zoning and planning commission, also met with the council to report on his attendance at a seminar on city planning and a clinic on industrial development held April 21-22 at Des Moines. He said that Neil Flanagan, Cecil Carstens and Jack Granzow also attended some of the seminar and clinic sessions as representatives of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce.

Ralph Austin, Clarion attorney as counsel for Clair Nelson, local drainage and ditching contractor, asked the council whether bids had been officially solicited on installation of new water mains crossing the river from west Belmond and linking Eastgate Addition with the city water system. He noted that the cost of the project would run well over $5,000 but that the work was apparently being done without official solicitation of bids.

Mayor L. T. Trafford acknowledged that estimated cost of the work would run about $11,000 but that no notice calling for bids had been published and no hearing had been held prior to hiring a dragline operator to do the required digging.

Mr. Austin said he wished to study the contract made with the dragline operator and that he and his client might confer again with the council later.

Roy Duff of Iowa Falls, representing the certified public accountant firm of McGladrey, Hansen. Dunn and Gage, presented the 1959 audit of the Belmond Community hospital's books to the council. Dismay was expressed by the city fathers that the audit offered no prospect for reduction in city tax support that has been given the hospital in the past several years. Further consideration of the audit and the problem of hospital tax support is to be given by the council.

It was also noted at Monday's council meeting that the date for the citywide rabies clinic has been set for May 28.

Top series Pearson's 696, Gordons 695—

Mathiason's 279 highest game of pin season

Final standings in the men's and women's bowling leagues, which wound up their seasons last week, appear elsewhere on this issue. Team scoring in the men's leagues failed, in general, to measure up to that of the 1958-59 season; but the women keglers had one of their best seasons — perhaps their best yet. The Lucky Six league rather predominated over its sister league, the Happy Six, as the women rolled in two leagues for the first time.

Gene Pearson's 696, followed closely by Fred Gordon's 695, led in excellence all other series performances in the men's leagues. Don Mathiason's 279 single game was four better than the 1958-59 high game rolled by Ed Albers. The '58-59 top series was 693 by Duan Thompson.

Albers has high average

While individual achievements compared quite well, all of the team "bests" fell appreciably short of the top scores of the season before. Bowl-Mor's high series of 3,205 was 33 short of the Nelson Gravel series of '58-59 and far shy of the 3,274 produced by Mello Maid the year before that. Hattel's Super Valu had the high team game of 1,168, a good bit under the preceding year's 1,195 by Dows Swamp Angels.

Ed Albers had not only the high individual average, but the three top averages He hit a 187 pace in the Boardsplitters league, 186 in Main Street and 184 in the General Mills league.

Scoring in the women's Lucky Six ran better than that in the 12-team league of a year ago. Olga Rogalla had high series of 585, while Eleanor and Donna Robertson each turned in a 225 game. High a year earlier were Darlene Busick's 567 and Lil Campbell's and Jackie Albers' 223's.

Best women's series

Thompson's had top team series of 2,497, a pin better than Lucky Six's Bowl-Mor five; and the high game was also Thompson's, 892. These surpassed the 2,436 by Howell's Music and 889 by Chapman's One-Stop for '58-59.

Pearson's 696 highest

Boardsplitters — team series: Mello Maid 3,190, City of Belmond 3,110, 1st State Bank 3,108; team game: City 1,146, Mello Maid 1,134, Sheldon's Chevrolet 1,119; individual series: Gene Pearson 696, Ed Albers 660, George Sharp 640; individual game: Jack Crosby 268, Arlo Stoltenberg 256, Larry Kinseth 255; high average: Ed Albers 187.

Pinbusters — team series: Bowl-Mor 3,205, Ris-Van 3,146, Fullerton's 3,111; team game: Ris-Van 1,160, Bowl-Mor 1,129, Fullerton's 1,094; individual series: Larry Kinseth 645, Gene Pearson 643, Jack Lobdell 623; individual game: Gene Pearson 268, Max Whitney 244, Larry Kinseth 242; high average: Gene Pearson 175.

Quint-City — team series: Alexander "66" 3,078, Staley's 3,073, Budweiser's 3,051; team game: Alexander "66" 1,138, Staley's 1,089, Schulte's 1,075; individual series: Bernie Bohman 577, Ernie Kurtz 565, Jake Stoffer 562; individual game: Jake Stoffer 251, Bernie Bohman 242, Ernie Kurtz 237; high average: Jake Stoffer 166.

Hill has high game

Kanawha — team series: Woodbutchers 3,139, Farmers Co-op 3,098, DeKalb 3,072; team game: Independents 1,112, Woodbutchers 1,111, DeKalb 1,082; individual series: Lynn Knoll 637, Laurence Espe 625, Ralph Muhm 605; individual game: Melvin Hill 254, Knoll, Espe and Muhm each 246; high average: Lynn Knoll 163.

General Mills (four-man teams) — team series: S&H 2,542, Maintenance 2,529, Office 2,491; team game: Maintenance 913, Laboratory 911, Larro 910; individual series: Ed Albers 626, Duan Thompson 634, Elden Boyd 599; individual game: Walt Hotvet 266, Duan Thompson 254, Gerald Whipple 238; high average: Ed Albers 184.

Women's best performances

Lucky Six — team series: Thompson's 2,497, Joe's Skelly 2,495, P&G 2,460; team game: Thompson's 892, Jim's Paint 872, Joe's Skelly 870; individual series: Olga Rogalla 585, Lois Hafermann 561, Beulah Ahlstrom and Donna Robertson 560; individual game: Eleanor and Donna Robertson 225, Olga Rogalla 223, Lil Campbell 219; high average: Darlene Busick 158.

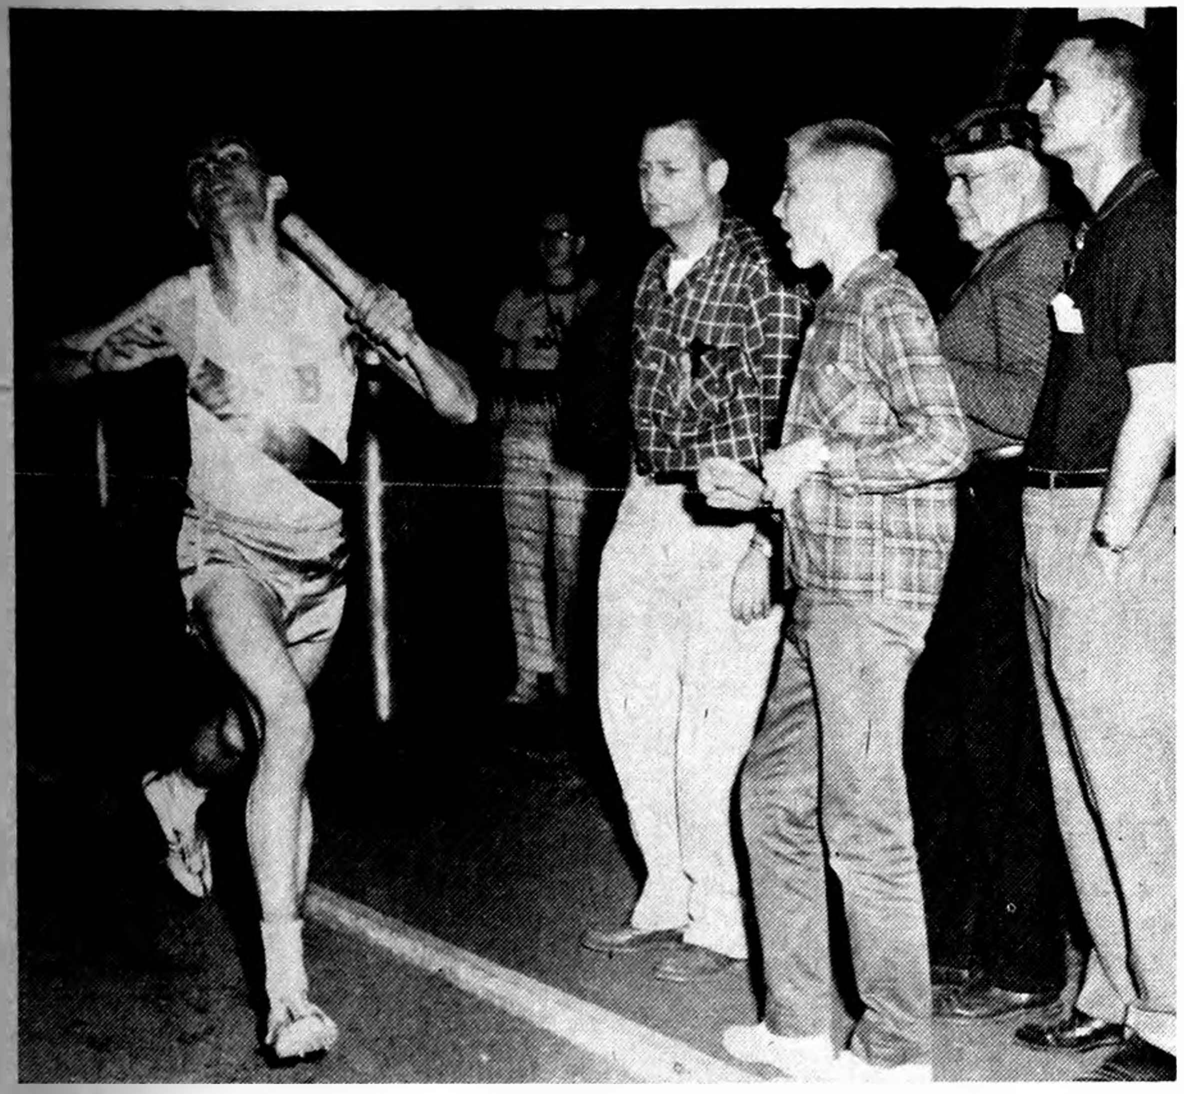
Welcome Aunt Jemima



ONE MORE CHANCE to prove he's a better miler than John Raveling of Saydel will be given Larry Kramer, BHS distance ace, shown here breaking the tape in the two-mile relay event at the recent Eagle Grove Relays. Raveling went one up when he whipped the Bronco runner last Friday in the Drake Relays with a time of 4:26.3 — his fastest and 1.6 less than Kramer's best. The rivals will undoubtedly meet in the Class A state outdoor meet two weeks from Saturday. Kramer outdistanced Raveling in the outdoor classic last spring, as he did in the state indoor this year. And despite his defeat at Des Moines, Larry has been making a king-size contribution to Belmond High's most successful track season ever. By picking up five trophies at their own Bronco Relays on Tuesday of last week, the Broncos brought their total to 14 in eight days' time; and Larry had a direct hand in the winning of eight of them. (Photo courtesy Eagle Grove Eagle)

Belmond High's track and field team will be a member of a seven-team field contending in the district track meet to be held tomorrow night at Eagle Grove.

With Belmond and Clarion rated as two of the most powerful Class A teams in the state (they ranked 1-2 in the Class A indoor meet at the start of the season), the Eagle Grove meet will be watched closely by rivals from other districts who hope to vie with the Broncos and Cowboys for the state outdoor title on May 21.

Both the host Eagles and the Humboldt Bulldogs have strong squads this year, also — a fact which points to exceptionally fine performances being in prospect Friday evening. Also in the Class A field will be Algona, Garrigan of Algona and Iowa Falls.

In addition there will be Class B competition among 20 entries, including Franklin Consolidated, Goldfield and Klemme.

At the Humboldt Relays, the host Bulldogs placed second to Clarion in the Class A division with 57 points to the Cowboys' 63, and Eagle Grove was close behind with 55. Belmond won Class B with ease, totalling 73½ points.

In the Eagle Grove Relays, Clarion, Belmond and the Eagles were all in Class B and finished with 61½, 56 and 54 points respectively. Humboldt, as a member of the six-team Class A field, finished close behind the champion Boone team with 63 points to the Toreadors' 69.

All of this would seem to promise a red-hot race for team honors at Eagle Grove — except that there is no way to foretell how much the various coaches will "load up" for specific events to the disadvantage of team title chances.

Since the state championship is the big attraction, rather than district team honors, Coach Rich Koolbeck can be expected to line up his runners to qualify the strongest possible team for the state classic. Alignment of talent by the other coaches will undoubtedly be influenced by the same consideration.

It is certain that the Bronco mentor will not endeavor to pad out the Belmond team total in any manner that might jeopardize fielding the strongest possible team in the state meet.

Other district meet action will find Osage, Northwood and Forest City in the seven-team Class A field Friday night at Osage and Britt, Garner and Lake Mills among 21 Class B schools competing at the same site.

Belmond's Broncos next Tuesday night at Osage will shoot for an unprecedented sweep of North Iowa conference athletic titles as they attempt to add the track crown to their basketball championship and the football diadem that they shared with Britt and Osage.

Odds are quite heavily against the Belmond cinder crew achieving this goal. Last year on the Belmond oval, Osage easily won the track and field championship by a margin of 91 points to 55 for the Broncos. It is questionable if the Green Devils are quite as strong as last season; and the Broncos have somewhat more depth than a year ago — but the host Osage team will nevertheless fill the favorite's role.

Seven loop records were smashed in the course of the 1959 NIC track carnival. This year's loop talent could do as well, if it is not spread so thin in order to achieve maximum team points that some of the outstanding individuals won't have an opportunity to perform in their own specialties.

All of the relay records could very well tumble, with the exception of the two-mile. Belmond could put together a team of 880 artists that might threaten the Britt mark of 8:35.1, but it is wholly unlikely that Coach Rich Koolbeck will concentrate his middle distance stars in this event.

Osage's sprint quartet is virtually certain to improve on both the 440 and 880-yard relay times by considerable margins. Belmond's medley combination — however Coach Koolbeck decides to line it up — is about an equal cinch to establish a new record in that event. And if the Broncos aren't too "used up" by the running of the mile relay, they could better the mark they set in that race a year ago.

Larry Kramer is almost an automatic certainty to break his own mile record, assuming he is entered in his favorite specialty. If Mickey Costigan, the versatile Buffalo Center star, runs the 880 the time for that event is more than likely to be lowered, too.

Bob Whipple has been hurling the football consistently farther than the existing record in that event; and Mike Long is capable of setting a new broad jump mark, having surpassed the present record on several occasions this season.

Following are the current NIC records, their holders and the year in which they were set:

100-yd. dash — :10.2, Brooks (Br), 1940.
120-yd. high hurdles — .15.8, Almquist (O), 1959.
Two-mile relay—8:35.1, Britt, 1959.
220-yd. dash — :22.6, Nerem (FC), 1946.
Mile run — 4:41.9, Kramer (Bel), 1959.
880-yd. relay — 1:37, Buffalo Center, 1957.
440-yd. dash — :52.5, McMillan (Br), 1937.
180-yd. low hurdles — :21.2, Almquist (O), 1959.
Medley relay — 3:56.2, Forest City, 1955.
880-yd. run — 2:08.8, Holtan (N), 1959.
440-yd. relay — :46.5, Belmond, 1957.
Mile relay — 3:39, Belmond, 1959.
Shot put — 45 ft. 11 in., Swenson (LM), 1954.
Football throw — 184 ft. 2 in., Christensen (LM), 1951.
Discus — 130 ft., Costigan (BC), 1933.
Broad jump — 19 ft. 8½ in., Schubert (G), 1959.
Pole vault — 10 ft. 9 in., Roalson, (FC), 1940.
High jump — 6 ft., Kaufman (Bel). 1958.

THE GAS PILOT

in your heating system can serve you this summer

IT WILL SURPRISE YOU . . . how much comfort and convenience, as well as economy . . . are yours when you keep the pilot in your gas heating system lighted during the summer months. IT PAYS OFF!

CHECK THE FOUR MAJOR BENEFITS

1 LONGER LIFE FOR YOUR HEATING EQUIPMENT
. . . because even this tiny bit of heat keeps it dry and prevents corrosion . . . adds years to life of equipment.

2 A MORE COMFORTABLE BASEMENT
. . . The little flame provides enough heat to make a slight updraft in the chimney. Result . . . ventilation of the basement, less dampness in the air and more comfort for work and play.

3 INSTANT HEAT AT YOUR COMMAND
Without wasting a minute, you can put on a bit of comfortable heat for late spring and early fall days . . . rid the house of chill any time in the summer . . . get rid of dampness.

4 AUTUMN CONVENIENCE . . . NO DELAY
No waiting to have pilot lighted . . . as necessarily occurs when a large number of customers must be served in the fall. All you need do is to reset thermostat to desired temperature.

This summer . . . keep the Gas Pilot ON. At little cost, you get longer life for equipment, better conditions in your basement, greater comfort in your home.

PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER HONORS BRIDE-TO-BE

Carol Ann Leinbach was guest of honor at a pre-nuptial tea given a week ago last Saturday by her fiance's mother, Mrs. Erwin J. Drenckpohl. More than 80 persons attended the courtesy, held during the afternoon at the Le Sueur Country club, Le Sueur, Minn.

In the reception line formed to receive the guests were: Mrs. Drenckpohl, Miss Leinbach and her mother and sister, Mrs. S. P. Leinbach and Joan, and the sister of Miss Leinbach's fiance, Mrs. Richard Dahn of Le Sueur.

The tea table was beautifully decorated in the colors of the bride-to-be, the centerpiece of pink carnations and roses, pink candles in silver candelabra, and the white cloth adorned with a swag of pink net and satin ribbon bows.

Frosted sandwich loaves, individual tea cakes decorated in pink and white, mints and nuts were served.

Mrs. Clarence Fleener hostess to G. E. M. club

The G. E. M. club met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Fleener last Thursday evening. Birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. Chris Wagner, Mrs. Leo Smith and Mrs. Ed Frohling.

Guests were Mrs. Howard Shahan, Mrs. Mayme Dillon, Mrs. Ted Zook and Mrs. Clara Thayer. 500 was played with high score going to Mrs. Claude Thayer, second high to Mrs. Mayme Dillon and low to Mrs. Ed Frohling. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Hy-Line® PRECISION GENETICS

These techniques — inbreeding to produce inbred lines with uniform, desirable traits, then hybridizing inbred lines to combine many good features into one bird—have undergone many refinements in 25 years. And new tools, like blood typing, further strengthen Hy-Line breeders' control over basic genetics.

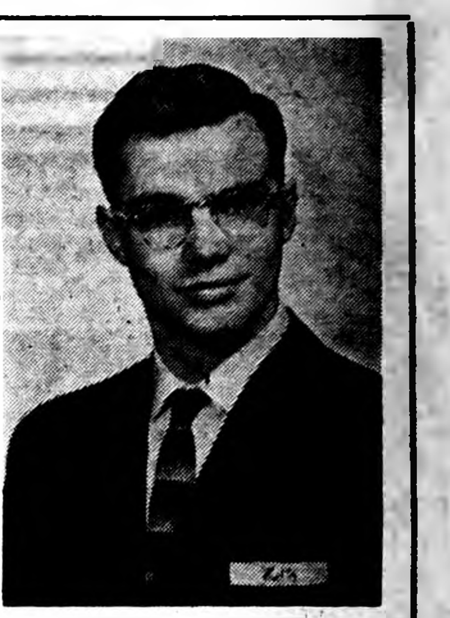
JOE TRIPLETT SEZ:



HEAR YE! HEAR YE! HEAR YE!

On January 1 of this year my family and I moved to 611 E Main or better known as the place George Jenison used to live in. My present telephone number is 904. The reason for telling you this is that the folks who now have the number listed in the telephone book under my name are receiving four to five calls a day for me. With the fertilizer business as good as it is this Spring he might take up selling fertilizer himself.

Many of you folks have probably seen a tractor and a twelve foot spreader out in some of your neighbor's fields this past week. That's a Ris-Van man out spreading potash or 0-0-60 as you may know it. With this part of the state requiring heavier amounts of potash we here at R-V are making an effort to apply it for those of you that need it. I had the pleasure of running the spreader one afternoon and I'll be glad to see the time in the near future when even the 0-0-60 can be spread as a liquid.

Barney Koenen and Hank Ahrends tell me that they've been out in the field digging around and have found some interesting little critters. I haven't been out there myself but I've heard about these little pests. Rootworms, wireworms, seedcorn maggots, etc., are generally what they're called. One sure way of killing each and every one dead is to dig him up and place him bewteen two blocks of wood and then hit the to pblock with a hammer. Barney and Hank aren't as ambitious as that so they're having R-V aldrin bulk spread with their fertilizer. They won't miss any that way either.

Corn planting will be on it's way as soon as it gets dry this week. The three Keller brothers have all taken their first Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer deliveries for corn planting. Joe and Wayne of Blairsburg and Lee of Clarion all farm large acreages and know about the time and labor saving benefits of using liquid fertilizer. The three brothers that I've been working on out Alexander way might want to look over the operations that these Keller brothers have. I'm not looking for doughnuts and coffee. Just fertilizer orders. Of course writing out a big order does make me hungry.

Thought for the week:

To lift the load
From your sore back
And rid you of
That heavy sack
And make your corn
Shoot up like a geyser

Get Ris-Van, Man,

THAT'S FERTILIZER.

Ethel Wendel of Meservey, county president, was in charge of the meeting. Among business matters of the day was endorsement of Mrs. Fred Heddens of Mason City as Cerro Gordo nominee for district vice president. The Plymouth and Rockwell units were presented with pennants recognizing their having met their membership quotas.

Distinguished guests included: Mrs. Helen Weigand of Mason City, 3rd District president; Mrs. Ralph Rowley of Nora Springs and Mrs. Melvin Furness of Joice, past district presidents.

Mrs. Howard Stewart of Mason City was elected to succeed Mrs. Wendel as county president. Also elected to county offices were: Mrs. Arnold Rasmussen of Clear Lake, vice president; and Mrs. Ted Enabnit of Mason City, secretary treasurer.

Following retirement of the colors, the visitors were invited to enjoy coffee in the church parlors, Mrs. Dale Smith pouring.

WSWS family Guest Night this evening (Thursday)

The WSWS will hold a family Guest Night Thursday night at 8:00 p. m. A special program is planned and a social hour will follow. Everyone is welcome.

TV PROGRAM INTERRUPTED BY POWER SUPPLY FAILURE

An appearance of Meservey's Brownie Scouts and their leaders, Mrs. Lloyd Faaborg and Mrs. Ray Miller, on KGLO-TV at Mason City last Thursday was abruptly interrupted by a power failure.

The power supply was cut off when an auto knocked down a powerline pole near Kensett.

The television station invited the girls to return some time in May to "try again."

ALERT MEN AND WOMEN RECOGNIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF CHIROPRACTIC to the HEART

Modern research is accumulating important new knowledge regarding the effect on the heart of nerve pressure in the spine. A muscular organ, the heart functions with rhythmic contractions regulated by the flow of nerve energy. Thousands of men and women have learned through experience that chiropractic correction of nerve interference in the spine is the road to radiant health. Your doctor of chiropractic is qualified through years of training to determine by his examination, whether or not your case is within this specialized field. If he accepts your case you will be benefited.

For information explaining how posture and health problems similar to your own can be helped through Chiropractic, ask your Chiropractor

MEETING "THE BOSS" was the pleasure last week of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Elliott when they visited the Maytag company's manufacturing plant and new headquarters at Newton. Here, Ellis is shown as he and his wife were being greeted by Fred Maytag II, chairman of the board of the internationally known appliance firm. Looking on (reading from the left) are Ted Larson of Fort Dodge, regional manager, and Paul Gerk of Eagle Grove, representing Forbes Modern Appliances. The Elliotts, Mr. Gerk and other appliance dealers from "the Heart of Iowa" were invited as special guests to tour the Maytag plant and new hadquarters building.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Robert Taylor portrays an engineer commissioned to build the first railroad through East Africa in "Killers of Kilimanjaro," which occupies the New Belmond screen Friday and Saturday. (Tonight, the last showing of Paul Muni in "The Last Angry Man") This is a typical jungle epic, with stampeding elephants, witch-crazed natives — action in abundance.

"Operation Petticoat" has Cary Grant, Tony Curtis and their fellow crew members of the Navy submarine USS Sea Tiger submergd with five attractive lassies aboard

That the sub's cargo of Army nurses, to be returned to the Stats, leads to hilarious complications can be taken for granted.

While a few of the "old salts" aboard are highly indignant over the nurses' disruptive presence, most of the crew heartily approves of the zany "operation petticoat."

EDITORIALS

Understanding is a well-spring of life unto him that hath it.
— Prov. 16:22

Men aged beyond usefulness don't always know it

Being something less than a deep student of international politics, we can't join with those who have endeavored to analyze the circumstances that brought about the collapse of Syngman Rhee. We read in one editorial that "he used police power and unofficial goons to suppress even the mildest opposition, while going through the forms of elections and parliamentary government."

Maybe that was the case; though if that were the manner in which he conducted the South Korean government throughout the period of his administration, it seems strange that the decisive demonstrations against him were so long brewing.

One aspect of the situation that we have seen no particular point made of was that of Rhee's age (85). Within our own personal experience, we have seen few examples of individuals reaching that advanced an age without their mental faculties being noticeably impaired. That impairment may be limited to a lack of normal alertness, a tendency toward intermittent confusion — or in some cases, as may have been true of the Korean leader, a growing obstinance and tenacity of viewpoint that can become most disconcerting to the elderly person's associates.

One of the major objectives of gerontology is to slow down this inevitable deterioration of mental — and, of course, physical — faculties. As the average age span continues to grow longer, the problems produced by persons unable to recognize their unfitness to do what they've done with competence in the past are going to multiply.

It is sad when the powers of a respected person to act and speak with accustomed wisdom begin to fail. It is doubly sad in that ordinarily they do not realize the change in themselves, and their associates must either tolerate the altered circumstances or commit the unkindness of pointing them out.

We have at no time seen Syngman Rhee's patriotism questioned. He was dedicated to the cause of his nation's freedom. Could it not be, perhaps, that above all he had simply outgrown his usefulness to that cause?

Those who continue in positions of leadership to the point of advanced age would indeed do well to entreat with Robert Burns

"O wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us
To see oursels as ithers see us!"

Public safety department issues picture book

The Independent received in the mail last weekend a booklet "Published by the State of Iowa" that was devoted to publicizing the various divisions of the Department of Public Safety.

We assume that the booklet was passed on to all newspapers in the state. Who all else might have been favored, we don't know. Neither do we have any idea why the Department of Public Safety felt compelled to draw attention to itself in this manner.

It offers pictures of not only all the eight division chiefs, but of their No. 1 assistants, also. Needless to say, it also contains pictures of Public Safety Commissioner D. M. Statton and his deputy.

In the main, the "write-ups" of the various divisions are simply condensations of what appears in the Iowa Official Register (the "Red Book") in regard to them. About the only purpose it's going to serve is to acquaint those who scan it briefly — before depositing it in the round file — with the faces of the top men in the department.

As a taxpayer, we're frankly not enough interested in the physiognomies of these gentlemen to foot our share of the bill for the pamphlet's printing and distribution. It was, so far as we could see, a perfect example of useless propaganda serving no purpose beyond inflating the egos of those responsible for its publication.

Warnings don't seem to diminish traffic tragedies

Millions of column inches of valuable space are contributed by American newspapers every year in the never-ending battle to halt the bloody carnage taking place on our highways. It seems incredible that drivers continue to act as they do behind the wheel of an automobile despite the avalanche of grim facts and warnings.

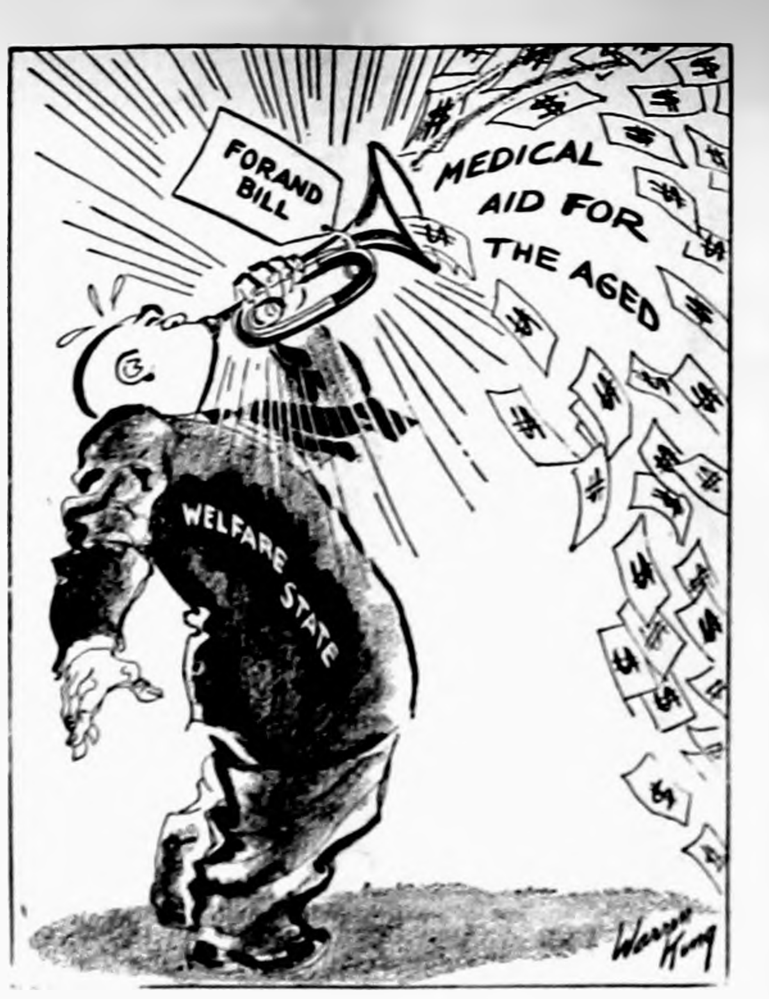
But it is a matter of record, record that is slightly over 50 years old yet already stands as one of the more sordid indictments against our society.

Since the advent of the automobile, more than 62,000,000 men, women and children have been killed or injured on our highways. More Americans have died on our highways than in all the wars this country has fought.

The cause of this slaughter screams for attention. More than 85 per cent of all fatal accidents last year were blamed on human error!

More than 85 per cent of the 37,600 traffic deaths last year occurred because somebody behind the wheel had shrugged off the countless highway safety news stories and editorials this newspaper and hundreds of others like it across the country printed during the year.

Inattention is the overwhelming factor which figures in 86 per cent of our death crashes. A lapse of attention to the road ahead, a heavy foot on the gas pedal, an unnecessary gamble to save a few seconds that cost an eternity — these are the ways in which the human behind the wheel failed. The supreme penalty is the price for those who err once too often.



HIS NEW BUGLE

PRIZE-WINNING POEM —

Ella Luick Bliss was elated when a poem of hers was recently declared a state winner in the annual contest of th Iowa Poetry association.

Among versifiers, this is a tough nut to crack. And although Belmond's poet laureate has had many of her works chosen for appearance in anthologies and elsewhere, and for reading on the air, she'd not previously had one rated a state place winner.

Her effort was a blue ribbon winner in district competition; but Mrs. Bliss was left a bit unsure of what placing was designated by the green ribbon awarded the poem as a winner in the state judging.

We can help her out to this extent. If she'd been exhibiting livestock at the state fair and gotten a "green," that would have indicated a fifth place. Whether poems and Poland Chinas are be-ribboned by a similar system, or not, we can not testify.

"PHANTOM PEACE" —

This is the poem that won for Mrs. Bliss the long-sought state recognition:

"Is peace but a phantom,
a remembered myth,
Only a symbol, a dove
on a monolith?

Is peace unattainable,
eclipsing man's worth,
Unable to cherish
a resting place on earth?

Has Man so challenged
God's immutable laws,
That he has lost favor and peace its cause?

No, peace must suffer along with man
Until the Creator accomplishes His plan."

"EDITOR'S REWARD"—

Some understanding soul mailed (anonymously) to Ye Ed a while back the following poem bearing the title, "Editor's Reward." We like to think that the writer of the verse was in a position to voice the sentiments of a "dependable news source" in making this optimistic forecast as to the probable fate of the typical editor.

An editor knocked at the Pearly
Gates,
His face was scarred and cold;
He stood before the man of fate
For admission to the fold.
"What have you done?" St. Peter asked
"To gain admission here?"

"I've been an editor, sir," he said
"For many and many a year."
The Pearly Gates swung open wide,
St. Peter touched the bell—
"Come in," he said, "and choose
You've had your share of hell."

THE ROOSTER CROUGHS?—

One thing we've always been happy about is that we were brought up speaking the English language. With all of its eccentricities of spelling, it is rather astounding that ANYONE ever manages to master the language, having first spoken in a tongue less perplexingly composed.

A stone requesting more dough
Said I really am worth it,
you knough,
For I barely get through
All the work that I dough
And I certainly can't be called slough.

WRIGHTING A WRONG —

Last weekend the back shop was turning out a supply of candidate cards for Sheriff Bob Blecker (nifties they are, too, very informational) and all 3,000 had been run off on one side when Jack Williams noticed with alarm that the card declared Bob to be running for Sheriff of RIGHT COUNTY.

The "W" had broken entirely off. With anxiety, Jack flipped through the stack in search of the point where the letter had disappeared. He was relieved to discover that only the last 400 printed wrongly said "RIGHT." That left 400 to reprint — but it could have been worse.

Incidentally, few who are handed one of Bob's cards are apt to throw it away. On them appear a list of Iowa counties' car license numbers and county seats, the point penalties for traffic violations, and a run down on Iowa speed limits.

BELMOND CONNECTIONS—

The contest a week ago Saturday to select a "Miss Forest City" of 1960 had a couple of Belmond connections. Not only did the list of judges include such celebrities as Mrs. Herschel Loveless, Iowa Jaycee President Dean Arbuckle of Jefferson and Jack Williams of the Independent staff, but the winner was a niece of Coast-to-Coast store's Don Olson — Mary Ellen Olson. We count Don as a friend and hope he won't take offense that we feel compelled to observe that Mary Ellen is a good deal purtier than her uncle!

Hildman was grocer; happy he no longer is

It's not very often that you find a groceryman who doesn't STAY a groceryman. An exception to the rule is Claire Hildman, proprietor of Hildman's Variety store. You'll never find a man happier NOT to be in the grocery business — although he was very much in that business for about a dozen years.

Claire owned and supervised two super markets in the Twin Cities; one in Minneapolis, which he purchased in 1941, and one in St. Paul, which he acquired in 1946.

Perhaps it would be best, though, to go back to the beginning to tell the story of Claire Hildman's business career. He was one of a family of 10 children, the most of whom got solid training in merchandising by working in their father's general store at Ionia, Ia.

When Claire had completed his schooling, he went to work for his oldest brother, Ray, who at the time was proprietor of the IGA store at Clarion. The familiarity thus gained with Wright county undoubtedly added to Claire's interest in Belmond when years later he was looking for a variety store to buy — and one happened to be available in this community.

After learning something of the grocery business, Claire took a job traveling for a wholesale grocery concern out of St. Paul. There he became enamoured of an attractive, auburn-haired miss. When he finally spoke of matrimony, his sweetheart made it plain that she had no intention of being the wife of a traveling salesman.

Lucille Hildman recalls with satisfaction that about three months after their marriage in January of 1941, Claire gave up his road job and bought the Minneapolis super market. When a new shopping center was built at St. Paul five years later, another Hildman super market came into being as a part of that beehive of trade.

As the years went by, the problem of keeping a satisfactory staff to man the two stores (the St. Paul market, alone, had a five-employee meat department) became so burdensome that Claire decided to pull out. He first sold the Minneapolis store; and when he got a good offer from a Twin City area grocery chain for the second location a year later, Claire was highly satisfied to retire from the grocery trade entirely.

Actually, his withdrawal was a bit more gradual than is suggested above. As a stop-gap means of earning a living while he scouted for a new business, he took a sales job with a wholesale fruit and vegetable concern, working out of Fort Dodge.

Meanwhile, his brother Ray, another brother — Leo — and a brother-in-law, Joe Cronin, were all advising him to get into the variety store business. Since all were ex-grocers and had been smart enough to seek greener fields, he respected their judgment.

It was at this time that George Infelt decided to sell his variety store here, and Claire didn't have to study to proposition over very long before deciding he'd found what he was looking for.

Hildman's, like some 2,000 other similar firms, is an affiliate of V-Stores, a cooperative buying set-up that works very much to the advantage of the associated stores AND their customers.

V-Stores maintains a huge warehouse at Clara City, Minn., a town of only 1,300 population. Here major merchandise shows are held four times a year, and store-owners can also visit in between times and order such fresh stock as they need.

CLAIRE HILDMAN SEES "VARIETY" THE SPICE OF LIFE

On Monday of next week the Hildmans will be leaving for Clara City to spend five days doing their buying for the 1960 Christmas trade. The spring stock now on their shelves they bought at a V-Store merchandise show held last October.

They don't, of course, do all their buying through their V-Store connection. For example, a candy salesman regards Hildman's as one of his very best coustomers — reflecting the fact that the store's candy department is one of its busiest. Also especially strong are the departments offering children's wear, women's ready-to-wear, and sewing notions.

Claire admits the biggest stir his business has witnessed in the nearly six years it's been operating was caused by the hula hoop. In very little over two weeks' time he sold more than 800 of the hoops — and was very happy there wasn't one in the store when the fad faded as quickly as it had developed.

Claire confesses he's never experienced a moment's regret over his desertion of groceryling for the variety business. He says in fact, "I only wish I'd done it years earlier."

Clipped Comment

From the Typewriters of Other Editors

Penny demand not "inflationized"

Contrary to some expectations, inflation has not killed the American penny.

In fact, the federal mint is finding it will have to work overtime this year to keep up with people's apparently insatiable demand for pennies — and also dimes.

The Treasury Department's explanation is that the big new demand for pennies is created, in part at least, by states and cities adopting sales taxes.

AND THE DIMES? THEY GO INto vending machines and parking meters, which unaccountably seem to be worse hoarders than storekeepers ever were.

An official of the mint is quoted as saying the coin habits of the American people are "fickle." We're sure they are. But always for good reason.

For instance, the apparently callous snub which Americans now are handing that old friend, the nickel, can really be blamed on inflation rather than any lack of affection.

PURSE MANUFACTURERS must share in the blame, for creating larger receptacles in which to store coins. And certainly suit makers are responsible, too, because they make pants pockets reinforced with synthetic fibers.

The pants-pocket test used to be our measure of what size coins a man might keep on his person. At the first weakening down in the bottom corner seam, a gentleman of probity would usually begin to shy away from keeping many pennies and dimes in his change.

AS THE HOLE WIDENED, HE had to give up nickels, and in time forego quarters and half dollar pieces. Stopgap measures, such as shifting his handkerchief to the coin pocket and stuffing it in the dollar gap, were sometimes effective. But eventually the small change had to go. Or a tailor had to be called in.

Now, with nylon and dacron guarding the bank, pennies and dimes are beginning to collect in pockets once more. The mint will just have to bear with it. Or put some sharp edges on those new pennies. — Christian Science Monitor

. . . To those who run

Hats off to the men and women who run for public office!

Never were the demands on these public servants so obvious as they were at the state Republican convention held in Des Moines last week.

Platform appearances were nothing compared to the openhouses held in their reserved hotel rooms, suites and mezzanines.

Shaking the hands of constituents from all over the state was "part of the game" as people filed in and out of hotel rooms and lobbies, bedecked with the candidates' stickers and hats laden with political propaganda.

SUBJECTED TO ALL SORTS OF questions and obviously on display so voters will know who we are, the candidates all have a "smoothness" in manner, because that's part of what it takes in the political game.

Liking people and liking to visit with them is the obvious asset for politicians. Being able to state clearly how they feel on varied issues becomes almost secondary to the "curious" constituents.

So hats off to these politicians who desire to serve the public and are prepared to face both fair and unfair criticism in achieving their goals of public service. — Osage Press-News

Demo's in spotlight

We wonder if the general public is becoming a little hypnotized by the coursing up and down throughout our land of the various Democrat candidates for the Presidential nomination. One almost begins to feel that the approaching election is completely one-sided, with nobody running for anything except the Democrats.

They are obviously having their troubles, and are being far from shy about airing them, but sometimes it would seem that even bad publicity is better than no publicity at all.

AFTER ALL, THERE ARE SOME Republicans left in the precincts, too, and as one of them we are beginning to feel that we are sort of being overlooked.

The Democrats are putting on some pretty impressive fireworks, maybe Nixon ought to begin operating on a more aggressive and showy scale to offset this Democrat flair for grabbing the spotlight. It's a cinch he wouldn't have to improvise any windmills to tilt at, there ar plenty of good issues for the Republicans to campaign on. — Sheldon Mail

Whose farm program?

In the midst of all the debate over how to solve the farm problem — one clear point stands out. The congress must pass legislation — and the Democratic party has a very, very large margin of control. If leaders of the Democratic party want a new farm plan they can pass it.

Eisenhower has told them that he will approve most any sound plan that they pass. When Symington at Sioux Falls blamed the farm situation on the Republican party, he was merely speaking politically.

He knows, as does every other person who wants facts, that the Democratic party has had sound congressional control most of the time and theirs is the responsibility for lack of a program. — Paul Smith in Rock Rapids Reporter

Better living starts with Thermogas

"Joe, if you think these cookies are good, you ought to taste the other things Mom cooks on her new range."

That's right, Joe, like the "belle of the tea party" says, food tastes extra delicious when cooked on a Caloric. And, cooking is much easier too. The "burner-with-a-brain" makes top cooking automatic. New keep-warm oven assures the right serving temperature for all foods. And, meats from the barbecue are more juicy than ever. See your Thermogas man for a Caloric demonstration.

FREE 11"x 14" color reprint of this illustration suitable for framing. See us or write for your free copy.

EASY TERMS AS LOW AS $6.60 PER MONTH

Your Caloric Range can be built-in or free standing

Caloric ranges are built with you in mind — engineered for easy cleaning. Built-in units have matching sinks and hoods. Choice of 6 colors.

VOL. 41 NO. 32 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1960 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | 12 PAGES THIS ISSUE

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

That perennial problem of local businessmen, to get flags up on national holidays and down when the sun sets, has been solved by joint action of the Chamber of Commerce and th VFW, Chamber President Jim Cairns reports.

Forty-eight flags of 50 stars, with staffs and brackets that will enable them to be flown from the electroliers along Main street, have been purchased from the Vets. Part of the bargain is that during the coming 12 months, the Veterans will see the flags are in place (two to a street light) on each of the 15 holidays that call for the colors to be displayed — and also take the flags down.

Since the flying of Old Glory in front of business places has been rather hit-and-miss proposition, both the Chamber directors and the Veterans believe the new arrangement will be a big improvement over the past practice.

If you're not yet the possessor of an up-to-date, 50-star American flag, look for the appearance at your door of a young fellow who'll be soliciting your purchase of such a flag. He'll be a Boy Scout representing the Belmond Jaycees and the proceeds from the sale of flags will go to the camp equipment fund of the local troop. It appears one may safely acquire a new flag now, without fear that the star count will become obsolete in the imminent future.

Talk about hardware merchants, that BHS track team is acquiring a stock in trade that is becoming a matter of embarrassment. The trophy case in the gym lobby won't hold all the awards the Bronco track and field experts have been hauling home!

At press time last week, they'd accumulated 21 trophies since the start of the season (the first was for that state Class A indoor championship).

Since then the Broncs have picked up three more in the district meet last Saturday at Eagle Grove — and another four (the championship and three relays) at the North Iowa conference meet at Osage. That makes the total 28 (!) with the state outdoor to go.

The mystery of the dog found dead Tuesday of last week in the river was soon cleared up. It was Harold "Dinger" Olsen's — and had been missing only since the day before. "Dinger" says the dog often played in the river and questions his pet drowned. He suspects the dog was poisoned and went to the river to seek water.

You'll note from posters in the store windows along Main street that an open air "circus" is to appear here Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening — 8:00 p. m., 2:30 and 8:00 p. m. It's not an elaborate show, but well trained dogs are always fun to watch — and who ever got over thrilling to a good tight-wire act? The reason the posters don't say WHERE the show will appear is that even at The Independent's press time, the location wasn't yet certain. Clearance with the council was still pending. But look for it. You'll find it.

GOODWILL TRUCK COMING

Mrs. Clyde Jennings reports that the Goodwill Industries truck will make one of its periodical stops at the Methodist church on Thursday, May 26. Persons with discarded clothing to give, and worn shoes or disabled toys that the handicapped can put into shape, are asked to leave them at the church before that time.

Jaycee Road-e-o Sunday afternoon

After lapse of a year, the Belmond Jaycees plan to sponsor a JCC Road-e-o here again this year and have scheduled the event for this Sunday afternoon. It will not start until 4:30 p. m., in order not to conflict with the BHS band concert.

Any young driver — boy or girl — from age 16 through 18, who has a license, is eligible to compete in the Road-e-o. It will be conducted on the playground between the high school building and Ramsay Elementary school.

Eighteen-year-olds must not reach their 19th birthday before Aug. 10th to be accepted as an entrant. Young people interested in participating in the Road-e-o should enter by notifying Jerald Torgerson, BHS driver training instructor.

A written examination will be a part of the competition, and this is to be administered by Mr. Torgerson.

Winner of the local contest will be awarded a certificate and medal and will be entered in the state Road-e-o to be held at Humboldt on May 21.

Local and county law enforcement officers have been invited to serve as judges of the driving demonstrations that Road-e-o entrants will be required to give.

Industrial arts open house set

The third annual BHS industrial arts open house will be held Wednesday of next week from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the shop building. Bernard Schroeder, industrial arts teacher, has planned the event.

A display of projects completed by students during the year will be presented. Door prizes will be given.

Awards in the form of woodworking tools will be given to the two top freshmen and two top senior students. Also, an award to the outstanding senior in industrial arts will be given and a plaque with his name on it will be presented to him.

Refreshments will be served.

Will leaves another $175,000-$200,000—

Final Luick trust set up to benefit public

The money was there — the numbers were there — the people were there . . . but not the RIGHT people. That seemed to be the Cash Gift Day story for Tuesday afternoon. Four hundred dollars was hanging from the limbs of the CGD "money tree" but the wrong number-holders were on hand to shake it. The whole $400 will be posted in prizes again next Tuesday afternoon, and the CGD sponsors sincerely hope that a generous amount of the green stuff will get "shook loose." There will once again be eight $25 prize numbers at 2:00 p. m. and four $50's at 3:00 o'clock.

HAS POEM IN BROCHURE

Mrs. Ella Luick Bliss has been advised that work of hers will be among the poems appearing in the 1960 edition of Lyrical Iowa, annual brochure of the Iowa Poetry association. Also to be represented in the book is Mrs. Elma Shillington of Clarion.

A final chapter in the story of Chester P. Luick's devotion to and generosity toward Belmond and the community surrounding was written this week when provisions of the late philanthropist's last will and testament were made known by its executor, Albert C. Hanson, and Attorney R. A. Henderson. The will was signed by Mr. Luick on Jan. 25 of this year.

After certain bequests set forth in the will have been made, the remainder of Mr. Luick's estate will go into a trust to be known as the "Chester P. Luick Memorial Trust," to be operated exclusively "for public, educational and charitable purposes."

Residue of the estate, after the mentioned bequests have been satisfied, should be no less than $175,000 and may come to as much as $200,000, Mr. Hanson estimated. Proceeds from this residue are to provide for the deceased's widow, Grace Luick, during her lifetime. Upon her death, all property then in the executor's hands is to be liquidated and the net proceeds turned over to the trust.

Named as trustees to administer the Chester P. Luick Memorial Trust were Mr. Hanson, Mr. Henderson and L. B. Cox. They are also trustees of the Fred and Alice Luick Memorial Building Trust, which Mr. Luick set up last fall to build a community center — an adjunct to the new community high school — as a memorial to his parents.

Bequests to Luick heirs

Monetary bequests set forth in the will were as follows: to Norma Jean Parry of Cedar Rapids, a step-daughter, $10,000; Susan Parry and Roger Parry, daughter and son of Norma Jean Parry, $2,000 each; Cleone Price of Brownsville, Tex., a step-daughter, $5,000.

Also, $5,000 apiece to: Elizabeth Leinbach of St. Paul, Minn., a niece; Beatrice McGowan of Eugene, Ore., a niece; Fred Leinbach of Buffalo, Minn., a nephew; Roger Leinbach of Rockwell City, a nephew; Muriel Bissel of Hammond, Ind., a niece; and Wilbur Luick of San Jose, Calif., a nephew.

In a separate article in the will, Mr. Luick explained that he had made no provision "to or for my beloved nephew, Dr. Samuel P. Leinbach, for the reason that during my lifetime I have made a very substantial gift to the Trustees for the use and benefit of the Belmond Community Hospital, which has resulted, and will continue to result, both directly, and indirectly, to the benefit of said nephew in his chosen profession."

Charitable bequests listed

Charitable bequests to institutions included: $5,000 to the Belmond Congregational church, to be invested in U. S. bonds by the trustees and the interest to be paid annually for the use and benefit of the church's youth center; $1,000 to the Belmond public library; $5,000 to the Christian Home of Council Bluffs; $1,000 to the Mayflower Home (for retired persons) at Grinnell; and $1,000 to the IOOF orphanage at Mason City.

Two of three farms in which Mr. Luick was left a life estate by his first wife, Sarah M. Luick, are now to be disposed of and the net proceeds shared equally by the nephews and nieces of Sarah M. and Chester P. Luick. The will explains that one of the farms was sold by Mr. Luick for $28,000; but that he personally cleared encumbrances against the three farms amounting to $31,150.42.

Kin share in two farms

The will gives use and income from the homestead occupied by himself and Mrs. Luick to his widow for her lifetime. At her death this property, like all other real, personal or mixed property left after satisfaction of the individual bequests, goes to the trustees of the Chester P. Luick Memorial Trust for their administration under the provisions of the trust.

Trustees given free hand

Beneficiaries of the trust are designated as "the inhabitants of the City of Belmond, Iowa, and the community surrounding Belmond." Very few restrictions of any manner are placed against the trustees, with the exception that "no sums shall be expended under this trust for any institution of a denominational or sectarian character, other than by way of providing scholarships in denominational colleges."

Mr. Luick stated in his will, "It is my firm belief that as my said Trustees have been my true friends in life, so they will be true to the trust I have committed to them, . . . and I therefore give my named Trustees or their successors wide discretionary power in the use of the income and corpus of said trust."

The trustees are permitted by the will's provisions to use not only the income from the trust, but to expend the principal also, to the general purpose of the trust.

Nearly 240 sixth-grade pupils from Belmond and six surrounding communities will be guests of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce at the Shrine Circus this Saturday at Veterans' Auditorium, Des Moines.

Three local school busses and one each from Kanawha, Thornton and Alexander will be required to transport the youngsters and their chaperones. Besides Kanawha, Thornton and Alexander, boys and girls from Meservey, Rowan and Goodell will also be taking the trip.

Len Collier, Chamber secretary, reports that there was a 100 per cent sign-up from the sixth grades of every one of the schools that were invited to participate in the treat.

The children are asked to bring sack lunches for their noon meal. Soft drinks will be provided by the Chamber; and for the evening meal the Chamber will provide each of its young guests with lunch and an orange drink.

Departure time of the bus caravan from the city park is 9:30 a. m. A highway patrolman will escort the group to Story City and a police escort will pick the group up at 14th street and Euclid at the north side of Des Moines. The circus-goers will get back home about 8:00 p. m.

This year's guest list is nearly 40 higher than a year ago, Mr. Collier reports. Klemme children were invited then, but the Klemme businessmen were so impressed with the idea that they are sending their own circus party this year.

Because of Klemme's withdrawal, the Chamber added children from Rowan and Thornton to those being extended invitations.

99 tots enroll for kindergarten

Assurance that the class that will be enrolling in kindergarten in Belmond Community School district this fall will very well measure up to the numerical level of recent years was provided by the recent pre-school round-up directed by School Nurse Alta Gabrielson.

Ninety pupils who'll start school were registered to become members of the Belmond kindergarten class and nine were registered as Goodell kindergarteners. Mrs. Gabrielson says the total of 99 is very likely to be a few short of the actual number that will begin school next fall, as it is known that a few were not registered who should have been.

Dennis Negreie (Joe), Gregory Nelson (Harold), Steven Nolte (Allen), Dana Obrecht (Edward), Timothy Olson (Donald), Lynn Ostendorf (Arnett), Julie Packard (R. G. "Bud"), Mark Patterson (Frank), Rex Peterson (James), Patricia Quigley (Pat), Debra Lou Rhiner (George), Lee Jeanne Robbins (Eugene), Leon Robertson (Robert), Charles Rogalla (Paul).

Jacquelin Albers awarded divorce

Monday in district court at Clarion, Judge G. R. Hill granted an absolute degree of divorce to Jacquelyn Albers from Edward H. Albers of Belmond. The couple were wed Sept. 4, 1952, at Albert Lea, Minn. They have one child, born the following year, who was given into the plaintiff's custody.

In agreement with a stipulation signed by both parties to the action and filed before hearing of the case by Judge Hill, the defendant was required to pay child support of $60 per month. No alimony was awarded.

SEWER JOB QUESTIONED

Clair Nelson, local contractor, says The Independent last week was in error in reporting that he found fault with the city's water main installation project. He says it was the construction of the storm sewer to serve Eastgate Addition that he regarded should have been done on the basis of solicitation of competitive bids.

Belmond Hardware to have new home

Lloyd Lewis and John Thompson, proprietors of Belmond Hardware, have concluded a transaction with G. V. Redmond for purchase of the building on Main street next to the post office that most lately housed J and B Recreation.

Possession of the building will be given May 27, and the new owners plan to move their store merchandise to the new site about the middle of June. They will first redecorate the interior completely and build what new fixtures will be required.

Mr. Lewis has been in business in Belmond since July of 1954, when he purchased the stock and fixtures of Bonte Hardware, where Belmond Auto Supply is now located. Approximately two years ago he moved Belmond Hardware to the business quarters adjoining Belmond Bakery.

$20 GIFT TO HOSPITAL

A memorial in the amount of $20 has been presented to Belmond Community hospital by friends and relatives of the late Ben Johnson.

Geo. Norris dies on 75th birthday

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church for George W. Norris, Rev. M. L. Jones officiating and Fulton Funeral Home in charge. Burial was in Belmond cemetery and the following served as pallbearers: Bud Berhow, Morse Hunst, Fred, Louis and Leslie Stevens and Wayne Taylor.

Mr. Norris died last Saturday at Belmond Community hospital, the date of May 7 being his 75th birthday. He had been ill only a short time, having engaged in work about his home until a week before his death.

Born May 7, 1885 in England, son of George Arthur and Kathrine Shepherd Norris, George William Norris came to this country with his parents when he was only 11 months old. The family settled first in Illinois, later moving to Mason City and then to Belmond, which has since been his home.

Mr. Norris was wed on March 14, 1909, to Edith Mary Seymour. Two children were born to them — Violet, now Mrs. Carl Helmich of Renwick, and a son George, of Belmond.

For 30 years Mr. Norris was employed in the sugar beet industry in various capacities, until retiring nine years ago.

In addition to his widow and children, he is survived by three brothers — Allen of Clear Lake, Ray of Rowan and Charles of Clear Lake; and a sister, Naomi (Mrs. John) Chapman of Goodell. He also leaves seven grandchildren.

Three brothers, Harry, Edgar and Arthur, preceded him in death.

Concert by bands Sunday; Heykants featured as soloist

Spring concert of the Belmond High school band and Belmond junior band will be presented Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the BHS gymnasium. This will be the third public appearance of the school year for the concert band and the second for the junior band.

Director Maurice Fahrney announces that a major highlight of the concert will be a clarinet solo by Ronnie Heykants, with band accompaniment. He will play "Recitative and Polacca" by Weber, on which he received a Division I rating in state contest competition this spring.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Heykants, and only a sophomore, Ronnie last year as a freshman was given a Division I-plus for the "outstandingly superior" performance he gave in the state contest.

A group of four selections by the junior band will open Sunday's concert: "Dry Bones," arranged by Vincent; "Indian Princess," Fred Weber; "Erie Canal," arranged by McLin; and "Junior Jump," Fred Weber.

Ronnie Heykants' appearance will divide the senior band's program into two parts. The first will include: "Rennaissance Suite," McLin; "Symphonic Suite," Williams; "Chester," Schuman; and "Nocturne," Hermann.

In concluding the concert, the band will play: "Beguine for Band," Eymann; "Swingin' on Parade," Van Auken; and "Iowa March," Goldman.

Jackson will go to Toastmasters' district contest

Rev. Richard Jackson of Rowan will represent the Belmond Toastmasters club this Saturday at the annual state contest of the Toastmasters of Iowa. He had earned the right to advance to the state speaking contest by taking first in an area contest held earlier this spring at Osage.

Saturday's District 19 contest at Davenport will find the Rowan minister competing against seven or eight other contestants from other Iowa Toastmaster areas.

Dave Hallowell, newly-elected president of the Belmond chapter, and either Keith Wiggins or Dick McFarlin will accompany the local representative to Davenport via chartered plane, leaving from Clarion.

Other Toastmaster officers, in addition to President Hallowell, who last month assumed duties for the 1960-61 year are: Keith Wiggins, education vice president; Al Nolte, administrative vice president; Roger Johnson, secretary-treasurer; and George Keleher, sergeant-at-arms.

IT SEEMS UNLIKELY that the recently chill weather in this area could warm up enough in approximately two weeks for comfortable swimming, but Sunday, May 29, is the date tentatively aimed at for the opening of Luick Memorial Swimming Pool. Chiefly responsible for the pool and its operation this year are the young man and woman pictured above. Gerald Kintzi, BHS commercial teacher, will be the pool manager; and Jean Brogan of Thornton, a teacher at Manson, will be the head life guard.

VISITORS HERE FOR FUNERAL TOLD OF DAUGHTER'S DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mennenga of Watford City, N. D., who came to Belmond week before last to attend the funeral of his sister, Margaret Mennenga, received a phone call after their arrival here telling them of the sudden death of their daughter Edith. The latter, who lived with her parents, had been ill for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Mennenga took the Fred Mennengas to their home, leaving that same evening. Funeral services were held Monday of last week. After attending the services the H. M. Mennengas began their journey home, arriving home Tuesday morning.

"Hospital Week" open house set

On Wednesday of next week in observation of National Hospital Week, the Belmond Community Hospital Auxiliary and the hospital staff plan to hold open house at the hospital during regular visiting hours. People will be welcome to attend the open house between 2:30 and 4:00 p. m. and 7:00 to 8:30 p. m.

Mrs. R. H. Gowdy, president of the auxiliary, notes that the open house will supplant the regular quarterly meeting of the organization.

During the open house hours, auxiliary volunteers will conduct tours of the hospital and members of the staff will explain various phases of the hospital's operation and various pieces of equipment.

Refreshments will be served in the waiting room. Articles made by auxiliary members will be on display and purchase orders may be placed.

Heart uneffected, Blecker informed

Concern of his friends over the health of Sheriff Bob Blecker was relieved the first of this week when it was learned definitely that an attack he had suffered last Friday morning in no way involved his heart.

Reading by a Fort Dodge specialist of an electrocardiogram Sheriff Blecker had had taken at Clarion Memorial hospital eliminated the possibility that the officer's heart had been in any way responsible for the sudden illness that sent him to the hospital.

Sheriff Blecker collapsed at his home Friday as he arose from the breakfast table. He was rushed to the Clarion hospital, where he was under observation through Sunday.

Monday morning, he was permitted to leave the hospital and resume his duties on a limited basis. Sheriff Blecker says his doctor is inclined to suspect that pain from passing of a gallstone was likely the cause of Bob's sudden collapse.

SINGS WITH CHORAL CLUB

Donna Nolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nolan of Belmond, appeared as a member of the Marycrest College Choral club of 145 voices in a special concert last Sunday in the Marycrest auditorium. The concert was one of the music department activities during the college's 15th annual Fine Arts Festival. The Fine Arts Festival is a culmination of the year's activities in all departments of the college. Miss Nolan is a sophomore at Marycrest.

Add track to grid, cage crowns—

Broncs win 3rd NIC title of year

Belmond High school's athletes Tuesday afternoon capped their most successful year of North Iowa conference competition in history by making a clean sweep of 1959-60 NIC championships. To the football title they shared with Britt and Osage and the basketball crown, for whose possession they were unchallenged, the Broncos added the loop track championship.

Their victory on the cinder oval came with unexpected ease as they amassed more points than their two nearest challengers, together. Belmond finished in first place with 106.1 points; then came Osage with 59.6, Garner 43, Buffalo Center 42.6, Britt 38.5, Forest City 11.6, Northwood 9.6 and Lake Mills 1.

Because of the unpromising appearance of the weather, the meet was advanced to an afternoon affair, instead of running preliminaries and field events being held in the afternoon and the track finals in the evening. Even so it was cold and a gusty wind and, in the last few events, a chilling sprinkle handicapped the competitors.

This did not prevent the setting of nine new records, four of them by Belmond entrants. In addition, the champs posted two new BHS marks and tied another.

Mike Long put two new conference records on the books with a time of 21 seconds flat in the 180-yard low hurdles and a leap of 20 ft. 3 in. in the broad jump. Dave Suntken sprinted the 220 in the exceptional time of :22.4 for the third mark and the medley team of Bob O'Connor, Dennis Anderson, Randy Musselman and Larry Kramer knocked 1.6 seconds off the old standard with a 3:54.6 performance.

Suntken's 220 time was also a BHS record, replacing the :23.0 by Bill Tyrrell 'way back in 1925. The other school mark smashed was in the shot put when Larry Tideback got off a heave of 45 ft. 4 in.

In their march to the championship, the Broncos were blanked in only two events — the high hurdles and pole vault. To compensate for those whitewashings, the Belmond crew grabbed off a number of places that were higher than anticipated. In this category was Vernon Pastour's tie for second in the low hurdles in the excellent time of :21.8. The talented sophomore also placed fourth in the 880, fifth in the broad jump and led off the two-mile relay team.

Lynn Jenison won the 440, turning the distance in :53.9; and dashed to a very fine :23.1 in the 220 to finish second to Suntken. Lynn also ran a leg on the mile relay team.

Larry Kramer trotted to easy victory in the mile run and anchored the medley team to its new mark. Dean Pals unleashed a toss of 126 ft. 10 in. to win the discuss.

Relay firsts came to Belmond in the two-mile and mile, in addition to the medley. Following Vernie Pastour on the two-mile quartet were his brother Dennis, Robbie Courson and O'Connor. Personnel of the mile foursome was Suntken, Dennis Pastour, Jenison and Long. The two-mile time was 8:54.1 and the mile, 3:42.5.

Suntken's third-place finish in the 100 and second in the high jump came as surprises, but the speedy senior made up for those disappointments in the 220 and mile relay.

Other Belmond place-winners were: Bob Whipple, 2nd in the football throw with a distance of 199-2¾, 3rd in the discus and 4th in the shot put; Dennis Gallagher, 4th in the mile run; 880-yard relay team (Long, Jay Mennenga, Roger Ginapp, O'Connor), 2nd; Courson, 2nd in the 880-yard run; 440-yard relay team (Anderson, Ginapp, Mennenga, Tideback), 3rd.

First places other than those won by Belmond contestants went as follows: shot put, Mickey Costigan (BC), 46 ft. 10¾ in. (new record); football throw, Paul Nedved (G), 202 ft. 1 in. (new record); high jump, Dennis Bosma (BC), 5 ft. 8 in.; pole vault, Larry Hochhaus (Br), 10 ft.

100-yard dash, Larry Pint (O), :10.3; 120-yard high hurdles, Bill Roe (G), :15.7 (new record); 880-yard relay, Osage 1:35.8 (new record); 880-yard run, Carroll Hanson (G), 2:08.3 (new record); 440-yard relay, Osage :46.6.

WHO WAS MAY QUEEN was not yet known by the five comely candidates at left as this picture was taken a short time prior to the annual May Fete of the Belmond schools on Wednesday night of last week. To Sondra Stoltenberg (right), last year's queen, was going to fall the duty of crowning the new queen, when her identity was made known. Waiting to learn how they'd fared were (left to right) Bonnie Nolan, Kate McLaughlin, Carole Kurtz, Linda Hauge and Eloise Soma. When outcome of the student body vote was announced, the biggest smile brightened the face of Eloise Soma, the May Queen of 1960.

Shickell returns to EUB church

Rev. V. E. Shickell was reassigned to the Meservey church at the annual state conference of the Evangelical United Brethren church held last week at Fort Dodge.

Mr. Shickell and Mrs. Frank Guth were delegates to the conference from the Salem EUB church and returned Friday evening after having attended the conference sessions.

BAND RATED DIVISION I

Meservey High school's band, directed by Wayne Pringle, was awarded a Division I rating at the recent state music contest at Goldfield. The MHS musicians plan to march in the North Iowa Music Festival parade at Mason City on Jun 14.

CANDIDATE of Meservey High school for the title of Miss North Iowa, to be bestowed at the North Iowa Band Festival on June 14, is Ronda Groen. She has been prominent in athletics, as a member of both the basketball and softball teams, and has participated in both vocal and instrumental music. She was in the junior and senior class plays and held class offices as a freshman and junior. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Groen.

Wednesday afternoon visitors at the Leonard Pals home were Mrs. Arlene Eno and Mrs. Henry Pals of Sheffield, Mrs. John Weintjes, Mrs. Tillie Pals and Mrs. Alida Pals. The last two were her grandmothers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mullin of Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Groesbeck and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Groesbeck with Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Schluter were at the Strasburg home Friday to finish closing the home.

Mrs. Vergena Pals, Vivian and Jimmy were Mother's Day dinner guests at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marvin Thompson at Belmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pals and boys were at the Harvey Pals home at Belmond Wednesday evening to help Mrs. Pals celebrate her birthday. Others there were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolters and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Swenson of Belmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Schluter were at Ames Sunday to visit at the A. Mullin home. They were there for the baptism of Sheryl Bogue, daughter of Mrs. Schluter's grandniece. The Mullins' two children, Deanna and Donald, became members of their church during the services that morning. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mullin of Kanawha, the grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Awalt Yhanke, uncle and aunt, and their son Leonard of Mason City were all dinner guests at the Mullin home.

Several from Meservey went to Swaledale Monday afternoon to attend the funeral of Mr. Laidley, father of Mrs. Marvin (Pat) Morris, who died suddenly on Friday.

Sunday visitors at the Mrs. Lizzie Hopkey home were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopkey of Webster City, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hopkey, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hopkey and Mike, Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Hopkey and children of Belmond and Mr. and Mrs. George Steenhard and children of Rockwell. Some of these also called at the Carl Hopkey home. The Steenhards were supper guests there.

Auxiliary past presidents provide articles for veterans

The Past Presidents Parley of the Meservey American Legion Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. Thina Smith last Wednesday afternoon.

The time was spent in sewing carpet rags for the Veteran hospitals. They also have ready to send quite a number of scuffies. Lunch was served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Halul of Mason City speaker at Garden club

The Meservey Garden club met in the home of Mrs. Gary Muhlenbruch with 14 members responding to roll call by exchanging filled May baskets.

Three guests present were: Mrs. Gerald Sinclair, Mrs. Cassie Lubkeman of Latimer and Mrs. Catherine Halul of Mason City. Eva Ferstl told about new plants and bulbs that are available. Mrs. Muhlenbruch had a tulip arrangement for her study.

Mrs. Halul of Mason City was the guest speaker for the evening and presented the lesson on "Good Grooming for the Housekeeper." Lunch served by hostess.

FERDINAND W. LEMKE AND BETH HABERKAMP MARRIED AT GARNER

Baskets of white stock and calla lilies and candelabra with large white bows and greenery decorated the chancel of Peace Reformed church of Garner when Miss Bethel Carol Haberkamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haberkamp, Garner, became the bride of Ferdinand W. Lemke, son of Mrs. F. A. Lemke and the late F. A. Lemke, of Meservey.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Chester Ploeger. Mrs. Stanley Peter, organist, played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Robert Jacobson, who sang, "Because," "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Wedding Benediction."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor-length wedding gown of imported chantilly lace combined with nylon tulle. The pearl and sequin embroidered bodice featured a scalloped sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves, ending in bridal points at the wrists. The full tulle skirt was over ruffled net over taffeta, styled with wide bands of galloon lace.

Her veil was a sequin and pearl embroidered hat with matching tulle. She carried an orchid set off by a cascade of stephonotis.

Mrs. Ernest Helgren, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Elizabeth Lemke, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Shirley Helgren, niece of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid. All wore identical dresses of lavender chromspun taffeta brocade with wristlets to match and headpieces of tulle. They carried cascades of carnations and Vanda orchids.

George Dirks attended the bridegroom as bestman and Jerry Suntken was groomsman. Palmer Helgren, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Ushers were Ernest Helgren, Roger Fekkers, Garold Lenz and Donald Anderson. The men all wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

Mothers of the bride and bridegroom wore navy blue dresses and had corsages of white cymbidium orchids and stephonotis. Both the grandmothers of the bride and bridegroom wore dark dresses and had corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for about 200 guests in the church parlor.

Following a trip to Chicago and other points, the couple is at home on a farm near Meservey.

LITTLE CATTLE FEEDERS

Plans for the annual club tour were discussed. It is to be held June 6, starting at 8:00 a.m. from the home of Collin Sprau. A picnic lunch will be held at the end of the tour.

David Gobeli and Donnie Fischer gave a demonstration, "How Much Did It Rain?" Rickie Morris led a discussion on table courtesy. Lunch was served by Mrs. Marvin Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Harm Dirks and children spent Sunday at Ames with their son Donald and they all enjoyed a picnic dinner at the Ledges park at Boone. Joann Nordman and Barbara Steenhard returned home with the Dirks Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Nordman, Dickie and Bobby spent Sunday at Clarksville at the parental Harris home.

Sunday dinner guests at the Harold Blewett home were Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Blewett of Mason City and Mr. and Mrs. Harland Blewett and girls of Alexander.

The Victor Nordman family, Barbara Steenhard and Dwane Mennenga were at Ames Saturday to be with the Nordmans' daughter Joyce and Donnie Dirks, also for Veishea. Joann Nordman and Barbara stayed over until Sunday with Joyce.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Monson of Alden and Dallas Pals of Pocahontas spent Friday evening in the parental Elmer Pals home and together they attended the Senior Class play in the Meservey gymnasium. Larry Pals was one of the cast.

Mrs. C. J. Wendel, Cerro Gordo county American Legion Auxiliary president, attended the District conference held at Oelwein Monday. Tuesday evening she attended the meeting of the unit at Plymouth. Tonight she will be attending the unit meeting at Rockwell.

THE NEWSPAPER

...all things to all men...and by all taken for granted!

Picture Your Town Without A Newspaper!

Downright compulsive, isn't it, this consuming curiosity about what's going on around town?

No, you're not nosey — just curious. You believe that most of your public servants are honest . . . that your police and courts are free from corruption . . . that the politicians aren't plotting to steal the city hall.

And then you try to picture your town without a newspaper!

Dimly, you recall something that Thomas Jefferson once said: "Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter."

Nonsense! That was long ago. It's different now. This is the electronic age. What with split atoms, split stocks and split second jet-way-of-living, we now have all sorts of checker-uppers on our civic goings-on.

But have we? Let's take inventory.

Whatever wonders and wizardries communication offers today, one thing remains the same: the heart of the free press is still the good reporter. And the good newspaper — its printed words documenting human happenings — is still the initial instrument in the protection of rights and liberties throughout the land.

The fact is plain. And it's reiterated in the record. Almost every day some American newspaper — ranging in size from the mighty metropolitan daily to the small town weekly — is acclaimed for its constructive efforts in helping to build a better community . . . or for its vigilance in searching out and snuffing out corruption, tyranny and injustice.

In this service, traditionally — yes, and inimitably — the newspaper is still supreme.

So, if you will, keep on taking your free press for granted. But — if you value your freedom — don't let anything or anybody take your newspaper away from you.

Suntken wins 3 district events—

BHS qualifies for 9 state events

SPORTS

Belmond High school at last Saturday night's district track and field meet at Eagle Grove qualified athletes to compete in nine events at the state Class A meet to be held on May 21. This will give BHS by all odds the largest squad it has ever had in the state cinder classic.

Although the Broncos' weakness in the hurdles and sprint relays made them settle for third in the final team standings, their district performances suggested that they will have an appreciably stronger team in the state meet than Clarion or Humboldt.

Team title to Clarion

Clarion won the district championship with 71 points. Humboldt followed with 63 and Belmond with 61. Then came Eagle Grove with 54, Algona 34, Iowa Falls 29 and Algona Garrigan 1.

However, Belmond will be sending to the state meet eight district winners, Humboldt four and Clarion only three. Compared to Belmond's total of nine state qualifiers, Humboldt had eight and Clarion six.

Big gun for the Broncos at Eagle Grove was Dave Suntken, who won three individual 1sts and was lead-off man for Belmond's winning mile relay quartet. Dave lowered his own BHS record in the 100-yard dash by one-tenth second with time of :10.1, missed the school record by a margin of one-tenth second in the 220 with a fine :23.1 and was in good form in the high jump, capturing that event with a 5 ft. 10 in. leap.

Whipple in new mark

Bob Whipple sailed the pigskin 218 ft. 6 in. in the football throw to add about 10 feet to his own previous best — and the BHS mark — in his specialty. Another school record went by the boards when Mike Long hurtled 20 ft. 5½ in. to place third in the broad jump. This gave him only third place; but the distance was better than that of several district winners, so it easily qualified him for the state meet.

Larry Kramer got the other individual 1st for Belmond's "long-John brigade" (the Broncos thwarted Saturday's chill wind by competing in long underwear, under their uniforms). He paced through the mile in 4:37.3 to win by a city block.

Belmond enhanced its chances of adding the state outdoor title to the indoor championship it won in April by taking first places with all three of its strong relay teams.

Jenison runs strong anchor

Except in the two-mile event, the Broncos were not pushed. Vernon Pastour and Robbie Courson sent the Purple and White into a sizeable lead, but Bob O'Connor turned in his poorest 880 of the year to leave Lynn Jenison very little leeway when he started his anchor leg. However, "Jenny" turned back the challenge of Humboldt's fourth runner with an excellent 2:06.8 half to clinch victory for Belmond.

Long, O'Connor, Jenison and Kramer turned in the respectable but not remarkable time of 3:47.2 in the medley and then — with Suntken replacing Kramer—wheeled off the mile relay in 3:40.0.

Other Broncos who contributed to Belmond's point total in the district were: Dean Pals, 5th in the discus; Larry Tideback, 5th in the shot put; Paul Thompson, 5th in the 440; and Robbie Courson, 5th in the 880.

Bronc track performances rank among state's best

Through last week, Belmond High's track and field athletes appeared more prominently than those of almost any other team in the state in the listings of top Class A performances released by Harry Burrell of Iowa State university as pre-state meet information.

Best Class A two-mile relay time was Belmond's 8:27.6 and best mile relay time was the Broncos' 3:34.3. Third best of the Class A medley relay times was Belmond's 3:43.3.

Broncos with highly rated individual achievements were: Dave Suntken, tied for second best 100-yard dash time at :10.2, tied for best height in the high jump at6 ft. 1 in. and one of the best 220 times at :23.7; Lynn Jenison, whose 440 time of :54.6 ranked 7th.

Larry Kramer, with the second best mile time of 4:27.9; Vernon Pastour, tied for 7th best 180-yard low hurdle time at :22.7; Bob Whipple, with 8th best football throw of 198 ft. 3½ in.

(Ed's note: in Saturday's district meet, Suntken tied the best Class A 100 time of :10.1, posted the second best 220 time of :23.1, and Whipple got off the third best football throw of 218 ft. 6 in.)

Osage, in Class A, and Buffalo Center, in Class B, were the only other North Iowa conference teams with leading track performances. The Green Devils had the best 440-yard relay time of :45.0, 3rd best 880 relay time of 1:34.5, and Gary Halbach's 219-4 football throw ranks 2nd best. Buffalo Center's Mickey Costigan was 6th among the Class B shot-putters with a distance of 45 ft. 7 in. and the 6th best 880 time of 2:06.9.

The Imps' Larry Pint and Fred Flack rank 4th and 5th in the 100 with :10.3 and :10.4, respectively; and Ken Moss and John Van Voorhis are rated 1-2 in the 220 with respective times of :22.5 and :23.3.

Clarion figures well up among the Class A leaders in a number of events. The Cowboys' 880 relay time of 1:35.1 ranks 5th; Gary Meyer's broad jump of 20 ft. 5 in. also stands 5th, while his high jump of 5-11 ties for 3rd best and Jim Anderson's 5-9 rates 7th. John Pletcher's :20.2 is the best that's been reported for the 180-yard low hurdles.

Broncos smash 5 BHS marks—

CLASS B Team Scoring: Belmond 80, LuVerne 55, Lake City 53, Britt 41, Manson 40, Twin Rivers 22.

Domination of the relay events and some surprisingly good individual performances spelled easy victory for Belmond's Broncos in Class B division of the Dodger Relays at Fort Dodge, Tuesday evening of last week.

Belmond smashed both meet and BHS records in the two-mile, medley and mile relays and, even though the effort was good for only third place, also set a new school mark in the 880 relay.

Most outstanding Bronco achievement, probably, was the two-mile time of 8:27.6. This was more than five seconds faster than any Class A team in Iowa had covered the distance this season. Both Bob O'Connor and Lynn Jenison ran their legs of the race in a fraction over 2:08; Robbie Courson was about 2:09.8 for his 880; and Larry Kramer sprinted home in 2:00.5 to clinch the record.

Mile relay time lowered

On the BHS team that had held the record since 1955 were Arlo Wayne Stoltenberg, Joe Smith, Harold and Ronald Steenblock.

One second even was sliced from the BHS mile relay record set earlier this season at the Teachers Relays, Cedar Falls. Dave Suntken, O'Connor, Jenison and Mike Long each ran his quarter in :53-plus, with Long's approximate :53.4 the best of the lot, for an aggregate of 3:34.8.

Another fine 880 in about 2:00.8 by Kramer as anchor leg of the medley relay enabled the Bronco quartet in this event to pare four-tenths of a second off of the BHS mark established at the Teacher Relays. Long ran the opening 440, O'Connor and Jenison the 220's as the foursome posted a time of 3:43 3

880 quartet sets BHS mark

Suntken, Vernon Pastour, Jay Mennenga and Long clipped off the 880 relay in 1:36.1, slicing seven-tenths of a second off the school record held by Tom Lowenberg, Jerry Chandler, Ron Courson and Joe Smith since 1956. LuVerne won this race at the Dodger relays in 1:35.6, with Manson second.

SPORTS

Larry Tideback accounted for the other school mark when he got off a toss of 43 ft. 6 in. in the shot put, surpassing the 42-10 distance reached by Tom McNulty in '58. Like the medley, mile and two-mile efforts, this was also a new meet record.

Other new records for the Dodger Relays set by Belmond team members were: Dean Pals, 128 ft. 5 3/8 in. in the discus; Bob Whipple, 194 ft. 11 in. in the football throw; and Vernon Pastour, :22.7 in the 180-yard low hurdles.

Pastour performance surprises

Coach Rich Koolbeck was particularly pleased by Pastour's performance, this being the first flight of low hurdles the versatile sophomore star had ever run in competition. The Bronco mentor was also happy with the third-place finish of Randy Musselman in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Other Belmond points were earned by Suntken, with a second in the 100-yard dash and third in the high jump; Long, with a second in the broad jump; and a third in the 440-yard relay on the running of Dennis Anderson, Roger Ginapp, Vernon Pastour and Larry Tideback, in that order.

The Broncos' showing at Fort Dodge produced four more trophies for their collection — the team championship, plus three relay firsts — to bring their total for the season to 21.

Frosh-soph track team in NIC meet

In view of the fact that Belmond High school this spring has been enjoying the most successful track season in its history, Coaches Rich Koolbeck and Jack Steinberg will be watching with keen interest the results of the North Iowa conference freshman-sophomore meet next Tuesday at Buffalo Center.

What the BHS outlook is for the next couple of seasons will to a large extent be indicated by the success — or lack of it — of the Belmond underclassmen in this meet.

Vernon Pastour, a sophomore, has proved his abilities of varsity calibre in a number of events in meets thus far this season. He is a capable runner at any distance from 100 yards to the half mile and also is a promising low hurdler. His best event in the field appears to be the broad jump, in which he's leaped better than 19 feet.

One of the coaches' major problems Tuesday will be to make maximum use of this versatile young star's efforts.

Dennis Gallagher, a freshman, has run regularly with the varsity as a miler and has had times that suggest he should finish among the top placers in that event. Bill Heinzig, a sophomore, was used as a quarter-miler in the district meet at Eagle Grove and finished 6th, a half stride behind team mate Paul Thompson.

For the greater part, though, the Bronco underclassmen are untried against competition and the NIC frosh-soph carnival will offer one of the first opportunities for most of them to show what they can do.

Belmond kegler wins tourney—

3rd county pin title to Busick

Don Busick did his best bowling of the 1959-60 pin season during the Wright county tournament that concluded Sunday night and racked up his third county championship.

Although he bowled consistently well throughout the tourney, conducted at Hi-Hatt Lanes at Clarion, the Belmond kegler had tough matches in both the semi-finals and finals. His semi-final foe was Gene Pearson, Bowl-Mor Lanes' proprietor, whom he trimmed 587-572 by rolling a 216 in his third game to his fellow townsman's 186.

In the finals against Lynn Mickelson of Clarion, Don had an opening 199-201 but led by only three pins as his opponent posted a 397 total on 198-199. Busick slipped to a 168 in his final game, but Mikelson faded to a 163 to lose 560 to 568.

Busick blasted Frank Flores of Eagle Grove in the opening round, 600 to 452, and then came back with a 162-223-176—561 to eliminate Larry Kinseth, who thanks to a middle 124 was unable to do better than a 534 despite an opening 199 and concluding 211.

Richard Rieland of Clarion was Busick's quarter-final victim. Don tumbled the maples for a 610 on games of 180-236-194 to take the match by a margin of 135 pins over Rieland's 475. In the first round, Rieland had amassed 598 pins in putting Fred Gordon out of the tourney.

In the match to determine third and fourth places, Pearson finished with a 168 to a 186 for Elmer Loux to allow the Clarion bowler to pick up third money, 510 to 505.

Only three other Bowl-Mor Lanes pinmen managed to pick up prize money in the county tournament. Don Engh of Kanawha got the cash and trophy going to winner of the second flight, trimming Mark Umthum of Eagle Grove in the finals, 508 to 422.

Sonny Bassett, also of Kanawha, walked off with fifth flight honors. His victim in the finals was George Mills of Eagle Grove, who bowed 446 to 484

Other flight winners and runners-up, with the deciding scores, were:

7th flight — Roger Robinson, Clarion (480), Bob Erickson, Dows (464)

Trophies were awarded the county champion and runner-up and all flight winners. The first four places in the championship flight paid off $28.80, $21.60, $14.40 and $7.20. In the other flights, through 5th, the winner was paid $21.60 and the runner-up $14.40. Pay-off in the 6th flight was $18.90 and $12.60, in the 7th, $17.55 and $11.70, and in the 8th, $10.80 and $7.20.

"SLIPPED DISC" Sufferers Find Welcome Relief in Chiropractic Care

The 23 cartilage discs in the spine serve as vertebrae "spacers" and as "shock absorbers". When the spine is out of adjustment, nerves can become pinched. Relaxing chiropractic care, either at your home or in your chiropractor's office, returns to their work at a minimum of cost and time, 70 to 90 percent of the hundreds of cases accepted by Doctors of Chiropractic. Call your chiropractor today for an examination. If a study of your spine reveals that your case is within this specialized field, you'll find Chiropractic care a relaxing way to prevent or eliminate the discomforts caused by "slipped discs".

For information explaining how posture and health problems similar to your own can be helped through Chiropractic, ask your Chiropractor.

THE THUNDERBIRD OF THE LOW-PRICE FIELD

Take a good look. Then, check the rest of the field . . . particularly the bottom-of-the-line cars in the medium-priced class that begin to approach the Galaxie's low price.

You'll see that no other luxury car even comes close to matching the Galaxie for Thunderbird looks and "go," fine-car elegance and comfort, and low Ford price.

The Galaxies were a hit right from their introduction. Those earlier models are the hottest items on the used car lots. That's your assurance that today's Galaxie will be tomorrow's best resale.

We'll be happy to talk terms and trade-in with you. And if you want to know all about the Galaxie, take a spin around the neighborhood.

Come see us about the Galaxie—the car that's long on Thunderbird and low on price.

30 tractors lend aid in good turn

A week ago Monday the A. J. Anderson farm west of town looked like the target of an armored invasion as 30 tractors assembled on its fields to make short work of the spring plowing.

Field work had come to an abrupt stop when Albert J. Anderson lost his life on April 15 as the result of an accident while he was driving a stalk chopper over a field.

Friends — and relatives — from four communities in addition to Belmond came to the farm to lend a hand.

Followwill Implement and Helland & Long Implement both furnished tractors, also.

Coming from more distance to help out were: Joe Rodecap, Tony Anderson and Ervin Erickson, Clarion; Lowell Anderson, Holmes; Dale Trotter, Goldfield; and Glenn Fraser, Galt.

DuWayne Kalkwarf named on board of county F. B.

Four new Wright County Farm Bureau directors were approved at the May meeting of the Bureau board. Appointed to fill the balance of the director's term from their respective townships, they were: DuWayne Kalkwarf, Belmond, Pleasant township; Don Burt, Rowan, Iowa township; Adolph Meinders, Clarion, Norway township; and L. W. Sellers, Clarion, Wall Lake township.

Incumbent board members present at the meeting to welcome the new members were: Olaf Watne, Galt, president; Lyle Lewellyn, Galt, vice president; Richard Derscheid, Clarion, secretary; Leroy Watts, Clarion, treasurer; Mrs. Leo Woodley, Clarion, women's chairman.

It was reported at the meeting that paid-up membership in the Wright County Farm Bureau at the time was 831.

Intersection crash brings $25 fine

Three persons suffered minor injuries and an estimated $1,750 damage was done to two automobiles in a collision at the former Greyhound intersection of Highways 3 and 69 about 10:30 a. m. last Sunday.

Given medical attention, but not hospitalized, were the drivers of the cars, Arthur L. Mitchell, 45, of Thompson and June Borel, 43, of Clarion; also a son of the former, Allen Mitchell, 16 Mrs. Mitchell and a daughter, Sue, escaped unhurt.

Mitchell had been traveling west and was in the process of turning south when he drove into the path of Mrs. Borel's car, going east. Mrs. Borel's husband, Harry Borel, was fatally injured in an auto mishap on County K road in 1958.

Charged with failure to yield right-of-way, Mitchell on Sunday appeared in the court of E. F. Bisbey, Clarion mayor, and paid a fine of $25 plus costs.

BRADY BRINGS STUDENTS TO VISIT BELMOND FIRMS

J. C. Brady, former Belmond postmaster who is now part owner and vice president of the Capital City Commercial college at Des Moines, was in Belmond Monday with one of his instructors and a group of seven students.

Don Reeves, the instructor, took the students to the International Business Machine department of the Tomco office to witness operation of the machines.

In addition, the group called at the Larro feed mill to see its automatic feed mixing machine put through its paces.

Eagle Grove man seeks sheriff job

Mervin N. Newkirk of Eagle Grove made formal announcement in The Independent last week of his candidacy for the office of sheriff of Wright county on the Democratic ticket. He is unopposed in the primary, so will automatically be his party's nominee for sheriff in the November general election.

Although at native of Webster county, Mr. Newkirk has been a resident of Wright county for about 15 years. He was born and raised near Dayton and is an alumnus of Otho Consolidated High school. He is a World War II veteran.

At present, Mr. Newkirk is owner-operator of an auto repair and implement business, which he operates at Goldfield. He is married and has a son and two daughters. He is a member of the Mount Calvary Lutheran church, Eagle Grove, and currently is president of the congregation.

BELMOND BUSY BEES

Annual Mother's Tea of the Belmond Busy Bees 4-H club was held Tuesday afternoon, April 25, in the library basement.

The committees were as follows: food — Lynda Hinman, chairman, Karen Loth, JoAnn Soma and Glenda Cunningham; decorations — Jane Studebaker, chairman, Theresa Quigley and Kay Soma; gifts — Pam Smith, chairman, Karen Soma, Kathy Jenison.

Program — Faye Homervold; invitations — Marcia Stoltenberg, chairman, Sharon Fuller and Audrey McLaughlin; clean-up — Rochelle Fuller, chairman, Cheryl Smith, Frances McLaughlin and Linda Thompson.

There were 25 members, 15 mothers, and three leaders present. The girls presented gifts to their mothers.

Sue Wilmarth gave the welcome. Sharon Fuller played a bass clarinet solo and Rochelle Fuller played a French horn solo. Jane Studebaker said the Country Girl's Creed.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Dick Smit who passed away May 11, 1959.

Beyond the sunset
Lying silently at rest
Is our dear father,
The father we love the best.
What we would give if
We could say "Hello Father"
In the same old way.
To hear your voice, to see your smile,
To sit with you and chat awhile.
No one knows, only those who care
The heartache of a vacant chair.
Gone from our house, the earth no more to trod,
He was called up yonder,
It was the call of God.
God took him home, it was His will
But in our hearts he liveth still.

Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren. 32t1*

JOE TRIPLETT SEZ:

I sure have a lot to thank many of you nice folks for. This spring season has turned out to be one of the best Ris-Van has ever had locally. By the end of this week our equipment will have covered over 3,000 acres, most of which is within a 10 mile radius of Belmond. With so many of you to act as good will embassadors for us, the remainder of the year will be even better.

One of the newest improvements at the local Belmond plant is a 20 ton mixer. Up until this time operations had been done with two 5 ton mixers. Even with the added capacity to produce mixed fertilizer material the local plant will soon be operating 24 hours a day, through the planting season.

It certainly is a lucky thing for me that the bulk spreading season for this year's corn is about over. I had been driving one of the three trucks for a week or more when I happened to drive into a highway patrol check point last week. I pulled out my chauffeur's license and handed it over. I was in a hurry at the time and hoped they would hurry. My face was just a little darker shade of red than normal when I finally drove away. My birthday had been just two days previous and guess who hadn't renewed his license? It wasn't the patrolman.

We've spread fertilizer to the north of him and on two of his brothers' places to the west and south of him. Now to get some spread on the east side to sew him up. Foster Barkema is his name. Giving Triplett the slip is his trade. A big, friendly smile is his trademark. His smile is the only one I know that reminds me of an empty order blank.

George Barkema sure had a slick, easy way of drying down his corn at very low cost. A high speed, but small fan on the side of the crib draws the moisture out instead of in as some cold air fans do. At the present time we are getting ready to spread potash on about 100 acres of corn ground. A crib full of large, bright yellow ears of corn will look nice this fall.

The lawn and garden fertilizer applicators came in this past week. I'm going to get one myself and use it one of these days if I can find a few spare minutes. I hope Bill Dempsey's grass grows up fast and thick right behind his lawn mower. That should keep him out of mischief.

Thought for the week:

For the extra money to buy a new tractor
100 bushel yields
Are the deciding factor
And then there is
The wife's new stove
To help her cook
The Things you love
So to make the extra
And really surprise her

Get Ris-Van, Man,
THAT'S FERTILIZER.

GOODELL NEWS

BY MRS. AMOS HANSON

Honored mothers presented roses

A special Mother's Day program accompanied services conducted Sunday morning by Rev. Donald Varce at the E. U. B. church. Mrs. Bob Stille sang a solo, Arthur Savogue and Lester Ver Helst played an organ-piano duet, and Rodney Paul Dresbach of Mason City was baptized.

Roses were given to Mrs. J. E. Savogue, the oldest mother present; Mrs. Mac Dresbach, the youngest mother; and Mrs. Willis Anderson, with the most children present.

The nature of the business and purpose of the corporation shall be to carry on the business of farming, dairying, truck and market gardening, horticulture, and of producing, merchandising and preserving all kinds of farm, dairy, fruit, vegetable and garden products; to propagate, grow, buy, sell and deal in, at wholesale and retail, flowers, shrubs, plants, trees, garden and greenhouse products; to build and operate houses, greenhouses, barns, warehouses, cellars, storage plants, retail and wholesale stores for the marketing of products; to breed, propagate, grow, process, refine, manufacture, alter, adulterate, buy and sell (either as wholesaler, agent, broker or retailer) any and all of the products or real or personal property; to manufacture, buy, sell stock foods, stock remedies, veterinary supplies and remedies, poultry supplies and remedies and all other commodities and items of personal property; to buy and sell livestock and poultry; to manufacture and deal in fertilizers, glue; to manufacture, quarry and excavate chemicals, mineral products and other personal property for use in agricultural and horticultural pursuits; to act as wholesaler, broker, agent, and to employ agents and servants; to perform any act, carry on or promote any business necessary or desirable in connection with any purpose stated or independently thereof which may be calculated to enhance the value of its rights or property; to deal in lands, buildings, machinery, equipment, warehouses, brokerages, agencies, branches and offices, factories, warehouses, processing and refining plants; inventions, improvements, formulae, trade names, trade-marks, copyrights and patents, licenses, tangible and intangible property; to incur and evidence indebtedness and give any type of security; to act as guarantor or surety; to own, hold and possess any and all kinds of tangible and intangible personal and real property and do any and all things necessary or desirable in connection with the business of the corporation; to do anything a natural person might do and conduct any of its business activities with the same force and effect as though said corporation were a natural person.

The amount of capital stock authorized is $400,000; divided into 400,000 shares of Common Stock of the par value of $1.00 each; to be issued only for cash or in exchange for property as by law provided.

The corporation commenced business on the 3rd day of May, 1960 and shall continue until May 3, 1980, with full right of renewal.

The corporation will be managed by a board of not less than one nor more than nine directors; the number thereof presently being fixed at four, who shall be Wm. H. Sheriff, Sr., Dorothy Sheriff, William Sheriff, Jr. — all of Goodell, Iowa, and Donald J. Sheriff of Thornton, Iowa, who will hold office until the first annual meeting of stockholders on the first Wednesday in December, 1961. Directors for each succeeding year will be elected by a majority vote of shares of stock at the annual stockholders' meeting to be held each year on the first Wednesday in December.

The officers of the corporation who will assist in conducting its affairs are Wm. H. Sheriff, Sr., President, William Sheriff, Jr., Vice President, Dorothy Sheriff, Secretary and Treasurer — the address of each of whom is Goodell, Iowa. Officers are to be elected and designated by the board of directors at the first meeting thereof following the annual meeting of stockholders on the first Wednesday of December of each year.

Private property of individuals, including that of stockholders, officers and directors, is and will be exempt from liability for the corporation's debts.

Public Forum

To the Editor:

Please print this in your paper next week as I think every Belmond business place owner should read it.

I don't know whose idea it was about these so called flying saucers, but this I do know, it isn't a bit fair. We live in the coutry like many, many others and do almost all of our business in Belmond. We never seen one of those paper plates floating around here and I don't think any one for miles around here did.

Guess you dropped them in the small towns around. Do you think you get all the farm machinery, fertilizer, feed, grocery and clothing, etc., business out of these towns? I honestly believe over 90% of it comes from the country people. I'm sure the business people in these small towns would appreciate it if you would stay out.

I say if the town of Belmond really wants to give something away then do it a decent honest way.

I believe if you really wanted to give some money away on Tuesdays and so it would be fair you should draw your winning numbers right on Main street, then we could all have a chance, and I'm sure you would have better turn-outs.

Belmond is a nice town to do business in. But these so called saucers day and those Tuesday numbers don't appeal to me.

Well I suppose you'll keep right on doing what you have in the past, and us silly fools will probably keep right on coming. I'm sure that many a person will agree with me but don't have the guts to tell you. Well I do.

Yours truely,
Mrs. R. S.

Editor's note:

Realizing it was impossible to scatter the "Flying Saucers" throughout all of Belmond's trade territory, the sponsors of "Flying Saucer Days" carried an advertisement of almost quarter-page size in last week's Independent stating that anyone could obtain a "Saucer" at the Aunt Jemima stand by asking for it.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

From the spine-chilling to the rib-tickling is the fare scheduled for Friday and Saturday. A perfect choice for Friday-the-13th entertainment is "The H-Man," which stars "a molecular mass of lethal liquid," the H-Man in person. Sharing the screen is a typical A&C laugh riot, "Abbott and Costello Meet the Keystone Cops."

Based on the successful Broadway play, "Anniversary Waltz," Sunday through Tuesday's "Happy Anniversary" stars that suave pair, David Niven and Mitzi Gaynor. Time magazine calls it a "slick, hilarious" comedy. The film's press book declares, "All names and places have been changed to protect the not-so-innocent" . . . which will give you an idea.

A four-day return showing of "The Ten Commandments" will open next Wednesday. Rated as one of th top motion pictures of all time, the Cecil B. DeMille spectacle is now showing for the first time at regular, rather than road show prices. Because of the length of the movie, there will be only one show each night — starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Luick generosity hands challenge to Belmond

Living in the same town with Chester Luick provided your editor with a number of journalistic thrills of a nature that many editors experience not once in a lifetime. The final thrill is exemplified by the lead story on this week's front page.

Let us say that the "Chester Luick stories" that we had the privilege of writing were difficult ones to turn out. For Belmond's beloved philanthropist was an humble man and flowery praise of his generosity caused him genuine embarrassment.

One thing he WAS proud of was his pioneer ancestry and his own humble birthplace, the log cabin that was his parents' first home in this prairie wilderness.

As we reflect on the number of times that we had the honor to report one of Chester Luick's munificent gifts to the community he loved, we recall the disdain we felt for the occasional belittler who scoffed, "Well, he's got it to give."

The answer to that one, of course, is . . . so has many another man "had it to give," who gave it not.

Still another answer to those who were so small as to wish to make Mr Luick's generosity seem less impressive than it was, lay in the manner in which Chester Luick acquired the wealth which he so freely shared with his fellow men.

His close contemporaries recall all too vividly the cruel days of the 1930's, when many a proudly built personal estate was dashed to bits by the depression. To property he had inherited, Chester had added more land — for he was a man with drive, and imagination, and a will to be successful at whatever he undertook.

Never did a man meet a sterner challenge than Mr. Luick faced during those days when the advertisement of a half dozen foreclosure sales in a single issue of The Independent was not uncommon. With courage, hard personal labor and stubborn, German refusal to tolerate failure he turned back most of the threats to his hard-won landholdings.

So it was not "silver spoon" riches that Chester lavished in later years upon his beloved home town. It was wealth acquired through honest business acumen and defended with iron determination when the need arose.

Few communities of Belmond's size have been the recipients of such generosity as we received at Mr. Luick's hands. We've had done for us, things that would have been difficult indeed to do for ourselves.

But unless we find in these wonderful gifts that Mr. Luick bestowed on us, inspiration rather than complacency — inspiration to live up to the high regard in which Chester held his native home — we will prove ourselves less than deserving of the good fortune of being "Chester Luick's town."

By any name, it's still socialized medicine

We voters — and taxpayers — may kid ourselves all we want to about our federal lawmakers having our concern at heart in pressing for some sort of tax-supported medical care for the elderly; but if we'll think the matter through, we're bound to be left wondering about their solicitude.

If we examine the matter honestly, we're bound to reach the conclusion that those who would so generously aid us in meeting medical and hospital (and nursing home) care in our old age are simply filling their campaign coffers right out of the pockets of those they pretend to help.

What is just as alarming as the readiness of so many Congressmen to use this blatant give-away as a springboard to return to office is the willingness of many, many voters to be "had" with their own money.

One thing, there need be no guessing about. If the principal of tax-supported medical care is firmly established, it will inevitably be the old story of the rest of the camel following its nose into the tent We personally take small consolation in the Republican-suggested compromise that would withhold medical aid from the social security program. It might be better, if selfish forces push a medical care bill through Congress, that a portion of the cost be as direct as possible so it can be "felt" to a maximum degree.

If you regard that Congress would be making a big mistake to take this initial step toward socialized medicine, it would be to the point to write your elected representatives in Congress and let your opinion be known.

Sen. Tom Martin should listen. He's not running for re-election, anyway. Sen. Bourke Hickelooper would probably pay attention, too. He's enough of a Washington fixture that he doesn't need to bend to every wafting breeze.

But you'd just as well save your postage on Congressman Merwin Coad. There's a fellow who'd give away Lincoln Memorial, stone by stone, if he thought it would please his constituents. He loves these government give-aways, and it's the most lavish medical aid program that will get his vote.

Industry only answer to lost rural population

Last week's report on population movement from Wright county between the 1950 and 1960 censuses should emphasize to those who complacently regard efforts in the direction of industrial development as "too much bother" that their judgment needs some close inspection.

Any town's business facilities are geared for a certain minimum number of families. To survive, those businesses must draw no less than that amount of trade. If the business just doesn't exist in the town's "trade territory," then some of its business firms are headed for extinction.

We've noted in this column on more than a few occasions the obvious fact that no town can remain static — it must either show progress, or lose ground.

While Belmond, itself, showed a healthy population increase of 330, the preliminary census report shows Belmond township with a drop of 90 in population, Iowa down by 64 and Pleasant by 19. There is a loss from Belmond's immediate trade area amounting to almost half of the Belmond gain. And those rural losses indicate a trend away from the farm that is bound to continue.

A bright future for Belmond will rest on a population made stable, at least, by the presence of thriving industry. And the only way we stand a chance to prosper materially more than we are prospering is to expand our industry.

How to enhance security of ALL

Consider the millions who today depend on the savings or the private pension plans which have proliferated out of the richness of America.

Twenty or forty years from now they too will be old, and if the Government is honest with their money they will have no need for charity or paternalism.

They will need the pittance the Government can give them only if in the meantime that same Government has robbed them further by inflation and taxes to support a costly program started to give them that pittance.

So we are brought to this There are, and will be, individual cases of misfortune for which society must provide.

That our society in many forms already does much for these cases is no argument against further efforts by private citizens, local and state governments or even if need be the Federal Government. And we are sure it is not this which President Eisenhower argues against.

THE GOOD SOCIETY WILL ALways grope for better ways to take care of those who cannot take care of themselves.

But the wise society will not confuse intentions with intelligence. It will not so order itself with vast and costly programs that in trying to relieve the hardships of the few it does injury to the efforts of the many to prepare against them.

To do that, to heap heavier burdens upon all the citizens in the name of freeing them from burdens, is not humane.

Belmond problem, too

The canvass for the census brought to light some information on the community There are more one-person residential units now than when a survey was taken about three years ago. Also, there are several vacant houses in Britt.

The vacant houses could be occupied if owners wanted to receive rent money. Most are owned by older persons who are away living at a rest or nursing home or making their home with a son or daughter part of the year

EVERY WEEK WE GET AT least one request to rent a house in Britt but we have none listed in the "For Rent" columns of the N T or none listed with the Commercial Club housing committee

Some owners of rentable houses are passing up added income by allowing houses to stand empty. It's another indication that the community continues to prosper, since this income apparently isn't needed, but they could help ease an ever-present housing shortage by adding a home or two to the rental market. — Britt News-Tribune

WHO can't miss it?

We were not lost but we did not know where were were, so we asked directions After the attendant at what Simeon Stylites would describe as "the-Gas-Station-by-St. John's" gave forth with the desired information, he spoiled everything with his infuriating comment. "You can't miss it."

The perils of high blood pressure being what they are, we did not answer but swallowed our wrath and drove away. Once the reply would have been: "No? I can miss anything!" But pent-up fury has to have expression, so we invite whom it may concern, which is practically everybody, to unite in a crusade to suppress the statement "You can't miss it."

THIS PERNICIOUS DOGMA must be stamped out of the national vocabulary as unpatriotic, un-American. It limits our freedom It gives voice to a form of determinism which seems to flatter but is actually subversive, communistic. Worse, it is heretical.

Man is fallible and any assertion to the contrary is bad theology The statement is obviously, now that we think of it, a hangover from social gospel liberalism. Its optimism is insufferable. Take over, Tillich! — Christian Century

BEATIN' THE WEED—

Just prior to our wedding anniversary Aug. 29th of last year, your writer committed himself in this column to give up the smoking of cigarets. It was sort of an anniversary present to the missus, who greeted the declaration with bravos and hurrahs.

A piece we'd read said that if you really wanted to break the habit, the way to go about it was to make your intention to do so as public as possible. In that way, the declarer is threatened with ignominy if his will weakens and the certainty of hoots and cat-calls for failure will steel the softening resolve.

That's how it's supposed to work.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS—

On the other hand, here's how it DOES work.

Members of the coward's family are ready enough to heap derision on his head if he stumbles; but most of his associates, being nicotine hounds themselves, are only too willing to overlook and forgive failure. They look upon these will-power boys as a pain in the neck, and whenever they can get one back in the ranks they know they'll be hearing no more preaching from HIM.

After a few weeks of abstinence, we first broke down to the extent of smoking a cigar (not any cigarets, mind you) in the course of a convivial evening. And in due course, we succumbed to an occasional cigaret under the same circumstances.

That was enough to set those nicotine nerves twanging, and the next concession we allowed ourself was a smoke when we took a coffee break during the day. For a period of months we didn't smoke at work; but in due time, that resolve also went by the board. Actually, about all we gained was that since the 29th of August, 1959, we haven't once smoked a cigaret at home.

How much of a jewel in our crown that represents, we couldn't be for saying. But at least our nest hasn't been stunk up with smoke like the cubbyhole we call an office.

The missus, incidentally, refused to regard us as much of a hero on the strength of this one, small achievement in self-restraint.

THEN CAME "THE BUG"—

As we gradually climbed back to a two-packs-a-day status, we kept telling ourself that we'd have to repeat the noble experiment and PROVE whether we be man or mouse. But any resolute thought as to just what day we'd start always sent us squeaking into our hole in the baseboard.

That was the situation a month ago last Monday when a vigorous virus infiltrated our bloodstream, leaving us thick in the head, rocky in the knees and with a cough like a consumptive seal.

That evening we half-heartedly purchased a pack of cigarets, wondering as we did so if strychnine wouldn't do the job faster. Tuesday we forced ourself through the pack of smokes, but when we ran out we had no more interest in buying another than in acquiring another hole in the head.

Wednesday (a smokeless day) we took a half day off for the second time in the 10¼ years we've been in Belmond.

LA CURE SIMPLE—

As we wrote this Friday of last week, we were still viewing a cigaretless future with amazing confidence for a one-time loser And as these words are being read, we'll be well launched on our fifth nicotineless week

We've read innumerable articles on how to quit the weed — but we'll cast our vote for virus bronchitis as king of 'em all. We can't take much credit, actually. We've felt hardly any yen for a smoke; and still have such an explosive hack that we'd be fearful of coughing up a lung if we had the audacity to tackle a cigaret.

As insurance in behalf of continuing the clean life, we've decided on a good offense as the best defense. We've been as offensive as possible in deriding our smoking friends — pointing out what a foolish, filthy and expensive habit they are bowing to.

We know full well that we won't be treated with the same lenience as before, should we once again succumb to Lady Nicotine. In fact, we're completely certain they would be merciless. It sure helps us keep a tight rein on our resolve.

Meanwhile, if YOU'D like to give up the habit — drop around, and we'll cough at you. Don't know if our bug is still virulent enough to be contagious; but if it is, we can just about guarantee you several weeks' running start on a smokeless existence.

Since it's those first few weeks that are the toughies, what more can you ask?

Janson gave up farming for barbering trade

Census figures tentatively computed show very clearly that Iowa families are leaving the farm in fair-sized droves as the breadwinner seeks a new means of gaining a livelihood. Edgar Janson, Belmond's newest barber, provides a typical example.

Born and raised on a farm northwest of Holmes (son of Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar Janson), Ed took two years of animal husbandry at Iowa State university, Ames, with the intention of following his father's occupation. As a hedge, he later learned the barbering trade at Iowa Barber college, Des Moines; but he didn't envision spending a lifetime at hair-cutting.

With his barber's diploma in hand, Ed went to work in a shop at Northwood and later spent a few months in a shop at Osage. But he then deserted barbering, leased 220 acres of land near Fertile, and settled down to farming. After a couple of years, though, he lost his lease on 100 of those acres.

Since 120 acres wouldn't provide his family with a living, Ed supplemented his farming by opening a barber shop at Fertile and cutting hair when chores and field work didn't keep him busy. He got enough of that routine in pretty short order, decided to confine himself to full-time barbering, and in January of last year purchased the shop he now operates here.

Ask Ed today if he harbors any regrets over his rather unusual shift in occupations and he'll assure you, "None at all. I enjoy being a barber. Each customer is a problem just a bit different from the one before. It's pleasant work. I wouldn't change back to farming, if I could"

Ed graduated from Clarion High school in 1936, helped his father farm until military service beckoned in 1941. He entered the U. S. Army in September of that year, shipped to the Pacific theater of operations 11 months later and spent the next three years mainly at island hopping.

He finally got into actual combat with the 40th Infantry Division when that outfit participated in three Philippine invasions, covering a six-month period of time.

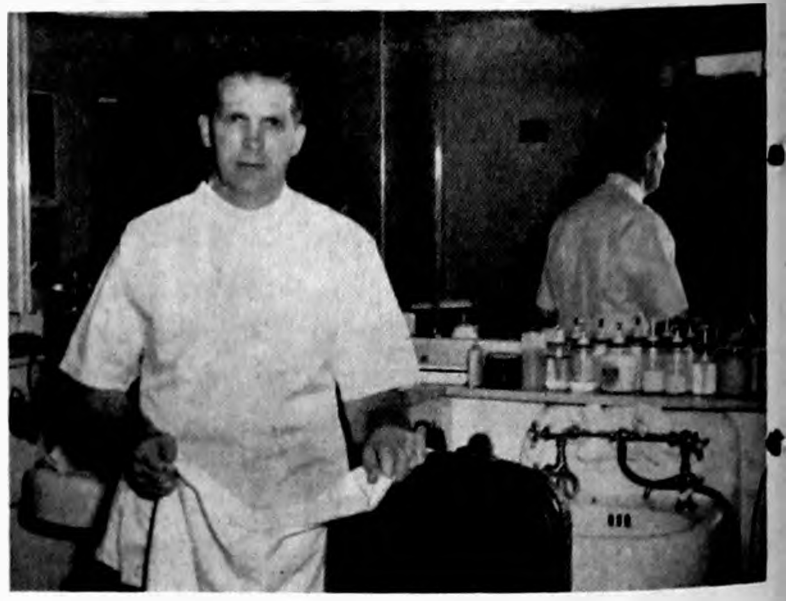
Last month he started his 13th year of barbering. There have been two noteworthy changes in the trade during that time. For one thing, men in general have adopetd much shorter haircuts than they used to wear; and the price of a haircut has gone up from 75 cents to $1.25.

Ed says he doesn't have to make much of a defense for the increase in price. People pretty much take for granted that it's no larger an increase than has occurred in most things they buy. And when they read of haircuts costing $1.75 or $2.00 in the cities, that buck and a quarter seems moderate enough.

Ed thoroughly approves the trend toward shorter haircuts for men. He suspects that military service likely was responsible for introducing a good many of them to the convenience of a short cut. But popularity of the "butch" or "crew cut" has spread to men of middle age and older, who saw no time in uniform.

Belmond boys, he adds, haven't gone in for extreme haircuts to the extent young men in many other communities have While the "flat top" is popular, the high side cuts and the duck-tails at back have made very few converts here.



WHEN ED JANSON'S IN THIS POSE — "YOU'RE NEXT"

Asked if he has any preference in style of haircuts, from the standpoint of ease of execution, Ed insists he'd just as soon cut hair one way as another. Whatever a customer asks for, he tries to accommodate — and Ed feels he enjoys pretty good success in satisfying the instructions, whatever they might be.

While a tot frantic with fear of the clippers is a rather tough customer to deal with, Ed insists that a fighting child doesn't bother him nearly so much as the embarrassed parent who's trying to "tame" him. He looks on dealing with an obstreperous small-fry as just a part of his job; and he knows that before long, the youngun will quiet down in anticipation of the package of gum that is the traditional reward of a child stepping down from the barber's chair.

Ed says that he's happy to provide all the familiar barbershop services—shaves, facials, tonics, shampoos; but he estimates that 97 per cent or more of his business is cutting hair. The demand for shaves in these safety-razor days has declined to the point where two or three a week is "a lot;" while many a week goes by without any need for the razor except to trim neck and around ears.

Road fuel bids lowest to date

In spite of the fact that amounts of road equipment fuels for county use during 1960-61 were estimated at lower levels than for the current year, bids for supplying those fuels ran generally lower when they were examined by the Wright county board of supervisors a week ago last Thursday.

Winning bid of the D-X Sunray Oil company was the lowest the county has received since the practice of buying the fuels on the basis of bids was established about eight or nine years ago.

Gasoline price of D-X Sunray was set at .0453 cents under tank wagon price (at Clarion) and for diesel fuel, the price was .035 under wagon price. This combination bid barely nosed out that of Sinclair Refining company, which had the contract this year and which entered prices of .0455 and .034 under posted wagon price.

Phillips Petroleum company and Standard Oil company also entered bids.

Estimated quantities specified in the 1960-61 contract are 100,000 gallons of gasoline and 35,000 gallons of diesel fuel. For the year just ending, estimated requirements were set at 125,000 and 40,000 gallons.

Virtually year by year, since purchase by competitive bid was introduced, the county has been getting its road fuels at progressively lower prices.

Schroeder enrolls for air workshop

CEDAR FALLS (Special) — Applications to participate in the Third Annual Air Education Workshop at Iowa State Teachers college this summer are being processed at the Teachers college. That of Bernard Schroeder, Belmond High school industrial arts instructor, is among those that have been approved.

Dr. William H. Dreier, associate professor of education at the college, will have charge of the workshop. Captain Clark S. Scott, USAF, assistant professor of air science at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, will be assistant director.

The North Central Region of the Civil Air Patrol, the 10th Air Force, and the Air University are cooperating in the workshop. Activities will include a plane flight to the Federal Aviation Agency Aeronautical Center at Oklahoma City, Okla.

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

Bud Gannon, proprietor of Gannon's Coffee Shop in Hotel Moore at Clarion, reports that the camp fund of the Iowa Society for Crippled Children realized $611.25 from the recent Coffee Day sponsored by Wright county restaurant proprietors. That was when those "B.A.C." pins were displayed on many a lapel, testifying that the wearer had paid a "Buck (for) A Cup" to "Back A Camper."

Although not all Belmond eating places gave the project their cooperation, nearly $100 — $98.25, to be exact — was contributed by local "coffee hounds."

Clarion coffee-sippers came through with $277.90 and the donations from Eagle Grove totalled $207.48. The take at Dows was $17.89 and from Goldfield, $10. Bud reports that, by and large, excellent cooperation was given him and his pet project throughout the county. He was particularly appreciative of some extra help, given him here by Ray Borgstrom and Naomi Downs.

So it seems like you see an awful lot of the University hospital ambulances on the highway when you're traveling Iowa highways? Well Alfred Scales, the driver of one of those ambulances recently retired. He had to his credit 2½ million miles — or the equivalent of 100 times around the world! Shucks, most of the time when you spotted one of those ambulances, it was probably Alfred at the wheel.

Twice since the first of the year, the Schroeder-for-Governor organization has hired a private research organization to determine who is the preferred governorship candidate of Republicans who've made up their minds who they're for.

One just lately concluded revealed Schroeder to be the choice of 41.4 per cent, Attorney General Erbe to be favored by 40.9 per cent, and Turkey Farmer Nicholas by 17.6 per cent.

This was quite a switch from one conducted in February. Then Erbe was preferred by 54.3, Schroeder by only 34.9, and Nicholas wasn't yet in the race. Schroeder backers are pretty well satisfied with the progress Jack has been making.

How long does it take for the Toastmasters club to produce a polished speaker? Well, Rev. Richard Jackson, who joined the local club last last fall, had given only three brief speeches before his critical confreres before competing in the Area 3 contest at Osage early this spring. His fifth speech as a Toastmaster won him the state contest at Davenport last Saturday! Quite a feather in the Rowan minister's cap — even if speaking IS an important phase of his profession.

A 40-year-old Britt man, John R. Lowman, almost made an ash of himself in the lobby of the Belmond hotel early last Sunday morning. In a well pickled condition, he wandered into the hotel about 2:30 o'clock seeking a place to lay his head.

He stretched out on a davenport, with a cigaret in his hand. A late-comer entering the lobby to register a short while later found Lowman's downy couch smoldering.

Chief of Police Ray Thompson took the gent in custody and jailed him at Clarion for the night. Mayor "Bud" Trafford next day fined him $25 for intoxication and $50 for trespassing, in lieu of which amounts Lowman's spending 22 days in the clink.

We have a hatfull of key collections in our safe that have been picked up on the street and turned in over a period of months. They should be useful to SOMEBODY.

Two of the key chains bear fancy tags having the initial "K" on them.

If you've lost some keys (most of 'em are car keys) in the past half year or so, better stop in and check on our collection. We'd as soon get 'em out of the way.

Dean Shupe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Shupe of Clarion, sure messed up somewhere. During his undergraduate career as a mechanical engineering student at Iowa State university at Ames he was able to manage a grade point average of "only" 3.995.

You see, a 4.0 is possible — so Dean must have muffed two or three questions along the way. Still, his average was sufficiently high to make him the Honor Student of the Class of 1960.

He would have received recognition last Thursday night at ISU's annual Honors Dinner, but Dean is at present stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., with the U. S. Army Engineers. . . . From what we hear, those engineering courses aren't exactly pipes.

VISITORS FROM INDIANA

HELLO WORLD

Dighton Lee is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Pals for the 7 lb. 10¼ oz. son born to them May 11.

A 7 lb. 3¼ oz. daughter was born May 11 to Mr. and Mrs. Alan Fuller of Goodell. They have named her Kimberly Ann.

Scott Duane is the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Eliason of Kanawha for the 7 lb. 5 oz. son born to them May 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fjetland became parents May 12 of a 9 lb. 13 oz. baby girl. Her name is Lori Jo.

A baby boy, weighing 8 lbs. 6 oz., was born May 13 to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Copper. He has been named Alan Joel.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ersland are parents of a 7 lb. 13 oz. baby girl, Michelle Lorraine, born May 14.

Program to feature variety—

A cappella choir concert Friday

Variety will be emphasized in the spring concert of the Belmond High school a cappella choir, to be presented Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the high school gymnasium. Novelty numbers and solos will be included in the program in unusual quantity, according to Director Ivan Kortkamp.

First part of the seven-part program will include five religious numbers, including one by a local composer, Mrs. R. W. Courson. Her "I Would Be Crucified," has been especially arranged for full choir by Mr. Kortkamp for this concert.

Also to be heard in this section of the concert are: "Holy Radiant Light" and "Our Father," both by Gretchaninoff; and "It's Me, O Lord," all to be sung by the entire choir. Kathy Finn will sing Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Emphasizing the variety nature of the program, Part II will offer Clark McNeal in a piano solo, "Romance" by Sibelius; and the Melody Maids in two popular numbers, "Daybreak" and "Rainbow Rhapsody."

Seven girls sing as the Melody Maids: Bette Johnson, Linda Pickle, Kathy Finn, Cathy Bonte, Linda Stevens, Mary Cox and Sharon Christenson.

In the group that follows, Ardith Pals and Bette Johnson will be presented as soloists in "A Spirit Flower" and "Song of Songs," respectively. The Melody Maids will sing "A Love Tale of Alsace Lorraine" and the entire choir will be heard in "Afterglow," by Debussy.

A return to strictly popular fare in Part IV will find the choir singing Duke Ellington's "Mood Indigo" and the Melody Maids in "Blue Champagne." These will be followed by "Ach du Lieber Augustine" and "Where, O Where, Has my Little Dog Gone?" rendered by the "Six Flats" — Charles Svendsen, Dwight Mennenga, Randy Braner, George Wilson, Kenny Johnson and Diane Kessler; and the whole choir in "The Goldfish Song."

In the next-to-last group, Bette Johnson and Kathy Finn will again be presented as soloists, their selections being "Silent Noon" and "Nocturne," followed by "Roots and Leaves" by the choir.

Concluding the program will be "Indian Love Call," the well known Friml light opera number, sung as a duet by Bette Johnson and Kathy Finn; and two final numbers by the choir, "A June Moonrise" and "It's a Grand Night for Singing," from "State Fair."

Michael Becker, junior high language instructor, will act as narrator during the program. Serving as accompanists will be Nancy Halfwassen, Janet Suntken, Mrs. Don Bunnell and Mrs. R. W. Courson.

Dennis Pastour and Richard McLaughlin, a pair of BHS seniors, placed first and second in the Jaycee Road-e-o held Sunday afternoon on the playground west of Ramsay Elementary school and third place went to a junior, Ronnie Schroeder.

Thirteen students took the written examination required of Road-e-o contestants, reports Ray Borgstrom, the Road-e-o chairman, but only eight of them took part in the test of driving ability Sunday afternoon.

Officers who served as judges as the contestants went through their paces behind the wheel were Patrolmen Jerry Kramer of Belmond and John Graham, formerly of Belmond but now living in Jewell, and Night Policeman Marvin Miller.

As winner of the local competition, Dennis Pastour is now eligible to compete in the state Jaycee Road-e-o, which is to be held this coming Saturday at Humboldt.

KINSETH'S GETS CONTRACT

Kinseth Plumbing and Heating of Belmond last week was low bidder on the plumbing and heating contract for the new junior high school building to be constructed at Iowa Falls. Kinseth's bid was $171.191.

GUESTS FROM OMAHA

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dippel and son of Omaha, Neb., were callers at the Ralph Thayer home Saturday. Mr. Dippel is a nephew of the Thayers.

Fraternity elects Murray president

Bill Murray, 1957 graduate of Belmond High school, last week was elected president of Sigma Tau Gamma social fraternity at Iowa State Teachers college for the 1960-61 school year. He was elected on the first ballot cast by the fraternity's 50 members, a two-thirds majority being required.

A junior in business education at ISTC, Bill became a member of the fraternity only last fall.

That Bill is making a scholastic as well as a political success on the Cedar Falls campus is testified by the fact that he held a place on the Dean's Honor List for the first semester with a 3.41 grade-point average.

WITNESS TULIP FESTIVAL

Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Stoltenberg and Marcia and Preston and Jeff Kessler attended the Tulip Festival at Pella Saturday. They also visited with Arlo Wayne Stoltenberg, a senior at Central college.

1st in state competition to Belmond toastmaster

Rev. Richard Jackson, pastor of the Rowan Methodist church, represented Belmond's Toastmasters club in the state Toastmasters speaking contest last Saturday at Davenport and brought home first place. He competed against eight other area winners.

Contestants were allowed a maximum of 4½ hours, from 1:30 to 6:00 p.m., to prepare their speeches after drawing a topic. Mr. Jackson, accompanied to Davenport via plane by Dave Hallowell and Keith Wiggins, did not arrive until 2:30 o'clock and then devoted just two hours to his speech preparation. His topic was "The Danger in Conformity."

Each of the nine Iowa areas sent two judges to the state contest, who were asked to grade all contestants except the one from their own area. Mr. Hallowell and Mr. Wiggins served as the Area 3 judges.

Following Mr. Jackson in the final placings were David Stanley of Muscatine in second and Douglas Burke of Sioux City, awarded third.

The handsome trophy which Mr. Jackson earned as winner of the state contest was presented to him by "Cap" Sias of Waterloo. Mr. Sias is a past president of Toastmasters International and was founder of the Waterloo club, the first to be established in Iowa.

Mr. Jackson will next take part in zone competition. He and the Iowa runner-up will compete against two Minnesota Toastmasters at Cedar Rapids on June 11. The zone winner will go to the regional contest at Atlanta, Ga., in August.

Belmond's candidate for Miss North Iowa at the annual North Iowa Band Festival, Mason City, on June 14 will be Bonnie Nolan. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Nolan, she is a senior and has been a participant in a wide range of activities during her high school career.

She has been a twirler with the BHS marching band and plays clarinet with the concert band. She helped the clarinet trio and quartet win Division I ratings in the recent state music contest. Bonnie also sings with the a cappella choir, which was top-rated in state competition.

She is secretary of the band, business manager of "Hoofbeats," the school newspaper; vice president of Quill and Scroll, national journalistic honorary society; and has been active in dramatics.

Miss Nolan's scholastic standing earned her selection as a charter member of the Chester P. Luick chapter of the National Honor Society.

DIPLOMA TO DANIELS

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Daniels on Wednesday of this week went to Holland, Mich., to witness the graduation of their son Wilbur from Western Theological seminary. Plans are being made for Wilbur's ordination as a Reformed minister in a ceremony to be held at Immanuel Reformed church next month.

KLING ENTERS HOSPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Kling went to Iowa City Wednesday where Mr. Kling entered University hospitals.

Sixteen receive first communion

Last Sunday morning nine boys and seven girls of St. Francis church of Belmond and St. Mary's church of Goodell received their first Holy Communion. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. A. Halbach of Webster City offered the Mass and delivered the sermon. Rev. R. A. Ormsby assisted in distributing Communion to the class.

The youngsters, all seven to eight years old, had been under instruction from Sister Mary DeSales of Garner since last fall. Following the services, the Sisters and the Communion class were breakfast guests at the rectory.

ATTENDS RITES FOR KIN

Genevieve Monson attended funeral services Wednesday of last week at Des Moines for her cousin, Mrs. W. V. Prall.

Total more than $5.2 million—

Belmond's '59 trade hits new high

Although Belmond's net in actual retail trade in the 4th quarter of 1959 was very little greater than the 3rd quarter volume, total retail trade for the entire calendar year reached a new high by over a quarter million dollars.

Taxable trade for the 12 months amounted to $5,380,897. However, Ris-Van's sale of liquid fertilizer transportation and application equipment to its dealers came to $171,607 and should be subtracted to produce the true retail business done by Belmond stores.

That leaves a net taxable retail trade for the year of $5,209,290. In 1958, with no allowance made for Ris-Van dealer sales, the retail trade figure for Belmond was approximately $160,000 less — at $5,049,600. Because Ris-Van dealer sales undoubtedly ran to more than $100,000 that year, the true retail trade gain here in 1959 would have to be figured at $260,000 or more.

Both Clarion and Eagle Grove showed retail trade gains appreciably larger than Belmond's. Clarion's increase, 1959 ever 1958, came to $636,700 and brought the retail trade total for last year to $6,794,300. Eagle Grove's trade total climbed to $6,491,420 with the help of a gain that amounted to $517,230.

Rural Wright county, encompassing all retail outlets except those in Belmond, Clarion and Eagle Grove, little more than held its own in trade last year. Its year's total of $4,154,775 was only $27,125 more than the year before.

If Belmond did not keep pace with Clarion and Eagle Grove in trade gain, it far outstripped Garner in this regard. The Hancock county seat picked up only $46.660 more in retail trade than in 1958, to set its 1959 total at $4,888,870.

Forset City fared the poorest in 1959, business-wise, of any community near-by. The Winnebago county seat experienced a drop in taxable retail volume amounting to $85,500. Its trade total for the year came to $5,716,754.

Belmond's taxable retail sales in the fourth quarter of 1959 came to $1,441,135, from which $53,225 in Ris-Van dealer equipment sales should be deducted. This would leave an actual total of $1,387,910 in bona fide retail trade, constituting the biggest quarter in Belmond's history.

Even so, it was not much ahead of the third quarter of last year when the net retail trade — excluding $35,259 in Ris-Van equipment sales — came to $1,380,268.

These two quarters eclipsed the previous high period, the fourth quarter of 1958. Without allowance from Ris-Van dealer sales, the trade figure for that period was $1,395,280. While the Ris-Van equipment sales for that quarter were not immediately obtainable, they probably totaled more than enough to make the net retail business done by local stores something under $1,380,000.

New all-time highs for a quarter were reached by both Clarion and Eagle Grove with their fourth-quarter trade. Clarion's total for the three-month period was $1,891,100 and Eagle Grove's $1,750,520. Garner's fourth quarter, in contrast, was less than either its second or third quarters of 1959.

Garner's retail trade figures for the four quarters of last year ran: $1,037,965, $1,309,690, $1,284,065 and $1,257,150. Belmond's, with Ris-Van dealer sales deducted, came to $1,130,528, $1,310,583, $1,380,268 and $1,387,910.

75th BHS commencement Wednesday—

66 seniors will receive diplomas

Belmond High school's 75th commencement program will be held next Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the school gymnasium. Sixty-six graduating seniors will receive diplomas and will hear Dr. Charles Sloca of Parsons college, Fairfield, deliver the commencement address.

Dr. Sloca, who is professor of English and Dean of the College at Parsons, has been given credit for increasing that institution's enrollment from 465 to 1,000 students since he was appointed to the faculty three years ago. Topic of his address will be, "The Individual and His Decision."

Invocation and recessional for the graduation program will be played by Nancy Halfwassen; the invocation will be spoken by Rev. Elmer Vander Ploeg; and the benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Oscar Laaveg.

Special music will include two numbers by the a cappella choir under the direction of Ivan Kortkamp and a French horn solo, "Concerto No. 2" by Hayden, played by Dwight Mennenga. Principal Ernest Doeringsfeld will read the senior class honor roll; and after the address by Dr. Sloca he will present the Class of '60 to Luin Cox of the board of education, who will hand the seniors their diplomas.

Members of the graduating class are: Dennis Lynn Barkema, Barbara Ann Beenken, Catherine Ann Bonte, Stanley Alonzo Brandmeyer, Shirlene Marie Busick, Patricia Emma Carter, Mary Lu Cox, James Ervin Crotty, Tim Lloyd Downs, Adolf Ehresmann, Carol Jean Finn.

Clark Edward McNeal, Mark Hofer McNulty, Betty Marlene Mennenga, John Trafford Murray, Randyll Alan Musselman, Bonnie Jane Nolan, Ardith Ann Pals, Milo Dean Pals, James Joel Pals, Dennie Kae Pastour, Gary Wayne Porter, Thomas J. Quigley.

Baccalaureate Sunday

Constance Joan Swenson, Richard Samuel Swenson, Russell Leland Tendall, Ronald Dean Thompson, Larry LeRoy Tideback, Curtis Lee Trager, Shirley Kay Tripp, Susan ToNette Watne, Linda Lee Wolters.

Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock the baccalaureate service will be held at the gymnasium, Rev. Julius Brandt of the Immanuel Reformed church delivering the sermon. Music will be provided by the a cappella choir and Nancy Halfwassen, on this occasion, too, will play the processional and recessional.

Rev. Harry McKinney will give the invocation and the benediction will be offered by Rev. William Heinzig.

Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Senior Class Night program will be held at the gymnasium. Clark McNeal, president of the Class of '60, will speak the welcome.

Mason to give prophecy

Kathryn McLaughlin will read the Class History, Linda Stevens the Class Will and Mark Mason the Class Prophecy. Special music will include a selection sung by the girls sextet and a number by the brass quintet.

Highlight of the program will be the presentation of awards to the class valedictorian and salutatorian by Mr. Doeringsfeld. Other awards will be presented as follows:

Future Homemakers of America, Kay Robison; agriculture, Darwin Schroder; industrial arts, Bernard Schroeder; scholarships, Ernest Doeringsfeld; citizenship, Newt Draheim in behalf of the Wright County Bar association.

Tuesday afternoon the sun shone bright for EVERYBODY — but brightest of all for Mrs. Luvern Stadtlander of Klemme. Smiling from ear to ear, she popped into the Independent office at 3:00 o'clock to pick up 50 Cash Gift Day dollars. Another $350 could just as easily have been claimed, but the winners didn't show up. A total of $400 in awards will be posted again Tuesday of next week, split into eight $25 prizes at 2:00 p. m. and four $50's at 3:00 o'clock.

Chamber chooses 3 new directors

Phyllis Pals, Ted Behrends and George Keleher were elected as new directors of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting Monday noon at the Blue Bell tea room.

Retiring directors are Gene DeLancey, Claire Hildman and Ron Hummel.

Two retail promotions were approved for the coming summer and it was agreed that the Chamber should lend the Jaycees the fullest cooperation in putting on their second annual 4th of July celebration.

Friday, June 17, has been chosen for holding another "Six Wild Hours." The period when special bargains will be offered will extend from noon to 6:00 p. m.

Belmond's first "Ridiculous Day" is scheduled for Friday, Aug. 12. This type of promotion has enjoyed exceptional success in near-by communities and the Chamber agreed that a "Ridiculous Day" here would provide Belmond shoppers with a lot of fun, as well as savings.

A meeting of the Chamber directors to elect officers for the 1960-61 year was delayed due to the absence of President Jim Cairns, who was away on a fishing trip.

MRS. H. THOMPSON NAMED CHAIRMAN OF POPPY DAY

Mrs. Harley Thompson has been appointed to serve as general chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary's annual Poppy Day, to be conducted May 28.

Poppy Day is the yearly memorial to America's war dead and disabled veterans. Proceeds from the sale of poppies by volunteer workers will go entirely to aid disabled veterans and their families.

Mrs. S. M. Helgeland, as president of the Legion Auxiliary, named Mrs. Thompson to direct this year's poppy sale.

FOOD SALE SATURDAY

A food sale will be held Saturday by the American Legion Auxiliary at Veterans' Memorial hall, starting at 9:00 a. m. Lunches during the morning and at noon will also be served, with ham sandwiches, hamburgers, pie and coffee offered.

Farm fire Sunday causes damage set at $10,000

Damage estimated at not less than $10,000, on the basis of replacement costs, was caused by a fire Sunday night on the Carl Dorenkamp farm just south of Meservey.

A double corn crib containing 2,000 bushels of corn and a 32x20-foot hog house were destroyed; also a manure spreader and elevator that were setting close to the crib and a quantity of hand tools that were in the crib.

Mr. Dorenkamp, who operates the farm but now lives in Belmond, says that some good neighbors saved him a considerably larger loss by moving from the interior of the crib a tractor and windrower that were housed inside the crib.

The stored corn, which was government-sealed, was insured up to the 2,000-bushel figure but Mr. Dorenkamp said there would have been some over-run not accounted for by the amount in the sealing contract.

About 6:30 p. m. Mr. Dorenkamp had finished doing evening chores at the farm and returned home. Apparently the fire broke out some time between 8:15 and 8:45 p. m. Both the Meservey and Belmond Fire departments were summoned, the call to the latter being received at about 8:45. Mr. Dorenkamp does not yet know who turned in the alarms.

By the time the firetrucks arrived, such headway had been gained by the flames that the firemen could do nothing but keep close watch on neighboring buildings to see that they did not ignite. The firemen stayed on guard some two or 2½ hours and the Meservey truck returned on Monday to extinguish the smoldering coals.

While cause of the fire was not definitely ascertainable, it seemed that faulty wiring was likely responsible. Wiring in the hoghouse was old and an electric fence had fairly recently been added to the circuit, which may have overloaded it, Mr. Dorenkamp suspected.

Don Hoppel again to direct summer program for PTA

Don Hoppel, former BHS athlete who is now an assistant coach at Garner High school, has again been named director of the Parent-Teachers association's summer recreation program.

This year's program will again be limited to baseball, he says, but will be expanded to include boys of all ages up to an including seniors graduating from high school this spring.

A summer schedule will be carded for a BHS varsity team, in addition to the league competition for boys of peewee (eight through 10) and midget ((11 through 14) age. Members of the Class of '60 will be eligible to play on the school nine.

Availability of the new Jaycee diamond to the west of Second avenue NE made it possible to broaden the program to include the boys of age 15 and over, Hoppel says.

He plans for the peewees and midgets to work out on the Jaycee field and the high school players on the school diamond.

Hoppel adds that he intends to organize the high school team immediately as the Bronco nine is entered in a five-team tournament at Garner that starts a week from Saturday, May 28. Belmond will meet Klemme in the first round. Other entries, in addition to Garner, are Clear Lake and Britt.

As yet Director Hoppel does not know who will be assisting him in conduct of the summer program.

Start of the summer recreation program will be delayed until after the vacation Bible schools of the various churches have ended. Starting day of the program will be Monday, June 13.

GOP WOMEN WILL MEET

Belmond Republican Women will meet this Friday at 2:00 p. m. at the home of Mrs. A. L. Pitcher. A good attendance is urged by Mrs. Alice Hedges, who is president of the Belmond Republican Women's club.

Outstanding ISTC students honored

CEDAR FALLS (Special) — Iowa State Teachers college students were recognized for scholarship, leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities Monday afternoon at the College Honors Convocation. President J. W. Maucker presided at the Convocation.

Dr. Thomas Thompson, assistant professor of philosophy at Teachers college, gave the address. His topic was "Three Kinds of Honor." A reception for the honor students, their parents and the faculty was held in the College Commons following the convocation.

Janis Kalkwarf of Belmond was recognized for election to membership in Kappa Pi, honorary art fraternity.

Other ISTC students from Wright county and honors for which they were given recognition were: Jim Murphy, Clarion, I (honor letter) club; Jerry Nelson, Dows, Lamda Delta Lamda, national honorary physical science fraternity; Kay Whitten, Rowan, Kappa Delta Pi, national education honor society.

Cozette Lau of Klemme was elected to Purple Arrow, the society which honors freshman and sophomore women for outstanding scholarship, citizenship and leadership.

BRITT UNDERCLASSMEN WIN

Britt easily won the North Iowa conference freshman-sophomore track championship Tuesday evening at Buffalo Center, amassing 89 points. Osage was runner-up with 60½, followed by Belmond with 50½. Other team scores: Garner 37, Buffalo Center 34½, Northwood 26½, Forest City 11 and Lake Mills 4. Details on the meet will be published next week.

FIVE DOWN, ONE TO GO — That's the count on championships won by the BHS track squad this season. The tracksters won the Class A indoor state championship, the Class B titles in the Humboldt Relays and Dodger (Fort Dodge) Relays, the Class A title in the Bronco Relays and the North Iowa conference championship. This Saturday the seven athletes shown above (plus Dave Suntken, who is pictured in the sports section) are aiming at that "one to go," represented by the Class A outdoor state championship. The Bronco squad will compete in nine events in the state classic at Des Moines and is rated high among the team favorites. Shown left to right are: Mike Long, Bob Whipple, Larry Kramer, Bob O'Connor, Vernon Pastour, Robbie Courson and Lynn Jenison.

13 Rowan seniors getting diplomas Tuesday evening

Rowan High school will graduate a class of 13 seniors at commencement exercises to be held Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the gymnasium-auditorium. Speaker of the occasion will be Rev. Truman Carl, pastor of the Methodist church at Mason City.

Supt. H. L. Pesch will present the class to Herman Frohling, president of the board of education, who in turn will award the diplomas. Identity of the class valedictorian and salutatorian will be revealed during the graduation program.

Jackson to Give Sermon

Baccalaureate service of the Class of '60 will be at the Rowan Methodist church at 8:00 p.m. Sunday. Prayer will be offered by Rev. Jack Rampelberg of the Congregational church and the Methodist pastor, Rev. R. H. Jackson, will deliver the sermon. He is taking as his topic, "The City of Vision."

Monday night will see honors presented at the annual Class Night program. These will be made as follows:

Class Will, Prophecy

Special music will be provided by the mixed chorus and by the girls sextet, consisting of Diane Frohling, Lavonne Hanson, Carolyn Ihm, Lynne Arends, Cynthia Wolff and Ardeth Boyington. The Class Will is to be read by Ted Smith and Wesley Simmons will deliver the Class Prophecy.

Ted Smith will present the Key to the Class of '61, in whose behalf it will be accepted by John Smith.

Class Night will also see the members of the 8th grade class graduated to high school rank.

Commencement festivities will conclude with a community picnic Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in the timber near Rowan.

SOCIETY

BETROTHAL of their daughter Marie to Donald E. Hood is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Delbert J. Love of Roscoe, Ill. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hood, former Belmond residents now living at Rockford, Ill. The nuptial mass will be spoken Saturday at St. Bernadette's Catholic church at Rockford. A 1959 graduate of Roscoe High school Miss Love is employed by the American Chicle company at Rockford. Mr. Hood, who graduated from BHS in '56, after three years of Army service, is now employed by Huddelson Construction company of Rockford.

Culture Study club members attend Tulip Festival at Pella

As a climax to the Culture Study club year, members of the club attended the Tulip Festival at Pella Thursday of last week.

Following a tour of the tulip gardens, the group enjoyed the colorful parade which was the highlight of the day's program.

En route home, a dinner meeting was held at the Breesehouse in Ankeny at which time a gift was presented to the outgoing president, Mrs. Russell Dougherty.

MEN SERVE MOTHERS, DAUGHTERS THURSDAY AT CHURCH BANQUET

The annual Mother-Daughter banquet of the Congregational church was held Thursday evening of last week with the men of the Congo club cooking and serving the meal and Mrs. Dale Kessler as program chairman.

Mrs. William Guthrie, as toastmistress, introduced the program numbers and read two poems "What is a Little Girl?" and "What is a Mother?" Mrs. Glen Hruska gave the toast to the daughters and her daughter Margaret responded.

A quartet composed of Velda Mennenga, Loree Baker, Randy Brandmeyer and Gailen Vanness sang, as did a kindergarten quintet which included Marilyn Stadtlander, Christie Johnson, Connie Kessler, Angela Van Gerpen and Susan Havens, accompanied by their teacher, Melva Brendel. A musical pantomime was presented by Judy Hummel and Georgia Keleher.

Mrs. Dwight Tyrrell presented awards to: Mrs. Marjorie Hinman, who was chosen Belmond's Mother of the Year; Mrs. Lena Bayliss for having the most grandchildren and great grandchildren; Mrs. George Sharp for having the youngest baby; and Denise Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Baker, for being the youngest daughter present.

A bouquet, given by Belmond Greenhouse, was presented to the only four generation family present — Mrs. Guthrie; her mother, Mrs. Maggie Bashford of Webster City; Mrs. Guthrie's daughter, Mrs. Bud Van Gerpen; and the latter's three daughters, Angela, Nancy and Laura.

ENGAGEMENT of their daughter Constance to N. David Guetzke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar O. Guetzke of Oregon, Wis., is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Hill. St. Olaf Lutheran church will be the scene of the wedding on Aug. 14. Miss Hill attended Luther college, Decorah, and presently is teaching at Kenyon, Minn. Her fiance is a Luther college graduate. He is enrolled at the Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, Minn., and currently is serving his ministerial internship at St. John's Lutheran church, Kasson, Minn.

Hills to observe their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday

Sunday at their farm home west of town, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hill will be honored on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. The courtesy has been planned by their children, Connie, Erwin and Harold.

Open house will be held from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. and from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m., during which hours the Hills will be happy to greet their relatives, neighbors and friends.

We taxpayers in Wright county sure took a beating last year. The present sheriff's department took us to the tune of $22,346.52 for operating expenses last year — while taxpayers in some comparable counties got by a lot easier. For example — total cost of operating sheriff's department in Calhoun county was $13,594.83 — Pocahontas county was $14,230.00.

Another stab in the purse was a comparison of the 1959 mileage expenses. For example: The sheriff's department in Calhoun county was only $1,251.20, while the sheriff's department in Wright county cost us taxpayers $4,200.09.

Next week I'll show you voters how I can reduce your taxpayers' load if I am elected your next sheriff.

Blecker deserves support of voters, Trafford declares

"Wright county should continue Sheriff Bob Blecker in office," declares L. T. Trafford, Belmond mayor, "because his record as a law enforcement officer has been distinctly outstanding."

"During his period in office," Mr. Trafford continued, "the record of criminal apprehensions and arrests in Wright county has been one that most counties could well envy.

"However, Bob has not limited his concern to law enforcement alone," Mr. Trafford noted. "He has also been keenly mindful of the need for emphasis on public safety and on accident prevention."

The Belmond mayor cited the fact that the Wright county Car Safety-Check that was originated by Sheriff Blecker has for the past three years been judged the nation's most outstanding in counties of 25,000 population and under.

Several thousand Belmond motorists have been protected from possible accidents due to mechanical failure by taking advantage of these Safety-Checks, Mr. Trafford observed.

"Sheriff Blecker's very active interest in youth makes him a particularly useful officer in these days when delinquency is such a problem," Mayor Trafford added.

"Certainly an officer with as excellent a record behind him as Bob Blecker can point to," declared Mr. Trafford, "has every good reason for asking his constituents to return him to that office."

JOE TRIPLETT SEZ:

The other day I began to smell a strange perfume in the black car you see me driving around at times. Over a period of two or three days the scent became stronger. After smelling it herself my wife didn't accuse me of going astray. It finally became so strong I investigated under the front seat and discovered a neatly wrapped package that someone had been thoughtful enough to put there. It contained a member of the fish family. I can understand now why the Indian's method of fertilizing his corn with a dead fish in each hill never did go over in a big way.

Jim and Richard McMurray decided to make a change on their planter this spring. Jim's brother has been planting about 600 acres a year with his liquid planter and he liked it so well Jim and Richard decided that all the heavy work connected with planting corn was obsolete. Using Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer this spring made about 20 tons worth of work obsolete for Jim and Richard.

You can't begin to get them all at once, so taking one at a time works out after a while. Jess Suntken of the Suntken clan was the third member to use R-V this spring. I thought he would be the last one, but Ben is still holding out.

While making deliveries for the planters in this area I get the chance to see many interesting things. The other morning I made a delivery out south of town to the Otis Tendall farm. I never thought I'd ever see one in the middle of Iowa, but there it was. A big male peacock standing on the garage roof. It certainly made a pretty sight strutting around with the early morning sun shining on his varicolored plummage. Otis told me that his tail feathers cover an area wider than the eight foot wide garage doors when they are fanned out. Otis also told me that he likes the color of that Ris-Van fertilized corn he's had the last few years.

Joe Keller of Blairsburg plants his corn with a big eight row planter. With 640 acres of corn to plant by himself he can't afford to handle all of the necessary fertilizer. I delivered 13 tons in two days and he didn't look a bit tired after handling all of that. Rex Fetrow is also planting with an eight row planter, but he's using that other fertilizer. You know what a limp dishrag looks like. That's the way Rex looked after putting that other fertilizer in eight boxes all week long. He thinks he'd like to use some of that fertilizer that fills the planter while you watch.

Ormal Pals out Alexander way heard about the R-V menu for underfed soil this spring and decided to do it up right. He ordered a R-V plowdown number hot off the griddle for a starved piece of ground that had been having trouble carrying an average crop. The next time you have a question as to what to feed your soil for this year's crops, do as Ormal did and stop in at the R-V cafe and give it a good meal. Then you know it can easily carry a heavy yield until next year's meal time without suffering from malnutrition.

Thought for the week.
To feed the plants and insure good yields,
Use the R-V plan in all the fields.
For the extra work from a plant energizer

Broncs seek state honors Saturday—

Tracksters have smashed 12 school records

When Belmond High school's track season is concluded Saturday by the eight-man Bronco squad that will be competing in the Class A state track and field meet at Des Moines, it will mark the end of the "record-breakingest" campaign that that BHS is likely ever to witness.

All of those eight athletes have had a hand in erasing on or more of 12 school records from the books.Another mark — in the 180-yard low hurdles — was tied by Mike Long. Of 20 events for which best BHS performances have been kept in track and field, only eight survived the 1960 season!

Only one mark thus far unimproved on this spring will be a target when Belmond takes on the best Class A stars in the state on the East High school track at Des Moines. All the others the Broncos will have a chance at Saturday have already been lowered one or more times this season.

But Larry Kramer has yet to beat the 4:27.6 time he turned in when he won the state Class A title a year ago. He will unquestionably have to better that time Saturday (assuming tolerable running conditions) if he is to whip his arch rival, John Raveling of Saydel. The latter turned in a 4:26.3 in defeating Kramer in the Drake Relays high school mile race.

Larry's best effort this year was the 4:27.9 with which he soundly beat Raveling in the Class A state indoor to tie the all-time best indoor record for an Iowa high school miler. He's been working extra hard since the Drake disappointment and his duel with Raveling promises to be one of the real highlights of Saturday's Class A meet.

Dave Suntken, state indoor champion in the 50-yard dash and high jump, will compete at Des Moines in the high jump and both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Mike Long will try for some points in the broad jump and Bob Whipple will be a contender in the football throw.

Kramer, Suntken and Long, with Lynn Jenison, Vernie Pastour, Bob O'Connor and Robbie Courson, will make up the Bronco combinations in the mile, two-mile and medley relays. How well Belmond does in these last three events will very likely hold the key to whether the Broncos will be able to add the outdoor state championship to the indoor that they won at Iowa City.

Here is a run-down of the events in which school records have been smashed by the 1960 track and field squad:

Mile run, indoor — Larry Kramer, 4:27.9 (old mark 4:40.9, Kramer, 1959).

Mile relay — Dave Suntken, Bob O'Connor, Lynn Jenison, Mike Long, 3:34.8 (old mark 3:38.7, Suntken, Jenison, Kramer, Long, 1959).

Two-mile relay — Bob O'Connor, Robbie Courson, Lynn Jenison, Larry Kramer, 8:27 6 (old mark 8:35, Harold Steenblock, Joe Smith, Arlo Stoltenberg, Ron Steenblock, 1955).

Other than the outdoor mile, that leaves as the only BHS records unscathed during the 1960 season: 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, 120-yard high hurdles, 440-yard relay, pole vault and discus.

There are probably two or three Broncos, in addition to Long, capable of breaking Mike's :53.8 time in the open 440 but relay commitments have prevented all but a few attempts at it.

Kramer would be a virtual cinch to beat Richard Finn's 2:00.7 in the 880 if Larry could once concentrate on the individual half mile; but he's always been too keenly needed in the relays to be spared for a try at this record.

Pay-off figures for the 1960 Iowa State Bowling Tournament released last week showed that Belmond keglers reaped $176 in prizes. Biggest winner among the local entries was George Sharp, who shared 35th place in the singles with a 640 series to pick up a check of $43 and split $22 with Roger Kinseth in the doubles for a total of $54.

Sharp and Kinseth were tied for 160th place in the doubles with a 1,137. Well ahead of them in 82nd place were Don Busick and Vern Dippel with an 1,166 that was good for $30.

Following Sharp in the singles were: Ed Albers, tied for 155th place with 608; Dave Robertson, tied for 362nd, 584; Don Busick, tied for 384th, 582; Duan Thompson, tied for 409th, 580; Cecil Winbigler, tied for 426th, 578. Albers' pay-off was $17.14, Robertson's $7.00 and the others each got $6.00.

Arlo Stoltenberg and Larry Kinseth shared $13.14 on 1,122 in the doubles that tied them for 223rd place; Albers and Gene Pearson combined efforts for 1,119 that tied them for 237th and paid $13.

Kinseth's Hotpointers were the only Belmond team to make the pay list and they were clear down in a tie for 190th place with 2,452-40—2,582. That gave them $13 to split.

Lonny Eggers, former Belmondite who used to bowl here with a Kanawha team but now does his bowling at Britt, figured in a tie for 452nd with a 576 in the singles to pick up $6.00.

No local kegler made the prize list in all-events.

In the open team division of the state tourney, there were 280 teams and 70 pay spots; in the booster division, 655 teams and 218 prizes; in the doubles, 1,643 entries and 411 prizes; and in the singles, 3,286 entries and 828 prizes.

Junior high team in meet at Britt

Belmond 7th and 8th grade athletes will compete tomorrow in the Britt Junior High Relays against a field that will probably include five other teams Britt, Garner, Buffalo Center and Boone Valley all will be definitely represented and Kanawha has also been invited.

Coach Jack Steinberg arranged a junior high dual meet with Garner for the local track Monday afternoon of this week to give both teams a trial against competition in advance of the Relays.

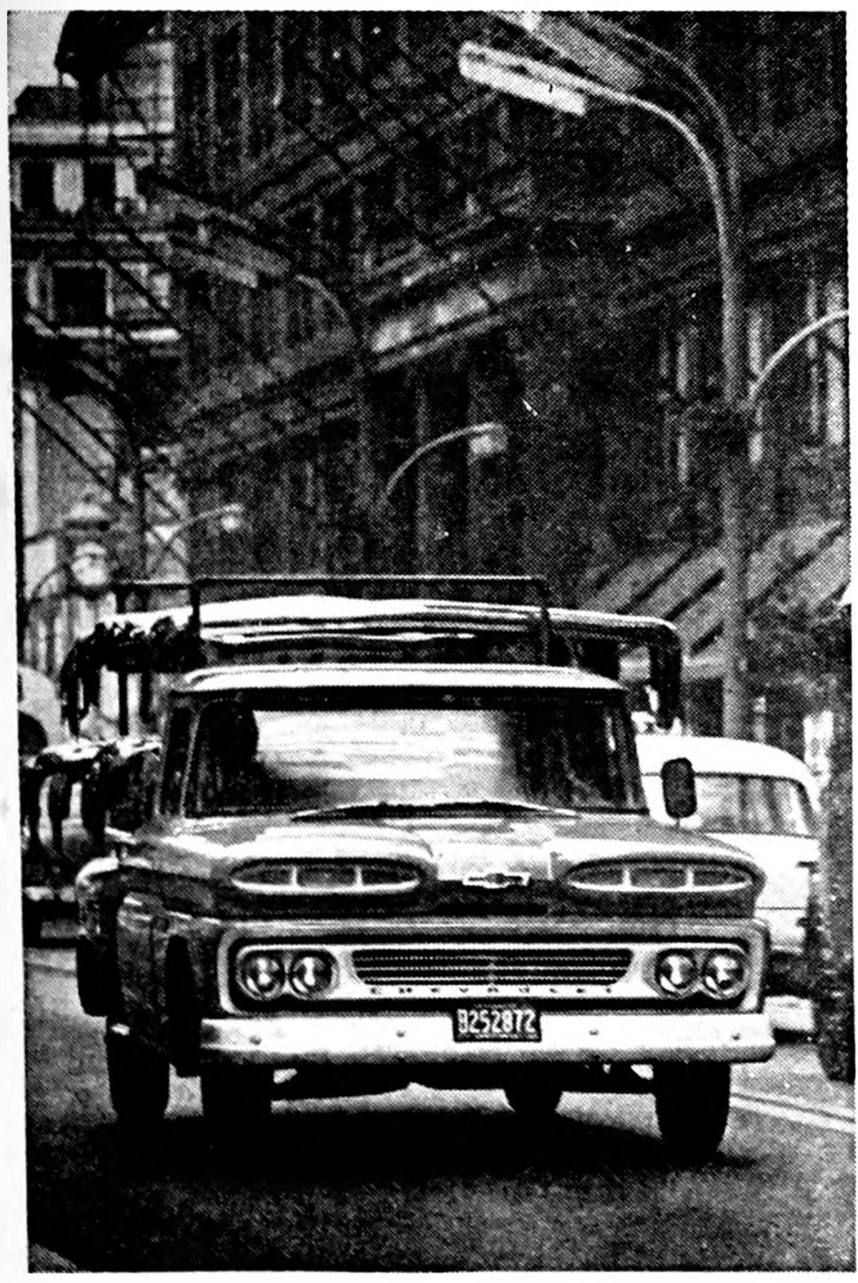
While personnel of the Belmond team at Britt was uncertain last weekend pending time trials, Coach Steinberg said the following entries were virtual certainties:

Daryl "Shorty" Suntken, broad jump and 50-yard dash; Dennis McNulty, shot put; Neal Waddington, football throw and high jump; Larry Ackerman, high jump; Keith Sheller, 220-yard dash.

Steinberg added that Bob Misner, Jerry Soma and Tim Courson were among other junior high boys he'd be counting on as members of the team.

CHEVROLET

Chevy hums through Chicago traffic to the tune of 21 miles to the gallon!



The engine is Chevy's famous Thriftmaster 6!

Working for Bumper and Auto of Illinois, Inc., ten 1960 Chevrolet pickups battle Chicago traffic day after day. Each truck averages about 2,000 miles a month in this wearing stop-and-start delivery service. Mr. Harry Haller, General Manager of S & H Truck Leasing, who leases the trucks to the bumper firm, reports: "We provide full maintenance on the trucks—gas, oil and everything else—so it pays us to know just where we stand on costs. And our records show that the '60 Chevies are giving us as much as 21 miles per gallon . . . with an average of better than 17 miles per gallon. Mister, these are our kind of trucks!"

Truck owners have good things to say about all Chevy engines. And when they're not talking about Chevrolet performance and economy, they're telling you how great that new Torsion-Spring Ride is. How it soaks up road shock and vibration. Protects fragile loads. Lets you run at faster, safe speeds to get more work done in a day. Drive a torsion-spring Chevy soon. We'll rest our case on that one ride.

MESERVEY NEWS

MRS. MOODY QUANDT

Diplomas awarded to 19 seniors of Meservey High

Meservey High school Tuesday evening graduated its largest class of seniors in several years, when 19 members of the Class of '60 were presented with their diplomas.

To Dorothy Waddingham went the honor of being class valedictorian and Larry Pals was the salutatorian.

W. R. Hamilton was speaker for the commencement program held at 8:00 o'clock at the school gymnasium-auditorium. He is head of the Hamilton School of Business at Mason City.

Auxiliary to sell memorial poppies

In cooperation with Iowa Poppy Days, being conducted throughout the state on the weekend of next week, Meservey's American Legion Auxiliary will sell Poppies on Saturday, May 28.

Proceeds from the crepe paper memorial flowers, made by Iowa's disabled veterans, will be devoted by the state Auxiliary to aiding these veterans and their families.

In addition, a small fee is paid by the Auxiliary for each flower made by a veteran, which enables many of these disabled ex-servicemen to earn a few dollars while hospitalized.

Mrs. Audre Nissen is in charge of Poppy distribution in Meservey. The selling will be done by members of the senior and junior auxiliaries.

Raecker slated for eye surgery

Purpose of the operation will be to save, if possible, sight in Mr. Raecker's right eye. It was injured in an accident a number of years ago and has already been subjected to surgery twice.

Mrs. John Brown accompanied the Raeckers to Iowa City and the two women planned to return home after the operation had been performed.

Legion Auxiliary to plan for Mother-Daughter banquet

American Legion Auxiliary unit will meet Wednesday evening, May 25. Plans will be completed for the Mother-Daughter banquet to be held Wednesday evening, June 8, in the school auditorium.

County Future Teachers held year's final meeting

The last meeting of the Cerro Gordo county Future Teachers was held at Garfield school in Mason City last Thursday. Everyone became acquainted with the new officers and received information on the work of the new year.

The first meeting next year will be held in the Lincoln school, Mason City, on Sept. 12. The new leader will be Miss Ahrens.

Appreciation was expressed to all old officers for all their work of the past year and especially to Mr. Mulford who had been the leader for the year.

Federated Woman's Club met with Mrs. R. Halfpap

The Meservey Federated Woman's club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Richard Halfpap. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Jacob Pals. Mrs. Jesse Althen of Hampton presented a biography of Abraham Lincoln. Towels hemmed by the blind of Iowa were ordered. The first meeting of the year will be held in the home of Mrs. Helen Wonsmos. Lunch was served by the hostess.

GRIMES CLOVER BELLES

A special meeting of the Grimes Clover Belles 4-H club was held April 28th at the schoolhouse with eight members and one leader present. The girls decided to ask their mothers to the next 4-H meeting instead of having a special party for Mother's Day. They then made gifts for their mothers.

Regular meeting of the Grimes Clover Belles was held May 2 as a Mother's Day party at the home of Betty Vierkant. Roll call was answered by nine members and three leaders.

President Mary Kay Brown was elected to go to state convention. Kathleen Diddy was chosen as the club's candidate for county office and Betty Vierkant was chosen at Kathleen's campaign speaker.

Kathleen and Mary Kay were elected to go to district camp, and Betty was elected to go to junior camp.

The club's better grooming contest was held. Judges were Mrs Ames of Clear Lake and Mrs. Buss of Swaledale. Junior winner was Russelyn Gaetzke, with Linda Stadtlander as alternate; intermediate winner was Betty Vierkant and the senior Kathleen Diddy.

Mrs. Dick Kamm, Rhonda Kamm and Mrs. Clarence Schmidt were guests.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Showing of the great screen epic, "The Ten Commandments," continues tonight through Saturday. If you missed it the first time around, this is an opportunity to make up for that omission — AND at popular prices.

Looking at the cast for "Guns of the Timberland," a quick glance may lead you to think an error's been made and Alan Ladd's been listed twice. Closer inspection will show you, though, that the second name is Alana Ladd.

She is Alan's 16-year-old daughter and in this western adventure tale plays the sweetheart of Frankie Avalon, the young singing sensation.

This beautifully filmed story plays against a background of north woods logging country. Old-timers Gilbert Roland and Regis Toomey share acting laurels with the Ladds, young Avalon and Jeanne Crain. Sunday through Tuesday.

If you're seeking an evening of complete relaxation, probably next Wednesday and Thursday's fare won't be exactly your cup of tea. "Edge of Eternity" is a he-man thriller filmed, in generous part, thousands of feet above the rugged floor of Grand Canyon. It WON'T put you to sleep. Neither will its companion piece, "The Kettles in the Ozarks." When Ma Kettle (Marjorie Main) loads up her tribe to visit an uncle in the Ozarks, you're in for some hill-billy shenanigans that will leave your sides aching.

Miss Studebaker holds 2 offices

Mary Alice Studebaker of Belmond, a junior at Clarke college in Dubuque, has been elected to two national offices.

She is a second vice president of the College Clubs section, American Home Economics association, for 1960-61, and will attend the 1960 meeting of the clubs in Denver and the 1961 meeting in Cleveland with part of her expenses paid. Her duties involve encouragement of college clubs to affiliate with the national organization.

Miss Studebaker is also regional president of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, of which most of the Catholic colleges in Iowa are members.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Mary Alice is majoring in home economics at Clarke. She is a graduate of Belmond Community High school.

Deadline to put in for support on corn, May 31

Deadline for placing 1959-crop corn under price support loan in Wright county is May 31, the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office reminded farmers today.

May 24th is the date that has been set by the ASC committee as the final date that the sealers will be able to inspect the storage structure, measure the corn and take samples for grade and moisture tests.

Commodity Credit Corporation regulations require that these items and all the necessary loan papers must be completed not later than May 31.

To be eligible for a price support loan, corn must be stored in an approved structure and during May must not contain more that 16 per cent moisture if ear corn and 14 per cent if shelled corn.

Purchase agreements are available through May 31 to those who do not care to place 1959-crop corn under loan. Under purchase agreement, the owner pays a nominal service fee for the agreement and may deliver the specified quantity of corn to CCC at the time the regular loans mature.

Since no money is borrowed, there is no interest to pay. Another feature is that purchase agreement corn is not graded or tested for moisture until time for delivery to CCC. Delivery of the corn to CCC is optional with the owner. He cannot, however, deliver more corn than is specified in the agreement.

719 wool growers in county apply for incentive pay

With the deadline now past to apply for payments in the national wool program for the 1959 marketing year, a total of 719 Wright county growers have applied, according to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office. Th deadline for applications was May 2.

Applications received throughout the country will now be used in computing the rate of payment, after which payments will be made to growers through their ASC offices. Payments are expected to be made some time after July 1.

Under the wool program, payments are made at the percentage rate necessary to bring the national average farm price of wool up to 62 cents a pound, which is the announced incentive level. That percentage is applied to each grower's marketings to calculate his payment

On unshorn lambs, payment is made at a rate based on the wool rate. For 1958, the payment rate was 70.3 per cent for shorn wool and $1.02 per hundredweight on unshorn lambs.

The purpose of the percentage method of payment, the committee points out, is to encourage wool growers to do the best possible job of marketing their clip. Payments under the wool program are made as an incentive to growers to bring about an increase in national wool production.

U.S. Bonds regaining Wright countians' favor

It has been gratifying to notice the U. S. Savings Bond's return to acceptance in Wright county. After being among the state's leading counties from the standpoint of per capita purchase of these important securities, Wright quite extensively forsook these bonds as an investment as the existing three per cent interest lost its attraction.

Although Wright county failed to reach its quota of bond purchases last year after the interest rate went up to 3¾ per cent, the more attractive return has spurred sufficiently greater sales this year to put purchases in this county well on quota schedule.

It is vitally important that Savings Bonds attract as many dollars as possible out of the market place, for spent otherwise they would contribute to inflation, increase the cost of our defense program, and diminish the value of investments already in lock-boxes.

At the end of February, the total of E and H bonds outstanding amounted to $42,613,000,000. Though a huge sum, this figure still represents only a slightly larger total than the federal defense budget for just the coming year.

A Savings Bond salesman who works among farmers recently said that sales are holding up remarkably well in farming areas. Farmers remember only too well what happened to them in the depression, he said, and they want to have a backlog of savings for protection in event of any repetition of that kind of economic disaster.

Perhaps that has played a role in boosting Savings Bonds sales in Wright county. We're sure that so long as they are a competitive investment they will be popular, hereabouts; for solid-thinking Wright countians must realize full well the vital place these bonds fill in the economic scheme of things.

Election boards decidedly expensive patronage

Another election year is at hand. A majority of the counties surrounding Wright will be voting via machines. But Wright, with the assistance of election boards numbering 265 persons, will once again be marking and counting ballots by hand

Hardin county was one of the pioneers (along with Franklin) in introducing the use of voting machines. It's been using them since 1912. Eighteen were purchased in that year. Another 11 were added not too long afterward.

County Auditor Fred Reed says, "So far as I know, there hasn't been a nickel spent on maintenance of the machines since they were purchased. They were undoubtedly one of the best investments Hardin county ever made from a maintenance (or lack of it!) standpoint."

Commenting on the machines, the Hardin County (Iowa Falls) Times of last week said: "If nothing else, voting machines richly deserve the distinction of being regarded as one of the most durable products on the market . . . just about any market, for that matter."

But there IS, certainly, something else to be regarded insofar as these machines are concerned.

That is the moderate expense of conducting elections by machine. In 1956, when three special issues ran Hardin county's elections expense appreciably higher than normal, the cost was $7,299.89. Auditor Reed says the 1958 expense (including both primary and general elections) was just about average — $5,872.35.

Hamilton, another county that votes by machine, had total election expense in 1956 of $4,836.50 and in 1958 of $4,927.06. Wright's election expense in 1956 came to $12,809.38 and in 1958 to $12,711.61. In both years our election cost was more than Hardin's AND Hamilton's TOGETHER — although well over twice as many persons voted in those two counties as in ours.

There's a lot of yelling about exhorbitant property taxes these days. Let it not be forgotten that it's property tax money that pays for all the unnecessary expense Wright county goes to in continuing to conduct its elections by hand voting and counting methods.

If Wright's supervisors are persisting in the use of these methods simply to provide semi-annual patronage for an extra 150 persons or so, it's a pretty stiff price for the rest of the people in the county.

Incidentally, it would cost the county newspapers (including The Independent) quite a chunk of money now paid them for election supplies and ballots if the switch to machine voting was made. We'd be happy to accept our loss in revenue to see the voting machine wisely adopted in Wright county.

Nicholas pokes fun instead of tackling issues

As an enthusiastic backer of Sen. Jack Schroeder for the Republican nomination for next governor of Iowa, we've been pleased to read the cumbersome efforts at sarcasm that neighbor Bill Nicholas has been directing at his young rival.

Bill isn't the cleverest man with a quip and his efforts to stiletto Schroeder with sharp wit is a dead give-away that the turkey farmer is scared by the progress Jack has been making.

It's also representative of the Nicholas approach that he's largely confined himself to poking fun at Schroeder's serious effort to meet issues head on, instead of coming to grips with them himself.

Very apparently Nicholas looks upon the young legislator as his sternest opposition. At any rate, he has been taking few pot-shots at the third GOP candidate, Attorny General Norman Erbe. Of course, Erbe has not been stirring up much dust, so he hasn't presented much of a target.

Typical of Nicholas' idea of rebuttal was his response to Schroeder's plain-spoken survey of Iowa's highway needs. It can be reasonably assumed that after 10 years in the legislature the Senator from District 21 should have a fairly first-hand knowledge of our highway problems and what's being done to meet them.

Nicholas, however, simply chortled over the ridiculousness of Schroeder daring to have an opinion on highway needs. He implied, "I'M the fellow who can come up with all the highway answers. After all, am I not on the highway commission?"

There's no denying he is. In fact, he's been a member of that body for all of 10 months. That's hardly time enough to learn all the angles; but we suspect it HAS been long enough to rob Bill of his objectivity in viewing the existing program of highway development in Iowa.

If Iowa has a stand-out candidate for ANY major office, it would seem to be Jack Schroeder. Republicans are lucky he's in their camp.

The fact that Schroeder is, by his intelligent campaigning, making steady headway is becoming evident even on the other side of the fence. Observed a recent issue of the Democratic "Chariton Leader," "Jack Schroeder, Republican candidate for Governor and the front runner for the nomination, visited Chariton last week."

Important function of newspaper

We believe that to perform its duty, a serious newspaper (or radio and TV station) must do considerably more than to inform and entertain in addition to providing an outlet for advertising. It must also present an informed opinion on all matters of public interest, thereby stimulating a public exchange of views which help to clarify the issues involved.

This is a highly important function of the media of information and unless they perform it effectively, they are neglecting their duty. For the essence of democracy is a free debate of all public issues. The more thorough and wide-spread the debate becomes, the better are the chances of a correct solution being endorsed by the majority of the people.

TO FORM AND EXPRESS AN opinion on any given issue (be it local, national or international), people need to be presented not only with all the available facts, but also with a wide range of explanations and arguments.

There is hardly a single instance in human relations which can be fairly presented in a black-and-white contrast of "good" and "bad," "just" and unjust." Usually there is a wide range of halftones which need a thorough exploration and a good deal of thinking before an intelligent conclusion can be reached.

Unfortunately few people have enough interest and patience to develop the process of objective analytical thinking necessary for an impartial evaluation of events which seemingly do not concern them personally. And in events close to their skins, these people tend to jump to hasty conclusions based on their personal interests and prejudices. This partiality (or bias) is just as dangerous as apathy. Prejudiced or apathetic people are a menace to democracy, for they are easy prey of demagogues.

AN ESSENTIAL DUTY OF THE information media in a free society is to fight both prejudice and apathy. A newspaper does it (or should do it) through its editorial page. Not by avoiding all controversial and "hot" issues, but by plunging headlong into all such issues, stating clearly and firmly an opinion which it honestly believes to serve the public good.

Having stated its opinion, the newspaper cannot and does not expect everybody to agree with it. What it does expect is that its stand will stimulate private and public discussion of the particular issue, that it will prod people into serious thinking about it — Brandon (Manitoba) Daily Sun

Dead give-away!

Verily, the modern home is the place where nothing can be accomplished if the electric current goes off. And how easy it is to keep track of your neighbors in this electrical age.

A caller knocked at the front door of a certain home and got no response. A neighbor called across to say, "I know they're home because their TV antenna has been rotating!" — Ralph Shannon in Washington Evening Journal

Don't know? Don't vote!

Once the newspaper urged everyone to vote. But not any more. We've reluctantly arrived at the conclusion that anybody who has to be pleaded with to exercise his or her right of suffrage wouldn't be capable of casting an enlightened ballot.

Th person who exerts no time or effort whatever to become familiar with candidates and issues is just one more pointless vote. He might be all right in a totalitarian country where his mind is made up for him in advance, but he's a deadweight in a democracy. — Earl Hall in Mason City Globe-Gazette

SIBERIA FOR BOTVINNIK?—

One bit of world news we'll wager you didn't catch last week was the victory of one Mikhail Tal, 23-year-old Latvian chess journalist, over Mikhail Botvinnik of Leningrad, the defending world chess champion.

Botvinnik had held the world title since 1948. His young conqueror is the youngest world chess champion of the 20th century. We can well imagine that the victory was a sweet one, not only for Tal but for all his countrymen as well.

Latvia was an imperial Russian province before World War I, but became an independent republic Nov. 18, 1918 (along with Estonia and Lithuania). In 1940, Latvia was over-run by the USSR, which incorporated it into the Soviet Union as the Latvian Soviet Socialist Republic. Uncle Sam has never recognized Russia's annexation of Latvia.

Deep thinkers that the Reds regard themselves, it must have been a bitter pill to swallow when the revered Botvinnik had the boom lowered on him by a callow youth of Tal's tender years.

TOO DUMB FOR CHESS—

Our private experience with chess has been pretty limited. As a youth we played a bit. That is to say, we knew the proper moves of the various pieces — but gambits and all that stuff went over our head like a tent.

Our finest hour at the chess board occurred while we were a student in the Columbia university school of journalism at New York. One of our classmates was a sober young man who fancied himself as a chess shark.

He frequently played with a fellow who roomed a door or two away from us in the same Columbia dormitory. One evening our classmate knocked at our door and explained he had a chess date but his opponent hadn't arrived home yet.

Condescendingly he inquired if we played the game. We confessed our limited knowledge but offered ourself as a lamb to the slaughter if he wanted to get in a practice game. He half-heartedly accepted.

As our battle progressed, our foe waxed more and more indignant. Cunningly devised traps that we were supposed to fall into just didn't entice us as we proceeded along our free-wheeling course that was utterly devoid of logic.

The crowning humiliation was heaped upon our irate opponent when he, himself, made a fatal error and found his king checkmated.

In a huff, our victim swept his chessmen into their box, folded the board with a slap and pierced us with a scornful glance.

"NOBODY could play chess with YOU!" he sneered. "Why . . . why, you don't even know HOW to play chess!"

NINETY-NINE-ITIS—

What gives with Belmond and its ninety-nine-itis?

We certainly settled on a fine population figure . . . 2,499, of all things!

Then we count kindergarteners for next fall and end up with 99! How much more impressive the nice, round figures of 2,500 and 100 appear.

Of course, both the census figure and the kindergarten count are preliminary and tentative. We may yet turn up that "extra" needed to even things off nicely.

BUT ONE WAS OUT . . . —

For obvious reasons our "short counts" bring to mind that rousing old revival hymn, "The Ninety and Nine." Do you suppose IT offers a clue to our problem . . .

"There were ninety and nine that safely lay
In the shelter of the fold;
But one was out on the hills
away,
Far out from the gates of gold."

TWO SETS OF TWINS —

Did you, by chance, notice that among those kindergarteners who mak up the Class of '73 (the time'll be here quicker than you think!) are TWO sets of twins. Must be quite a while since a class has boasted more than one set — and most of 'em have none at all.

Both twin combinations are relatively recent newcomers to Belmond, neither having been born here. They are Larry and Lori Elphic, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Elphic; and Mark and Marshall Janson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Janson.

STILL NO SMOKE—

Remember when Harlan Miller kept the whole state of Iowa bored with his regular reports on the number of cigaretless days he'd survived? Since The Independent hasn't the circulation of the Demon Register — as our friend Duane Dewel calls it — we're not in a position to bore so MANY people; but we can do a pretty good job on readers of this column.

The date of this issue has seen us courageously exist 37 days without a puff. We're continuing our missionary work among our wayward brethren, who still cling to the habit.

Most of them, though, seem to echo the sentiment of that doggeral classic of Graham Hemminger:

"Tobacco is a dirty weed. I like it.
It satisfies no normal need. I like it.
It makes you thin, it makes you lean,
It takes the hair right off your bean.

MAYNARD JOHNSTON — HE DEALS IN FURNITURE, FUNERALS

Call him lazy, if you want. Maynard "Chip" Johnston admits that he chose to come to Belmond six years ago next September because he was working some 12 or 13 hours a day at his prior job "and never could get caught up."

He was employed by John K. Hanson at Forest City, operator of a corporation that encompassed a furniture store, funeral home and a combination International Harvester and Oldsmobile dealership.

"Chip" had been funeral director for Mr. Hanson since 1948. When the Hanson enterprises were incorporated, he also became office manager for the furniture store and the implement and auto businesses. In addition, he answered all ambulance calls to the funeral home.

He now recalls, "There just weren't enough hours in the day to get everything done."

Consequently, when Dan Boone decided to sell his undertaking business here in September of '54, he found a taker in Mr. Johnston. A month later, Orrin Jacobson was looking for a purchaser for his furniture store, and "Chip" found himself with the traditional business combination of furniture and funerals.

His interest in these twin ventures marked all the way back to his father's similar employment at Forest City for several years before World War I. The latter, Jack Johnston, sold out just before wartime inflation sent prices spiralling — and then watched his successor coining money, hand over fist.

Maynard wasn't around at the time — he was born in 1924 — but it apparently made an impression on him when his father in later years told him of that opportunity that had been missed.

Of course, "Chip" could as easily have turned out to be a county sheriff by his father's example. Jack, during the depression years, was grubbing out a very meager existence for his family on a small farm when he was elected Winnebago county sheriff in 1932. He held the job for seven terms, until 1946.

During his high school days, "Chip" used his ample physique to good advantage as an athlete for Forest City High school. He lettered four years in football and three each in basketball and baseball. The Indian football team tied for the North Iowa conference in 1939 and won it outright in 1940. (During Maynard's four years on the gridiron team, FC trimmed Belmond 35-0, 27-6 and 25-6 after losing to the Broncos in his freshman year, 6-0.)

Meanwhile, his father had bought a farm; and for three years, "Chip" and a brother "batched it" and operated the place. That was enough to convince "Chip" that he wasn't cut out for a farmer.

He started working for Mr. Hanson in 1944 and a couple of years later attended the St. Louis College of Mortuary Science, from which he graduated with honor. He had, in the meantime, acquired a wife (the former Shirley Hale), whose acquaintance he'd made while she was a student at Waldorf college.

Maynard says Shirley didn't exactly put him through school. On the other hand, her working in St. Louis while he was a student certainly didn't hurt.

He'd preceded his mortuary training with a year of apprenticeship and followed it with another. That enabled him to take his state board examination to become an embalmer and funeral director in 1948.

"Chip" realizes that undertaking strikes the general public as a rather undesireable profession; but he says he gets a great deal of satisfaction out of his funeral work.

"You have the opportunity to serve families at a time when they need help and sympathetic consideration, and it's a matter of real gratification to make things easier for them," he observes.

He adds that his wife Shirley is his indispensible lieutenant during the preparations for and the conduct of funerals.

His furniture business serves as a very useful adjunct to the funeral home, Maynard says. His two occupations very largely keep out of each others way. He does recall with a regretful wag of his head the time not too long ago when he had advertised a furniture sale — whereupon he was called on to conduct several funerals in quick succession, simultaneous with the period of the sale.

"Chip admits that the furniture store comprises somewhat of a fill-in business between funerals. On the other hand, he says its volume has been steadily climbing, year by year — so it fulfills its intend-function "usefully," to say the least.

A new schedule of storage rates to be paid for price-support grain stored in commercial warehouses and on farms will take effect July 1 it has been announced by the Wright county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

For grain stored commercially, storage rates are being reduced an average of 19 per cent, from about 16½ to 13½ cents a bushel on most grains. The rates will be the same for all areas of the county.

The committee pointed out that farmers who take out price-support loans on commercially stored grain from 1960 crops will benefit immediately by this change. When a farmer has grain in a warehouse as security for a price-support loan, he pays the storage, which will now be at the new lower rate.

For most grain stored on farms under reseal programs, the storage payment to farmers will be two cents a bushel lower. Following are the new reseal storage rates per bushel, with the former rate in parentheses: corn, 14 cents (16); oats, 10 cents (12); barley, 14 cents (16); grain sorghums, 24 cents per cwt. (30); wheat, 14 cents (17).

Reseal storage rates will also be uniform on a national basis, eliminating former geographical differences

Farm-stored commodities eligible for reseal in Iowa are: 1959-crop corn and grain sorghums; 1958-crop grain sorghums, corn and oats; 1957-crop corn; and 1956-crop corn.

In addition to the reduction in commercial storage rates, there will be a number of changes in the handling charges for loading-in and loading-out grain. Taking reduced storage rates and handling charges together, it is estimated that the government will save from $85 to $100 million during the 1960-61 storage year, the committee said.

The changes are being made in revising the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement, which will be offered to all eligible commercial warehousemen on an individual basis. The present agreement, in effect since 1956, governs storage in about 11,000 warehouses throughout the country.

4-H leaders pick county delegates to camp sessions

John Rodecap, Lake Leaders, and Joan Mathre, Norway Jolly Joy Makers, have been selected as delegates to represent Wright county at the state 4-H health camp to be held at the state 4-H camp near Madrid, Aug. 1-5.

The purpose of the camp is to give training to 4-H boys and girls in health activities that they can take back to their county and communities to strengthen the local health programs.

Harvey Hilpipre, Lincoln Leaders, will represent Wright county at the state leadership conference for young people, which will be held at the state 4-H camp, Aug. 7-13.

The leadership conference is planned to give young people leadership training which will better equip them to serve in various leadership capacities in their own communities. A part of their training will be in recreational leadership.

Selection of nominees to the state 4-H health camp and the leadership conference are made by the farm project and home economics 4-H county committees.

WINONA, Minn. (Special) — Jerry Chandler of Belmond is a charter member of a group which is expected to become the first nationally chartered fraternity on a campus of a state college in Minnesota.

He is a member of the Pioneer club at Winona State college. It has received college approval to apply for a charter in Sigma Tau Gamma, a social fraternity, which is expected to issue the charter in May.

Sigma Tau Gamma, with its national headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., has 45 chapters in 15 states.

The Pioneer club has been active in college affairs since it organization by 17 men a year ago. It now has 43 members.

Mr. Chandler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Chandler of Belmond, and is a sophomore majoring in physical education and business education.

Birdsall chosen Jack Schroeder's county chairman

Ben C. Birdsall of Clarion has been named Wright county chairman of the Schroeder-for-Governor committee, it has been announced by Schroeder's State Headquarters in Des Moines. It was further announced that Dorothy McNeal of Belmond has accepted the position of vice chairman.

State Senator Jack Schroeder is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor in the June 6 Iowa primary election.

In accepting the appointment, Mr. Birdsall said: "I am convinced that Senator Schroeder's 10 years of experience in the Iowa legislature makes him the most qualified candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. Senator Schroeder has served in both houses.

"During the past session of the legislature, he was named Republican Floor Leader in the Senate by his fellow GOP Senators, an indication of their confidence in his ability."

Mr. Birdsall added that "Senator Schroeder has been campaigning on issues and has announced a sound five-point tax reduction program, an excellent program for improving Iowa highways and making them safer, and many other important and highly constructive proposals for the state of Iowa that he knows, from his legislative experience, can be put into effect."

Have You Been Told,
'You Can't Rent A Hearing Aid'?

At Physicians Hearing Aid Center in Mason City, you can try out a hearing aid for a small rental charge.

Why? Because fitting the correct aid for each individual case requires special care and patience Testing the hearing aid in actual use over a reasonable length of time is often the only way to know if its performance will be satisfactory. After the proper aid is selected, the amount of rental paid is applied towards the purchase price

We have four outstanding makes of Hearing Aids to choose from:

GOODELL NEWS

BY MRS. AMOS HANSON

Pastor delivers farewell sermon

Rev. Donald Varce delivered his farewell sermon last Sunday morning at the Goodell EUB church. A. G. Ruka and Allen Avery gave reports as delegates to the annual EUB conference held in Fort Dodge two weeks ago.

Following the service the Varce family was honored with a pot-luck dinner in the church dining room. Bill Butts, in behalf of the congregation, presented the Varces with gifts of a table lamp and cash.

The Varces were also honored with a farewell Friday evening in the Stilson church, which they have served six years. They moved Tuesday to Walcott to serve the church there and at Wilton Junction.

Rev. Forrest Lay and family of Morille are moving Wednesday to the parsonage at Stilson. On Sunday, Mr. Lay will conduct his first service at the local church.

Family Reunion held Sunday by Jess Anderson family

These included the Everett Anderson family of Olaf, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Anderson of San Diego, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Earl King of Des Moines, the Don Smith family of Goldfield, the Lyle Andersons, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Anderson of Webster City, the John Sheets family of Woolstock and the Irvin Tate family of Faribault, Minn.

Also present were a sister and brother of Jess, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bessler of Humboldt and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Anderson of Eagle Grove, and two granddaughters of the Andersons, daughters of the Frank Howards of Clarion and the Charles Mincks of Des Moines. The Andersons' son Mark and family of Seattle, Wash., were unable to come.

Carl Madison family attends final rites for her father

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Madison, Donald, Robert and Gerald went to Vernon Center, Minn., Saturday to attend funeral services for her father, Fred Deling, age 76. He had been ill with a heart condition. Donald and Robert served as casket bearers.

Mrs. Henry Brede accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carolus of Garner to Pella Saturday to enjoy the Tulip Festival.

Donald Kramer, son of Mr. .and Mrs. Paul Kramer, will graduate from Buena Vista college at Storm Lake and has signed a contract to teach in the Gilmore City- Bradgate consolidated school. He will be Junior High coach.

Former Goodellian retired as pastor

Rev. W. T. Boston, former Goodell minister, was retired at the annual E.U.B. conference this year. He and Mrs. Boston have been serving the Bolan church east of Kensett.

This week they will move to their own residence property in Cedar Falls. Her mother, Mrs. W. B. Richardson, will continue to make her home with them.

AVERY YOUNG FARMERS

The Avery Young Farmers 4-H club held its May meeting at the home of Ronald Lacey. Thirteen members answered roll call.

June 8, all 4-H'ers will meet at Dennis Suntken's place to begin the annual club tour. It will end at Keith Carolus' home. Parents are welcome to come on the tour.

There will be no meeting next month because of the club tour.

Handkerchief shower given Mrs. Varce at WSWS meeting

WSWS met Friday afternoon in the church with Mrs. Harry Carpenter leading the lesson. Following a social time, refreshments were served. Mrs. Donald Varce was honored with a handkerchief shower.

Mrs. Augusta Millard, who makes her home with her mother, age 94, in Creston and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Eldon Shepherd of Mason City, visited last Thursday in the Lula Wilkins home. The Millards formerly lived here.

Francis Cashman of East Dubuque, Ill., called on friends here last Wednesday and Thursday. He was transacting business at the Cashman farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mayland of Spring Valley, Minn., were visiting local friends last Wednesday en route home from wintering in Florida. Mrs. Mayland will be remembered as Dulcie Hughes.

Kris Rae Bausch of Clear Lake spent the latter part of last week in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boller. Her parents were in Iowa City to attend the wedding of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Knisley went to Rockwell Sunday and spent the day in the William Knisley-Christie home. Willis and William are twins and celebrated their birthdays which are on May 16th.

Mrs. Wililam Dieger was dismissed from the Belmond hospital Friday where she had been a patient two weeks following a fall in which she fractured her hip. Myrtle Godtland of Belmond is in the Dieger home caring for her.

The Busy Bee club enjoyed their regular meeting Saturday with a 1:00 o'clock luncheon in the Lula Wilkins home. The afternoon was spent socially.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Harris returned home last Thursday from their week spent in Kingman, Kan., where they attended funeral services for his mother, Mrs. Henry Harris. They also visited Mrs. Harris' mother, Mrs. C. M. Hardesty, at Cunningham, Kan. En route back they visited former local folks, the J. R. Campbells, at Lawton.

Memorial Day services set for Monday, May 30

The Robbins-Christenson Legion and Auxiliary will have charge of the Memorial Day services Monday, May 30, at 10:00 a. m. in the local cemetery.

INSTRUCTION MEETING

Supervisor Edgar Mayhew announces that there will be an instruction meeting for election board members Friday of next week at the Goodell community hall, to teach judges and clerks the operation of the new voting machines. The meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. Members of election boards for Avery and Twin Lake townships, as well as Goodell, are asked to attend this meeting.

Mrs. Bill Boller and Mrs. Anton Boller went to Hampton Friday and spent the day with the latter's sister, Mrs. Ed Hughes.

Sunday guests in the Mrs. Mary E. Anderson home were the Harvey Andersons of Clarion, the Leonard Andersons of Goodell, the Bernard Halfpops of Albert Lea, Minn., the Don Smiths and Roland Kinseths of Belmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Forristal of Des Moines spent the weekend in the S. S. Sarber home. The ladies are cousins. Sunday the two couples were guests in the home of the Sarbers' daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Kennedy, at Clear Lake.

Mrs. Henry Emmons and children of Emmons, Minn., spent Sunday in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. E. La Favre. Mrs. Emmons came especially to see her mother, Mrs. W. L. Sherwood, who is in the Belmond hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Smith, Shirley and Sheila of Garner, the Harry Andersons of Goodell and the Shirley Andersons of Forest City were Sunday guests in the Elmer Anderson home.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Mossman of Iowa Falls spent the weekend in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Carl Green. Jon Green, student at A. I. B. in Des Moines, also spent the weekend at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Anderson went to Clear Lake Wednesday to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. E. Anderson, age 77. Burial was at Forest City.

Tom Lowenberg, student at the University of Iowa, in Iowa City spent the weekend in the parental Arthur Lowenberg home. He and his sister Theresa were sponsors at the baptism of their nephew, Scott Brian Janssen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Janssen.

The baby was baptized Sunday in St. Mary's church by Rev. R. A. Ormsby. Danny Janssen and Duane Anderson were members of the first Communion class at St. Francis church in Belmond Sunday.

TWIN LAKE HUSTLERS

Regular meeting of the Twin Lake Hustlers was held Monday, May 9. Sixteen members answered roll call. Eldon Nuehring and Larry Lange were chosen to attend recreation camp at Britt. Billy Langlitz and Lynn Slining were elected to go to short course at Ames.

Gary and Lynn Ruka gave a demonstration in "Repairing Chairs with Glue." The discussion topic was "Animal Breeding." Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ruka served lunch.

VOL. 14 NO. 34 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA— THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1960 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER 18 PAGES THIS ISSUE

5-23-85

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

Our pride in the Broncos' achievement of winning their second state track championship of the season extends to Wright county as a whole, as unmatched by any other county in the state for high school track talent.

Out of the 18 events on the Class A state outdoor meet at Des Moines lest Saturday, Belmond won four, Clarion three (one 1st place — in the pole vault — shared) and Eagle Grove one.

Also, with 98 other counties contending (theoretically, at least) for points, Wright's total of 74 5/8 — Belmond 41, Clarion 26 5/8 and Eagle Grove 7 — represented about 24 per cent of the total of 313 points awarded!

Ron Courson, after watching the Belmond High track team win the Class A state outdoor championship Saturday, was so hepped up that he instructed Coach Rich Koolbeck that the entire state meet squad and their coaches were to be his guests for dinner on the way home.

Having four boys in his family, Courson should have known what he was getting into.

He told the Bronco crew to stop at Solar Inn, just south of Ames, which is known for good food but not necessarily for cheap prices. Koolbeck reports it was the first time he's ever seen malted milks ordered as appetizers to a steak dinner. Is that tax deductible, Ron?

Monday night's Senior Class Night exercises turned back the clock a matter of 52 years for Mrs. Ella Mason of Mason City, whose grandson, Mark Mason, is a member of the BHS Class of '60. She delivered the Class Prophecy for the Class of 1908 (she was Ella Sorenson at the time). Monday night, the same duty was performed by Mark.

Those 50-star flags for which the Boy Scouts have been taking orders have — to their unhappiness — not yet arrived. They were confident that the flags would be here before Memorial Day . . . and are still hopeful, be-it-all a bit discouraged. These well made, 3x5 flags sell at $3.50 and the Scouts believe no home should be without one. Even if you can't get one for Memorial Day, there are lots of holidays coming. A phone call to any Scout will serve to place an order.

If it's as hot a week from today as Luick Memorial Swimming Pool's clientele probably hopes it'll be, you'll want to be watching "Summer on Ice 1960," a TV spectacular "in living color" to be presented by NBC. Sponsored by the U. S. Brewers Foundation, it will feature Tab Hunter, Gisele McKenzie and the Ice Capades skaters. It's at 8:30 p. m. and will be carried by Fort Dodge.

Members of the BHS a cappella choir presented their director, Ivan Kortkamp, with a handsome candelabra last Friday night after the group's annual spring concert. The gift served a double purpose. It was an expression of the admiration and affection of the present choir members for Mr. K. — and also commemorated the 25th consecutive year that Ivan has had a Division I chorus in state judging.

With that candelabra, Ivan should be able to present his own Liberace routine . . . offering no apologies for his rattling of the ivories. During an unanticipated break in the program Friday, Mr. Kortkamp filled in with an impromptu piano selection that really "sent" his audience. The man is NO SLOUCH at the keyboard!

Schroeder-for-Governor campaign headquarters this week was capitalizing on Mrs. Dorothy McNeal's support of Sen. Jack Schroeder's candidacy for the GOP governorship nomination. The importance that was attached to her endorsement made clear that the influence of the late Clark McNeal is still definitely felt in Iowa political circles.

Mrs. McNeal is quoted as follows: "I'm for Jack Schroeder for Governor because his program is sound and forward-looking. It is basically the same that Clark worked so devotedly for the past 10 years."

The quote continued, "I believe each one of us should weigh the issues and choose the candidate with the most ability to carry out an efficient administration. Jack Schroeder is our top man. I am happy to support him in his bid for the Republican nomination for Governor." . . . That testimony will be important among Clark's many friends.

This is an "oldie" — but because it never fails to mystify us, and since "Barney" Dillon has kindly supplied us with the "formula" we'd like to pass this mathematical stunt on to you. It works. . . . Take your house number and double it; add 5, then multiply by 50. Add your age, then add the number of days in a year (not a Leap Year). Subtract 615, and you'll find the last two figures of the remainder to be your age; the others will be your house number.

Foster Castleman has shifted the scene of his baseball operations from sunny Florida to sunny California. He was recently purchased from the Miami Marlins of the Baltimore organization by the Chicago White Sox and assigned to their triple-A club at San Diego. "Fos" reported there Thursday of last week and is being given a tryout at both 1st and 2nd bases.

McMURRAY ON LEAVE

2nd Lt. Jerry McMurray, formerly of Randolph Field Air Force Base, Harlingen, Tex., is spending a two-week leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McMurray. On leaving here he will report to Mathers Air Force Base at Sacramento, Calif.

Eight newcomers to join faculty

Eight new teachers have been given contracts to fill Belmond faculty positions during the 1960-61 school year. A husband and wife are among those who have been hired, Mr. and Mrs. (Barbara) Donald Lancaster.

Mr. Lancaster will be taking the place of Jerald Torgerson as driver training instructor while the latter studies for his Master's degree at the University of Iowa. The newcomer is a native of Dows and is graduating next month from Iowa State Teachers college.

His wife, the former Barbara Ann June of Wapello, had two years of college at Iowa State Teachers and has taken summer work at the University of Iowa, She taught at Elk Run school near Waterloo during the past year. She will teach second grade here.

Mary Louise Carlson, a native of Stanhope who has been teaching at Algona the past two years, will join the local staff and teach in fourth grade. She is a 1958 graduate of Waldorf college, Forest City.

Also from Waldorf, and graduating this spring, are Beryl Tjaden of Lakota and Karen Lee of McCallsburg. Miss Tjaden is taking the place of Sharon Holland as a second grade teacher and Miss Lee will succeed Barbara Richsmann as a teacher in third grade.

Another new teacher in third grade will be Shirley Greiman of Garner, sister of Mrs. Jack Steinberg, whose husband is varsity basketball coach. She is taking the position that has been filled by Mary Underwood. Miss Greiman has been teaching the past year at Estherville and before that taught two years at Lake Mills.

She is an Iowa State Teachers college alumnus, having attended there in 1955-57. Also from Iowa State Teachers is Donna Bock, who will be girls physical training instructor. Her home is Shelby. She will graduate in June from ISTC with a Bachelor's degree.

Linda Haenny, a native of Minneapolis who graduates this spring from St Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., will be the new vocal music instructor in the elementary grades. She replaces DeEtta Brownfield, who resigned due to her imminent marriage to Gene Mehl.

Only one faculty vacancy now remains to be filled. Darwin Schroder, who for the past 3½ years has been BHS vocational agriculture instructor, has resigned in order to accept a sales position with Ris-Van, Inc. The teacher committee of the board of education is currently conferring with applicants interested in the position being vacated by Mr. Schroder, but no selection has been made.

Kling to hospital to have operation

Gunnar Kling entered University hospitals at Iowa City on Sunday to undergo surgery as a follow-up to an operation he underwent recently for removal of a cancerous melanoma tumor on his back.

He was advised by a specialist at Iowa City that the cancer cells may have not spread beyond the site of the original tumor, but was advised to submit to a "clean up" operation as a safeguard.

Mrs. Kling accompanied her husband to Iowa City and stayed with him until after the operation on Monday. Mr. Kling was told he would be hospitalized for 10 days.

Organization 38 years old—

Cemetery Aid does necessary job

Anyone interested in keeping Belmond's cemetery beautiful can help to that end by donating food items to the Cemetery Aid's food sale this Saturday at Hattel's Super Valu grocery, patronizing the sale — or both. All proceeds from the sale will be used for landscaping and beautifying the cemetery grounds, says Mrs. Mary Rankins, secretary of the society. Grace Reed is its president.

Next meeting of the Cemetery Aid will be tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Elder. Mrs. Rankins says there are no dues charged. Payment of 25 cents is asked for lunch served at the meetings. All women of the community are welcome.

Mrs. Rankins recalls that the Belmond Cemetery Aid society was organized Feb. 10, 1922, at the home of Mrs. F. O. Fitts. Twenty-four women were present and the following officers were elected:

Mrs. D. L. Mallory, president; Mrs. E. W. Luick, vice president; Mrs. W. E. Bullard, treasurer; Mrs. C. P. (Mattie) Luick, secretary. Object of the society was "to beautify the cemetery." Mrs. Grace Luick is the only one of the Aid's 24 charter members still living.

Funds were raised annually by the aid through food sales held just before Memorial Day; also by benefit movies, dinners and donations. Typical amounts raised by food sales are noted in the society's books as follows: in 1924, $94.98; in 1925, $85.18; in 1926, $69.30; in 1929, $75.38.

First steps toward beautification of the cemetery took the form of purchase and planting of bulbs, plants and shrubs. Many of the early members walked out to the cemetery to set out tulip beds, rows of peonies and shrubs. Mrs. Rankins reports that many weary hours were spent in planting, watering and weeding.

In 1925, the records show, $21.60 was paid for bulbs; in 1926, 100 geranium plants were set out and $4.50 was spent on tulip bulbs. As time went on and more money was available, urns were bought. The first cost $137.40; and another $57 was spent on iron seats. Subsequently, more urns and seats were purchased.

The year 1927 saw the gate pillars constructed at a cost of $710. In 1929 the driveways were paved. Of the $1,500 cost, $500 was met by a donation from the Cemetery Aid.

When the banks closed early in the depression, the Belmond Cemetery association feared its perpetual care fund was lost. The Cemetery Aid hired an attorney to represent the association in taking the matter to court.

In district court at Clarion, the magistrate gave the opinion that the funds had been kept in a local bank illegally and that the Cemetery association should be reimbursed in full.

This decision was appealed to the Iowa supreme court, where it was confirmed. The association recovered the principal in the perpetual care fund, plus interest; and the Aid paid all expenses of the legal battle.

In 1936 considerable quantities of dirt were needed to fill low parts of the cemetery grounds and the Aid met the expense of $96 for this project. Regular repainting of the old fence, the urns and seats was always paid for by the Aid, which also met the cost of replac-

County 4-H girls to hold Rally Day this Saturday

Rally Day, one of the most important events in the 4-H girls' club year, is scheduled to be held Saturday at the Eagle Grove high school gym. This part of the girls' year serves at a "kickoff" for their summer activities. Club members from over the county will be in attendance, with parents and friends.

Campaigning for county offices will take place from 9:30 to 10:00 a.m. The county officers for 1960-61 will be elected by the voting delegates from each club.

4-H county committee women and leaders will be honored in a special ceremony. A person who has shown outstanding interest and has given much of her time to further 4-H work in Wright county will be initiated as an honorary member of the national 4-H Girls' organization.

Other events during the day include registration, campaigning, followed by call to order by Lynne Arends, county president; welcome from Barbara DeCamp, president of the Eagle Red Peppers 4-H Club; invocation; selections by the county 4-H chorus, Mrs. Roy Crawford, director, and Joan Mathre, pianist.

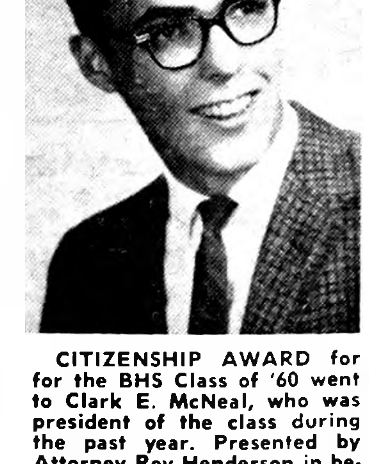
Introduction of presidents and guests: roll call, Jane Martin, county secretary; treasurer's report, Janice Rietema; and historian's report, Wendy Duitscher. The Blaine Blue Ribbon Winners 4-H club will present a skit on a phase of the clothing project.

The annual business meeting will include election of officers, campaign speeches and responses by candidates with Janice Rietema, county treasurer, presiding. Instructions to voting delegates and voting will be given by Mrs. Clarance Johnson.

Mrs. Arthur Homervold, county girls' 4-H chairman, will preside over the afternoon meeting. On the program will be the presentation of the "Country Girls' Creed," a skit by the Lincoln Lassies League, special recognition of 4-H leaders, a skit by the Grant Go-Getters club and initiation of honorary members.

One of the important features of the day will be the Better Grooming contest, which will be judged by Mrs. Dunn of Rockewell. Also, recognition will be given the girls who were winners in music contests held by their clubs last month.

The clubs helping with special activities include; platform and assembly, Norway Jolly Joy Makers; initiation of honorary members, Dayton Dandies; hospitality and noon lunch, Eagle Red Peppers and Eagle Top Notchers; honoring the leaders, Belles of Boone; registration and ushering, Troy Trojans; election and installation of county officers, Up and Coming Vernonites; grand finale, Belmond Busy Bees; and clean-up, Wall Lake Wee Women.



CITIZENSHIP AWARD for for the BHS Class of '60 went to Clark E. McNeal, who was president of the class during the past year. Presented by Attorney Roy Henderson in behalf of the Wright County Bar association, the award goes to the senior who has best "demonstrated his knowledge of the principles of and possesses outstanding qualities of American citizenship." The winner is chosen by faculty vote.

"Safety Lane" to operate 3 days—

Free auto inspection starts today

Belmond's annual Safety Lane car-check will be conducted this weekend, free inspections being avilable to all motorists from 4:00 through 7:00 p.m. today, Friday or Saturday.

As an added attraction this year, the Belmond Chamber of Commerce is putting up $15 in trade scrip good at any member business establishment to go to three lucky drivers. License numbers of all vehicles inspected will be put in a recepticle and each day one will be drawn as winner of a $5 prize.

In same location

This year's Car Safety-Check will be conducted at the same site as a year ago — in the first block on Main street east of Highway 69, with cars to approach the Safety Lane from the west.

Car safety inspection stickers will be attached to those vehicles that are found to have no mechanical defects. Repair tickets will be issued to defective cars and trucks. When these have been taken to a local garage for the required repairs, the mechanic will see that the "Safety-Checked" sticker is placed on the windshield.

Chief of Police Ray Thompson and Sheriff Bob Blecker note that, as usual, law enforcement officers will be particularly on the lookout for defective equipment following the Safety Check. A current safety sticker will, however, exempt a vehicle from further inspection during the round-up of cars and trucks with faulty equipment.

No fatalities in 1960

Sheriff Blecker observes that Wright county has had no fatal traffic accident thus far this year and expresses hope that the Safety Check will help maintain this clean record.

This year, he added, a ramp will be used to enable the volunteer mechanics to examine the front ends of the cars under inspection. He believes the ramp will permit a better job to be done and will not entail the chance of car damage that exisited to some degree when a jack was used.

Although last year's Safety Check enabled Wright county to win its third consecutive national award for excellence, it did not bring out as many vehicles as each of the two years before. Sheriff Blecker believes that because it was held in June may have been responsible — more families being on vacation at that time. This year's earlier dates should enable most motorists to have their cars inspected prior to taking vacation trips.

Cooperating firms named

Chief Thompson says inspections on the three days will be performed by personnel provided by these firms: Belmond Motors, Lloyd's Standard Serivce, Joe's Skelly Service, Nell's Place, Followwill Implement, Pollitt's D-X Service, OK Rubber Welders, George's Auto Electric, Sheldon Chevrolet, Jones Standard Service, Berns Conoco Service and Silvey Implement.

According to Sheriff Blecker, at Eagle Grove's Safety Check last week, many more students ran their cars through the Safety Lane than usual. A similar response is urged here by Supt. Don Faris, who says, "This offers students with their own cars an opportunity to show that they ARE good, conscientious drivers interested in safety."

Chamber of Commerce President Jim Cairns adds his support of the project with the statement, "We're interested in our customers' welfare. Play it safe and get your car checked. The customer's life you save may be your own."

Mayor L. T. Trafford declares, "Every driver should make certain of the good working order of his vehicle by driving through Safety Lane. You owe it to your family and yourself."

Laaveg to speak on Memorial Day

Rev. Oscar Laaveg of the Trinity Lutheran church will be speaker for the Memorial Day program to be held Monday at the Belmond cemetery. As usual, the traditional parade forming up at Veterans' Memorial hall at 9:00 a. m. will precede the commemoration program at 10:00 o'clock.

Homage will also be paid to Belmond's Gold Star Mothers, for whose transportation in the parade Jack Fulton is making arrangements. Belmond's Boy Scouts will fulfill their customary responsibility of decorating the veterans' graves.

Maurice Fahrney will direct the BHS band in the national anthem and special vocal music will be provided by a male quartet. Belmond's honor roll of deceased veterans will be read by R. H. Gowdy.

The Veterans honor guard will fire a salute to the dead and sounding of taps will conclude the program.

One Sergeant Quandt to come home from Germany; 2nd soon to go there

Sgt. 1/c Delmar Quandt informed his mother, Mrs. H. R. Bayliss, by a long distance telephone call last Saturday morning that he has received orders that will bring him back to the United States. He is presently stationed at Karlsruhe, Germany, and has been overseas for three years and six months.

He told his mother that he and his family will return to the States by air arriving in New York City on June 25. They will pick up their car — sent ahead via ship — at New York and drive west. They will spend his 30-day furlough in Belmond and Colorado before he reports at his new duty station, Fort Riley, Kans.

Delmar is married to the former Lyla Jean Fiscus of Carbondale, Colo., and they have two daughters and a son. The two youngest children were born overseas and Mrs. Bayliss has never seen them.

A career soldier, Delmar has been in the Army since June of 1948.

By coincidence, another son of Mrs. Bayliss — Sgt. Edwin Quandt — is heading for overseas duty at almost the same time that his brother is returning from Europe. Like Delmar, he is making the Army his career and has had about 15 years in uniform.

Edwin's wife is the former Avis Pierce of Belmond. They have one son. His wife and youngster will accompany Sergeant Quandt abroad, where he is to be stationed somewhere in Germany.

Mrs. Bayliss is happy that her sons' visits home will overlap, so they and their families will have the opportunity to see each other. Edwin will arrive June 9 from Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., and will be here for 40 days before departing for his new duty assignment.

Fire here caused by lightning bolt

Several thousand dollars damage was done to the R. B. Thompson home early Thursday morning of last week as the result of a fire caused by lightning. Mr. Thompson said this week that it was not yet possible to make an accurate estimate of the loss, but that it seemed likely it would run from $2,500 to perhaps as much as $4,000.

Lightning struck about 3:00 a. m. during a severe electrical storm. Carpenters repairing the damage believed the bolt must have struck about eight feet from the television antenna, on the ridgepole of the roof. It started a fire in the attic, which the Belmond Fire department found a difficult one to fight.

Mr. Thompson is making quite extensive repairs in the attic and to the roof in order to clear out all charred timbers to eliminate as completely as possible the fire odor. Rafters and ceiling joists were damaged for about two-thirds the length of the house.

This week, the Thompsons had not yet made a careful assessment of the damage done to furniture and other contents of the house. Almost the entire wardrobes of all members of the family had to be cleaned. Considerable damage was done to the television set, but the picture tube was spared.

Auxiliary will sell Poppies Saturday

Generous support of the annual sale of Poppies is urged by Mrs. Harley Thompson, chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary's Poppy Day that is to be conducted Saturday.

Disabled veterans were paid a certain amount per flower for making the memorial posies and proceeds from their sale will go toward rehabilitation of veterans and to aid their families and the families of deceased veterans.

This is the 40th year that Poppy Day has been held. It was originally set for the week of World War I Armistice Day, Nov. 11, but for some time now has been Memorial Day weekend, instead.

The memorial poppy is a crepe paper replica of the wild European flower which bloomed amid the devastation of World War I battlegrounds and was immortalized in Lt. Col. John McRae's poem, "In Flanders Field."

Camp Fire dads help at Hantesa

Four Belmond Camp Fire fathers went to Camp Hantesa near Boone last Sunday to participate in a Do-Dad weekend devoted to getting the camp into shape for the summer season.

Lending a hand as Do-Dads were Russell Porter, Ardell Hopkey, Luther Proeger, Jr., and Guy McClenahan. They helped roof the Happy Hill Lodge and to erect tepees.

Two Camp Fire and two Bluebird groups were at the camp for the weekend, going down Saturday and returning Sunday. They were the groups under leadership of Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Guy McClenahan, Mrs. Charles Carlson and Mrs. Keith Nesseth.

Louis Oberhauser to get law degree

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser leave Friday for Washington, D. C., to attend the graduation next Wednesday of their son Louis from George Washington university law school. Their son Jon will accompany them.

Louis is vice president of the law school student body, has received an award for outstanding service from the Student Bar association and was one of the nominees for "Outstanding Law Student" of his class.

Anti-rabies clinic set

Announcement is made in this issue by City Clerk Lois Hammond that a city-sponsored anti-rabies clinic will be conducted this Saturday. It is being held in compliance with a recommendation made the first of this year by Dr. G. J. Hruska, city health officer, that such a clinic be planned to reduce the threat of rabies appearing in Belmond. Dogs will be inoculated at Belmond Veterinary Clinic from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. The charge will be only $1.50 during those hours. Mrs. Hammond warns that dogs will not be eligible for re-licensing next year unless evidence can be provided that they have been inoculated against rabies.

Honor bestowed on Doug Hoppel

Douglas Hoppel, BHS alumnus who is a senior in business administration at Drake university, Des Moines, last week was named by the training committee of the Retail Merchants Bureau of Des Moines as Drake's "Retailing Student of the Year."

Lee Heyman, chairman of the committee, presented Mr. Hoppel with a gold watch at a dinner a week ago Tuesday evening at the Des Moines Club in honor of Drake students who are getting on-the-job training in conjunction with their college studies.

Douglas is working for a chain grocery at Des Moines while attending school. He is married and has one child. Before entering Drake, where he has been president of the Retailing Club during the past year, he saw four years' service in the U. S. Air Force.

He will receive his Bachelor's degree from Drake next month.

Valedictorian of the BHS Class of '60 was announced by Principal Ernest Doeringsfeld at Monday evening's Senior Class Night program to be Carol Finn, daughter of Robert Finn and the late Mrs. Finn. For her four years of high school study she carried a grade point average of 3.94, compared to a maximum of 4.0.

Mr. Doeringsfeld revealed that 12 seniors carried an average of B or higher for their entire high school careers.

In addition to the two top scholars, they were: Barbara Beenken, Nancy Gallagher, Linda Hauge, Walt Hotvet, Lynn Jenison, Clark McNeal, Bonnie Nolan, Ardith Pals, Eloise Soma and Linda Stevens.

Announcement also was made by Mr. Doeringsfeld of scholarships that have thus far been reported to him, accepted by members of the senior class from various colleges.

Miss Cox has accepted an honor scholarship from Frances Shimer college, Mt. Carroll, Ill., and Miss Gallagher has accepted an academic sholarship from Grinnell college. A merit scholarship has been awarded to Ardith Pals by Central college, Pella.

In addition, the Wright County Health Improvement association has named Diane Haugland as recipient of a $100 scholarship to help toward cost of taking nurse's training at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital School of Nursing at Mason City.

Des Moines man purchases hotel

Mr. and Mrs. William Grimes announced this week the sale of Belmond Hotel to Gaylord Martin of Des Moines. Possession is to be given the new owner on Friday of next week. Mr. Martin is married and has a five-year-old son.

It is the plan of Mr. and Mrs. Grimes to return to Des Moines, where she will resume her former occupation as a realty agent and Mr. Grimes will likely return to auto mechanics.

Mr. Martin has lately been a police officer at Urbandale, a Des Moines suburb, and has had extensive experience as a law enforcement officer. He was assistant chief of police at Perry for seven years, for four years was a patrol officer at the Ankeny ordnance plant and he spent nine years with Solar Aircraft as a security officer.

Two win CGD prizes — again!

Whether this week's Cash Gift Day winners "pay the preacher" more regularly than some other folks, or if their good fortune has some other explanation, both admit to having previously been recipients of CGD prizes. Both picked up $25 awards at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday. John Velau of Klemme says he also won a Cash Gift Day prize just a year ago next month. This week's cash "plum" was no less than the third that has come Mrs. Martha Riekens' way. It just goes to show that "happy lightning" CAN strike more than once in the same place. Next week the award total will again be $400, divided into eight $25 prizes at 2:00 p. m. and four $50's at 3:00 o'clock.

HERE WE GO AGAIN!!

Last week I gave you a glance at how high the costs of our present sheriff's dept. is in ratio to comparitive sized counties.

I firmly believe that the office can handle the work load with a reduction of at least one and possibly two of the four now comprising the present staff. I do not think that the citizens of this county are so much more criminal minded or sinful than citizens of neighboring counties that the sheriff's department needs more personnel than equal size counties.

I believe cooperation between law enforcement agencies is a major factor in the deterent of crime, however, we have very capable police departments in our county and I believe they should handle their cities and towns without a sheriff taking over a case without their prior knowledge, approval, or request for assistance.

As for our highways, I believe men of the State Highway Patrol are the best qualified and equipped to handle any circumstance that may arise.

If elected, I will immediately advise these departments of my beliefs and that I will assist them in any way possible if requested — however, I will in no way try to take over their duties.

Our present sheriff has advocated the addition of another deputy to each county for the purpose of patroling our secondary roads. I am definitely against this, as most taxpayers would be if they were aware of the facts involved.

Our present department has costly equipment that isn't giving us taxpayers a decent return for our investment. For example — the radar set which has seen little use up until a few weeks ago. When it was used recently, the county was paying the mileage and wages for the sheriff's department to use the radar inside city limits. Instead of the money going into the county school fund it went to the city fund.

Here are two more counties to add to Calhoun and Pocahontas counties for comparison of the sheriff's departments, that I started last week to show all taxpayers how we've been paying the bill.

Humboldt County	1959
Mileage	$ 2,487.14
Total Cost	$11,864.12

Franklin County	1959
Mileage	$ 2,153.16
Total Cost	$12,048.29

Wright County	1959
Mileage	$ 4,200.09
Total Cost	$22,346.52

Citizens of Wright County — do you feel that we are so infested with criminals that our sheriff's department can justify a budget nearly double that of comparitive counties?

Local FB chiefs to state parley

Next Wednesday and Thursday will find Wright County Farm Bureau leaders attending a conference in Des Moines. In attendance will be Olaf Watne of Galt, president; Lyle Lewellyn of Galt, vice president and resolutions chairman; and Leo Woodley of Clarion, voting delegate; also, the area Farm Bureau fieldman.

The meeting, an annual summertime affair, has a two-fold purpose. The county president and the voting delegate will conduct official state business. The resolutions chairman and fieldman will discuss policy and policy development procedures.

The group will stay overnight at the Savery hotel.

Bond purchasing still on schedule

April investments in United States savings bonds in Wright county were $85,807, giving the county a four-month total of $537,576 for 41 per cent of its 1960 quota. This kept Wright still well ahead of its quota schedule.

Iowa's average for the first four months was 39 per cent of quota, compared with the national average of 34 per cent, both below Wright's achievement.

Robert L. Davison of Clarion, volunteer county chairman, said that April sales of E and H bonds throughout Iowa amounted to $10,985,386, lifting the state's January-April total to $59,851,147.

The chairman pointed out that, at the end of March, Iowa had the nation's best record in quota attainment; standings are not yet available for the first four months.

Four month sales and per cent of quotas reached are shown for other counties in this area: Hardin county, $809,762 for 48 per cent; Hamilton, $579,745 for 44 per cent; Webster, $1,043,804 for 41 per cent; Hancock, $407.092 for 37 per cent; Humboldt, $348,072 for 37 per cent; Franklin, $316,257 for 31 per cent; Cerro Gordo, $637.873 for 30 per cent.

Hormel plant tour arranged for 4-H

A tour of the George A. Hormel Company packing plant at Fort Dodge will be made by 200 to 300 Wright county farm project 4-H members, parents and leaders Friday morning of next week beginning at 9:00 o'clock.

Included in the tour will be inspection of the new hog immobilizer, the killing and cutting operation, and the processing facilities including the smoking and curing, canning and sausage operations.

Special exhibits showing the grading of hogs and the importance of quality in swine production will be on display.

All farm project 4-H members, parents and leaders are invited to to attend the tour, clubs in each township to arrange for their own transportation. All will meet at the main (south) gate of the Hormel plant at Fort Dodge at 9:00 a. m. The tour will last about an hour and a half.

Safety Rest Stop was 'brain child' of "Bob" Blecker

Several years back, Wright countians took considerable pride in the very favorable, nationwide publicity received by the Safety Rest Stop operated by the Wright County Peace Officers association.

During a long, holiday weekend, several thousand wayfarers availed themselves of the hospitality offered them at the Rest Stop — and went on their way refreshed. They also resumed their trips a bit more secure against the chance of a traffic accident, because of their restful pause.

This highly publicized Safety Rest Stop was a "brain child" of Sheriff Bob Blecker. It was also highly representative of his service to the public "above and beyond the call of duty" that has been characteristic of his five terms in office.

"These 'extras' that Bob Blecker has provided his constituents have been so numerous that they are now altogether too much taken for granted," is the belief of L. T. Trafford, Belmond mayor.

"Just as, in time, a county 'gets used to' a poor sheriff, Wright has gotten so accustomed to having an exceptionally good sheriff that the people don't appreciate their good fortune.

"But Wright county will be making a big mistake," Mr. Trafford declares, "if Bob Blecker should not be returned to office. Some solid thinking as to what he has meant to this county should be done by Republican voters before they consider rejecting his appeal for nomination to another term in office."

Land in soil bank must adhere to crop limitations

Farmers who have placed part of their cropland in the conservation reserve have an important crop acreage limitation to consider before completing their planting this spring, reminds the Wright county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

That limitation is the acreage of soil bank base crops that may be planted on the farm. In general, the soil bank base crops include the grains, row crops and oilseed crops.

When part of the cropland on a farm is placed under a conservation reserve contract there is a permitted soil bank base acreage established for the farm. The permitted acreage then becomes the maximum acreage for soil bank base crops that may be grown under the contract.

On farms where all the cropland has been placed in the program, the permitted acreage of crops for harvest is zero.

In addition to the limitation of acreage devoted to crop production, the contract also provides that the cropland retired through the conservation reserve must not be grazed nor a crop harvested from it, nor can non-crop land be brought into crop use.

The nature of the business and purpose of the corporation shall be to carry on the business of farming, dairying, truck and market gardening, horticulture, and of producing, merchandising and preserving all kinds of farm, dairy, fruit, vegetable and garden products; to propagate, grow, buy, sell and deal in, at wholesale and retail, flowers, shrubs, plants, trees, garden and greenhouse products; to build and operate houses, greenhouses, barns, warehouses, cellars, storage plants, retail and wholesale stores for the marketing of products; to breed, propagate, grow, process, refine, manufacture, alter, adulterate, buy and sell (either as wholesaler, agent, broker or retailer) any and all of the products or real or personal property; to manufacture, buy, sell stock foods, stock remedies, veterinary supplies and remedies, poultry supplies and remedies and all other commodities and items of personal property; to buy and sell livestock and poultry; to manufacture and deal in fertilizers, glue; to manufacture, quarry and excavate chemicals, mineral products and other personal property for use in agricultural and horticultural pursuits; to act as wholesaler, broker, agent, and to employ agents and servants; to perform any act, carry on or promote any business necessary or desirable in connection with any purpose stated or independently thereof which may be calculated to enhance the value of its rights or property; to deal in lands, buildings, machinery, equipment, warehouses, brokerages, agencies, branches and offices, factories, warehouses, processing and refining plants; inventions, improvements, formulae, trade names, trade-marks, copyrights and patents, licenses, tangible end intangible property; to incur and evidence indebtedness and give any type of security; to act as guarantor or surety; to own, hold and possess any and all kinds of tangible and intangible personal and real property and do any and all things necessary or desirable in connection with the business of the corporation; to do anything a natural person might do and conduct any of its business activities with the same force and effect as though said corporation were a natural person.

The amount of capital stock authorized is $400,000; divided into 400,000 shares of Common Stock of the par value of $1.00 each; to be issued only for cash or in exchange for property as by law provided.

The corporation commenced business on the 3rd day of May, 1960 and shall continue until May 3, 1980, with full right of renewal.

The corporation will be managed by a board of not less than one nor more than nine directors; the number thereof presently being fixed at four, who shall be Wm. H. Sheriff, Sr., Dorothy Sheriff, William Sheriff, Jr. — all of Goodell, Iowa, and Donald J. Sheriff of Thornton, Iowa, who will hold office until the first annual meeting of stockholders on the first Wednesday in December, 1961. Directors for each succeeding year will be elected by a majority vote of shares of stock at the annual stockholders' meeting to be held each year on the first Wednesday in December.

The officers of the corporation who will assist in conducting its affairs are Wm. H. Sheriff, Sr., President, William Sheriff, Jr., Vice President, Dorothy Sheriff, Secretary and Treasurer — the address of each of whom is Goodell, Iowa. Officers are to be elected and designated by the board of directors at the first meeting thereof following the annual meeting of stockholders on the first Wednesday of December of each year.

Private property of individuals, including that of stockholders, officers and directors, is and will be exempt from liability for the corporation's debts.

Northern Gas industrial register subject of advertising campaign

The Iowa Electric Light and Power company urges manufacturers in and around Belmond to take advantage of an advertising campaign which is putting the industrial potential of this area and the rest of the Northern Plains region in the national spotlight.

Cecil Carstens, division commercial manager, said area industries still have time to list their plant facilities in the Industrial Facilities Register, which is being compiled by Northern Natural Gas company of Omaha in cooperation with Iowa Electric Light and Power company and other utilities in Northern's service area.

The register is a file of electronically tabulated information on the manufacturing capacities of thousands of manufacturers in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, South Dakota and Kansas.

The local utility company, Northern, and other Northern utility customers are currently sponsoring an advertising program to offer the services of the facilities register to industrial purchasers throughout the country.

Mr. Carstens explained that the utility or Northern, upon inquiry, will furnish to any prospective purchaser without obligation a list of all manufacturing suppliers in the five-state area.

"We feel that the facilities register can be a great help in bringing new production orders to the existing industry in this area," Mr. Carstens said, "and we would like to have every plant in the area — small or large — listed in the register.

"We would also like to invite those companies which have previously listed their plant equipment in the facilities register and have since acquired new production equipment to add this information to the file."

THANKS!

As we close our 35th Hatchery season we feel that we should express our appreciation to the many poultry raisers who have made this another successful Hy-Line year.

Your faith in the poultry industry, we are sure, will be rewarded by a year of profitable business for you. Those who stay in year after year — raise large flocks and manage them carefully and efficiently know — there is good profit in the business when the years are averaged together.

Like any business, the poultry business has its ups and downs — we know because we've spent 35 years working with you. We confidently predict that this will be one of the UP years in poultry.

Sincerely

The Hensels

Reformed churches joining in missionary conference

Second Missionary Conference of the year is planned jointly by the Reformed churches of Belmond, Meservey, Alexander and Sheffield, to open Sunday and extend through Friday of next week.

Five speakers have been obtained to appear in the pulpits of the various churches:

Rev. Floyd V. Nagel is director of the Annville Institute, Annville, Ky., and the Alexander church helps in support of his work. He has served pastorates at Guilderland Center, N. Y., and at Newton, in Iowa. He's been directing the Christian school in Kentucky since 1959.

Jeane Noordhoff, a native of Alton and graduate of Northwestern Academy, Orange City, and Huron (S. D.) college, was commissioned as a missionary in 1911 and went to Japan in September of that year. Since her retirement in 1953 as an emeritus missionary she has been engaged extensively in speaking.

Maurice Te Paske is a practicing attorney at Sioux Center but does much work for the church. He is a present chairman of the Stewardship Council of the Reformed Church of America and is national secretary of the Reformed Church Brotherhood.

Dr. Maurice Heusinkveld, a native of Spring Valley, Minn., and graduate of Central college, Pella, has served as a medical missionary in Arabia. His wife, who graduated in nursing from the University of Minnesota, where Dr. Heusinkveld obtained his medical degree, has served in a similar capacity in Arabia.

Rev. Fred Buseman is pastor of a newly organized church at Cedar Rapids. Another Central college alumnus and also a graduate of New Brunswick (N. J.) Theological seminary, throughout his ministry he has worked in establishing new churches.

Schedule of these speakers' Belmond appearances is as follows: Bethany Reformed — Thursday, 8:00 p. m., Noordhoff; Friday, 2:00 p. m., Noordhoff and Heusinkveld, 7:30 p. m., Nagel and Buseman.

Immanuel Reformed — Sunday, 7:30 p. m., Nagel; Thursday, 9:30 a. m., Noordhoff, 10:30 a. m., Rev. Calvin Bergsnele, 7:30 p. m. Heusinkveld and Buseman.

Next Wednesday at the First Reformed church of Meservey, Miss Noordhoff will speak at 9:30 a. m., Mr Buseman at 10:30 a. m., Mr. Nagel and Dr. Heusinkveld in the evening starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Schedule for the Alexander Reformed church is: Sunday — 10:45 a. m., film, 7:30 p. m., Heusinkveld; Tuesday — 9:30 a. m. Noordhoff, 10:30 a. m., Heusinkveld, 7:30 p. m., Nagle and Buseman; Wednesday — Ladies Aid meeting, 2:00 p. m., Noordhoff.

Eleven receive drama citations

Eleven senior were given recognition for dramatics participation when honors were handed out at Monday evening's Senior Class Night. Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman presented certificates to the seniors who had appeared in no less than two plays.

Mrs. Hoffman was also responsible for citing the work of the school librarians. Recognized on that basis were Sylvia Rabe, Marlys Beavers, Shirley Davis, Kathy Norris and Marcia Stoltenberg.

COMING EVENTS —

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1—

Home Study club will meet at 8:00 p. m. at the home of Marjorie Simerson. Ruth Lonnevik will give the lesson "Planning a Wedding."

$25 GIFT TO HOSPITAL

Belmond Community hospital has received a gift of $25 from Olander Sandberg of Goodell in memory of his daughter, the late Edith Sandberg.

● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson of Iowa Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Arch White of Popejoy were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Middleton of Eagle Grove visited in the Dick Middleton home Sunday afternoon. They came especially to see their grandson, Marc, who is ill.

Neoma Johnson of Minneapolis, Minn., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Talferd Johnson, spent the weekend with Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Johnshoy and family in Spring Valley, Wis. On Sunday, the Johnsons attended the baptism of Rebecca Ann Johnshoy and also the dedication of the new educational wing of Rev. Johnshoy's church.

Mrs. Mell Hillsbury of Portland, Ore., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Vinnie Hubbard, at the William Heginger home. They visited relatives at Osage Sunday and at Swea City on Tuesday.

MONOGRAMS GIVEN MONDAY TO EIGHT CHEERLEADERS

Since the new addition was purchased a few years back by the city, the Aid paid $93.79 for fencing the new part. Six concolor firs were planted across the front of the new addition, a row of pyramidal lindens and flowering crab trees were planted on the north side and the east end was decorated with a hedge of lilacs.

This spring, eight junipers were planted, starting in the center of the west end; and on the brow of the hill, two cutleaf birch trees were planted.

Next in the Aid's plans is a square or rectangle of junipers or other low evergreens and possibly some marble statuary. Plans for the east portion of the addition have not been developed; but those already on paper will call for the expenditure of several hundred dollars, particularly if any statuary is included.

Donations continue to be a needed source of Cemetery Aid funds. Recent donations have been received in the memory of Mrs. Mary Fitts, D. L. Rankins and George Thompson.

TWO RECITALS PLANNED

Music pupils of Maxine Jenison will appear in two recital programs at the Methodist church, the first to be Friday of next week, June 3, and the second the following Monday, June 6. Both are scheduled for 8:00 p. m.

DIPPEL'S LEAVE ENDS

Sgt. Duane Dippel concluded a 20-day leave Sunday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dippel, and returned to his U. S. Marine base in Quantico, Va. He has almost completed six years of service.

Mary Ennen married May 14 to Ronald Beier

Miss Mary Ennen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Ennen, and Ronald Beier were married Saturday evening, May 14, at the Methodist church at Klemme with Rev. Melvin Miller officiating. The immediate families were in attendance.

The couple will live in Mason City where both are employed.

Theodore Kessler dies at 81 years

Graveside rites were held at Belmond cemetery Monday for Theodore L. Kessler, 81, of Riceville, brother of John Kessler. Rev. M. L. Jones of the Methodist church officiated. Funeral services were held earlier in the day at the Riceville Methodist church.

Theodore Leo Kessler was one of six children born to George and Elizabeth Kessler. He was born Feb. 16, 1879, at LaSalle, Ill. He was only 12 when the family moved near Belmond; and in 1935 he moved to Elma.

On April 24, 1906, Mr. Kessler wed Alice Saatoff. Eleven children were born to them; two died in infancy and a son Walter died at the age of 22.

Mr. Kessler retired from farming in 1948, at which time he and his wife moved to Riceville to make their home with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Kessler. After a prolonged period of ill health, he died Saturday of last week.

Surviving in addition to his widow, his brother John and a sister, Mrs. Henry Schultz of Clear Lake, are the following children: Mrs. John (Elizabeth) Gruis, Thornton; Rank, Merle and Ervin of Riceville; Mrs. Henry (Greone) Timmerman, Eagle Grove; Raymond, Meservey; Leonard, Lime Springs; and Mrs. Ed (Sylvia) Voyna, Charles City.

Mr. Kessler also leaves 16 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

WOMEN'S CLUB SEEKS MEMBERS FOR '60-61

Belmond Women's club is currently welcoming members for the 1960-61 club year. Mrs. Ervin Smith, club president, says dues will be accepted up to the time of the general meeting scheduled for June 6. Dues will not be payable after that date.

Prospective members who would like more information regarding one of the activity groups are invited to call the chairman of the group in which they are interested.

The final meeting for the year was held Wednesday evening of last week at the Blue Bell tea room by the Literary Round Table division of the Women's Federated club.

The group met for a 6:30 o'clock dinner followed by entertainment conducted by Rhea Campbell. Plans were made and dues paid for the coming year with Cecelia Holtzbauer as chairman.

A gift was presented to Marcella Halfwassen in appreciation of her work as this year's chairman.

Doris Nelson installed as sorority president

Beta Sigma Phi sorority members held their Founders' Day dinner May 2nd at the Blue Bell tea room. This was followed by a Ritual of Jewels ceremony for Donna Goeman, Shirley Pals and Diane Hanson.

The annual Mother's Day breakfast was held on Mother's Day at the Blue Bell tea room with each mother or guest receiving the gift of a geranium plant.

The sorority's spring picnic was held May 17th at the swimming pool shelter house. Installation of officers was held later at the home of Elaine Sharp with the following receiving office — Doris Nelson, president; Genn Monson, vice president; Carol Ann Waddington, recording secretary; Jo Ann Dorr, treasurer; Diane Hanson, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Ed Frohling hostess last week to G. E. M. club

G. E. M. club met at the home of Mrs. Ed Frohling last Thursday evening. Guests were Mrs. Ralph Turner, Mrs Eugene Nelson and Mrs. Howard Shahan. The evening was spent playing 500 with high score going to Mrs. "Coonie" Smith, second high to Mrs. Ed Stoffer and low to Mrs. Henry Nuehring. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Bridge-golf scores reported by ladies of country club

Sylvia Tyrrell was high score winner for bridge Tuesday afternoon at the ladies meeting of Clarmond Country club. Jo Meyer of Dows was second high winner and Eva Larson was third high.

Ione Zeigler received low prize in golf and Rose Matsler a prize for having the most sevens in her score, both ladies are from Clarion.

Local folks go to St. Ansgar to help celebrate birthday

Mrs. Julius Johnson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Christianson and Pam to St. Ansgar Sunday where they joined with others to help celebrate the 3rd birthday of Reece Hoelscher at a picnic.

Others present were the Robert Hoelscher family of Byron, Minn., Mrs. Irene Hoelscher and Walter Janssen of Iowa Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gruis and Mickey of Garner and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hall and daughter of Sheffield.

ENGAGEMENT and approaching marriage of their daughter Rita to Dwight Daniels is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schroder of Dows. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Daniels of Belmond. June 24 has been chosen as date of the ceremony.

HAROLD HEINZIG GRADUATES

Rev. and Mrs. William Heinzig, accompanied by their son Bill, on Wednesday went to Dubuque to witness the graduation of their son Harold from Wartburg Theological seminary. He has completed a four-year course in theoretical and practical theology.

COMING EVENTS—

FRIDAY, MAY 27—

Cemetery Aid Society will meet with Mrs. George Elder.

THURSDAY, JUNE 2—

WSCS of the Methodist church will meet at 2:00 p. m. at the church. Worship leader is Mrs. Lloyd Fuller and lesson leader is Mrs. Glen Musselman. Committee: Mesdames William Sheriff, Ed Riggs, John Spitler, Keith Wiggins, Leslie Whipple, Luverne Smith, Harry Sorenson, Len Sheldon, William Stadtlander, Paul Steenblock, Ed Stoffer, Arlo Stoltenberg. Nursery — Mrs. Cleo Wilson.

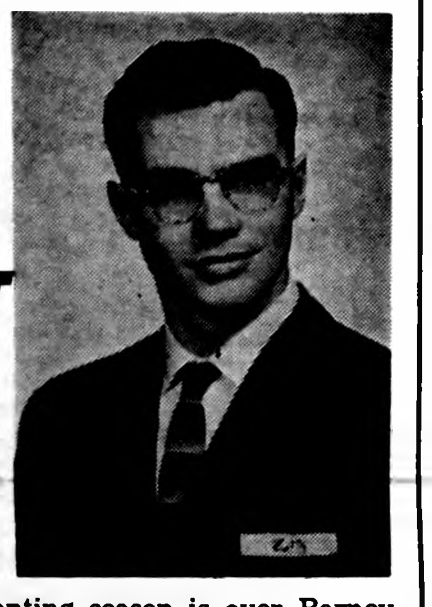
JOE TRIPLETT SEZ:



As soon as the planting season is over Barney Koenen and Harold Simerson are two fellows that will be off to the fishing grounds. They won't be the only two doing it either. I wouldn't mind going along myself and help catch the "big one that got away." Another job that will have even more pleasurable results this fall is sidedressing that corn.

Boo! Go on! Get out of here! You're just trying to get some more of my money! That's a sample of what some folks will say when I mention sidedressing their corn. Especially after putting all that manure on last fall. The corn that should be sidedressed with some additional fertilizer is that that had no fertilizer plowed down last fall or spring and/or that that needs some additional nitrogen.

What fertilizer is the best to sidedress with? That question is not as funny as it may sound. Those who have plowed down some fertilizer may get by with only additional nitrogen. 32% nitrogen is a very good material for that purpose. However, where no other fertilizer has been applied except with the planter as a starter a complete mixed fertilizer high in nitrogen will pay the best money at harvest time. Ris-Van Liquid 14-7-7 is an excellent fertilizer for this purpose. The additional phosphorus and potash help complete a more balanced fertilizer program in this instance

To determine how much material to apply, an absolute minimum of 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre is recommended. However, 40 to 60 pounds of actual nitrogen will give greater profits. 150 to 200 pounds of 32% nitrogen or 300 pounds of 14-7-7 per acre will put the nitrogen rates in that range.

The time of sidedressing application that is most beneficial to the corn plants is at the time they have just emerged from the soil. It may be done up until the corn is too tall to drive a tractor through the field.

Sidedressing with R-V Liquid Fertilizer material can be easily applied with the corn planter if it has liquid attachments. Just offset the planter behind the tractor. If this is done while cultivating, a trip over the field can be eliminated. For those of you who don't have the planter attachments or just want to use a sidedress applicator R-V has several that we can let you use or pull for you if you are busy.

Those of you folks that would like to brag about that "big corn crop that didn't get away" this fall sidedress it with Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer and make it a sure thing. If I don't get out to see you call me on the phone, the No. is 201, and you can be sure I'll say

Get Ris-Van, Man,

THAT'S FERTILIZER.

Veterinary Medicine

The magnitude of activities of veterinarians has been revealed in a recent survey. It shows that there about 12-thousand practicing veterinarians who are concerned with the health of 700-million animals in this country. Those 12-thousand practicing veterinarians represent about 66 per cent of the total number. About 13 per cent of all veterinarians are engaged in small animal practice. The survey also shows that on an average, there is one veterinarian for an approximate total of a thousand horses, cattle, sheep and swine. In addition, veterinarians inspect meat, test dairy cows, help enforce pure food and milk laws, supervise production of 150-million dollars worth of biological products and drugs, and are engaged in medical research.

Timely Health Hints . . .

Move all pigs and breeding animals out on good clean legume pasture. This allows the dry lots to rest for 3 or 4 months, to break up disease cycles on the farm. Frequent discing of the old lots during the summer greatly aids sanitation.

VACCINATE all pigs for hog cholera and erysipelas. Do not be lulled into a false security because you didn't hear about any hog cholera in your area last year. The swine industry is overdue for a large scale hog cholera epidemic. It is still the number one swine killer in the U. S. A.

Creep feed those lambs and calves for faster gains, Contact your local feed dealer for creep rations that are palatable and yet economical.

Win 4 firsts in Class A meet—

Broncs take state track title

Scoring in every event in which they had qualified, Belmond's track and field experts made a walk-away of the Class A state outdoor meet Saturday at the East High track, Des Moines. When final team totals had been figured, Belmond rested in first place with 41 points and Clarion was in second with 26 5/8.

This was the same order in which the two Wright county rivals had finished in the Class A state indoor meet. Clarion had won the outdoor title a year ago with 27½ points but didn't have a foe of the Broncos' calibre to contend with then.

Score in nine events

Following the leaders were: Red Oak 23 1/8, Sac City 22½, Corning 22 1/8, Saydel 15, Cherokee 14, Humboldt and Monticello each 11, Osage 10, Algona 9, North Scott 8, Clear Lake and Eagle Grove each 7. Fifty Class A teams had entries in the meet and 34 figured in the scoring.

Belmond had both front-line strength and depth that none of its opponents could match. Besides placing in nine events — exactly half of the total on the program — the Class A champions won four of those events.

Four first places

Individual champs were: Larry Kramer in the mile run, Dave Suntken in the 220-yard dash and Bob Whipple in the football throw. Belmond's other 1st was posted by the mile relay team consisting of Suntken, Bob O'Connor, Lynn Jenison and Mike Long.

Kramer gained sweet revenge over John Raveling of Saydel in the mile for the defeat Raveling had handed Larry at the Drake Relays. The Saydel star set a killing pace for three quarters of the race with the obvious intent of leaving Kramer too exhausted to sprint to victory at the finish.

Kramer bests AA time

When Raveling expanded his lead to nearly 15 yards during the third lap, Bronco followers began to wonder if "Butch" would have the kick needed to win, after taking up all that slack. However, he was on Raveling's heels as they went into the last curve and Raveling couldn't stave off Larry's determined bid on the home stretch. Kramer's 4:29.6 time on the soggy track was six-tenths of a second faster than the Class AA time.

Suntken had been left behind as a questionable start sent the 100-yard dashmen from their blocks and took only 5th in that event. He also had to settle for a disappointing 4th in the high jump with a leap of only 5-5½. It was clear in the 220 that he was determined to make amends and he finished 1st in the longer dash by a good 10 yards. Considering the intermittent rain that hampered the runners considerably, his time of 23 seconds was excellent.

Whipple surprise winner

Although Bob Whipple had had the 2nd best qualifying distance in the district meets, his 1st place in the football throw came as a general surprise. His best toss of 214 ft. 4 in. was his second best of the year and enabled him to beat out Vince Hanson of Clarion for the championship.

Mike Long was the other point-getter in the field events, chalking up two points for a 4th in the broad jump. His leap of 20 ft. 8½ in. was the best of his career and added three inches to the BHS record he'd set earlier in the season.

Biggest disappointment of the day for the Broncos was failure of the medley relay team to win its specialty. It was the first time in Class A competition that Belmond hadn't won this event during the current season. The race was lost when Lynn Jenison was severely buffeted by other runners coming in for the final baton exchange and Belmond fell behind by five or 10 more yards than would otherwise have been the case.

Raveling, anchoring for Saydel, was given a sizeable lead over Kramer as the wind-up 880 was started. Larry made up most of the deficit but Raveling finally finished a stride or two ahead in 3:44.6 compared to the Broncos' time of 3:44.8. Though a track-side watch credited Kramer with 2:06 half, Coach Jack Steinberg clocked him closer to 2:01, which was probably the more accurate figure.

Lady Luck evened things out, though, in the mile relay. Belmond led throughout three laps and into the home stretch of the fourth when it appeared Larry Mohler of Clarinda might nudge Mike Long out of 1st place in the final few yards. Only a few strides from the tape, though, Mohler lost his baton and his team was disqualified on that count. As matters developed, Mike lunged asead by a matter of inches after Mohler's costly bobble.

Suntken put the mile team into a comfortable lead, but O'Connor was sharply challenged on the back stretch of his lap and had to sprint for all he was worth to beat his opponent off. He got the job done, though, by the time the second turn was reached and gave Jenison a margin of four or five yards. "Jenny" added one or two more to the advantage before passing the baton on to Long.

BHS record in mile relay

Belmond's winning time of 3:33.3 was seven-tenths of a second better than the same foursome's BHS mark set at the Dodger Relays.

Rounding out the Bronco's point total was a third place achieved by the two-mile relay team. Although Vernon Pastour ran a decent 2:12 opening 880, Belmond was back far enough to leave in doubt the prospect that the Broncos might pick up needed points in the event.

Robbie Courson ran a fine second half-mile and brought Belmond up into third position. Neither Bob O'Connor nor Lynn Jenison were able to challenge North Scott or Cherokee, well in the lead, but they fought off the efforts of all other rivals to jeopardize 3rd place. The Broncos' time was a very respectable 8:36 and a fraction.

By adding the outdoor championship and mile relay trophies to their collection, the Broncos ended up with a total of 30 for the track season. An even two dozen were for victories in relay events; the other six represented team titles in the two state meets, North Iowa conference meet, Dodger, Humboldt and Bronco Relays.

V. Pastour stars as Junior Broncs take 3rd in meet

Vernon Pastour won the 180-yard low hurdles and 880-yard run, took second in the 220-yard dash and tied for second in the broad jump to make by a large margin the biggest individual contribution to Belmond's 50½-point total in last week's North Iowa conference freshman-sophomore track meet. His efforts accounted for 19½ of the Junior Broncos' team score at Buffalo Center.

As reported last week, Britt easily won the meet with 89 points. Osage finished ahead of Belmond, also, with 60½; then came Garner with 37, Buffalo Center with 34½, Northwood 26½, Forest City 11 and Lake Mills 4.

In both the low hurdles and half mile, Pastour established new frosh-soph records with times of :22.2 and 2:12.5, respectively. Vernie could very well have had a first place in the 220, also, but he was not in the same heat with the winner and got nosed out on a time basis.

Second places were won by Belmond entries, as follows: Merrill Kalkwarf, shot put, 37 ft. 7 in.; Bob Burk, discus, 105 ft. 5 in.; and Dennis Gallagher, mile run, 5:14.4.

Randy Braner took 4th in the shot put and 5th in the football throw; Burk tied for 3rd in the pole vault and Dennis Hauge tied for 5th; Bill Heinzig took 3rd in the 440.

Belmond relay teams placed as follows: two-mile (Dennis Steenblock, Dennis Stecher, Doug Steenblock, Tom Lerdal), 3rd; 880-yard relay (Ray Roberts, Dennis Hauge, Bob Burk, John Kaduce), 4th; medley (Steve Schroeder, Kaduce, Heinzig, Gallagher), 5th; mile relay (Hauge, Burk, Heinzig, Kaduce), 4th.

In a special 440-yard relay for junior high teams, Belmond took fifth on the running of Daryl Suntken, Bob Misner, Neal Waddington and Keith Sheller.

Twenty-four track men win varsity monograms

Coach Rich Koolbeck at Monday evening's Class Night program presented Honor B's to what may have been a record number of Belmond High school track and field athletes. Twenty-four boys qualified for monograms, including an even dozen seniors.

Heading the 1960 squad, which by all odds was the finest in BHS history, was Larry Kramer — a letter-winner for the fourth time. He was one of the few Belmond runners ever to earn four varsity letters in this sport and fully lived up to the future predicted for him when he was an outstanding miler as a freshman.

Virtually on a par with Kramer were three boys who lettered for a third time in track — Dave Suntken, Mike Long and Lynn Jenison. Though their performances were perhaps a bit less outstanding, their versatility marked all three among Iowa's finest high school track and field stars.

Also a letter-winner for the third time was Dean Pals, a dependable contributor of points in the discus throw and winner of more than a few first places in that event. Mark Mason also won a third letter, although he did not participate as extensively in track this season as in his junior year.

Winners of monograms for a second time, among the seniors, were Dennis Pastour, Roger Ginapp and John Murray. And first letters in track went to Randy Musselman, Larry Tideback and Stan Brandmeyer.

Half of the eight juniors who lettered were doing so for the second time — Bob O'Connor, Bob Whipple, Dennis Anderson and Kay Stecher. A stand-out among the boys lettering for the first time was Robbie Courson, a highly promising half-miler who along with O'Connor helped put a new BHS two-mile relay record on the books.

Other juniors qualifying for their first track letter were Jay Mennenga, Paul Thompson and Jerry Jenison.

Bob Whipple was one of the state's best performers in the football throw this season and O'Connor filled in ably on any of the Bronco's three strongest relay quartets — the two mile, mile or medley.

Vernon Pastour earned his second letter, though only a sophomore, and stamped himself as possessing potential versatility equal to that of Suntken, Long and Lynn Jenison. He runs exceptionally well at any distance from 100 to 880 yards and also displayed outstanding skill as a broad-jumper.

Letters went to two other sophomores, Bob Burk and Dennis Steenblock. Only freshman to earn a varsity monogram was Dennis Gallagher, who ran regularly in varsity meets as a miler.

Although Belmond will have half of its letter veterans returning next spring for more competition, Coach Koolbeck declares his 1961 squad will by a wide margin lack the all-around strength of this spring's aggregation.

He anticipates, nevertheless, that some of the individuals will rank among the state's very best in their particular specialties and provide local track fans with another interesting season.

NOW LOOK WHAT CORVAIR'S GONE AND DONE!

The same Corvair that tallied a thumping 27.03 miles per gallon* in the Mobilgas Economy Run . . . went right on to climb Pikes Peak earlier in the spring than any car has ever tried!

We wanted to show you what the fabulous traction of Corvair's rear-engine design and the surefootedness of four-wheel independent suspension really mean. So the identical Economy Run car went right on to 14,110-foot Pikes Peak—and right up to the top of that savage mountain, on April 15, still deep in winter's snow and ice. No other car—even specially equipped—had ever been able to conquer that nightmare alpine road so early in the spring. But Corvair (with United States Auto Club officials aboard to certify that not one nut or bolt was changed) purred right to the summit without chains or even snow tires! That just underscores the fact that Corvair is totally unique. But you'll find that out the first five minutes you're at the wheel!

What will be, 15 years hence?—

Prophecy predicts grads' futures

The class prophecy for the great Belmond High School Class of 1960 will be a report of the occupations and pastimes we find the graduates of the class of '60 participating in. The year is 15 years hence — 1975.

The first now famous graduate we find is Rich McLaughlin. Rich now lives in Georgia. He owns a rubber-band factory. He is stretching his money. Gary Ruka is working for Rich. Gary is the band leader.

Tom Quigley is now a bookkeeper. He keeps all the books he can find; he has the largest library in the state.

Terry Kuhlers is still undecided on what he wants to do for a living. He is currently writing a book titled "How to Pick Your Occupation."

We find Dean Pals sorting pickles in his own Super Valu store. Dean does all sorts of work.

In New York we find a nationally famous foot doctor. Doctor Bruce Leinbach charges by the foot.

Now a nurse in Bellevue Sanitarium in New Your City is Diane Haugland. She sews up torn padded walls.

Larry Kramer is Mike's assistant coach. Larry especially enjoys cleaning out the girls' locker room after practice.

Stan Brandmeyer now is taking graduate work in the Podunk College for Advanced Garbage Collectors. We are glad Stan is always trying to do better in his work.

Linda Hauge is a happy mother. She married an only child, and they now have 18 children — nine sets of twins.

Merle Robbins is now a barber. He shaves an average of 35 head a day at $2 a head, but he doesn't like shearing sheep too well.

Ron Thompson has the distinction of being the only royalty of the class of '60. He was recently crowned king of the hobos at the Britt Hobo Day.

Walt Hotvet is a tree surgeon. He is constantly out on a limb.

Rachel Kennedy and Marjorie Koenen now own and operate their own beauty salon. They have invented a new ultra-fast hairdryer. The first three ladies to use it were burned to death.

Jerry Kaduce has been a rock-n-roll star, but rock-n-roll left the American scene eight years ago, so Jerry now splices busted guitar strings.

Barbara Beenken is now married and living on a farm. She has three lovely daughters and three handsome pigs.

Linda Wolters is also married, but it is not known how many children she has, though. She hasn't been able to get them all in one room long enough to count them.

Professor Gordie Johnson is teaching pig latin to the pigs at the ISU College of Agriculture.

Larry Tideback plans tours of Disneyland for foreign dignitaries

Lynn Jenison is an aeronautical engineer. He is the first man to design and build a plane that travels faster than the speed of light. It is not known whether it works or not because no one has been able to see it.

Leola Mason was a false teeth inspector, but she got fired for gumming up the works. She is also married.

Connie Swenson is happily married and has four children. In her spare time she is trying to figure out how to get more spare time.

Marlin Stoltenberg and Randy Musselman are partners in a Super Valu store. Their special for this week is one free package of dehydrated grass free with every three pound can of instant green algae.

Gladys Steenblock, Sharyl Stille, and Pat Carter are busy at work in their office in Los Angeles. They are those three famous detectives whose office is located at 77 Stripdown Set.

Dennis Pastour and Jim Crotty are valve operators at a Texas oil well site. We are told they a couple of slick operators.

John Murray is taking a trip around the world. He is now in Paris. To earn some extra money John is working for the French underground. Right now he is checking the water flow in the Paris sewers.

Jim Pals is teaching dramatics to puppets in New York.

Carol Kurtz and Eloise Soma are partners in a cafe. Their specialty is large pizza. Their largest so far is a two acre one made for an Italian family reunion.

Adolph Ehresmann and Richard Swenson are partners in a boat factory. They have invented the first rowboats with automatic oars. They had an oarable time doing it.

Kate McLaughlin and Bonnie Nolan are fashion models in New York City. They are currently modeling the new bust adjuster for heavy-set women.

Mark McNulty is the happy owner of McNulty's Gym. Everyone who goes shows a marked improvement.

David Suntken owns a dairy farm. Besides holding the world record in the hundred yard dash, set while he was in college, Dave also holds the world milking record for Jersey Cows.

Clark McNeal is a United States Senator. The recently passed McNeal Bill has provided for a maximum five-hour work week and a minimum 40-hour recreation week Our thanks to Clark.

Mike Goecke, Tim Dows, and Dennis Barkema are entertainers. They are known as the "Happy Three." We don't know why they are so happy. We haven't been able to get them out of the bar long enough to find out.

Here's a note just handed to me. Mark Mason, chemical engineer for the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C., has touched off an explosion which disintegrated the entire institute. He was reported to have been working on a new brand of insect spray.

GOOD LUCK EVERYONE!!!!!

Class of '60 divulges future plans—

Over half seniors to seek more education

More than half of the members of the BHS Class of '60 plan to continue their educations, according to a preview of their future intentions published in Hoofbeats, the student newspaper. Of the 66 seniors graduating, 32 have college in mind and another half dozen are going into nursing, will take a business course or undertake some other kind of advanced training.

Dennis Barkema — farm.

Barbara Beenken — get married and live on a farm.

Cathy Bonte — go to Minneapolis School of Art and later hope to become a fashion designer.

Stan Brandmeyer — after I graduate from college, I plan to try to teach history and math.

Shirlene Busick — work in Des Moines for a year or two, then get married.

Pat Carter — be a medical technician.

Mary Cox — attend Shimer college.

Jim Crotty — be in some kind of business (white-collar job).

Tim Downs — work on a farm.

Adolph Ehresmann — Navy.

Carol Finn — go to Mason City Junior college and take up medical technology or medical sec.

Nancy Gallagher — go to Grinnell college.

Roger Ginapp — plan to go on to college and major in physical education; I do not know where.

Linda Hauge — go to St. Olaf college.

Veloice Henn — be a receptionist.

Walt Hotvet — go to college; undecided where.

Lynn Jenison — attending Iowa State university at Ames for at least four years. After that — who knows!!!

Gordon Johnson — go to Luther college.

Miram Pals (Kalkwarf) — housewife.

Jerry Kaduce — undecided.

Rachel Kennedy — go to beauty school.

Marjorie Koenen — go to Hamilton college and become an accountant.

Larry Kramer — go to college either at Oklahoma or Iowa State.

Carole Kurtz — go to college; undecided where.

Bunny McKinney — go to college; undecided where.

Kathryn McLaughlin — undecided.

Clark McNeal — go to college for at least the next four years, Cornell at Mt. Vernon.

Leola Mason — get married June 10.

Mark Mason — attend Iowa State university and major in chemical engineering. May take graduate work in metallurgy.

Betty Mennenga — go to college and later be an accountant.

John Murray — attend ISTC so that I'll have a job to fall back on and then travel around the world.

Randy Musselman — probably go to the Navy.

Bonnie Nolan — attend Marycrest college in Davenport.

Ardith Pals — go to Central college and take up elementary teaching.

Dean Pals — continue working at P&G.

James Pals — go to ISTC this fall.

Dennis Pastour — go to college; undecided where.

Gary Porter — go to college at SUI, major in music.

Tom Quigley — go to college and take up a business course. Then I hope to get into the accounting profession.

Merle Robbins — be a barber and then join the Air Force.

Gary Ruka — go to ISU and major in chemical technology.

Charles Soma — farm.

Eloise Soma — work; then go to college and become something in the line of medical work.

David Steenblock — go to Hamilton Business college and become an accountant or C. P. A.

Gladys Steenblock — go to work in an office or some other kind of work.

Sharyl Stille — undecided.

Marlin Stoltenberg — join the Navy or go to business school.

Connie Swenson — keep the Job I have as secretary.

Richard Swenson — go into the service or work.

Russell Tendall — (no report).

Ronald Thompson — attend AIB in Des Moines and take up accounting.

Larry Tideback — go to college; undecided where.

Shirley Tripp — work and later get married.

Susan Watne — work!

Linda Wolters — get married.

B.H.S. musicians given recognition

Honors were awarded both instrumental and vocal musicians of BHS at Monday evening's Class Night program, the citations being given by Maurice Fahrney and Ivan Kortkamp, respectively.

Top honor was that given Gary Porter for having amassed 1,400 points during four years' participation in instrumental music as a band member, with ensembles and as a soloist. His name will be inscribed on a plaque with those of earlier students honored for similar accomplishments.

Gary's band work also earned him a pin, as did the efforts of Clark McNeal, Bonnie Nolan, Dwight Mennenga and Nadyne Johnson. Music letters for earning no less than 400 band points went to: Gailen Vanness, Wilbur Kuhlers, Kenny Johnson, Linda Pickle and Marcia Stoltenberg.

Pins for earning Division I ratings in state music competition for solo instrumentalists were received by: Randi Dahlgran, Ronnie Heykants, Loree Baker, Dwight Mennenga and Sharon Christensen.

Similar pins for "superior" state ratings in vocal music were earned by Ardith Pals and Kathy Finn as soloists; also members of the boys double quartet and mixed quartet. All members of the a cappella choir also earned the right to wear state pins by virtue of the Division I rating that the choir received in the state contest.

Future Homemaker awards presented

Ninteen Future Homemakers of America were rewarded with trips to Iowa State university's Veishea celebration and another 17 earned FHA emblems for Homemaker activities during the school year just ending. These girls were cited for their FHA activities by Kay Robison, their advisor, at Monday evening's Class Night exercises.

Those who made the Veishea trip were: seniors — Betty Mennenga, Cathy Bonte, Ardith Pals, Kate McLaughlin; juniors — Barbara Mussleman, Nadyne Johnson, Diane Fetrow, Marcia Stoltenberg, Theresa Lowenberg, Sharon Christensen, Lynne Boller, Linda Pickle.

Sophomore — Jane Studebaker; freshmen — Nikki Killius, Carolyn Wenzel, Janis Mennenga, Vicki Pals, Bonnie Rogalla and Marilyn Peterson. Points for club activities, serving as officers or on committees, completing personal projects and scholarship counted toward the trip and also the emblems.

History of Class of 1960 told

David Bergman, Dan Boone, Shirlene Busick, Mary Lu Cox, Jeff Hansen, Larry Tideback, Jerry Kaduce, Bruce Leinbach, Mark McNulty, John Murray, Randy Musselman, Dean Pals, Jim Pals, David Steenblock.

Well, we all made it through kindergarten in grand style. Little did we realize the wonderful friends who were to join us in our quest for an education. Our first grade year brought in the following people:

Second grade saw the loss of two of our members, who returned later. Our friends Larry Kramer and Mark McNulty attended school at other places, but three others decided to ride the '60 bandwagon with us. They were Nancy Gallagher, Tom Quigley and Richard Swenson.

Mary Lu Cox moved to Des Moines during our third grade year, but again others joined us to raise our number higher. They were: Leola Mason, Bonnie Nolan, Marcia Moore and Duane Dorenkamp.

Fourth grade introduced to our group still more of the present Class of '60. Linda Stevens, Barbara Beenken and Merle Robbins joined us and are in the present class. Leslie Smock and Joyce Widdle joined us for a few years. Bonnie Mack and Glenda Martin left us that year.

Larry Kramer decided that fifth grade would be a fine time for him to return to BHS for good, and he did just that. He found Gary Ruka, Diane Crimmings, Adolph Ehresmann, Eloise Soma, Roger Ginapp and Mark Mason were to join his class for the first time.

The reorganization of school districts prior to our sixth grade year obtained many new faces, more than ever before had joined us in a single year. Mary Lu Cox returned from Des Moines, and Mark McNulty rejoined us after three years in country school.

The new faces this year were: Pat Carter, Marjorie Koenen, Betty Mennenga, Ardith Pals, Lynn Jenison, Dennis Pastour, David Suntken, Ronald Thompson, Rachel Kennedy, Carol Finn, Linda Hauge, Miriam Kalkwarf and Terry Kuhlers.

Junior High sounded very important to all of the members of the seventh grade class as we continued our climb to the year 1960. It began to be evident that the class had a good deal of athletic ability in it as our boys took the field for their first football and basketball games.

Eighth grade saw the addition of Adolph Ehresmann and Carmen Kelly to our group, but the class lost Mary Brady, David Dorr and Emmett Studebaker.

The great moment arrived that we had been promoted into high school. The class was getting the feel of importance more now than ever. Lynn Jenison headed our class as president. During his administration Shirley Tripp and Bunny McKinney were added to our group.

The sophomores of 1958 were headed by President Larry Kramer. The class underwent some change in that Tim Downs returned and Mike Goecke joined us for the first time. Leslie Smock and Carmen Kelley left us that year.

The junior year of the Class of '60 was, of course, filled with work in order to obtain sufficient funds to throw a banquet for the seniors. It was, without a doubt the finest banquet that BHS has ever known. Much credit is due President Nancy Gallagher and her staff for the smooth coordination they instigated in their work.

The class lost Ilene Miller, Larry Crotty, Marcia Moore and Jeff Hansen, but gained Susan Watne.

The second year of our upperclassmanship has been one that has shown the wonderful potential of members of this class. It has excelled in athletics, music and scholarship. The class gained Stanley Brandmeyer, but lost Merle Anderson.

This completes the present total of 66 seniors on this day of May 22, 1960.

Many park improvements made as joint project

A report drafted by a committee representing Belmond's three Federated Women's clubs last week outlined improvements that have been made in the city park over a period of the past 3½ years under the joint auspices of those clubs.

Mrs. R. B. Thompson, by whom the report was submitted to The Independent, states that approximately $1,360 was spent on these improvements, of which $1,050 was appropriated during that time by the city council for expenditure under the clubs' program.

Other money came from memorials and like sources. In addition, Mrs. Thompson noted, services have been donated by various citizens that enabled the funds available to achieve a maximum amount of good.

Funds were spent for the following purposes: four new picnic tables were purchased and the older tables were painted; two permanent charcoal grills were installed; three additional trash cans were provided and all the cans were painted; regular pick-up of trash was arranged; five steel benches were purchased and another three permanent, cement benches were installed.

Twenty-five dead or spindle-like trees were removed from the park; seven other trees were removed from the south parking, providing an area which — when graded and graveled, could be utilized as a block of additional parking space easily available to the business district.

Evergreen plantings were made in two corners and the center of the park; approximately another 25 new trees were planted, plus numerous shrubs, to the end of having varying color in the park during all the seasons of the year.

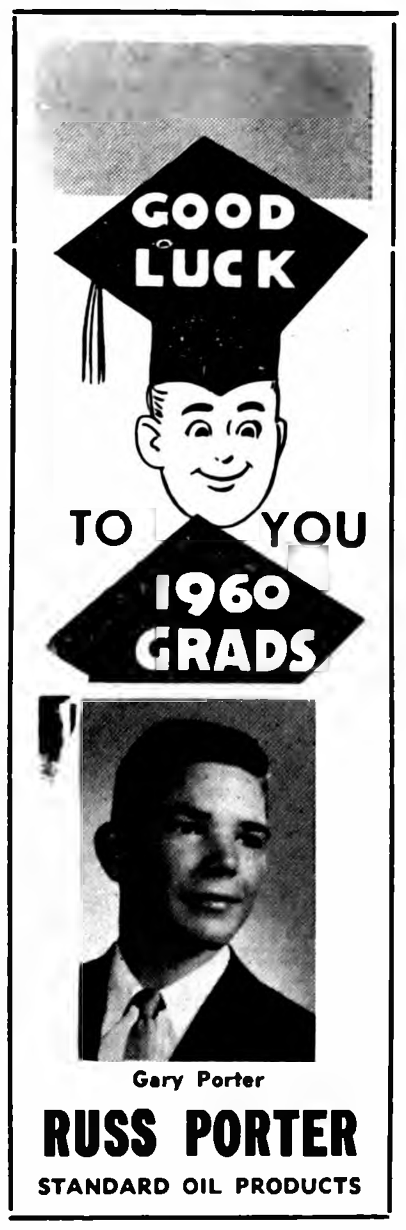
Eight of the above trees were donated and are marked in memory of the following: Fred Fulton, W. H. Trafford, Louie Tokman, Vernon Watson, B. C. Hewlett, Dr. H. J. Classick, Clark McNeal and Annette Swenson. Friends provided the purchase price of these trees that they might serve as living memorials.

Four trees were also planted by the clubs on the city library lawn—"a flowering crab tree for spring beauty, a mountain ash for summer glory, a skyline locust for fall coloring, and a pin oak to give color during both autumn and winter."

Three trees were planted in El-Mar park, the play area of Kirkendall Addition, as a first step to provide shade in future years for that recreation area.

Somewhat bitterly, the club report noted, "Mention might be made of over 100 hedge plants that were planted around the tennis court and bandstand, but never made any progress due to the park custodian's lawnmower coming too close to them."

Mrs. Thompson observed that the culprit with the careless lawnmower is no longer in the city's employ.



GOOD LUCK

New oat support price for county set at 48 cents

Price of 1960-crop oats in Wright county will be supported at 48 cents a bushel for Grade No. 3, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today.

Price support on oats will be carried out, as in previous years, through loans on farm-stored and warehouse-stored oats and through purchase agreements. Support will be available from harvest time this summer through next Jan. 31.

To be eligible for support, oats must grade No. 3 or better or No. 4 on the factor of test weight only. There will be a premium of one cent a bushel for Grade No. 2 or better, or for heavy test weight and two cents for extra heavy test weight.

Discounts are one cent a bushel for Grade No. 4 on test weight only and three cents a bushel for garlicky oats The county support rate is based on a national average support price for 1960-crop oats of 50 cents a bushel, the same as for 1959.

Hospital Auxiliary membership down

Membership in the Belmond Community Hospital Auxiliary for the current year falls 26 short of the total obtained in 1959, according to a report by Mrs. Ray Borgstrom, membership chairman. This makes the curent membership 265.

Fewer Belmond members accounts for the entire drop, she noted, as out-of-town enrollments were generally higher. The number of Belmond members fell from 220 to 176; Goodell has 69, compared to 46 a year ago; Alexander 12, an increase of two; and Meservey only eight, compared to 14 in 1959. Rowan had one member; now has none.

Mrs. Borgstrom notes that the number of associate members, who paid a $5.00 membership fee, increased from 11 to 15 — including one man, Ira Studebaker, Sr.

The other associate members are: Mrs. Glen Baker, Mrs. Roy Carwell, Mrs. Luin Cox, Mrs. Earl Haupt, Mrs. Louise Johnson, Mrs. Ora Johnson, Mrs. Jake Just, Mrs. Bill Guthrie and Mrs. Fred Pals, all of Belmond; Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Harry Carpenter, Goodell; Mrs. Ed Hensel, Marie E. Hensel and Mrs. D. C. Vest, Alexander.

Mrs. Don Hensel became the auxiliary's second life member by payment of a $25 membership fee. The only other life member is Mrs. Ethel Papousek of Clear Lake.

Mrs. Borgstrom reported that in addition to Mr. Studebaker, the auxiliary has one other male member. Oliver "Sunny" Goodwin paid a dollar to join for the current year.

Blecker's record warrants support of voters

It is a healthy situation to have county offices contested. Because of the relatively low pay, though, and the necessity of seeking reelection every two years, it is not very often that Wright county witnesses a real good battle for a county office.

From these opening remarks it should be clear that the writer does not feel that the mere holding of a county office should make an incumbent automatically the best candidate for that post. On the other hand, if the officer has been doing a good job there is good reason for regarding his experience as a valuable asset in his favor.

This circumstance pertains, we believe, in the current contest for the Republican nomination for county sheriff. E. J. "Jack" Schroder has been making an active campaign in behalf of his candidacy, which is fitting and proper. But it is our private opinion that Bob Blecker deserves his party's nomination once more, in view of his record in office.

Considerable point has been made of the fact that cost of operating the Wright county sheriff's office is relatively high. To our notion, that is not a valid point unless the cost differential can be attributed ACCURATELY to waste, extravagance or inefficiency.

As a matter of fact, Wright county can point with genuine pride to the manner in which its sheriff's office has been operated. Bob Blecker has not done just a good job; he has done an outstanding job.

His office is well equipped, adequately staffed, and has established an enviable record in all of its proper fields — law enforcement, crime prevention, and protection of the public safety.

When Bob has felt that a piece of new equipment would enable his office to better perform its functions, he has asked for it. If he's put up a good case for it, the supervisors have permitted him to buy it. Similarly, the day-to-day operation of his office has been gauged by what needs to be done rather than rating economy for its own sake as a consideration.

In many counties, cooperation obtainable from the sheriff's office is so limited that only a case of rather dire necessity will induce a citizen to "impose" on the sheriff. But Wright countians have always found such a ready response from Sheriff Blecker and his staff that they make constant and extensive use of their services. This costs money.

In the course of pursuing news, your editor has had contact with sheriffs in neighboring counties — and those contacts have invariably left us favorably impressed with the execeptionally efficient manner in which OUR sheriff's office is run.

Soldiers', general relief costs don't jibe

In the editorial above, we note that failure of a county operation to compare favorably with average cost of the same operation in other counties is not always necessarily a point of criticism. If services justify the difference, there need be no complaint.

But if there is no apparent reason for a wide discrepancy in costs, that is the time for the taxpayer to become inquisitive regarding the whys and wherefores. We can provide a very good example.

Figures were recently released by the Iowa Taxpayers association regarding Iowa county costs in the areas of soldiers' relief and general relief. We will offer the figures that pertained to Wright county and the AVERAGE figures for the 10 Iowa counties most nearly our population size.

In 1950, Wright paid out $12,994 in soldiers' relief and the other 10 counties averaged $7,594. Last year Wright's soldiers' relief cost was up to $21,528, an increase of 65 per cent; and others averaged $10,332, an increase of only 36 per cent.

Dubiousness as to the honest need for soldiers' relief to go up as it did in Wright county is invited when one also examines the trend of general relief costs in the county. In 1950, general relief cost this county $30,410; last year the cost was only $26,870! Since Wright county does not maintain a county home as such, all of these costs were for caring for the poor OUTSIDE the county home.

How do these figures compare with the other 10 counties? In 1950 they averaged $47,780 for general welfare OUTSIDE county homes PLUS an average of $13,717 for operation costs of county homes — a total of $61,497. Last year those same figures were up to $76,780 and $21,375, totalling $98,155. While a reduction in general welfare costs amounting to 11.6 per cent proved possible in Wright county, the same costs in the 10 comparable counties showed an INCREASE of 59.7 per cent.

Since the same economic conditions should, iogically, control both general relief costs and soldiers' relief costs, it is hard to justify a large increase in the latter with a tidy decrease in general relief costs.

At the county budget hearing last summer, objectors made a matter of record a recommendation that administration of soldiers relief be placed under the county welfare office — as has been done in a number of other Iowa counties. It would be necessary for the move to be approved by the voters of the county however.

If our taxpayers are as truly disturbed over property taxes as complaints would indicate, a vote next fall on this matter as a special issue would seem much to the point.

Chester Luick's philosophy praised

Belmond has been favorably in the news of late because of a citizen who in life and at death demonstrated a recognition that the acquisition of wealth carries with it a stewardship obligation.

That citizen was Chester P. Luick and his benefactions included just about the whole gamut of public good, from parks to hospitals. His philanthropies will approximate three quarters of a million dollars.

"Belmond has been good to me; I should do something in return."

CHESTER LUICK'S PHILOSOphy was that profoundly simple.

Every other community — including Mason City — has its citizens and its families whose accumulation of wealth has been closely tied to community growth.

Some make a two-way street of it, as Chester Luick did, by returning a substantial portion of their largess. Too many others, however, live and die with not the slightest earnest of any gratitude.

WHEN DEATH COMES, THE government steps in to claim a substantial take in the form of inheritance taxes. There's some for surviving heirs. But the community which provided the wealth is forgotten in death as it was in life.

Whether the world has been made any better by reason of such a life is highly debatable. But the question is never raised in the case of our Chester Luicks. Their good works are deeply and permanently engraved in the life of their communities. — Mason City Globe Gazette

It's about that time

We're not going to take the government's agitation over false claims in advertising and ills of that nature too seriously until Uncle Sam does something about the matter of strawberry shortcake.

We have been enticed for many years by the term "strawberry shortcake" on hotel and restaurant menus; forgetting past sad experience we periodically order the stuff, only to be disillusioned once more.

We do not know, nor do we want to, the name of the scoundrel who first designed those circular, concave pieces of sponge cake which are used for this example of public deception.

The only thing "short" about them is that they are not tall. Shortcake, as far as we are concerned, is a twin to baking powder biscuits, and everything else is a rank imposter.

Sam, forget your troubles with the television world and Madison Ave. You have let the strawberry [illegible] scandal endure too long. — [illegible]

Note, Mr. Nicholas

Some of the personal attacks among the republican candidates for the governor nomination are not in good taste, and should be stopped.

All three of the candidates are honorable men, and have won their spurs in the political arena. It ill behooves any of them to try to pull down another.

Two of the candidates will be losers. They will be expected to support the one who wins, even though they may be a bit bitter.

Extreme words used now will be difficult to swallow come November. — Algona Advance

● By the time you've formed the habit, you discover it's either not good for you, in conflict with the Good Book, a flagrant violation of the law, out of style, or your wife refuses to serve it. — Decorah Public Opinion

Which seemed a pretty good idea until his party leader suggested giving them no tip and handing them a card saying, "Vote Democratic." — Walter Williams in Fairfield Ledger

Being a parent's tough

The child doesn't know it, childless couples do not know it, only a parent knows, and some of them are not willing to pay it. We speak not of the money it costs to raise and educate a child, nor of nursing sickness and childhood maladies.

We speak of the high cost of saying "no" at the right time.

To say "no" when the youngster picks the wrong companions to chum with; to say "no" when late hours are attempted; to say "no" when a car is wanted; to say "no" when saying "yes" would be so much easier.

EVERY PARENT KNOWS THAT the hardest task is saying "no" when confronted with the argument "everybody else is doing it," or, "everybody does, why can't I."

Children are born with no set of values and no judgment. These must b taught by the parent, and that teaching is one of the most difficult tasks a parent has.

Some parents seem to believe that just by association with them the child will absorb the right set of values and the knowledge of right and wrong. They seem to believe that a too generous attitude will result in a happy home.

MORE CHILDREN HAVE BEEN spoiled, given the wrong attitude and the wrong set of values, by generous parents than by any other one thing. Children must be taught that others have rights, that the laws of society governing conduct, and the rewards or punishments, are the result of hundreds of years of trial and error; that the rules, unwritten though they may be, are still the rules of personal conduct that govern our society, and rules that the child will have to live by throughout their entire life. Only the parent can teach these rules.

The cost of being a parent is high. — Humboldt Republican

SCANNING THE HORIZON

MR. HALEY'S COMET—

Fifty years ago, Belmond and environs were little concerned about space ships, atomic submarines capable of circumnavigating the globe without coming up for breath — or even high-flying jets that might bungle a job of high-flyin-spying. The excitement of the moment was Haley's comet, which just 50 years ago was first visible in this part of the world.

The Belmond Herald of that day had this to say of the heavenly visitor: "After many weeks of anxious waiting, we are now able to see the comet. To say the least, it is a great disappointment and most everybody will not care to wait 75 years to see it again."

The newspaper then added, "Some funny things happened while people were watching for a glimpse of the visitor. A lady in the east part of town aroused the neighborhood for a look at the comet, which finally proved to be the headlight on a Rock Island freight.

"The other night Henry Slining and family were visiting their neighbors, the Quigleys, across the way, some boys hung a lantern on a lofty windmill tower and called the old folks' attention to it. After admiring it for some time and wondering what had become of its tail, the joke leaked out. What Pat said about those "dom boys" would hardly be fit to print."

SUCCESS . . . OR ELSE?—

We were a bit bemused by the motto of the Class of '60. There should be a bunch of go-getters, if its members all follow that motto — but where they will "get" is a matter of some conjecture.

Says the motto: "Our Aim, Our Goal, Our Very Soul — Success."

Now we're happy as the next parent to see these ambitious young people intent on success. But one of our favorite pieces of literature is concerned with a gentleman who was so resolved to be successful that he pledged his soul to that end.

The battle between The Devil and Daniel Webster to see whether the pledge was a legal and binding one or not makes as lively reading as you'll find between book covers.

Bearing this in mind, we're inclined to regard that motto a bit too much on the materialistic side. Make success your aim — make it your goal — if you want, kids; but we'd suggest not dickering for it with your soul. You just might find a taker, like Daniel Webster's client did.

JULES VERNE OUTDONE—

Jules Verne has established himself as quite a scientific prophet, what with all his science-fiction dreams that seemed outlandish in his time that have since been translated into fact.

His "Around th World in 80 Days" was a bit mild, though, in light of the submarine Triton's achievment of circumnavigating the globe in just 84 days — submerged for virtually the whole voyage.

Mrs. Maude Thompson, the "Girl Friday" of Lloyd Lewis and John Thompson at Belmond Hardware, was startled to hear that a kin of hers was a member of the crew that engaged in this remarkable adventure.

While homecoming festivities were the order of the day, she learned that among the sailors being feted for participation in the voyage was Seaman Robert Fisher of Thompson, a second cousin to Mrs. Thompson.

The atomic-sub's operation was so hush-hush that even Robert's parents were in the dark as to his whereabouts for the 12 weeks required to circle the globe.

GOOD RECRUITER—

This is the 11th year that the writer of this column has been writing the stories about (and getting engravings of the pictures of) teachers being added to the Belmond school faculty.

In that time we have seen quite a handful of directors serve as chairman of the school board's teacher-hiring committee. After looking over the crop of new teachers hired for 1960-61, we feel it only fitting and proper to pay homage to Lu Cox, current chairman of the teacher selection committee.

That banker has the best eye for feminine pulchritude of any school director who has shouldered his particular responsibilities in the more than a decade that we've been keeping tab on such matters. We refer you to the front page where (barring the possibility that we ran short of news space this issue) the photos of the new teachers should appear.

We have felt that the school board members were making quite a noble sacrifice; but we're about to decide that, where the gentlemen are concerned, if their chores include interviewing chicks like those pictured, THEY don't have it so ROUGH. No they don't!

SHORT CAREERS LIKELY—

Of the new bunch hired this spring, Don freely predicted that the most of 'em "probably won't last over a year." . . . Presumably this prospect doesn't disturb Mr. Cox. Next spring he'll just set about interviewing again.

Know your businessmen—

Hardware partners like being own bosses

Lloyd Lewis and John Thompson can tell you that being your own boss entails a lot of headaches. They'll also tell you that they're much happier dealing with those headaches than working for someone else, as both did before coming to Belmond.

It was in 1954 that Lloyd came to Belmond and entered private business after buying Bonte's Hardware store. The six years that have passed since then had their ups and downs; but business has lately been on such a pleasantly consistent upgrade that the partners (they're also kin, John being Lloyd's uncle) have just contracted to buy a building that will serve as their store's future home.

John and Lloyd were raised mainly in the same household. Mrs. Maude Thompson is "mother" to them both, though in actuality she is Lloyd's grandmother. Both are native Minnesotans but Forest City was their home from 1928 until relatively recent years and both men are Forest City High school graduates — John in '37 and Lloyd in '39.

Lloyd got his initiation as a hardwareman by working at a hardware store while he was still in high school. After getting his high school diploma he worked for Hormel Packing at Austin, Minn., until Uncle Sam beckoned in August of 1942.

In the U. S. Air Corps, Lloyd was in communications technical supply, which made him the next thing to the keeper of a hardware store. Although he was in uniform 42 months, he never once stepped foot outside the U. S. He tried, though.

Once, when he'd attained "buck sergeant" rating, he attempted to go over his commanding officer's head in an effort to get an overseas assignment. All that netted him was a reduction in rate to corporal and a conviction that the war overseas would have to be fought without his help.

John — who donned uniform a month after Lloyd did — had a different type of military assignment, but he had no more luck in getting out of the States. He was a USAF aircraft mechanic and worked his way up to the responsible position of crew chief. He's still disgusted, though, that his hopes of seeing overseas duty never bore fruit.

Lloyd got his discharge in March of '46, just a month after John had rejoined the civilian ranks. He decided that he was definitely cut out for a hardwareman and returned to that occupation, working first for a store at Britt and then in a similar one at Northwood. It was from Northwood that he came to Belmond just about six years ago.

Meanwhile, John was employed a couple of years by the canning company (now defunct) at Forest City and in 1948 took a job with the People's Natural Gas company as a welder. While his family lived first at Webster City and then at Newton, John did a good deal of bouncing about the map. In fact, his work took him to three different states and his home life was not exactly what you would call "settled."

This aspect of his job with the gas company induced him to listen when Lloyd encouraged John to join him in operation of the hardware business in early fall of 1958. John says he's had no regrets over the decision to part company with People's Natural Gas, although the firm had treated him very well.

Lloyd's grandmother has been a valuable aide to him ever since he came to Belmond and still "helps out" in the store. Both men are generous in their praise of her value to them as an unofficial "third partner."

These days Lloyd and John are deeply immersed in their preparations for moving to the business location just west of the post office that will be Belmond Hardware's home sometime before the end of June.

Both agree that the decision to buy the store building testifies to their confidence in, not only the future of their own business, but the bright future that Belmond itself faces.

Right now rather elaborate alterations are going on at the new location, equipping it to serve its new purpose (it has been a "recreation parlor" in recent years).

Lloyd and John are not particularly looking forward to the ordeal of moving; but they are viewing with keen anticipation the prospect of entirely owning their own business, lock, stock and building. Both will tell you, "And we're mighty happy it's in Belmond."

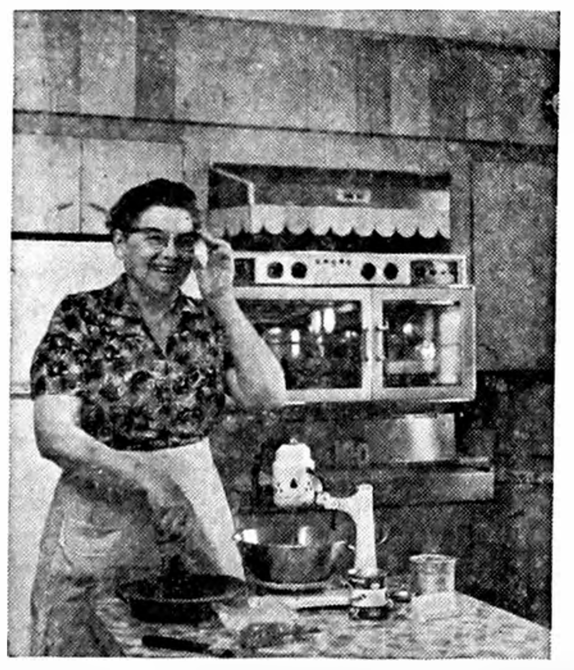
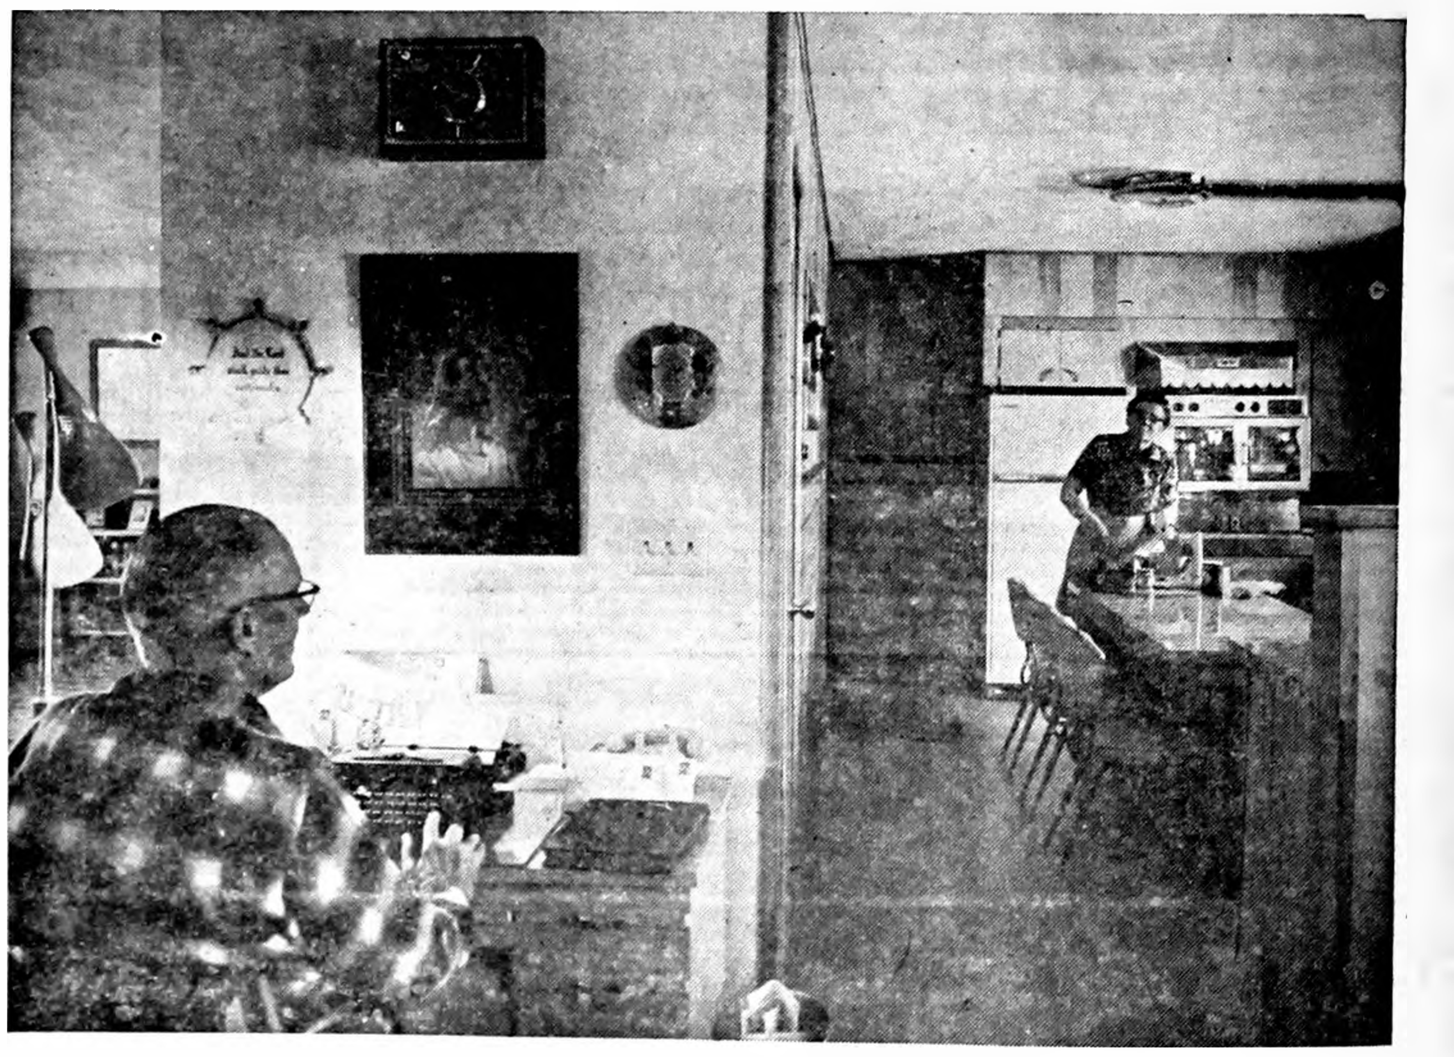
MEDALLION HOME
LIVE BETTER
ELECTRICALLY

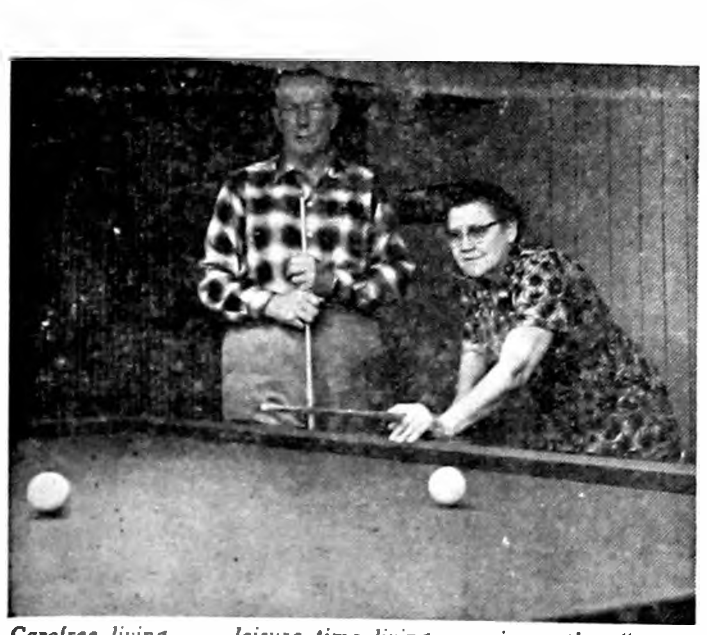
THERE'S ELECTRIC HOME HEATING in this attractive 6-room ranch house of the E. F. Lynks in Marshalltown, Iowa. And the Gold Medallion this home has earned means that from Mrs. Lynk's beautiful built-in electric kitchen . . . all through the house . . . electricity is doing everything . . . bringing comfort and convenience and happy modern living.





"Electric Heating is by far the cleanest, quietest, most comfortable Heat there is"

Mr. E. F. Lynk
Marshalltown, Iowa



Carefree living . . . leisure time living . . . is another "extra" that Mrs. Lynk now enjoys . . . thanks to the modern miracle of Total Electric Living. The Lynks and their friends find real enjoyment in their basement recreation room.

Yes . . . electric heating is clean . . . white glove clean . . . without smoke or combustion . . . dust or ashes. That means a lot when it comes to cleaning or decorating.

Electric heating is healthful . . . keeps moisture in the air. It's fast . . . as the flick of a switch. Think of having a house comfortably warm instantly . . . no waiting hours for rooms to warm up. Each room is individually controlled . . . with heat as occupants wish.

And a wonderful advantage! Electric heating is so space-saving! No space needed for furnace, boiler, fuel storage, etc. There's plenty of room for recreation spots . . . places for family fun and to entertain friends.

Give your family all these better living advantages. Now is the time to see about your Gold Medallion home. IOWA ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY

VOL. 14 NO. 35 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1960 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | 12 PAGES THIS ISSUE

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

Iowa Lions are meeting in convention today through Saturday at Des Moines, the sponsoring club for the state parley being the Uptown Lions club of the capital city. Not surprisingly, a very sincere personal invitation to Belmond Lions to attend the convention was issued by the president of the sponsoring club — who happens to be Dan W. Ramsey. Son of Mrs. Elsie Ramsey and the late Milton Ramsey, Dan spent most of his school years here and was a BHS graduate in 1928. His wife is the former LaBena Halfwassen, daughter of the Mike Halfwassens. Dan hoped for a good-sized delegation from Belmond and vicinity.

Golfing associates of Jim Mariga are hereby warned to negotiate more sharply when working out bets with this Sinclair oil slicker. Jim cracked 40 on Memorial Day at Clarmond Country club (a 39 he had, specifically) and hereafter should be required to give strokes, accordingly.

While on the topic of golf, we might mention that "Swede" Smith was made highly indignant last weekend when his honesty was impugned by a links acquaintance out at the country club. The dubious club-swinger had smacked his ball over a hill in "Swede's" immediate vicinity and when he arrived at the spot where the ball should have been, he could find no sight of it.

"It's mighty strange," mumbled the loser of the gutta-percha sphere, "how a ball could lose itself right out in the middle of the fairway."

The shadow of suspicion also settled on Arlo Stoltenberg, "Swede's" companion. A day or so later, "Swede" bought some cardboard tube club protectors for his bag and turned it upside down to shake out any debris that might have gathered at the bottom. You guessed it — out rolled the missing ball, which very obviously had hit in the bag on the fly, wholly unbeknownst to "Swede."

Kenneth Myers of Alexander, a trapshoot enthusiast, some time ago promised his son Kent that he'd buy him a fine Ithaca trap gun the first time he succeeds in breaking 100 consecutive targets. As reported elsewhere in this issue, Kent last Sunday won the junior division of the Northeast Iowa Zone shoot at Marshalltown — and cracked 92 targets in a row while posting 180 out of 200. Pop Myers admits that he feels that gun "slipping."

R. K. Bliss is returning to the campus of his alma mater, Iowa State university at Ames, for the 55th anniversary of his class — the Class of '05. Of about 70 members still living, he says that 25 or 30 plan to be present for the reunion.

One of the highlights of the reunion will be a radio talk by Mr. Bliss over station WOI at 12:45 on Friday. He will devote his regular weekly broadcast time to a comparison of conditions at Iowa State today with those existing when he was a student.

The former director of the ISU extension service recalls that he kept books so carefully during his collegiate days that at their close he was "off" only 15 cents. He could account for every other penny he'd earned during the four years!

That Dr. S. P. Leinbach's fame as a prophet speaking of the broadening potentialities of rural medicine is steadily growing was indicated by a platform engagement Sam filled last month. He was one of the featured speakers at the annual banquet of the Lutheran Hospitals and Homes Society held at North Platte, Neb. Dr. Sam can speak with conviction on what CAN be done in rural medicine; and he COULD point to Belmond's own much-publicized example. Actually, modest fellow that he is, Sam customarily gets his message across without citing the medical center of which we're so proud, here in Belmond.

If it sometimes seems as if there's a lot of bicycles in Belmond, a statistic provided us by City Clerk Lois Hammond suggests that the impression is NOT inaccurate. The city started licensing bikes in September of 1958. As of last Wednesday, in the less than 21 months that the bicycle ordinance was passed a total of 500 licenses have been issued.

We have a small mystery we wish someone would solve. Last weekend we received from one T/Sgt. William Young, who very clearly is stationed in Africa, a small bale of African newspapers that it cost 48 cents postage to send.

In the bundle were papers from 12 different African cities — plus an April 15 issue of the European edition of The Stars and Stripes, "Unofficial Publication of the U. S. Armed Forces."

This clearly was not part of a large, bulk mailing of similar publications to weekly newspapers thither and yon, for the wrapper was addressed by hand. If anyone has any notion of Sergeant Young's identity (and purpose) we'd like to hear about it.

KURTZ HOME ON LEAVE

Pfc. Robert James Kurtz of Camp Pendleton, Calif., is spending a 20-day leave in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kurtz. Robert reports back to camp on June 12.

Voters go to polls Monday—

Primary interest in two county contests

While liveliest statewide interest in next Monday's primary election will likely center on the Republican six-way contest for the U. S. Senator nomination and the three-way race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, Wright county will be focussing attention on a couple of contests of its own.

One will find Sheriff Robert L. Blecker challenged in his pursuit of a sixth consecutive Republican nomination by Erwin L. Schroder of Dows, a former Iowa Highway Patrolman. The other will find J. R. "Dick" Ashpole, a railroadman, and Richard L. Wilson, who is about to graduate from St. Olaf college, engaged in a Democratic scrap for nomination as State Representative from Wright county. Both of these contenders are from Clarion.

Whichever of the GOP sheriff aspirants emerges as victor next Monday will find Mervin Newkirk of Eagle Grove as a Democratic opponent in the general election next fall; and the Democratic winner of the State Representative nomination will have to face Ray Hagie of Clarion as a Republican rival in November.

Only other contest for the nomination to a county office concerns that for auditor — sought by the incumbent, Myron Price, and a Republican opponent, John Rowen of Eagle Grove. Harold Henry of Clarion is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

All three supervisorships that are due to become vacant before the end of 1962 also will be contested.

In District 2, Incumbent Everett Nelson of Renwick is opposed for the GOP nomination by M. J. Siemens of Goldfield; and Laurence P. Johnson of Goldfield, Democrat, will be foe of the winner next fall.

Christopher running again

A. W. Christopher, veteran of the county board from Eagle Grove, is opposed for the District 3 Republican nomination by J. F. Abbott, also of Eagle Grove.

In District 4, both the unexpired term of the late George Trowbridge and the regular term starting January 1962 are sought by Walter Wiedemann of Dows, now serving by appointment, and by G. A. Bailey of Dows and William A. Dexter of Blairsburg. All are Republicans.

County Treasurer Harold Sullivan, Recorder Grace Fletcher, Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson and Robert Maddocks of Clarion, seeking the Republican nomination for the county attorneyship being vacated by Newt Draheim, are unopposed on the GOP ballot. There are no Democratic contenders for these offices.

Tussle for senate nod

A fight almost certain to end up in state convention this summer is the Republican tussle for the U. S. Senate nomination. Jack Miller of Sioux City and Rollo Bergeson of Des Moines are quite generally regarded as the front-runners; but Dayton Countryman of Nevada, Oliver Reeve of Waverly and Ken Stringer of Davenport will very possibly attract enough support to deprive either Miller or Bergeson of the required 35 per cent of the vote. Ernest Seemans of Waterloo is not likely to get enough support to be a factor.

In the Republican contest for the governorship nomination, an interesting battle among Jack Schroeder of Davenport, Norman Erbe of Boone and William H. Nicholas of Clear Lake is in prospect. Erbe started out with the inside track; but both Schroeder and Nicholas have been campaigning vigorously and a little shift in support might swing the decision to either Schroeder or Erbe — with Nicholas an oft-rejected darkhorse whose chances seem dimmer than those of either of his opponents.

Race for attorney general

Two other GOP contests for state office involve the posts of treasurer and attorney general. Incumbent M. L. Abrahamson of Boone has two opponents, John H. Cruickshank of Sioux City and Martin Lauterbach of Alden. Voters' familiarity with his name could be a deciding factor in Abrahamson's favor.

Two Des Moines lawyers, Leonard Abels and Warren Fletcher, are vying with Evan L. "Curly" Hultman of Waterloo for the attorney general nomination. Hultman has the influence of the Iowa Junior Chamber of Commerce organization behind him. This, plus rural resistance to Des Moines candidates, puts the young attorney from Waterloo in a seemingly favorable position.

Wm. Mooty unopposed

Unopposed on the Republican ballot are: W. L. Mooty of Grundy Center, for lieutenant governor; Melvin Synhorst, the incumbent from Orange City, for secretary of state; Chet Akers, the incumbent from Ottumwa, for state auditor; Clyde Spry, incumbent secretary of agriculture; and Curtis Riehm, Garner, running for U. S. Representative from the 6th District.

Major Democratic interest will focus on the joust between Edward McManus of Keokuk, present lieutenant governor, and Harold Hughes of Ida Grove, commerce commissioner, for the governorship nomination. John R. Hansen of Manning and Howard Reppert of Des Moines are tangling for the lieutenant governor nomination.

There is a Democratic contest between James Dunbar of Cedar Falls and Don Wilson of Des Moines for the place on the fall ticket for attorney general and between Jay Beckley of Muscatine and Conrad Lawlor of Ames for the state treasurer nomination.

Coad without opposition

Democratic candidates for secretary of state, auditor, secretary of agriculture and U. S. Representative (Merwin Coad) are all unopposed.

Most township officeholders of this vicinity whose terms expire before the next election after this year have filed for re-election. An exception is Louis Mennenga, Pleasant township clerk. Alvin Halfpap and John Dorenkamp, Republicans, are again running for trustee in Pleasant.

Seeking renomination in Iowa township are: R. E. Lee Aldrich, Belmond, and Clarence Gordon, Alexander, for trustees; and Florence Aldinger, Rowan, clerk. Only Mr. Gordon is a Republican.

S. N. Hinman is asking renomination as clerk, Talferd Johnson and Garfield Halverson as trustees in Belmond township, all on the Republican ticket. Jack Campbell and Earl Watts, both of Belmond, are again candidates for Grant township trustees and clerk, respectively, on the Republican ticket. Frank Sebert of Clarion, incumbent trustee whose term ends January 1962, did not file.

Firemen urge approval of tax—

Pleasant, Belmond twps. to vote on fire levy

While races for political nominations will be of very major interest to Belmond voters casting ballots in next Monday's primary, the voters of Pleasant and Belmond townships, will be perhaps equally concerned with a special issue that is to be decided by their ballots.

This special proposition reads:

"Shall the Township of Pleasant (Belmond), County of Wright, State of Iowa, levy an annual tax not to exceed one and one-half (1½) mills on the taxable property in said township that is outside the corporate limits of the City of Belmond, Wright County, Iowa, to purchase, own, rent or maintain fire apparatus or equipment and collect said tax with the regular property tax commencing with the 1960 taxes payable in the year 1961, as prescribed by Iowa Code Section 359-43 (1958)?"

Fire Chief A. W. Johnson says the trustees of the two townships have had explained to them the need for replacing the present rural truck purchased in 1948. Shareholders in this truck paid $50 apiece for the privilege of having it available at no further cost to fight any fire occurring on their rural property. Non-shareholders have been charged $75 per fire call.

However, it is now estimated by the Iowa State university engineering extension in firemanship training that a charge of no less than $250 per call would have to be made today to have a rural fire serviced by modern equipment if the property-owner had not paid a fair portion of the equipment's cost.

Chief Johnson says, "Rural fire protection today should not be an individual problem, or choice. It is definitely a community obligation; and the directors of the fire company, after extensive study, are convinced that the proposed fire protection levy is the one way to distribute the cost in fair proportion among all who will benefit by it."

While the rural truck bought 12 years ago will still serve excellently as an auxiliary piece of equipment, a really up-to-date truck is seriously needed for rural firefighting by the local firemen, Chief Johnson declares.

It is the opinion of the fire department directors that the 1½ mill levy would in just two years time yield ample funds to buy a new truck of estimated $14,000 cost. During those two years, the fire department will man the rural equipment at no cost whatsoever to rural propertyowners of Belmond and Pleasant townships.

When the truck and equipment have been paid for, the levy would be reduced to the fraction of a mill necessary to provide, per 40 acres, 17 cents annually to meet one-half the cost of the firemen's insurance, gasoline and oil for calls, and maintenance, plus 40 cents annually to reimburse the Belmond department for manning the truck.

This modest charge would be adequate because the city agrees to house the rural equipment at no cost, the retired rural truck will be taken on all rural calls at no extra charge, and all equipment in the Belmond department's emergency truck will be supplied free on rural calls — making it unnecessary for rural propertyowners to duplicate that equipment.

"Belmond's firemen, being first and foremost interested in providing the best possible fire protection to all property within their area of responsibility, are keenly interested in seeing this special proposition pass in both townships," Chief Johnson says.

"It would," he added, "enable the Belmond department to provide in its territory rural fire protection second to none in the state of Iowa."

"NOT SO GREEN" was the "other pasture" investigated Wednesday of last week by a delegation of Belmond Chamber of Commerce members. Word of an unusual communitywide trade promotion idea attracted the Belmond party to Lake City, to inquire into details. There they found that Lake City had much more reason to envy Belmond's success as a trade center than vice versa, and returned better satisfied with the greenness of the home pasture. In the group making the trip were (starting at left): Ellis Elliott, Phyllis Pals, Dave Kennedy, Lloyd Lerdal and, third from right, Chamber Secretary Len Collier. Dick Gowdy, behind the camera, was also in the party. Others shown are Lake City hosts.

Six had "A" for semester—

75 on BHS honor roll; 24 seniors

In concluding its high school career, the BHS Class of '60 wound up with a flurry of B's in the final quarter of the school year just ended — 24 members rating the honor roll for the last nine weeks. That brought the total on the 4th-quarter honor roll up to 75, which was eight more than earned that distinction for the entire second semester.

No senior, amidst the excitement of class activities, succeeded in achieving an A-average for either the 4th quarter or the second semester. One junior, Dennis Anderson, did so; and three sophomores, Randi Dahlgran, Ronnie Heykants and Colleen Jones; also two freshmen, Alta Bohning and Nikki Killius. Another sophomore Judy Gordon, had an A-average for the semester but not the last quarter.

Seniors on the honor roll for both the final quarter and the semester were: Barbara Beenken, Cathy Bonte, Mary Cox, Carol Finn, Nancy Gallagher, Linda Hauge, Walt Hotvet, Lynn Jenison, Gordon Johnson, Marjorie Koenen, Bruce Leinbach, Mike Long, Kathryn McLaughlin, Clark McNeal, Mark Mason, Bonnie Nolan, Ardith Pals and Linda Stevens.

With B-averages for the 4th quarter, only, were Adolph Ehresmann, Roger Ginapp, Mike Goecke, Eloise Soma, Dave Suntken and Linda Wolters.

Juniors, in addition to Dennis Anderson, on both the quarterly and semester honor list were Sharon Christensen, Kirk Cunningham, Diane Fetrow, Bob Finn, Dale Gabrielson, Richard Henn, Mike Hunst, Jerry Jenison, Sandra Johnson, Barbara Musselman, Linda Pickle, Kay Stecher and Paul Thompson. On the 4th-quarter list only were Erwin Hill, Kenneth Johnson and Kathy Norris.

Following the sophomore A-students were the following on that class's honor roll with B's for both quarter and semester: Randy Braner, Bob Burk, Sharon Gabrielson, Nancy Halfwassen, Marcia Hattel, Bill Heinzig, Jeff Hruska, Merrill Kalkwarf, Wilbur Kuhlers, Ruth Larson, Sheila Musselman, Jane Studebaker, Ruth Ann Swaroff, Carnita Trager and Barbara Tripp. With a B-average for the last quarter only was Audrey Killius, and for the semester but not the final quarter was David Swenson.

After Miss Bohning and Miss Killius on the freshman honor roll for both quarter and semester were Randy Brandmeyer, Kathy Finn, Lorraine Fuller, Dennis Hauge, Rick Kamm, Judy Kellerman, Janis Mennenga, Janet Merck, Steve Schroeder, Dennis Stecher and Jo-Ann Ubben. On the quarterly honor list only was Nancy Christenson and on that for the semester only were Dennis Gallagher and Mark Whitty.

YOSHI GRADUATES

Mrs. Selma Griesy and Sheila Hansen attended graduation exercises at Ellsworth Junior college, Iowa Falls, on Thursday. Yoshi Nishimura was a member of the graduating class. He will spend the summer in the home of Mrs. Griesy.

Belmond Jaycees wanting beauty contest entrants

Belmond's Jaycees are looking for candidates to contend for the Miss Belmond title that last 4th of July was won by Connie Gabrielson. To the winner will go not only a number of attractive prizes, but the right to represent Belmond at the Miss Iowa contest that will be held in August at Clear Lake.

Jack Williams and Bob Erdman are co-chairmen of this year's Miss Belmond beauty and talent contest. The pageant during which the winner will be chosen will again highlight the Jaycees' 4th of July celebration.

According to the chairmen, not only entrants but sponsors also are wanted by the Junior Chamber. Sponsors, who will be asked to pay the $10 entry fee for one of the contestants, may either enter a girl of their own choice or back a contestant who enters independently.

Contestants must be 18 years of age not later than Sept. 1 and must not be more than 28 years old. They must also be single. A requisite, along with comeliness and pleasant personality, is a talent of some kind that can be demonstrated for the judges at the Miss Belmond pageant.

Girls from anywhere in the Belmond trade area are not only welcome to enter, but are urged to compete if they can meet the requirements.

Besides sponsors, Mr. Williams says the Jaycees would appreciate donated prizes that may be shared among the entrants in the beauty-talent pageant; also convertibles are needed to carry the contestants in the 4th of July parade.

Everybody struck out

Like a ball player in a slump, the possessors of Cash Gift Day numbers who were on Main street Tuesday afternoon struck out 12 times in a row, leaving the score at the end of the day $400 to 0 in favor of CGD. Such a poor batting average can certainly be improved on next week, the Cash Gift Day sponsors believe. They are posting $400 once again, divided into eight $25 prizes at 2:00 p. m. and half that many $50's at 3:00 o'clock.

Cancer ends life of Sid Williams at age 32 years

Funeral services will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Francis Catholic church for Sidney C. Williams, 32, who died Tuesday at Belmond Community hospital of cancer. He had been an employee of General Mills, as a chemist in the soybean processing plant here, since his graduation from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala., in June of 1955.

Mr. Williams first learned he had cancer in July of last year, and he had undergone periodic surgery and other treatment for the disease since that time. He had to leave his General Mills job in late April and had been in steadily failing health at his home since that time. He was admitted to the hospital only a few hours before his death Tuesday morning.

Burial in Maryland

Last rites will be conducted by Rev. R. A. Ormsby. Burial will be in a cemetery at Cumberland, Md., native home of Mrs. Williams. Active pallbearers will be Ray Borgstrom, Don Nolan, Dwight Whelan, Larry Dorr, Jack Lansing and Bob Hein. Honorary pallbearers are to be George Kyser, Walt Hotvet, Roger Johnson, Ed Gabrielson, Dr. S. P. Leinbach, Dr. Arlo Pitcher, Dr. G. J. Hruska and Edgar Vick, the latter a cousin of Mr. Williams from Georgia.

Sidney Chester Williams was born Dec. 17, 1927 at Stantonsburg, N. C., but moved with his parents to Raleigh, N. C., when he was 10 years old. He graduated from high school at Raleigh, then served two years in the U. S. Navy, being released in March of 1948. He enrolled at Auburn, but was recalled to active Naval duty from February of '51 to June of '52 before returning to complete his college education.

Leaves Five Children

He was married on Sept. 13, 1952, to Marjorie Logsdon at Cumberland, Md. They became the parents of five children: Helena Ann, six years old; James Darden, five; Joseph Sidney, four; John Alex, three; and Michael Guy, six months.

In addition to his widow and children, Mr. Williams is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lillian Williams, and a sister, Mrs. Guy Russell, both of Columbus, Ga.

While a resident here, Sidney was an active and valued member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He served as vice president in 1958.

Swimming lesson registration set

Manager Jerry Kintzi announces that registration for swimming instruction at Luick Memorial Swimming Pool during the coming summer will be held next week at the city hall. Youngsters may sign up either Tuesday or Wednesday morning between the hours of 9:00 and 10:30 o'clock.

Only Belmond children and those of the rural vicinity surrounding will register here. Kanawha and Goodell youngsters will also be taking swimming lessons here but will sign up at their home communities.

Lyle Thompson, summer recreation director, is responsible for the Kanawha registration and Mrs. Carl Green is signing up the Goodell boys and girls.

Mr. Kintzi says the only eligibility requirement for swimming instruction is that the child possess a season ticket for use of the pool — either an individual or family ticket being acceptable. Remainder of the cost of the lessons will be met by the Red Cross.

Any child in grade or high school may register for lessons if he has his parents' permission. Another requirement logically stipulated by Mr. Kintzi is that the little tots be sufficiently tall to keep their heads above water at the 3-ft. 3-in. level.

AMMERMAN ENDS LEAVE

Phyllis Pals became the first woman president of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce when the Chamber's board of directors met Thursday of last week at the Town House cafe to elect officers for the 1960-61 year.

George Keleher was elected as the organization's vice president. Both of these new officers were elected to the board only last month. L. A. Collier is continuing as secretary of the Chamber, by appointment.

Not only is Mrs. Pals the first woman to head the local Chamber, so near as senior members of the group can recall, but it is thought probable that she is the only woman president in the state.

As co-proprietor of the P&G grocery, with Ed Gabrielson, she has been a member of the Chamber since the current organization was set up. She has gained the respect of her fellow members with her aggressive ideas on trade promotion and Jim Cairns, the retiring president, says, "We are looking forward to a year of real activity under Phyllis's leadership."

DIVORCE DECREE GRANTED

Record had been filed in district court at Clarion of a decree of divorce that was rendered May 13 against Cleatis Harty of Belmond, and in favor of Christina Harty.

1st State bank's sales of U.S. bonds praised

Luin Cox, executive vice president of the First State bank, last Saturday accepted in behalf of the bank a citation commending it for surpassing its sales quota of E and H U. S. Savings Bonds for the year 1959. The citation was presented by Jack Row of Clarion, area director for the savings bonds division of the U. S. Treasury.

Last year the First State bank attained 122.27 per cent of its annual quota for sale of E and H bonds. This achievement enabled it to lead all banks in the county in surpassing quota for the year, average for the county being 101 per cent.

Mr. Row called attention to the fact that the Belmond bank also leads all others in Wright county from the standpoint of average attainment of quota since yearly quotas for banks were inaugurated in 1954.

Since that time, the First State bank has averaged 113.5 per cent of quota. In 1954 it led all banks in the county with 149.14 per cent of quota and in 1955 repeated with 128.26 per cent. In 1956 and '57 the bank also exceeded its assigned quotas, its sales achievements coming to 100.83 and 103.00 per cent. Only in 1958, when bond sales in Wright county plummeted to their lowest post-war level, did the Belmond bank fall short of its quota.

The First State bank was enthusiastically praised by Mr. Row for its exceptionally fine record on bond sales, which makes it one of the outstanding banks in this area on the basis of consistent performance.

Quarter of cars Safety-Checked failed to pass

Slightly more than one-fourth of the 651 vehicles that took advantage of last week's Car Safety-Check conducted here were found to have mechanical shortcomings that prevented them from receiving a Safety-Checked sticker for their windshield. Rejected vehicles numbered 160 cars and six trucks. Another 30 cars were at first refused safety stickers but passed on being rechecked after repairs had been effected.

This year's total of vehicles passing through the Safety Lane here was 225 less than a year ago. Last year, however, the Safety Lane was in operation for four days instead of three and for four hours each day instead of three. In view of the reduced hours for the Safety-Check, Sheriff Bob Blecker regarded that the response was very satisfactory.

Three drivers got $5 each in merchandise scrip when their names were drawn by Boy Scouts who were assisting with the Safety-Check. The lucky motorists were Earl Cronk and John Kriens of Belmond and Melvin Anderson of Klemme.

Sheriff Blecker's resume of the three days inspections showed 455 vehicles passed, 448 cars and seven trucks. Mechanical faults responsible for the 166 rejections were:

BARENDREGT IN HOLLAND

Relatives have received word that Peter Barendregt arrived Saturday in Holland, where he plans to stay until Sept. 20th visiting two sisters and other relatives. His daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Napolitano and Mrs. Jim Waddington, took him via auto to New York City, where he boarded a new liner, the SS Rotterdam. The women enjoyed going on board with him and making a tour of the new ship.

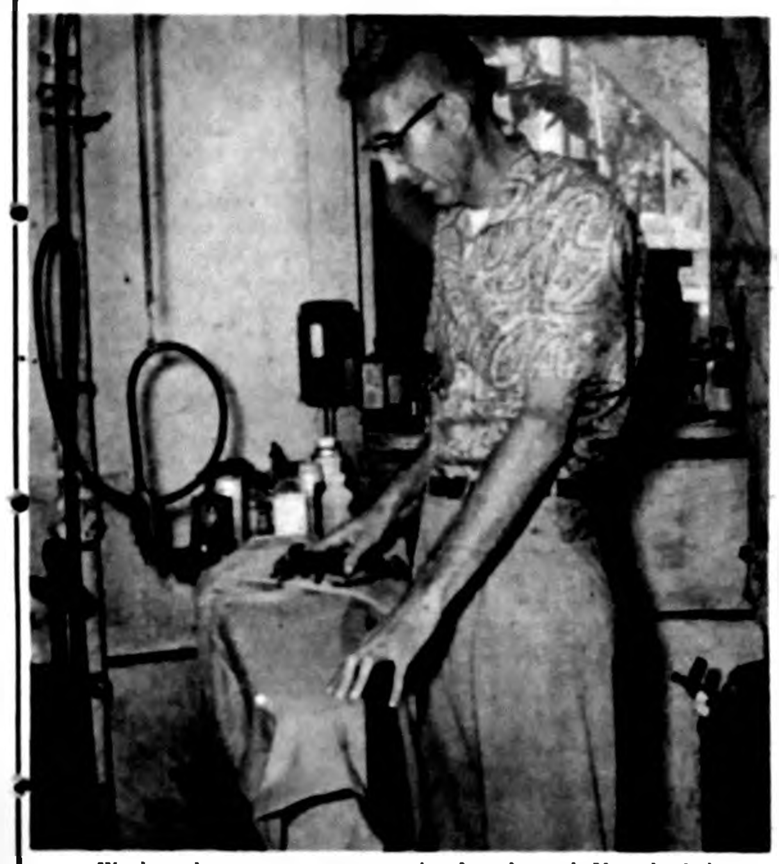
Why Be a Drip-Dodger
By Jim Havens



Wash and wear garments can be dry cleaned. You don't have to wash them at home and leave them dripping in the bathroom. You may put off wearing some of your favorite clothes for days or weeks, just because you can't find time for that sudsing operation, or if your home space is limited, you may not have room to do much drip-drying.

There's just one way to keep wash and wear clothes looking as neat and fresh as the day you bought them . . . have them dry-cleaned with the Siza-Tex process that restores "body" to fabrics, gives them the look and feel of newness, cleaning after cleaning. And our cleaning gets out all the ground in dirt and stubborn sports spots that often don't respond to the soap and water.

And finally we give your clothes a professional press, paying special attention to style details. Your clothes come back to you "lint-free and cling-free." Let us take care of your wash and wear clothing. You can be sure you'll be looking your best.

BHS losing versatile stars—

Jenison, Pals each won 9 letters

Close of the 1959-60 school year saw several of the most versatile athletic careers in Belmond High school sports annals brought to a conclusion. While BHS has had its share of three and even four-sport stars, none in the past have ever reached the same acme of achievement attained by the outstanding athletes in the Class of '60 — who helped the Broncos to win a record number of championships.

Not only did BHS teams win top North Iowa conference laurels in football (a tie for the title), basketball and track, but Belmond won both the indoor and outdoor Class A state track championships and team titles in three other track and field meets.

Lynn Jenison and Dean Pals were the top letter-winners of the Class of '60, each acquiring nine Honor B's during his athletic career at BHS. Lynn lettered three years in both basketball and track, twice in football and as a freshman in baseball. Dean was a three-letter man in football, basketball and track, being one of the very few Bronco sports luminaries to earn three varsity letters as a sophomore.

A four-sport competitor, like Jenison, Mark Mason accumulated eight letters. He earned a monogram in baseball as a freshman, in track as a sophomore and lettered in football, basketball and track as both a junior and senior.

Mike long won his first Honor B as a sophomore in track, then added six more by lettering in football, basketball and track in both his junior and senior years to accumulate seven varsity monograms in all.

Roger Ginapp was another four-sport letter winner. His first B was earned in baseball as a freshman. In his two upper-class years he lettered in both basketball and track and he won a football B as a senior. He was the only Bronco to receive North Iowa all-conference 1st team honors in both football and basketball this past year.
were awarded all-conference 1st
(Long and Bruce Leinbach also team positions in football and Jenison was a 1st team choice in basketball. Lynn also was on the Iowa Daily Press association's 4th all-state team and on the Des Moines Register's 6th all-state team.)

Dave Suntken, winner of three individual state championships in track, plus running on two state champion relay teams (along with Jenison and Long) wound up his BHS sports career with six letters. He won three in track, two in basketball and one in football.

Larry Kramer lettered only in track, but he racked up four B's in that sport. He won three state track championships (and ran on one championship relay team); also one state title as individual winner in the Class A mile team race last fall. In addition, he shares the all-time Iowa high school record for an indoor mile and is Class A mile record-holder outdoors.

Another four-letter winner was Dennis Pastour, with two each in basketball and track. Larry Tideback, Bruce Leinbach and Mark McNulty all lettered twice in football and Tideback also earned a B in track, setting a new school record in the shotput.

Completing the list of senior letter winners were: Randy Musselman and Stan Brandmeyer with a letter each in both football and track; Merle Robbins, Gary Porter and Jerry Kaduce, all with football monograms.

refrigerate with natural gas

Thrifty, dependable natural gas refrigerates with no moving parts. It's so silent you can't hear it work! The "motor" is the constant, unfailing natural gas flame which never wears out. That's why the natural gas refrigerator outwears any other kind...is almost completely trouble free.

Modern, automatic natural gas provides all the features you want in a refrigerator...lots of easy-to-use space, and a roomy freezer section. And only your gas refrigerator has the Automatic Ice Maker that replaces every ice cube you use.

Abundant, economical natural gas works miracles at so many household tasks. Let it work its miracles for you, to give you more comfort and leisure, more time for fun and family. Start living in the modern manner —automatically—with natural gas.

It was announced just prior to Memorial Day that friends and relatives of 42 deceased Wright county residents have established "Living" Memorials in their names during the past 12 months. These memorial contributions were given to the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society to control the second greatest killer of Iowans, following heart disease.

To date, cancer memorials have been established for over 11,000 departed Iowans. They are continuing to be made at the rate of 150 per month, with memorials established as high as $5,000. According to the Iowa Division, ACS, these funds are being used to carry out professional and public education programs, and to further research projects which will eventually produce cancer control.

Natural grief caused by the loss of a loved one is being turned into a lasting and meaningful tribute which will go to work for, and provide hope for, the living.

Upon receiving a contribution, a letter and a card are sent to those members of the deceased's family who are designated, informing them that a memorial has been established and by whom. Additional contributions may be added at any time by friends or family to memorials already established, and proper acknowledgements will be sent.

The name of the person for whom a memorial has been established will be inscribed in the permanent "Living Memorials" book of Iowa, and will be listed in the Iowa Division publication entitled "The Exchange."

Since Memorial Day of 1959, living memorials have been establish- for the persons shown below:

Charles M. Overbaugh, Lavina Williamson, Mrs. Wilmer Johnson, Alfred Pehl, Sr., A. C. Reitz, John Fenninger, Fred Knight, Mrs. John Tesdahl, Michael Dale Nelson, Otis G. Day, Albert Baker, August Traeger, C. H. Burras, Mrs. Carroll Gillespie.

Ed Mayhews see their son-in-law get ISU degree

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mayhew and Junior, accompanied by Dr. George Sprugel, Jr., of Annandale, Va., were at Ames last Saturday to attend the graduation of Charles W. Sprugel from Iowa State university with a doctor's degree in veterinary medicine.

Charles Sprugel is the Mayhew's son-in-law. His wife is the former Gladys Mayhew.

Also witnessing the new Dr. Sprugel's graduation were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thompson and children of LuVerne, Mr. and Mrs. John Sprugel and Mark of Council Bluffs, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ose and Diane of Blairsburg, Mrs. George Sprugel and Mr. and Mrs. Wally Hollingsworth and Carol Ann of Knoxville.

Mrs. Rose Houghton, Reginald and Mrs. D. M. Conlon of Marshalltown were guests Memorial Day in the Mrs. Laton Avery home.

A large crowd attended Memorial Day services Monday in the Amsterdam cemetery with many out of town folks coming.

Ed Boller of Casper, Wyo., spent a few days visiting his mother, Mrs. Anton Boller, and in the homes of his brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jenison and Steven of Ames and their nieces, Sheryl and Linda Jante of Belmond, visited Monday afternoon in the home of the former's grandfather, O. Sandberg.

Mrs. Park Miller accompanied Louise Johnson of Belmond to Perry Friday to meet the latter's sister, Mrs. Matt Smith of Pico Rivera, Calif. The latter will enjoy the summer in Iowa.

Legion Auxiliary meets tonight with Mrs. L. Avery

Legion Auxiliary will meet Thursday at 8 00 p. m. in the Mrs. Laton Avery home. Mrs. Merle Avery is co-hostess.

Barbara and Christie Peterson and the John Peterson family in company with their sisters' families, the Leslie Meres of Austin, Minn., and Ernie Woiwoods of Garner, enjoyed a picnic supper Sunday at the Lauretz Peterson home near Belmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Finn of Fairfield, Calif., and her brother, Harvey Wilson of Vallejo, Calif., visited last week in the home of the two latter's sister, Mrs. Ira Langlitz.

Trafford defends cost of Sheriff's Office in Wright

"You get what you pay for" is true in its application to politics as it is to any other facet of life to this extent — you never get MORE than you pay for.

Mayor L. T. Trafford makes this observation in regard to the contest for the Republican nomination for county sheriff, prompted by charges that have been directed at Sheriff Bob Blecker.

"There can be no denying that economy for economy's sake has been no consideration of Sheriff Blecker in the conduct of his office," Mr. Trafford admits. "He has conducted his office in a manner to achieve good law enforcement, to properly protect the publice peace and safety. And he has spent what he deemed was required to achieve those ends.

"It might be charged of the Belmond city administration that it has been extravagent in its arrangements for law enforcement," Mayor Trafford continues. "We've spent more for this purpose than probably any preceding administration; but we will defend the cost on the grounds that it has brought BETTER police protection.

"Sheriff Blecker can very readily defend the expense of operating his office in like manner. His 10 years in office have seen law enforcement in Wright county attain a peak of efficiency that could well be envied by a very large majority of Iowa counties.

"One reason for this," Mr. Trafford summarizes, "is that they're getting in law enforcement just what they're PAYING for. We should, by all means, keep Sheriff Blecker in office."

(This message paid for by

CLUB'S INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS MONDAY

A general meeting of the Belmond Women's club will be held Monday at 2:00 p. m. at the youth center of the Congregational church.

Officers for the coming year will be installed at that time, as follows: Mrs. Ervin Smith, president; Mrs. Ernest Doeringsfeld, vice president; Mrs. Guy Dickson, secretary; Mrs. James Peterson, treasurer; Mrs. Ron Hummel, corresponding secretary.

Speaker of the afternoon will be Dr. Herbert Clough, Clear Lake chiropractor, who will elaborate on his serious-comic theory entitled "The Inverted Universe." By his theory, the human race dwells on the inside, rather than the outside of the globe.

Entertainment also will be provided by youngsters enrolled for dancing classes here.

Dues for the 1960-61 club year must be paid by Monday. Tentative programs for the coming year will be available at the meeting.

Courtesy honors three on their confirmation

Patricia Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meyer, and two of her cousins were honored Sunday at a dinner given by their respective parents at Coulter community hall. Some 70 to 80 of the children's relatives joined in the occasion.

Patricia, along with Betty Freeks of Alexander and Larry Meyer of Latimer, were honored in recognition of their recent confirmation. Patricia was confirmed at St. John Lutheran church on Palm Sunday, while Betty and Larry were confirmed last Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Latimer.

Betty's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Freeks and Larry's are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meyer.

"Play Day" held by Bluebirds and Camp Fire Girls

More than 100 girls participated in the annual Blue Bird and Camp Fire Play Day on Thursday afternoon of last week, which because of rain was held in the basement of the Methodist church. Theme for the Play Day was "Carnival Time," and Margaret Harrison of Des Moines, area field director, was in charge.

Each of the 11 groups was in charge of a "game booth." Afterward, each girl wove a reed basket and then treats were served. At 4:30 p. m., following playtime, a Council Fire was held with the girls' mothers and fathers as guests.

Seventeen leaders and board members took part in the ceremonial program, which opened with the Wohelo call and processional song. All the girls, forming a circle, participated in the flag ceremony and three Camp Fire Girls then lit the candles representing Work, Health and Love.

Twenty-five Blue Birds "flew up" to Camp Fire rank. Their red neckerchiefs were put on them by their mothers.

Trail Seeker rank was bestowed on 18 Camp Fire Girls by Mrs. R. H. Gowdy of the awards committee. Another 22 girls received the second rank, that of Woodgatherer, their certificates being presented by Mrs. Ed Kennedy, president of the Camp Fire council.

Miss Harrison spoke briefly regarding the Camp Fire Golden Jubilee being celebrated this year. Then, after honor beads had been presented to girls who had earned them, the program closed with the candle-extinguishing ceremony.

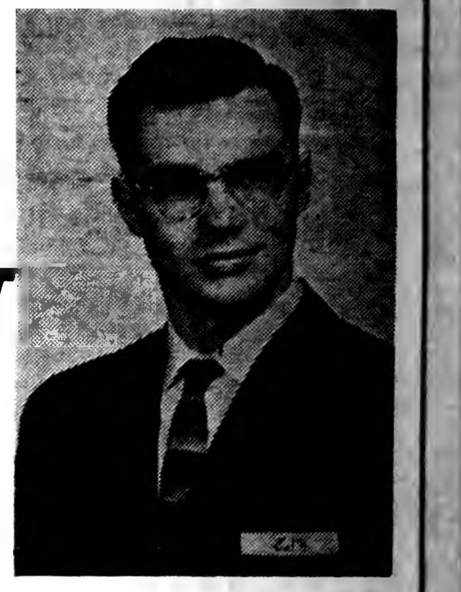
JOE TRIPLETT SEZ:



Memorial Day was one of the nicest for weather we've had in several years. It got off to an early start for me. At 5:30 A. M. the phone was ringing for another load of Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer. Three more loads followed to three different planters. All four loads were for starter fertilizer. The next load to Luther Johnson will be going through the planter, too, but it will be going between the corn rows as a sidedress. Putting that new planter to use again is another way of paying it's way.

That was a sneaky way of getting into the sidedressing subject, but it is an important topic to many farm folks. Quite a bit of corn is big enough to sidedress right now. The earlier you sidedress, the quicker the plants will respond. It will assure maturity this fall for late planted corn. Larger yields is the primary purpose of sidedressing, but maturity is an important factor as we all well know after last fall's experence. Here's a guide to greater profits: Ris-Van 14-7-7 to increase yields, assure maturity and prevent chaffy ears. Ris-Van 32% nitrogen to increase yields.

One crop that I've neglected to mention, but which is no less important is the forage crop. Intensive corn rotations have cut the needed hay and pasture land to a minimum. Therefore, an adequate amount of forage is often not available. Rather than pay the price of renting pastures or buying hay, a cheaper method is to fertilize these two crops. High nitrogen fertilizers, such as Ris-Van 14-7-7, are excellent for permanent grass pastures. For legume hay and pasture land, phosphate and potash are the important elements. A small amount of nitrogen for the small legume plant also gives them a boost toward the stage where they can fix their own. Ris-Van 5-12-10 has proved to be a very productive fertilizer in this instance. When should it be done? The pasture land should be done in early spring and again in early fall. For hay crops, fertilize immediately after removing the first cutting.

I'll be seeing many of you folks this coming week. Material for next week's column will be one of my objectives. An order for Ris-Van Liquid Fertilizer is always a newsworthy item. Whether you have anything to contribute or not, I hope you will do like all these columns end and

Get Ris-Van, Man,

THAT'S FERTILIZER.

Capacity crowd sees graduation

Joyce Karstens was identified as valedictorian of the Alexander High school Class of '60 and Dixie Hopkey as salutatorian at the annual commencement exercises held Wednesday evening of last week. A crowd estimated at more than 600 attended the program. Some had to be turned away, when the full capacity of the auditorium was reached.

Principal Albert Olson named as honor students of the class, in addition to the two top scholars, Robert Latham and Gary Jessen. The senior class of 17 was one of the largest AHS has had in a number of years, which reflected additional credit on its honor students.

Dixie Hopkey was presented the Citizenship Award, given each year by the Franklin County Bar association to the senior deemed to have shown the most outstanding example of citizenship during his or her high school career.

The commencement address was given by Supt. Clyde Mease of Humboldt, former Alexander superintendent.

Supt. James Carroll announces that a dozen Alexander High school students earned places on the honor roll for the 1959-60 school year by maintaining grade averages of B or better. Six of the honor students were members of the senior class — Toni Beenen, Dixie Hopkey, Gary Jessen, Joyce Karstens, Robert Latham and Gilbert Schulte.

One junior, Dennis Vestweber, was on the honor roll; three sophomores, James Hoekstra, Delorus Hopkey and LuRay Price; and two freshmen, Kirk Baker and Susan Bier.

Elementary pupils who had B-averages were: 6th grade — Jerilyn Bier, Norman Barkema, Tom Latham, Jolyn Ostendorf, Debra Pals and Gloria Winwood; 5th grade — David Bier, Mickey Bobst, Juliann Braun, Paul Hensel, Alan Koch, Judy Pals, Rickey Pals, Ruth Schomburg, Linda Suntken and Mike Westaby.

Wayne Vestweber honored following his graduation

A large crowd of relatives and friends gathered in the Will Vestweber home for a reception last Wednesday evening in honor of their son Wayne, a graduate. Guests came from Cedar Rapids, Corwith, Kanawha, Meservey, Humboldt and Alexander.

Several ladies gathered in the Art Peters home Saturday afternoon for a coffee in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Larsen and Lynette of Minneapolis, Minn., spent the weekend in the Chris Larsen home and visited other relatives.

Two occasions honored at Ginapp home at Belmond

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Pals and family, Mr. and Mrs Dallas Card and family and Mr. and Mrs. Louie Bell were guests Wednesday evening of last week at a reception for Roger Ginapp, a graduate, and in honor of the birthday of Louie Bell at the Kenet Ginapp home in Belmond.

Mrs. Charles Weberg of Grand Rapids, Minn., is spending a few days in the Louie Bell home and visiting others in this community. She, with the Bells, was a supper guest last Thursday evening in the Fred Larsen home. Other guests were Mrs. Nellie Leebrick and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Peterson and children of Belmond.

Party Honors Joyce Karstens after commencement exercises

Mr. and Mrs. Jack De Groot of Waseca, Minn., were overnight guests a week ago Wednesday in the Bernard Karstens home to attend commencement exercises.

Thirty or more relatives and friends attended a reception in the Methodist church basement for Joyce Karstens, a graduate. Others attending were from Dows, Eureka, S. D., Hampton, Rowan, Latimer and Alexander.

Graduation reception honors Gary Jessen

A host of relatives and friends honored Gary Jessen, a graduate, last Wednesday evening in the school lunch room at a reception sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jessen.

Clyde Janssen, graduate, honored by relatives

Relatives gathered Wednesday evening in the Herman Janssen home for a reception in honor of Clyde Janssen, a graduate.

42 recognized for attendance

Forty-two pupils attending Alexander Consolidated school had perfect records of being neither absent nor tardy during the 1959-60 school year, according to Supt. James Carroll. Twelve of that number were high school students — non of them, however, being members of the freshman class.

Seniors with perfect attendance records were: Frances Burger, Gary Jessen and Vernon Modderman; juniors: Tannie Pastour and Robert Weimann; and sophomores: Norman Bohning, Karen Modderman, Randi Nagel, Donald Pals, Robert Pals, Elaine Schear and Cheryl Scott.

Junior high students cited for their attendance records were: 8th grade — Betty Freeks and Donald Latham; 7th grade — Dwight Aldinger, Kathy Hensel, Gene Pastour, Poliann Peil and Barbara Wiemann.

3rd grade — Duane Card, Tom Hensel and Brenda Blewett; 2nd grade — Johnny Parks, Joy Suntken, Jacki Westaby and David Winwood; 1st grade — Jeanne Christie and Charlene Suntken.

More than 90 guests honor Dixie Hopkey's graduation

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hopkey and girls honored Dixie at a reception in their home Wednesday of last week in honor of her graduation. Over 90 guests attended from Cumming, Clarion, Belmond, Latimer, Meservey, Sheffield, Hampton, Rowan, Mason City, Steamboat Rock and Alexander.

A. H. Larson of Cumming spent several days in the Hopkey home and with Mrs. Hopkey and girls was a Friday visitor in Corwith and Britt at the homes of Mrs. Christine Fox, Mrs. Minnie Higden and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Jenson.

Alexandrians do very well at NE zone trapshoot

Trapshooters from the Alexander area did excellently in the Northeast Zone Shoot held last Sunday at Marshalltown. Kent Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Myers, was an easy winner in the junior division with 180 hits on 200 shots.

He shattered 92 birds in a row en route to the championship. His prize was a handsome trophy.

Harm Suntken shared first place with another marksman in the handicap event with a score of 96 out of a possible 100. Because of darkness, a shoot-off for the trophy was not possible.

Others from the Alexander vicinity who participated in the shoot were Kenneth Myers, Rolland Bohlen, Gary Hofacre, Dennis Scott and Frank Bohlen.

Mr and Mrs. Elmer Huntbatch of Waterloo were Tuesday supper guests in the Dick Schmidt home.

Mr and Mrs. Chris Larsen, Mrs. Ben Dorenkamp with Mrs. Denver Scofield of Rockwell were overnight guests in the Lyle Larsen home at Royal, to attend commencement exercises and a reception for Steven Larsen, a graduate. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Modderman also attended the commencement exercises and the reception.

Mrs. Blanche Stevenson of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived Saturday to spend a month in the Will Vestweber home and to visit other relatives. Mrs. Vestweber and Mrs. Stevenson are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hilton and children of Altoona spent a week in the Henry Fekkers home and visiting other relatives.

Kent Myers and Duane Barkema, Young Democrat delegates, with Ray Richards, Democratic delegate, attended the Democratic convention held in the KRNT theater in Des Moines Saturday.

Mrs. Hattie Bohlen of Clear Lake was a Sunday visitor in the Oscar Hensel home and attended the Memorial services in the school house and at the cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stoffer and baby of Cedar Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. George Lyon, Bruce and Barbara of Findlay, O., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stoffer, Tim, Jim, Jane and Charles of Davenport, Mrs. Francis Brown and Mrs. Maybelle Bristler and daughter of Des Moines, Mrs. Gladys Crandall and Ted Vierkant were Sunday visitors in the Mrs. Gussie Stoffer home. They Lyon family is staying for several days to visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Switin of Davenport were Saturday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Blau.

Tillie and Marie Wenzel of Milwaukee, Wis., are visiting relatives this week in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Aldinger and children left early Thursday morning for a few weeks to visit and for a sightseeing tour to the west coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen of Iowa Falls, were Saturday overnight guests in the Chris Madsen home.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Peters and family of Waterloo and Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Correll and daughters of Des Moines were Sunday guests in the Mrs. Floe Peters home.

We feel that the Wright county treasurer, Wright county auditor, Wright county clerk, Wright county recorder and the Wright county attorney should be commended for their efficient operation of their offices, which is less than any of the counties that we have mentioned.

BUT $ $ $ $ the Wright county sheriff's office is practically double that of all the counties — Franklin, Humboldt, Calhoun, Pocahontas, Hancock, Kossuth (twice as large as Wright county).

A Message from your Sheriff— Robert L. Blecker

MODERN CARS, HOMES, education, medicine, satellites and churches cost money . . . SO DOES MODERN LAW ENFORCEMENT!

As our living world has been modernized, so has our criminal world.

Today, in all branches of law enforcement from the federal on down, we find that in the past ten years they have had to spend money to keep up to date. We find that they have employed more men, that they have spent money for equipment to keep the science of law enforcement abreast with the types of crimes that have been and are being committed.

To give service and to get the job done in law enforcement, the bill must be paid.

A law enforcement officer who just sits behind a desk and draws his pay check is not what is needed today.

Good law enforcement is essential to our Country and our County. It needs young men with ability, experience, and leadership.

For a Sheriff to shut off his co-operation with state and local officers and say that they can handle their own problems without his help, would cause an increase in crime and a decrease in criminal apprehension.

As your Sheriff, I cannot keep up with the work of the office without spending money. We have spent only what was needed.

This will probably be my last chance to ask for your vote, but if re-elected, I can only promise that I will do my best to give you the law enforcement that you expect. I also feel than anyone who claims they can do this by cutting hours, costs or help in the Sheriff's office, will be shirking his duty as Sheriff and to you as citizens of Wright County.

YOURS FOR BETTER LAW ENFORCEMENT

Republican Candidate for Wright County Sheriff

MORE PROOF...it pays to feed PURINA

Twenty steers were fed out in a 126-day Purina public feeding demonstration near Clarion, Iowa, last winter. They made 100 lbs. of beef for an average cost of $17.68.

In Clarion, Iowa, demonstration

steers gain 3.17 lbs. per day on Purina

This winter, Iowa cattlemen saw for themselves how feeder cattle can return more profit on a Purina Steer Fatena-grain ration. The steers averaged 3.17 lbs. daily gain, produced 100 lbs. of beef on 10.5 bushels of corn and 65 lbs. of Purina Steer Fatena. Average cost was $17.68 per cwt.

HOW THE DEMONSTRATION WAS RUN

Twenty high-altitude Montana steers were fed a ration of ground ear corn, shelled corn and two lbs. per head per day of Purina Special Steer Fatena with 5 mg. of stilbestrol. They weighed 735 lbs. apiece at the start . . . averaged 1135 lbs. at the end of 126 days.

See for yourself what Purina can do in your own feedlot. Public feeding demonstrations throughout the Midwest and West are proving that the Purina Cattle Program can help steers make fast, low-cost gains. Stop in and visit with us about feeding demonstrations. We can recommend an easy-to-follow, researched Purina Cattle Program for you.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

If you can walk through a wall (without the help of a door), you might be well on your way to making a million dollars. The producer of "4D Man," which is half of Thursday through Saturday's double bill, offers that tidy sum to anyone who "can actually perform in real life the feats ascribed to the 4D Man."

Hollywood is sometimes pretty flush with its money — but when you see "4D Man," you'll appreciate that a safer offer than this was never made.

Sharing the screen with this science-fiction nightmare is "Hell Bent for Leather," with Audie Murphy, Stephen McNally and Felicia Farr in the lead roles. McNally, who's filled many a hero's part in his screen career, now specializes in portraying villians. "Maybe it makes me a psycho," he says, "but I LIKE it!"

A candor seldom matched on the screen attends the baring of a small town's private scandals in "The Bramble Bush," which the New Belmond is featuring Sunday through Wednesday. In this one, Jack Carson follows a path somewhat like Steve McNally's (described above). After 30 roles as a comic, Carson finds himself in "Bramble Bush" as a real, low-down heel. He's happy about the whole thing, too — says, "for 12 years I tried to convince Warner Brothers I'd make a first class villian."

Fire protection by tax levy is a "good deal"

Rural propertyowners in Belmond and Pleasant townships are being given the opportunity to do themselves a very real favor when they go to the polls to vote in next Monday's primary election. Both townships will be casting ballots on the special proposition of enjoying tax-supported fire protection, which is very much the coming thing throughout Iowa.

Like any governmental expense spread over the largest possible number of persons, fire protection by tax levy is in the long run the most economical for all concerned.

We know, there are those who say, "I'd prefer just to take my gamble on NOT having a fire — and pay the going rate for a fire call if I lose that gamble."

The thing wrong with that attitude is that unless quite a few individuals viewed the matter differently, there would be no rural fire-fighting equipment to answer ANY calls.

An Iowa State university expert in the fire control field says that, at today's cost of purchasing adequate equipment to fight rural fires, plus the cost of manning and maintaining that equipment, a fire department is losing money if it charges less than $250 for answering a rural call.

Sounds like a lot of money? Sure it does, particularly considering that the Belmond Fire department has been asking only $75 to respond to a fire call with the present rural equipment. With a charge of $250 facing him to summon the fire department, a farmer would want to be very sure he was really involved with a "bad" fire before he took that phone off the hook. The unfortunate thing for such a farmer is that it's often next to impossible to anticipate what damage a blaze may do, once the flames have gotten a good foothold.

The present rural fire truck, purchased in 1948 with the expectation that it would be ready for retirement in 10 years' time, is now past its days of maximum usefulness. Better equipment is needed to provide the rural fire protection that MUST be provided farms in the Belmond area. The officials of the Belmond Fire department have devoted much time and study to the matter of what the best next move should be.

This study has convinced them that a tax levy on rural property to provide rural fire protection is by all odds the best answer. They have worked out a proposition that will give their rural neighmors a real bargain.

They would like to see the legal maximum of 1½ mills levied until a $14,000 fire truck (to be acquired promptly) can be paid for. This would require of the owner of a typical 160 Belmond or Pleasant township acres just about the $50 that was charged for shares in the present rural truck. That tax would be paid in two years' time. In considering that figure it might be contemplated that the truck bought in 1948 with shares cost something over $10,000. An equally modern truck today will cost a third more — so shares charged at the same $50 figure as before would NOT buy it.

Not only would the tax arrangement give our rural neighbors the best in fire protection for their homes and farmsteads at very reasonable cost, but the Belmond Fire department is offering to man the equipment FREE during the two years it is being bought. Thereafter, when the new truck and equipment have been paid for, the tax levy will be reduced to the mere fraction of a mill needed to cover the cost of meeting half the price of insuring the firemen, maintaining and fueling the equipment and paying a modest charge for manning it. This would come, by best estimate, to only 57 cents per year on 40 acres of land.

All in all, it strikes us that the rural residents of Belmond and Pleasant townships should have no cause to hesitate in voting enthusiastically in favor of the fire protection levy.

Some rumination on the population situation

Just like asking the dentist to repeat those consoling words, "Now this won't hurt a bit," we'd like to have the Census Bureau repeat what it regards as the logic behind counting college students to the credit of their school's location rather than their legal residence.

Usually we find that the dentist's ministrations DO hurt — at least a "bit," if not more; and we remain equally unconvinced that youngsters who have been raised in our community and are still dependent upon it for their living expenses should be counted elsewhere than "at home."

What got us to thinking along this line was the story in last week's Independent that told of BHS seniors' plans for the future. More than half plan to further their educations. It would be our guess that this fall there will be at least 100 BHS alumni enrolled for college work or other types of specialized training, here and there.

Contemplating this fact led us to wonder if due allowance has been made for the effect of increasing college enrollments, plus absence from home of servicemen, in reporting the diminishing populations in counties like Wright. If we remember correctly, it was not until the 1950 census that college students were credited to the school communities rather than their homes.

When the 1940 population of 20,038 was counted, the military draft had not yet been inaugurated and military personnel was at pre-war numbers. Between 1940 and 1950 there was a reported drop in population of 390. Frankly, we're inclined to suspect that if students had been credited to their home towns in 1950 — AND military enlistments had not been so much higher than at census time of 1940 — hardly any drop in population would have been recorded in this county.

It's more difficult to explain away the drop of an additional 238 in Wright's population in the past decade, making a total of 624 since 1940. The number of young men in uniform is probably smaller than in 1950. The percentage of high school graduates going on to college is unquestionably higher than either 10 or 20 years ago; but the increased number of collegians won't come very close to accounting for the difference.

Of course, it's that rankling 2,499 nose-count for Belmond that has in the last analysis induced all this rumination on the local and county populations. Give us credit for our searchers for learning, and Belmond would undoubtedly have a population figure of well over 2,600.

We're completely resigned to the fact that the Census Bureau isn't going to change its rules because we're unhappy. . . . Oh, well. We've had a nice balance of births over deaths since the census books were closed in late April and we KNOW that that 2,499 is now a short count.

But if that turns out to be our "official" total and appears in the census tables for the next 10 years, it's going to look — as George Goebel would put it — as if somebody simply wasn't trying.

Long-range street planning needed

Several members of the Osage city council believe it is high time that Osage puts an end to our annual "patching" job of street repair and gives some real consideration to doing the job right. For years our streets have been repaired on a basis of "do it as cheaply as possible." This desire to save money is sometimes commendable. In this case it is not.

When Osage streets were first blacktopped the same "save money" idea was paramount with our city fathers. The old adage "you get just what you pay for" never has been better proved than by our streets. The blacktopping was done as inexpensively as possible and today we can see the results of our false economy.

A LONG RANGE PLAN IS BADly needed and there seems to be enough interest among the present council members to get such a plan underway.

Because of the huge amount of work involved, requiring storm sewer construction in two of the four wards and curb and gutter construction throughout the city, an estimate of a half million dollars has been given. We are inclined to believe it will cost still more than this.

BUT WHATEVER THE COST, no one can deny that we need better roads in our community. The job should not be another in a series of "half-baked" projects. If we want good roads in our community, we should demand quality construction, road building which has some assurance of lasting at least a generation.

The council faces a huge educational task. A project of this size requires the vote of our fellow citizens and without educational material available to them they would turn the proposal down. No one likes tax increases but if we want good roads in Osage we must be prepared to pay for them. — Osage Press-News

ARE YOU SINFUL? —

Next Monday is primary election day. This is the voter's best opportunity to have a say as to who he is going to vote for five months hence, when the general election rolls around.

How often has arrival of the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November found you mumbling in regard to the candidates for one or more major offices, "A fine choice! Who'd want to vote for either of them?"

Such a situation is brought about by "sinful citizenship," in the opinion of a Boston clergyman who has drawn up the following list of 10 "sins against citizenship." Read 'em over and decide how virtuous a citizen YOU are:

1. Indifference — "I'm not interested in politics."
2. Laziness — "I'm too busy."
3. Cowardice — "I don't want my character assailed."
4. Greed — "I'm OK as things are."
5. Prejudice — "I'll vote for him because he's one of our kind."
6. False pride — "I'm not going to get mixed up in dirty politics."
7. Cynicism — "My one vote won't make any difference."
8. Hapless — "Pressure groups run the show."
9. Ineligible — "I didn't register." (Not applicable here.)
10. Why bother — "Politicians are all alike."

POETICAL POLITICS —

It might surprise you to learn that several of Mother Goose's best known nursery rhymes, which children have committed to memory for many generations, were in reality highly critical commentaries on English political figures.

World Book tells us, for instance, that "Rock-a-bye Baby" was not so innocuous as it sounds. Though popular as a lullaby during the reign of James I, there is good reason to believe it was intended as a joking reference to his shaky hold on the throne.

"Little Jack Horner" is another rhyme that was rife with a good deal more significance than readily meets the eye.

In the days of Henry VIII, it was not uncommon for important papers to be baked in a pie for safer delivery. "Jack" of Mother Goose fame was a steward sent to London with a pie supposed to have contained title deeds for several English estates.

But the "Horner boy" stuck in his thumb and pulled out a plum that consisted of the deed to an estate that had once belonged to the Church of England. Politicians have been "thumbing" plums in somewhat similar fashion ever since.

It is suspicioned by students of English history that Humpty Dumpty was probably Richard III. This deformed monarch seized the throne of England in 1483 after imprisoning in the Tower of London his 12-year-old nephew, the rightful successor to the crown.

But right prevails (sometimes), and two years later Richard fell in battle. There was small dismay in most quarters that "all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Humpty together again."

Then there was Georgie Porgie, who "kissed the girls and made them cry" but took to the shrubbery "when the boys came out to play." George I was likely the target of this childhood chant.

He was a native German and had tastes that perplexed his British subjects. In addition, his court behavior caused the raising of more than a few eyebrows, and the Mother Goose rhyme was his subjects' way of expressing their resentment without risking serious trouble.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS—

There probably was not a person in the BHS commencement audience at the high school gym last week but had some misgivings about the evening's speaker before Dr. Charles Sloca got up to deliver his address.

This able educator from Parsons college has the misfortune to look much like a cartoonist's caricature of a newly hatched baby bird. Bald of pate, somewhat short on chin and wearing thick glasses, his appearance leads one to expect him to have a high-pitched voice and ineffectual delivery.

These impressions were almost magically wiped out by Dr. Sloca's first utterance. His deep, resonant voice and commanding, self-confident manner created an entirely new personality right before the onlooker's eyes.

Here was a man's man (he was a World War II bomber pilot — until his plane was shot down and he spent a year as a German prisoner). His talk confirmed this impression, for he scrupulously avoided the sugar-coated cliches that seniors are customarily fed and instead handed the graduates some hard-shelled facts.

We're all too inclined to let first impressions create unwarranted prejudices from time to time. We believe those who were in the commencement throng and heard Dr. Sloca's fine address will be a bit less inclined to jump to conclusions based on personal appearance the next time. . . . A good joe, that "Doc" Sloca.

Know your businessmen—

Crapser closing garage; to work for Sheldon

Thirty-five years ago a 16-year-old youth eager to learn a good trade went to work for the Sheffield Auto company. Back in those relatively early days of the automotive industry, a man became a mechanic by "starting at the bottom" as an apprentice.

After four years of apprenticeship, the fledgling mechanic felt ready to strike out on his own and got a job at the Cedar Falls Chevrolet garage. Last week, Glen Crapser reached another milestone in his career when he locked up his own garage business to accept a job on the mechanical staff of Sheldon Chevrolet garage.

By coincidence, this turning of another corner marks only the second time in his 35-year-long career that Glen has been first and foremost a Chevrolet mechanic.

He explains his decision to give up his private business to work for someone else by saying "it's just become too tough to go it alone." He went on to elaborate that it is constantly becoming more difficult to get prompt shipment on parts — or to get them at all. Also, he's needed someone to help him in his garage, but he found it impossible to find a young fellow sincerely interested in mastering a trade to serve him a lifetime.

"All in all, there have been simply too many headaches in late years involved in running an independent garage. They more than counteract the advantages of being your own boss. I'm sure I'll be very happy working for Len Sheldon, starting next week," Glen says.

He was a couple of years at Cedar Falls after first leaving his home town of Sheffield, then worked a while at Albert Lea and later at Algona before coming to Belmond in late fall of 1934. He went to work for George Hake at the Hub garage, then the Dodge-Plymouth agency located in the quarters now occupied by P&G grocery.

In 1938, Glen and Ed Kennedy decided to throw their lot together and operate a garage jointly. It was not a partnership. More than anything else, they simply shared tools and working quarters — and developed a healthy respect for the mechanical skills that each other possessed.

This arrangement continued until 1946, when Glen formed a partnership with Sol Krass and moved into his present garage location. Sol pulled out of the partnership in 1949 and Glen has been sole owner and operator of the garage since — up to closing its doors last Saturday.

When Glen learned his trade, a master mechanic also had to be an expert metal worker. He had to be adept on the lathe and at welding, for new parts were not always available when an old one broke. Not infrequently, Glen had to make a new part from scratch, or repair the one that was broken.

He says that nothing has given him more satisfaction in his business than succeeding in a repair job that nobody else had been able to do. Precision metal working is an art you rarely see performed in an automobile garage any more; but that remains Glen's greatest delight.

Advancements in the auto industry — particularly those brought about by improvement in the quality of metals — have greatly altered the mechanic trade, Glen declares. As an example, he cites a car used to be ready for a general overhaul after hardly more than 3,000 miles of travel. Today an owner is indignant if his vehicle needs an overhaul in less than 50,000 or 60,000 miles.

In 1957, Glen was elected to the city council as councilman from the 2nd Ward. He has very much enjoyed this experience. Having been reelected last year, he is now midway in his third year in office.

He has turned his personal skills to the city's benefit on several occasions. For instance, he designed and helped to fabricate a heavy roller for street work. Also, he made the bicycle racks that are to be seen along downtown Main street.

Glen says he's learned a lot on the council that he never knew before. People very generally misunderstand the amount of control the state has over city administration, he believes. They often ask why certain things haven't been done, when actually state law would prevent such action by the council.

Glen's civic service has also included membership in the Belmond Fire company since 1952. He takes a keen interest in this affiliation, too.

College quartet to sing June 6

Westmar college's male quartet will be presented in a concert at the Meservey EUB church next Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Both sacred and secular numbers will be featured on the program the four students from Le Mars will offer.

They are David Brice of Elk Mound, Wis., Ray Boyer of Tilden, Neb., Wayne Archer of Wichita, Kans., and Bob Pfeil of Worthington, Minn.

Westmar was founded by and is sponsored by the Evangelical United Brethren church. The young men will spend the entire summer touring most of the EUB conferences west of the Mississippi river and expect to travel between 15,000 and 20,000 miles through 20 states.

Sacred numbers the quartet will sing are to include, in addition to hymns, anthem-type selection, Negro spirituals and folk songs. The popular favorites will include old favorites and barbershop numbers; also some original songs written by members of the quartet.

Dixie Koenen was chosen to be voting delegate at Rally Day.

Jan Ferstl decided to drop 4-H so Dixie Koenen was chosen to take her place as club treasurer

A junior demonstration was given by Patty Koenen on shirt and blouse combinations. Carolyn Pals gave a talk on storage of winter clothes and Donna Sorenson and Janet Messelheiser gave a demonstration on making a simple blouse. A flower exchange was held after which Kathy Kuhlers and our hostess served lunch.

VOL. 14 NO. 36 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JUNE 9, 1960 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER 12 PAGES THIS ISSUE

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

Franklin county, who pioneered in adoption of voting machines in Iowa, Monday night was for the umpteenth time the first county in the state to turn in complete if unofficial primary election returns. All vote counts were in to the auditor's office not long after 9:00 p. m.

In contrast, the first Wright county precinct — Dayton township — had its ballots counted and to the courthouse by about 10:05 o'clock and Belmond Ward II was not far behind.

As always, Wall Lake township (which had slightly over 60 ballots to count) was much later than any other precinct in this county. The election board down there seems proud of its persistent record of inefficiency. Its ballots arrived at the auditor's office about 2:10 a. m.

Ralph Forristal of Moorhead, Minn., a former Belmond resident, dropped into the Independent office last Friday to pay his regards. He had an interesting tidbit of information which we jotted down regarding his Belmond days; then we started a new page on our note pad and threw the reminder away. . . . There's GOTTA be a better system than that!

Our inquiry regarding who might have sent us the dozen or so African newspapers recently was answered this week by Mrs. Blenda Ahlstrom. She'd received a package with the same return address on it — which was initially dispatched by her son, Kurt Ahlstrom, who evidently used T/Sgt. William Young as a messenger to mail the bundles in the U. S. We can see that this undoubtedly made possible a considerable saving in postage. Kurt is presently employed by the CAA at Beirut, Lebanon. We appreciate his thoughtfulness and greatly enjoyed looking over the specimens of the African press that he sent us.

The frau of Mainstreeter No. 3 is getting anxious to dispose of a couple of kittens from the Anderson cat's last litter of six. They're cute tykes and will make some youngsters good pets. Mildred says homes have already been found for two of the kittens and friends of her and Duane ran over two others. Observes Mildred, a bit callously it seemed to the front Mainstreeters, "If we had a few more friends, our problem would probably already be solved."

The Independent was remiss in not mentioning earlier receipt of a $350 memorial gift by Belmond Community hospital from Lloyd Rudisill of Clarion. It was given in the name of his wife, the late Lillian Rudisill, and was in the same amount as another gift to the hospital by Mr. Rudisill late in 1959.

Mrs. Rudisill died of cancer before the present hospital was built. It was in the planning stage at the time, though, and she endowed the nursery with a gift of $1,500.

With the help of other memorial gifts in smaller amount, Mr. Rudisill's first $350 went to buy the ultra-modern Isolette incubator, which has been in use for several months. His second gift made possible the purchase of several essential attachments for the Isolette, which the initial funds couldn't provide.

Inspired by the desire to practice their speaking skills as often as possible, the Belmond Toastmasters have set up a speakers bureau in the hope of getting calls from local organizations that want program attractions.

If you want a speaker — on any topic — just advise President Dave Hallowell or Keith Wiggins, educational vice president, what you'd like to have him talk about and when.

Understandably, the Toastmasters ask that they be given a fair amount of advance warning so they will have adequate time to prepare their remarks. They anticipate they'll have to "bone up" on most proposed topics.

Art lovers of this area will have a rare opportunity to view work of some of the world's most famous painters at a special show on exhibit at Mason City public library. It is known as the Winston collection and went on display Monday of this week. It will remain open to inspection through June 30.

The price for inspecting these masterpieces is "right." There is no charge whatever. The paintings may be inspected any weekday from 12:30 to 8:00 p. m. and on Sundays from 3:00 to 5:00 p. m.

Artists whose works are being shown include Picasso, Matisse, Miro, Adolph Gottlieb, Peter Hurd and Nathan Oliveira. On June 16 at 8:00 p. m. a special commentary on the exhibit will be given by Sam Hunter, acting director of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. A reception will follow his remarks. These attractions are free, too.

OLD GLORY NOW FLIES daily over Luick Memorial Swimming Pool since gift of a 4x6-foot flag for that purpose was presented to the city by Pierce-Zeiger post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Jerry Kintzi, pool manager, is shown as he was about to raise the flag last Thursday morning. Iowa Electric Light and Power company contributed the flag pole, and cost of installation was donated by the city. On the day before Memorial Day, Joe Dana, Marvin Meinders and Keith Chandler erected the flag pole . . . and found the task a much more difficult one than they had anticipated in advance. Keith says a scene somewhat resembling the famed Iwo Jima flag-raising was to be viewed as he and his comrades strained to get the pole (much heavier than it looked) in place.

Kutz resigns job as administrator

He has been hired to fill the position of controller at St. Luke's hospital at Cedar Rapids, one of the state's largest hospitals. He is to report for the new job on Aug. 1.

BURKS MOVE TO BELMOND

Mr. and Mrs. Kay Burk moved last week to Belmond from Klemme. Both have been employed since April by Ris-Van, Inc. Kay works at the Ris-Van shop and his wife Gloria is secretary at the company's laboratory.

RETURNS TO DENVER

Donna Jean Wolters returned to Denver, Colo., after spending her vacation at the parental Elwin Wolters home. While home she attended her sister Linda's graduation and wedding. Donna Jean is employed at the Bell Telephone company office in Denver.

Monday's primary election saw a vote of confidence given Sheriff Bob Blecker, as he turned back an all-out effort by Ervin L. "Jack" Schroder of Dows to obtain the Republican nomination for sheriff; saw Wright county depart from the state trend by giving heaviest GOP gubernatorial support to William Nicholas and the second most votes to Jack Schroeder, while Norman Erbe — the actual winner of the nomination — could do no better than third.

Also noteworthy was the rejection of the bid of A. W. Christopher of Eagle Grove in District 3 for election to a fourth term as supervisor, as voters of the district containing Eagle Grove, Troy and Woolstock townships gave the Republican nomination to J. F. Abbott of Eagle Grove. Similar challenges aimed at Walter Wiedemann of Dows by G. A. Bailey of Dows and William Dexter of Blairsburg in District 4 and against Everett Nelson of Renwick by M. J. Siemens of Goldfield in District 2 fell short.

Drawing Democratic attention was the choice of young Richard L. Wilson over J. R. "Dick" Ashpole, both of Clarion, for the chance to run against Ray W. Hagie of Clarion next fall for the post of State Representative from this county; and the fact that some 230 to 250 more Democratic ballots were cast in this primary than in the primary of 1958. Democrats could find further reason for tempered optimism in the fact that Republican votes numbered something over 100 less than two years ago.

In 1958, the GOP race attracting the most votes was that of Rudolf Schipull of Goldfield against the late Clark McNeal. It saw a total of 3,018 votes cast. Top Republican race this time was Blecker vs. Schroeder, which brought out 2,911 votes as the incumbent carried all but seven of the 28 precincts and again won the sheriff nomination with 1,732 votes to his adversary's 1,179.

Two years ago, Gov. Herschel Loveless was top Democratic vote-getter with 539 x-marks to his credit. This time he again received the highest vote total among the Democrats as he was OK'ed as candidate for the U. S. Senate with 772 votes.

Voting in the city of Belmond, Pleasant, Belmond and Iowa townships ran quite a bit behind that in the 1958 primary. The three local wards and the three neighboring townships comprised six of the 14 precincts that were in Sen. Jack Schroeder's column in the race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination. Schroeder pulled 956 votes to only 612 for Erbe, but heavy support of Nicholas in Eagle Grove and environs gave the Clear Lake veteran the highest total in Wright county with 1,182 votes.

In the upset of Supervisor Christopher for the District 3 spot on the county board, Abbott polled 404 to 361 for the incumbent. Nelson had a close squeak in his battle with Siemens, edging his opponent by only 13 votes — 173 to 160. Bailey and Dexter, together, were unable to accumulate as many votes as Wiedemann in District No. 4, their respective totals being 125, 111 and 249.

Because of his youth (he graduated from St. Olaf college only this month), the victory of Richard Wilson over "Dick" Ashpole for the State Representative nomination came as something of a surprise. The young political science major drew 534 votes, exactly 300 more than the Clarion railroadman who was his rival.

Hultman edges Fletcher

The contest between Dayton Countryman and Jack Miller for the GOP nomination as U. S. Senator was less close in Wright county than in the state at large. Countryman, the former attorney general from Nevada, chalked up 1,010 votes to Miller's 706. Rollo Bergeson was a distant third with 309 votes. This nomination will have to be made at the state Republican convention, since no candidate attracted the necessary 35 per cent of the total votes cast.

Evan "Curly" Hultman of Waterloo in the Wright county voting matched his state success, though he didn't outdistance his opponents for the attorney general bid by the same margin in the county voting as in the state. He garnered 838 votes of 811 for Warren Fletcher and 558 for Leonard Abels, both of the latter being Des Moines lawyers.

Abrahamson easy winner

M. L. Abrahamson of Boone had little trouble in drawing majority support in Wright county for renomination as state treasurer. He wound up with 1,613 votes to 628 for Martin Lauterbach of Alden and 267 for John Cruickshank of Sioux City.

Democratic contests for state nominations resulted as follows in this county: governor — Edward McManus of Keokuk 435, Harold Hughes of Ida Grove 330; lieutenant-governor — John Hansen of Manning 414, Howard Reppert of Des Moines 285.

Other than the Blecker-Schroder clash, the only other GOP contest for a county position saw Myron Price, incumbent auditor, trounce John Rowen of Eagle Grove 2,064 to 638. Blecker in November will run against Marvin Newkirk of Eagle Grove, who drew 539 Democratic votes for the sheriff nomination. This was the poorest showing of any unopposed Democratic candidate for an office in which general interest might be expected.

Loveless outpolls Coad

U. S. Congressman Merwin Coad received 725 votes, 47 less than Loveless; and Harold Henry of Clarion got the Democratic nomination for the office of county auditor with a total of 629 votes. He'll vie with Price in November.

Among the Republican county officeholders who were unopposed, Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson was the best vote-getter, amassing a total of 2,594. Next, in order, came: Grace Fletcher 2,553 and Treasurer Harold Sullivan 2,528.

Robert Maddocks of Clarion, lone candidate for county attorney, polled only 2,227 votes. Ray Hagie did better than this, without opposition for the State Representative nomination, attracting 2,431 votes. Curtis Riehm, only GOP candidate for U. S. Representative from the 6th District, drew 2,049 votes.

Total vote about 3,750

Although a presidential-year primary traditionally attracts a greater turn-out of voters than an "off year," Wright county's total vote Monday probably exceeded that of 1958 by little more than 125 votes. Two years ago the total ballots numbered betweed 3,550 and 3,600; this year's probably fell between 3,700 and 3,750. As already mentioned, voting in Belmond and vicinity was short of the 1958 level.

Voting in Belmond and near-by precincts on the two most hotly contested GOP contests — involving Erbe, Nicholas and Schroeder for the governorship nomination and Blecker and Schroder for the sheriff nomination — was as follows:

	Gov.			Sher.
	E	N	S	B	S
Bel. Wd. I	8	12	32	29	23
Bel. Wd. II	10	16	31	35	21

Pleasant, Belmond twps. OK fire protection levy

Both Belmond and Pleasant townships voted in favor of the special issue in Monday's election that will permit property in the rural areas of those two townships to be taxed for the purpose of providing fire protection.

Pleasant township gave the proposition almost two-to-one support, 27 ballots being in favor and only 14 opposed. The margin was not so large in Belmond, but the proposal nevertheless was approved 40 to 30.

Under the special issue, a levy of not more than 1½ mills may be placed on the two townships' rural property, starting with 1960 taxes collectible next year.

Fire Chief A. W. Johnson promised the Pleasant and Belmond voters that the maximum levy would be required for only two years, to provide enough money to replace the present obsolete, rural fire-truck. Thereafter, only sufficient millage will be levied to maintain and man the rural equipment.

It was noted by Chief Johnson that the Belmond department already is provided funds from tax sources for answering rural calls in the portion of Grant township serviced by the Central Telephone company. That leaves Iowa township the only sizeable area in this vicinity still without tax-supported fire protection. It is the department's intention, the chief said, to give this township a chance to vote on the proposition in the near future if sufficient voters petition for such an election.

It was pointed out by Chief Johnson that the new rural truck will not be needed to provide fire protection in Belmond, itself, as the municipality some time ago purchased a new truck on which delivery is expected before the end of June.

Two picked off $25 apiece

Two readers of The Independent and/or Belmond Buyers Guide improved the shining hours of Tuesday afternoon by turning in Cash Gift Day numbers that were worth $25 apiece at 2:00 o'clock. The CGD sponsors were glad to see this "leak in the dike" created and hope that more of the green stuff will pour forth next Tuesday. They are keeping the prize level at $400 in order that, once again, there will be eight $25 awards to try for at 2:00 p. m. and four $50's at 3:00 o'clock.

WOULD APPRECIATE MAIL

Dale Busick, who suffered a heart attack about two weeks ago, has been a patient at the Veterans Administration hospital at Des Moines since May 31. He would very much appreciate mail from his friends, who may send letters or cards to him at: Ward 2-B, Room 273, VA Hospital, Des Moines.

Jane Studebaker county v. p.—

Joan Mathre will head 4-H girls

Joan Mathre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mathre of Norway township and historian of the Norway Jolly Joy Makers 4-H club, is new president of the Wright county 4-H girls. She was elected as more than 353 club members, mothers and leaders gathered at Eagle Grove for the 4-H annual Rally Day a week ago Saturday.

Twelve girls were candidates for county offices. In addition to Miss Mathre, they were: Jane Studebaker, Roberta Stover, Bonita Engstrom, Elaine Thompson, Mary Kapka, Carolyn O'Neel, Pamela Nelson, Beverly Anderson, Barbara Anderson, Barbara Moklebust, Peggy Maxon and Judy Moellering.

The new president is 16 and has been an active 4-H member seven years. She has received blue ribbons for expense books, longtime record books, and record books. She is a member of the 1200 Club, has been active in the health program and chorus work.

Miss Mathre will represent Wright county at the State Health Camp this summer. Joan also met with 99 other county presidents at a pre-convention workshop Sunday until Tuesday of this week at Iowa State university to develop leadership skills to be used at convention Tuesday through Friday and in the county during the coming year.

All of the officers elected for 1960-61 can, like the president, boast of exceptional records in 4-H club work. Jane Studebaker of Belmond Busy Bees, vice president, has been in club work six years and is 15 years of age. She has won blue ribbons in county demonstrations, has held many club offices as well as entering 36 exhibits at the fair with 27 rating blue.

Judy Moellering of the Woolstock Willing Workers was elected secretary. She is 17 years of age and has been in club work seven years. Judy has attended 81 out of 90 club meetings held in this time, has been in the reading club all seven years and has kept personal account books six years.

Roberta Stover of the Blaine Blue Ribbon Winners is the new treasurer. She is 17 years of age and has been in club work seven years. She is president of her club and has done outstanding work in demonstrations at State Fair as well as over TV and in her own community.

Carolyn O'Neel of the Lake Leading Ladies was elected historian. She is 16 years old and has six years of club work behind her. Carolyn has attended 94 out of 97 meetings and is now president of her club.

At Rally Day, achievement seals and standard club awards were given to all clubs. They had met all requirements. Reading awards were presented to 117 girls.

Mrs. Melvin Richardson, Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Jr. — mother of the new vice president — and Mrs. Phillip Ketchum were honored by being initiated into the 4-H organization.

Judy Moellering of the Woolstock Willing Workers was the winner of the "Creed" contest.

The Lake Leading Ladies club was cited for having 100 per cent attendance.

VISITORS FROM MICHIGAN

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Essen, their son and Mr. Van Essen's parents from Holland, Mich., were overnight guests last Thursday in the Herman Daniels home. On Friday, they continued their trip to Vancouver. B. C., Canada.

Clyde Blau, 65, takes own life

Funeral services for Clyde Blau, 65, of Alexander were held Thursday afternoon at the Alexander Reformed church with Rev. John Hoekstra officiating. Johnston Funeral Home was in charge and burial was in the Alexander cemetery.

Dr. D. K. Benge of Hampton, Franklin county coroner, attributed Mr. Blau's death to suicide. He said it could have been caused either by a gunshot wound or strangulation due to hanging. The deceaseds' body was discovered late Monday afternoon in a deserted building that once housed the Alexander creamery.

It was the coroner's opinion that Mr. Blau had ended his life in a moment of despondency. His health had been good, insofar as was known.

Born near Alexander on Sept. 20, 1894, Clyde Blau was the son of John and Clara Blau. On March 8, 1916, he married Martha Pals. During his earlier years he engaged in farming but in the latter part of his lifetime he mainly followed the carpentry trade.

In addition to his widow and a son Clarence, Mr. Blau is survived by a brother John and by four sisters — Mrs. Tillie Pals of Meservey, Mrs. Otto Ostendorf of Clarion, Mrs. John Modderman of Belmond and Mrs. Dick R. Schmidt of Alexander.

His parents and a son Kenneth preceded him in death; also three brothers, George, Jerry and Dick; and three sisters, Mrs. Ella Nielsen, Rosie Blau and Mrs. Anna Schmidt.

4 slightly hurt in car-and-truck smash-up Tuesday

Four persons suffered minor injuries in an accident on County U road adjoining the 4-H clubhouse east of town about 4:15 p. m. Tuesday. Investigating officer Patrolman Ben Urban says the casualties could have been much more serious but for good luck all around.

Dwight Daniels, 22, was driving east on the blacktop in OK Rubber Welders pickup truck, which was pulling a two-wheel trailer, and had just turned north onto a gravel road at the clubhouse corner when the mishap occurred.

Sandra Jeanne (Mrs. Ardell) Kaduce, 19, also was driving east and had been engaged in passing an intervening car when her car struck the left rear end of the pickup and rolled the truck onto its side.

With Mrs. Kaduce were her infant son Steven Craig, not quite four months old, and Susan Jean Pastour, 20. Mrs. Kaduce and Daniels were both treated at Belmond Community hospital for cuts and bruises, then released.

Swimming lesson schedule set up

Manager Gerald Kintzi announces that the lesson schedule for Red Cross swimming instruction at Luick Memorial Swimming Pool this summer has been drafted. He invites the close attention of parents to the lesson hours, so the younger pupils — in particular — will be certain when they are to report.

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, Kanawha swimmers will have the pool from 9:00 to 10:30 o'clock and Goodell youngsters will receive instruction from 10:30 until 12:00 noon.

Belmond children will have their lessons on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings, following this schedule:

9:00 to 10:00 o'clock — beginners with names starting with letters Q through Z, intermediates A-K, and swimmers A-K.

10:00 to 11:00 o'clock — beginners L-P, intermediates L-P, swimmers L-Z and junior life-savers.

11:00 to 12:00 o'clock — beginners A-K, intermediates Q-Z, and senior life-savers.

Youngsters from Belmond and adjoining rural area planning to take swimming lessons were to register Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at the city hall.

INSURANCE JOBS AT M. C. TO TWO BELMOND GIRLS

Sharon Koppernagel and Marilyn Mason have both accepted positions with the Iowa Hardware Mutual Insurance company at Mason City. Both girls were previously employed by the Bankers Life Insurance company at Des Moines.

Miss Koppernagel is a policy writer in the company's underwriting department and Miss Mason is assigned to the supply section of the office service department as a mail clerk.

Band will march at M. C. festival

Belmond High school's marching band — 60 strong — under the direction of Maurice Fahrney will participate in the annual North Iowa Music Festival next Tuesday at Mason City. As announced earlier, Bonnie Nolan will be the BHS candidate for Miss North Iowa, reigning royalty of the festival.

Drum Major Clark McNeal will lead the band in the parade. The majorettes will be Diane Kessler, Nadine Johnson, Bette Johnson and Eileen Morris. Since the bands march in alphabetical order, the Belmond musicians will be well up toward the front of the parade.

Mr. Fahrney says he understands KGLO-TV intends to televise the parade, so Belmondites who will be unable to attend the festival in person may be able to get a glimpse of the BHS musicians on their TV screens.

GUEST FROM CALIFORNIA

Gene Woolley, once superintendent here, named vice president of GMI

Three new General Mills vice presidents were appointed at a special meeting of the company's board of directors held last Thursday at Minneapolis. C. H. Bell, president, announced the three, all long-time employees of the company, to be:

Eugene E. Woolley, general manager of the company's Feed Division; William B. Cash, director of marketing — flour and mix products — Grocery Products Division; and Lowry H. Crites, director of marketing — cereals, pet foods, refrigerated and household products — Grocery Products Division.

Woolley, born in Osborne, Kans., graduated from Kansas State university and worked with the U. S. Department of Agriculture as a chemist before joining General Mills as a milling trainee in 1941. In World War II, he served briefly with the U. S. Army, then transferred to the Navy where he held the rank of Lieutenant (jg) aboard a destroyer.

Returning to General Mills, he progressed through such assignments as second miller, milling superintendent, and plant superintendent at several of the company's flour mills before his knowledge was turned to more diversified activities.

From 1948-50 he served as plant manager at the Belmond soybean plant, then was for three years director of production and engineering for the Chemical Division.

He returned to flour milling in 1953, becoming general plant superintendent for the Flour Division, then plant manager of the company's Buffalo, N. Y., mill before returning to Minneapolis headquarters as director of production for the division. He was appointed General Manager of the Feed Division in 1959.

Mr. Woolley has many staunch friends among his former Belmond associates and others he came to know while making Belmond his home. His latest GMI promotion will bring pleasure to them all — bringing him, as it does, into the top echelon of General Mills executives.

Mrs. Smith first president—

Grandmothers organize club here

Nineteen women met at the Blue Bell tea room Monday afternoon to hear the purposes of the Grandmothers club explained and then took the necessary steps to organize a Belmond unit.

This is a federated organization and has a variety of objectives, as related by Mrs. H L. Hettler of Mason City, who installed the officers elected after the new Belmond chapter had been voted into being. She said that the club combines charitable projects with social and instructive programs.

First Grandmothers club in the nation was formed in 1934 at a state convention of the Illinois Business and Professional Women's association. Four years later, the Grandmothers sought and obtained a national charter.

Elected as officers of the Belmond club were: Mrs. Leslie Smith, president; Mrs. Elmer Johnson, vice president; Mrs Cortland Luick, secretary; and Mrs. J. E. Ketchum, treasurer.

Mrs. Gladys Bouline and Mrs. Doris Admundson, both of Clear Lake, assisted Mrs. Hettler in installing these officers. The latter, who was also organizer of the Mason City Grandmothers club, presented the Belmond chapter with a gavel and gave each of the new officers a corsage in the club colors of gold and brown.

According to Mrs. Smith, several other women had expressed interest in the proposed organization but were unable to attend Monday's meeting. Eligibility for charter membership is still open and the president expects several more women will be accepted as charter members before the deadline is passed.

It was agreed that the regular meeting time will be the fourth Monday of the month at 2:00 p. m. The fee for membership is $3.00 per year. Women interested in joining the club, and eligible by virtue of being grandmothers, may obtain further information by calling one of the officers.

Belmond seniors awarded degrees

Several young people from Belmond have lately completed college studies and either have received or shortly will receive degrees as graduates. Among them is Paul Griesy, son of Mrs. Selma Griesy, who next Monday will be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Divinity by Yale university, New Haven, Conn.

Mr. Griesy on June 26, will be ordained as a Congregational minister in the course of rites to be conducted at the Congregational church here. In August he will sail for Japan to begin duties as a missionary.

Sandra Swenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Earl Swenson, a week ago Sunday was one of 213 seniors graduating from Luther college at Decorah with Bachelor of Arts degrees. She majored in elementary education and social science and has accepted a position as a 5th-grade teacher at Edina, Minn.

Last Sunday, Roy Johnson's wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Johnson, witnessed his graduation from St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., with a Bachelor of Arts degree in history. His future plans are indefinite, but he is considering graduate work at the University of Iowa for training in guidance and counselling.

Richard Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verdell Hanson, on Monday of this week was recipient of a Bachelor of Science degree in physics from Hamline university, St. Paul, Minn. His parents, who only recently moved to Belmond from Rochester, Minn., are brother in-law and sister of R B Thompson.

SANDRA SWENSON

Graduation of Arlo W. Stoltenberg from Central college, Pella, on May 30 was witnessed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Stoltenberg, and sisters Sondra and Marcia. He was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree. Arlo's major subject was history and he minored in English and Latin. He taught at Pella High school during the second semester as a practice teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser returned Sunday from Washington, D. C., where they attended the graduation of their son Louis from George Washington university. Another son, Jon, accompanied his parents. Lou was awarded a Bachelor of Laws degree.

He returned with Mr. and Mrs. Oberhauser to Iowa City, where he is spending this week studying Iowa law in preparation for taking his state bar examination next week. Lou has received several offers of positions in the midwest and is considering whether to accept one of them or return to his position as an examiner in the U. S. Patent Office.

MRS. LARRY G. SUNTKEN

The First Reformed church of Hollandale, Minn., was the scene Saturday of a double-ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Jane Reynen, daughter of Mrs. John Reynen of Hollandale and the late Mr. Reynen, and Larry G. Suntken, son of Mrs. Onno H. Suntken of Belmond and the late Mr. Suntken. Rev. Clarence Greving performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with lavender and white flowers, greens and tapers.

Given in marriage by her brother, Albert J. Reynen, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon organza styled with an empire waistline, scalloped neckline, and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt, trimmed with lace, fell into a chapel train. Her veil of Belgian lace was held in place with a small lace cap and her arm bouquet was of white calla lilies and ivy.

The bride's veil was loaned to her by a close friend, Mrs. Merle Brouwer. The latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Paige, now of Washington, D. C., selected the veil for their daughter's wedding while they were serving at the United States embassy in Pakistan.

Mrs. Armin Elbring of Denver, Colo., served as her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Martin Ferwerda of Boston, Mass., Mrs. Arent Mondeel of Hollandale and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Albert Lea, all sisters of the bride.

Their dresses were fashioned of white batiste with minute lavender flowers, accentuated with lavender satin cumberbunds, matching shoes and short white gloves. A crown of coronation pearls held in place a short circlet of lavender veil. Their colonial bouquets were of white carnations.

Julie Elbring, niece of the bride, was flower girl and was attired like the bridesmaids.

Best man was Jerry L. Suntken, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Linus Young of Aberdeen, Md., Fred Reed of Eddyville, and Ron Lokhorst of Bellflower, Calif., all college friends.

The guests were seated by Merle Brouwer of Holland, Mich., Dallas Pals of Pocahontas and Marlyn Kuhlers of Meservey. Candles were lighted by Byron Suntken of Meservey and Larry Reyen of Hollandale. All the men wore black formal attire.

Mrs. Robert Sherman of Park Forest, Ill., was the organist. She accompanied her husband, who sang "God My Shepherd Walks Beside Me" and "A Wedding Prayer." Excerpts from Handel's "Water Music" preceded the ceremony. The couple knelt while the guests recited the Lord's prayer.

The bride's mother was attired in beige lace with bone accessories. The groom's mother wore an ice blue silk Shantung with blue and white accessories. Their corsages were white orchids.

The reception for the 300 guests was in the form of a garden party at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Reynen of Maple Island, who acted as hosts with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reynen. Nancy Posthumus of Albert Lea sat at the guest book.

Punch was served the guests as they left the receiving line by Mrs. Paul Kirkwood, of San Antonio, Tex., and Colleen De Wall of Beloit, Wis. The serving table was centered by a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a nosegay of flowers.

Mrs. Jacob Pals of Meservey and Mrs. Ira Van Beek of Hollandale served the cake after the traditional piece was cut by the bride and groom. Mrs. Merle Brouwer of Holland, Mich., and Mrs. Roeland Hartmans of Pella, close friends of the bride, poured.

The bride's traveling ensemble was a silk tunic dress of floral print, accentuated with bone and green accessories. She carried a miniature colonial bouquet of white flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Suntken are both graduates of Central college, Pella, where they were associated with Pi Kappa Delta and Alpha Psi Omega, national honoraries. Miss Reynen was pledged Alpha Zeta Mu, the highest honor afforded a Central student. She has been employed as administrative and educational assistant at the First Reformed church of Milwaukee.

Mr. Suntken is a student at New Brunswick, New Jersey, and will serve this summer as student assistant at the Cedar Hills Reformed church, Cedar Rapids. Next fall he will be an associate at historic Old Bergen Reformed church of Jersey City, N.J.

MARIE LOVE MARRIED DONALD HOOD MAY 21

Marriage vows were spoken Saturday, May 21, by Marie G. Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Love of Roscoe, Ill., and Donald E. Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hood of 1724 Olive Ave., Rockford, Ill., formerly of Belmond, in St. Bernadette's Catholic church at Rockford, Ill. Rev. Father Paddock officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white tailored suit with a corsage of blue carnations and carried a sterling silver rosary, a gift of the groom.

Sandra Kay Ersland, niece of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a white and green silk organza gown with matching headpiece and a corsage of pink carnations and lily of the valley.

The best man was Richard F. Julander of Des Moines, nephew of the groom. Ushers were Russell Love, brother of the bride, and Eugene (Bill) Hood, brother of the groom. The men of the wedding party all wore white carnation boutonnieres.

A reception and dance was held Saturday evening at the K of C hall at Loves Park, Ill., with about 200 attending.

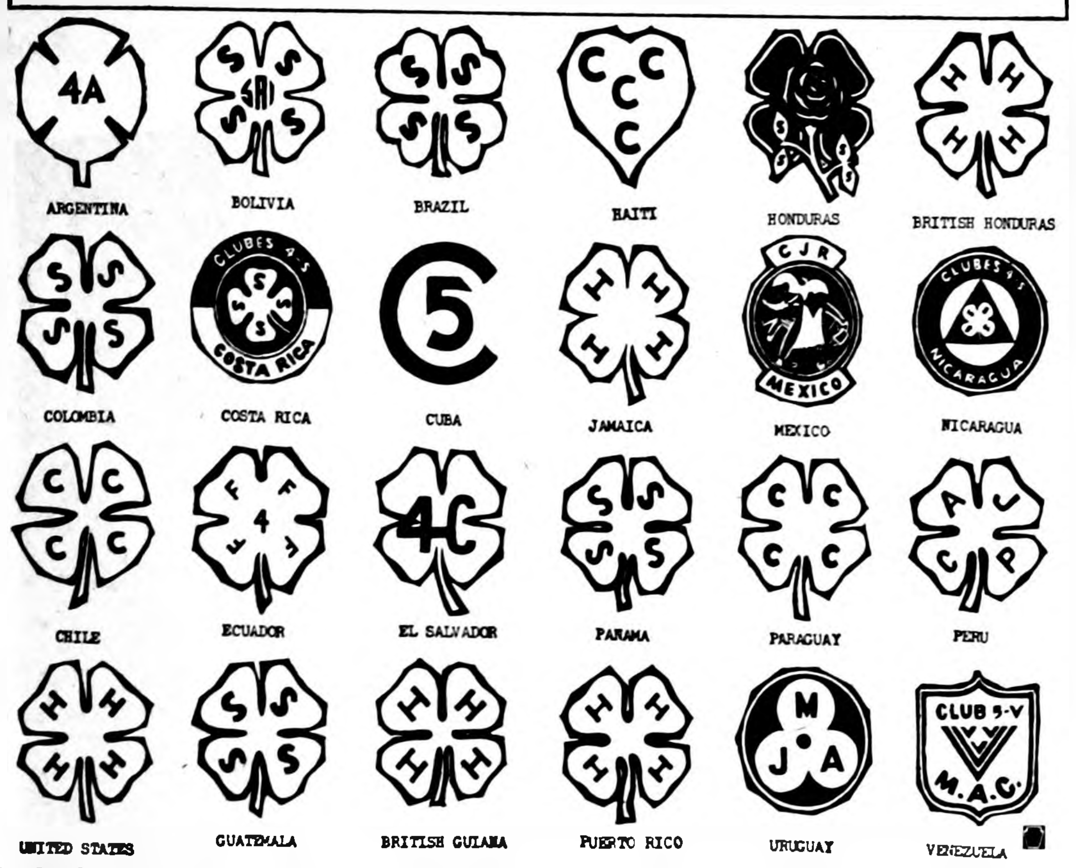
4-H's Clover Leaf Grows in Latin America Too!



SINCE O. H. BENSON, then Wright county superintendent of schools, originated the 4-H club emblem more than a half century ago, the 4-H movement has expanded into one of world-wide proportions. At the same time, the emblem has been modified into a variety of versions by other nations that have joined in the movement. Some of the insignias that have been adopted are those shown above that are currently in use in various Latin American countries. (Illustration courtesy Ford Motor company)

Starts 5th year as tourist site—

4-H Building opens for season

On Wednesday of last week the 4-H Historical Building located in the Clarion City Park on Highway No. 3 opened for the summer season, according to Mrs. S. L. Perry, receptionist. Visiting hours are from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m. on weekdays and 11:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. on Sundays, from June through August.

This rural schoolhouse was purchased by the Clarion Chamber of Commerce in 1952 and moved to its present site. It is credited with having been the birthplace of the 4-H emblem.

It is a museum of the early days of 4-H club work and is dedicated to the memory of O. H. Benson, Wright county superintendent of schools from 1906-1912.

In 1955, under the auspices of the Women's Federated clubs and other Clarion civic organizations, the building was restored as nearly as possible to its original state.

Because of the interest of these groups and various youth groups, the building and grounds are kept attractive with shrubs and plants. There are picnic facilities in the park for the public.

Within the building are many interesting displays presented by the Wright county Historical Society. Among them early school books, first 4-H certificates, first 4-H three leaf clover pins, county township pictures, maps, trophies, booklets and many other mementoes.

During the past four years 2,728 visitors from 30 states and five foreign countries (Norway, Canada, Mexico, Italy and Spain) have signed the register. The public is invited at any time during open hours to come in and enjoy the atmosphere of a country school of the period 1907-08.

The 1960 season marks the 5th anniversary of the opening of this building to the public. A 5th anniversary open house is to be held soon.

Rochelle Fuller, Janice Henriksen, Diana Andrews, Jerelyn Klehm and Donna DeCamp received red ratings.

Sharon Collins, Kathy Evans, Pamela L. Nelson and Kathy MacKay received red ratings.

Keep wool data, farmers warned

With the beginning of the new wool marketing year, and shearing time well under way or completed, growers are reminded to get complete sales records if they intend filing for wool incentive payments under the national wool program. Marketings since March 31 will be eligible for payments under the 1960 program.

The Wright county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee says that such sales records should be kept by the producer until an aplication is filed at the county office. Payments under the 1960 program will not be made until midsummer of 1961.

Growers are also reminded that the grower who receives the highest price for his wool also receives the largest payment under the wool incentive program. The payment rate is the percentage necessary to bring the national average price received by growers during the marketing year up to the incentive level of 62 cents a pound.

Film Highlights

"It's a Hitchcock thriller" is unquestionably the finest recommendation that a mystery film can be given. "North by Northwest" is one of Hitchcock's best, which is about as good a guarantee for an exciting evening as you could ask. This spine-froster, starring Cary Grant, Eva Marie Saint and James Mason, can be seen Thursday, Friday or Saturday. It has, incidentally, a "chase" that will REALLY keep you on the edge of your seat.

Kids from four to 84 will want to be sure to see the latest Walt Disney classic, "Toby Tyler, or 10 Weeks with a Circus," which will occupy the New Belmond screen Sunday through Wednesday. Kevin Corcoran, who portrays Toby, will be remembered for the comedy skill he displayed in "Shaggy Dog" and his touching role in "Old Yeller." The appeal of "Toby Tyler" is as general as that of a circus — which means it's for just about EVERYBODY.

● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kackelhoffer of Ackley and Mrs. Edna Lundy of Madison, Wis., were dinner guests in the Carol Miner home Thursday. Mrs. Lundy remained for a longer visit in the Miner home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jennings spent last weekend in Deep River with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Holderness and attended an Old Settlers get together held on Sunday at Thornburg.

Marcia Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moore, and Betty Mennenga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mennenga, started their studies Monday at Hamilton Business college at Mason City.

Flossie Brack of Phoenix, Ariz., Essy Rollins of Parker, S. D, and Alma Vegors of Webster City spent Saturday and Sunday in the R. C. Kennedy home.

Glen Eccles' older sons visit home after being scattered far and wide

Three of the olded sons of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Eccles have been, or will be, visiting at home after fairly lengthy periods of absence. Only regret of their parents, in their happiness over having the boys home again, was the fact that the visits didn't all overlap so their sons all had a chance to see each other.

CECIL ECCLES

T/Sgt. Edward Eccles left week before last for Fairchild AFB near Spokane, Wash., after spending the greater part of a 30-day leave with his parents. He and his family got back in the States May 1, after 3½ years in Japan.

They have two sons, Kim, age six; and Scott, six months old. Edward is making a career of the Air Force and has been in the service 8½ years. He continues his civilian interest in Scouting, however, and in Japan was Scoutmaster for 22 Japanese boys.

He and his family planned to do some sight-seeing in the Black Hills enroute west to his new duty station.

Airman 3/c Cecil Eccles is presently at home after completing basic training at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex. He was one of only three men in his class who achieved an NCO rating during the course of basic training. He will leave next Monday for Fort Belvoir, near Washington, D. C.

Kenneth Eccles, who has been employed by Federal Electric in a civilian job related to the DEW Line in the far north, arrived home Saturday. For the past year and a half his work has kept him above the Arctic Circle in Canada or Alaska, engaged in maintenance of the "Early Warning" system. That assignment is now completed and he has not informed his parents if he knows what Federal Electric has in mind for him next.

Both Kenneth and Edward were disappointed that their visits home did not coincide. It has been seven years since they have seen each other.

Wright receives notice for high Heart Fund rank

Mr. and Mrs. Gail Cundall of Clarion were cited last week for the outstanding job they did in directing the Wright county Heart Fund Campaign last February. Under their co-chairmanship, this year's campaign yielded 17.92 cents per capita, whereas in 1959 Wright was credited with only 1.53 per person, on the average.

From a position near th ebottom of the list of counties in regard to Heart Fund support in 1959, Wright ascended this year to a position in the top 10 — eighth, to be exact.

Cedar county led the state this year in per capita giving with 24.19 cents followed by Sioux county with 22.7.

Two other north Iowa counties of this immediate area shared with Wright the distinction of ranking in the top 10 for 1960. They were Worth, third with 21.97 cents per capita (this county was high last year with 25.1); and Humboldt, fifth with 20.12 cents.

Bob Latham given ISU scholarship by Sears-Roebuck

Supt. James Carroll announced last week that Robert J. Latham, a member of the Alexander High school graduating class this spring, has been awarded a $300 scholarship for the 1960-61 school year by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

This award was one of 22 made by the Foundation to assist students enrolled for study at Iowa State university, Ames. The grant to Latham will be applied against the expense of his freshman year of study in agriculture.

Sear-Roebuck scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and extracurricular activities.

Bob was an honor student during his four years at AHS and participated in a wide range of activities. He also had an outstanding 4-H record and last year was a member of the state and national championship livestock judging team from Franklin county. In the national contest at Chicago's International Livestock Exposition he ranked as the fifth highest individual judge among more than 80 competing.

Honor Mrs. Ross Riggins on birthday anniversary

Mrs. Ross Riggins was honored guest at a coffee Friday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Riggins at Hampton on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. In the evening, they all enjoyed a birthday dinner at the El Rancho at Hampton.

Weekend guests at the Ross Riggins home were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Clemens and family of Union. Joining them for Sunday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Riggins and baby and Mr. and Mrs. David Riggins and family of Hampton. Sunday afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Riggins and family of Eldora. These visitors came especially to help Mrs. Riggins celebrate her birthday.

Sunday morning, Mrs. Riggins was honored by the Methodist church Sunday school by the singing of songs, special music and the presentation of a corsage in celebration of her birthday as she has been Sunday school superintendent for many years.

Dennis Vestweber Boys State choice

Dennis Vestweber, Alexander High school junior, has been attending Hawkeye Boys State at Camp Dodge this week as representative of the Latimer American Legion post.

He was chosen from among contenders from Coulter and Latimer, as well as Alexander, who wrote a competitive theme to see who would be chosen as the post's delegate.

Besides being a participant in a variety of AHS activities, Dennis was the only junior on the 1959-60 honor roll for maintaining a grade average of "B" or better for the entire school year.

JOHNSON GOING NEXT TO THULE, GREENLAND

Jim Johnson arrived home Saturday to spend two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, and other relatives and friends while enjoying a leave before reporting to a new duty post.

He has been stationed at Fort Story in Virginia, but is now to report for a tour of duty at Thule, Greenland

Two birthdays honored at Charles Showalter home

Mr. and Mrs. George Paulson and Junior of Heron Lake, Minn., were weekend guests in the Charles Showalter home.

A birthday dinner was held Sunday in the Showalter home in honor of Mrs. Paulson and Richard Showalter.

Other dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Showalter and family of Clear Lake, Mrs. Grace Richards and W. P. Aldinger. Mrs. Delorus Dorenkamp baked the birthday cake.

John Johnsons honored Sunday on 25th wedding anniversary

Eighty some relatives and friends gathered Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Guests came from Austin, Minn., Milwaukee, Wis., Mason City, Latimer, Garner, Osage, Rowan, Belmond, Meservey, Thornton, Sheffield, Hampton and Alexander.

T. O. Markwardt, Mr. and Mrs. Laurel Burger, Frances and Illene attended a pony sale Saturday at Lohrville.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Schulte and children, Mr. and Mrs. Laurel Burger and daughters and T. O. Markwardt attended a Nicholson family reunion Sunday at Coulter.

Mrs. John Schulte submitted to heart surgery at the Iowa Methodist hospital at Des Moines last Thursday.

Mrs. Harry Suntken is a medical patient at the Mercy hospital, Mason City.

Patsy Card returned home Tuesday from visiting several days in the Clifton Card home at Dumont.

Mrs. Kenneth Myers was in Rochester, Minn., with Herbert Wirtz who underwent lung surgery Saturday morning. He is in the Methodist hospital.

Donovan Dirksen of Fort Knox, Ky., arrived home Monday morning for a 20-day furlough and visit in the Jelto Dirksen home and with other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Card and family were Friday evening visitors in the Raymond Knipfel home at Dumont.

14 of Wright county's 4-H girls attending state parley at Ames

Fourteen Wright county 4-H girls and leaders are attending the 31st annual girls' 4-H state convention at Iowa State university this week. It started Tuesday at Ames and extends to Friday noon.

Joan Mathre, county 4-H girls' president, attended a pre-convention workshop that started Sunday. The presidents will serve as discussion leaders and assist in other ways during the convention.

Leaders who accompanied the delegates were Mrs. Don Scott, Wall Lake Wee Women, and Mrs. Kenneth Tillman, Lincoln Lassies League. Both women have Clarion addresses.

The theme of this year's convention is "You can grow to fulfill your own promise, you can reach out to help others realize theirs." The girls are hearing speeches by state and national figures, university and extension personnel during the four-day event.

They will take part in leadership programs, musical and dramatic presentations, discussions and home economics training sessions.

Carolyn O'Neel, Lake Leading Ladies, is attending as Wright county's Better Groomed Girl and also was to act as usher for one of the sessions.

Judy Moellering will compete with the other 98 counties in the "4-H Girls' Creed" contest.

The convention's high point will be Friday morning's installation of the 1960 state officers and presentation of awards and recognitions.

TWO AUCTIONS SCHEDULED

Two public auctions of household goods are advertised in this issue. Friday, Mrs. George Norris will sell a variety of furnishings and appliances, Ray Frye serving as auctioneer. Monday, Ethyl Thompson will hold a similar sale with "Coonie" Smith as auctioneer.

● Belmond Locals

Robert McBride, Mrs. Thelma Warman, Gary and Connie, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Staley and Billy of Alexander and Mrs. Glen Staley of Hampton were Sunday supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hayes.

Mrs. J. S. Hutchings and daughter Jo of Osage spent the weekend in the Frank Jacobmeyer home. The Hutchings family left on Tuesday for the east where Jo will spend eight weeks in a summer camp in Maryland. Rev. and Mrs. Hutchings will live with relatives in Philadelphia, Pa., while Mrs. Hutchings attends summer session at Temple university.

Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Nelson were overnight guests Monday at the Harold Simerson home en route to their home at Northfield, Minn. The Nelsons have spent a year touring Europe and Mexico. Their son Charles is married to the Simersons' daughter Sandra. Mr. Nelson is an instructor at St. Olaf college.

SPORTS

Baseball practice to begin Monday

Director Don Hoppel announces that peewee and midget baseball practice will start Monday of next week. Teams will be formed for league play to start the following week.

Peewees, age eight through 10, will meet Monday at 1:00 p.m. at the high school diamond; and midgets, age 11-14, will report at 3:00 p.m.

Every effort will be made to draft teams this year that are as well balanced as possible, Hoppel says, with the hope of assuring reasonably close competition in both leagues.

Besides try-outs to line up the teams, quite a bit of time next week will be devoted to issuing uniforms. Hoppel says there are 70 peewee suits on hand, a dozen more than at the start of last season, and 60 for the midgets.

Roger Ginapp, who just graduated from BHS and plans to prepare for a coaching career by attending Iowa State Teachers college, has been engaged to serve as Hoppel's assistant.

Bronco 9 loses diamond opener

About 15 condidates are at present turning out for practice with the BHS summer baseball team that is being coached by Don Hoppel, director of the PTA recreation program.

On Memorial Day weekend, the Belmond nine got its first action in a five-team tournament held at Garner. The Broncs were beaten in the first round by Klemme, 10-3. The Shamrocks went on to win the championship.

Coach Hoppel says the BHS team didn't look too bad, considering they'd had no opportunity to practice in advance.

Roger Ginapp pitched and Merle Robbins completed the battery. It was a close game with Klemme until the 6th inning, when the Shamrocks put across five runs.

Hoppel believes Belmond will have a pretty fair team after the boys have had a chance to get in some practice. The BHS nine was to meet Garner on the Cards' diamond Tuesday of this week.

Kaufman does well as Tutor athlete

CEDAR FALLS (Special) — Bill Kaufman of Belmond, sophomore letter winner in track at Iowa State Teachers college this spring, was sixth highest point scorer on the Tutors' successful cinder squad.

A high jump specialist, Kaufman totalled 32 points for the season as the Teachers competed in three dual meets (winning them all) and five multiple-team meets. They won four of the latter and placed third in the other.

Gordon Finishes 4th at Hampton

Fred Gordon failed to take top laurels Sunday in the annual Hampton Amateur, a links classic he has won in the past, but nevertheless finished among the top four place-winners in the championship flight.

George Lee of Humboldt, winner of the Clarmond Amateur last year with a record-breaking 105, turned in a new low of 106 at Hampton to take the title. He is expected to defend his Clarmond crown on July 3rd.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father who departed from us just two years ago June 12.

Tho' it's hard to understand
Why loved ones have to part
We try to face the pain and grief
With courage in our hearts
Finding comfort in the thought
Of happy days we knew
When Dad was here with us.

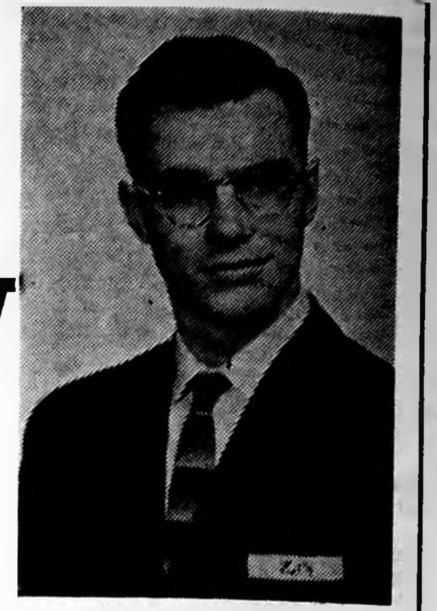
JOE TRIPLETT SEZ:



Variety is said to be the spice of life. If that's true I've been through the spicier side this past week, jobwise speaking. Lab technician, errand boy, chauffeur and salesman. Up to now I've been more successful at the first three jobs even though I've spent nine tenths of my time working on the last one. There's an answer to successful selling somewhere and if I keep stumbling along I may find it. I'm lucky to have so patient folks to experiment on. Those of you whom I haven't been successful in selling to so far just be patient. I'll be back to try again.

While acting as chauffeur last week I drove through the land of 15,000 lakes. It's better known as the land of 10,000 lakes, but this spring about half again as many more are covering the southern part of the state. An out of stater who didn't know his lakes too well could catch his limit of cornstalks in a short time. Some of those well rooted stalks would probably put up quite a struggle.

As a passing reminder my telephone number is 904 and my address is 611 E Main here in Belmond. At 5:00 A. M. I sometimes wish I didn't have a telephone, but then so do the folks that have my old phone number.

Well, it's time for me to hit the road again in search of more customers for corn sidedressing. I hope you are one of them. If you aren't it's not because I've forgotten, it's because the other three of me aren't keeping up their end. Remember, if I don't see you give me a ring. Either way you can bet the answer will be

Get Ris-Van, Man,

THAT'S FERTILIZER.

One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth forever. —Ecc. 1:4

Benson doesn't talk like man walking plank

There is good reason to believe that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's continuance in office may not extend beyond the next couple of months; but credit must be given this determined gentleman for sticking by his business in a manner suggesting that his interest in the farm problem extends clear to the distant day when something resembling an adequate, permanent solution will be achieved.

Meanwhile, a lot of Republicans — like those who were in attendance at the Wright county presidential convention this spring — believe Benson MUST be sacrificed in order that he won't prove an anchor around the neck of the GOP presidential nominee. We personally continue in the belief that a true assessment of Mr. Benson's value to the nation and to U. S. agriculture will only be arrived at when the passage of some years permits an unemotional and strictly objective examination of his achievements.

Asked recently by Courtney Sheldon of the Christian Science Monitor what he regarded his most important single achievement of the past seven years, Secretary Benson replied:

"Probably the most significant thing has been that we have reversed the trend toward socialized agriculture. We have emphasized the need for less government in agriculture, the futility of trying to fix prices by government mandate and trying to control production — a thing that cannot be done."

He cited as the remaining, glaring example of the failure of the old program of price fixing and attempts at rigid control the existing problem in wheat. Noting that "it is primarily in the area where the government has tinkered the most that we have the most difficulty today," he declared:

"We have a fantastic, indefensible situation in wheat, $3.5 billion tied up in a single commodity, costing us $1,250,000 a day just for storage and handling. And we have attempted to cut back our farmers in some of the most efficient wheat-growing areas of the world. While we have been doing [illegible]t by controls, we have stimulated production in other parts of the country with artificial pricing."

This, he observed, has led to the addition of 152,000 new wheat farmers in the past three years . . . "So we have got this tremendous build-up until wheat is costing us about 30 per cent of the total cost of programs under support. And yet wheat represents only six per cent of farm income. [illegible]is just can't go on and I don't believe Congress will permit it to go on."

First and foremost, Secretary Benson has insisted on conversion of the farm program to a plan that has some foundation in economic reality. There is the question in many minds, consequently, as to what tack Richard Nixon — assuming his nomination — would follow if he should choose to divorce himself from the Benson farm policy and endeavor to inspire something different.

Asked, "Knowing what you do about Vice President Nixon's views, would you expect him to come up with something that is acceptable to you," Mr. Benson parried the point to some extent by stating, "Well, if it is economically sound, it will be acceptable to me."

Secretary Benson declared a firm conviction that, while farm policy will be a major issue in the fall campaign, it will not bulk so large as the Democrats would like to have it "because of the improvement we have had in agriculture since the first of the year."

He concedes the Democrats will make it as important an issue as they can. And in that connection he offered the outspoken opinion that if the recommendations of the Democratic Farm Advisory committee as expressed in the Poage Family Farm Income bill should be put into effect, "it would be tragic."

He went on to explain, "They are proposing to go right back to the program that got us into this mess in the first place — high rigid supports, 90 per cent of parity fixed by government, and rigid controls by the government."

Mr. Benson acknowleged that the "economic monstrosity" that was first proposed has twice undergone revision, but added, "It still needs a lot of improving."

He expressed the suspicion that the Democrats would like to retreat as far as possible from the Poage bill's original premise, if they can but find the graceful way to do so.

These varied observations on the problem Mr. Benson has lived with for seven years definitely do not have the sound of remarks made by a man ready to withdraw from the battle. His dedication to the cause clearly has not weakened one iota; and he'll only abandon the field when carried off on his shield.

All of which leads us to suspect that, whether he's cashiered a few weeks hence or not, Ezra Taft Benson is going to be remembered for his efforts in behalf of the American farmer long after the gripes and grievances evoked by his administration have been forgotten.

Coad's been a-pluckin' that money tree again

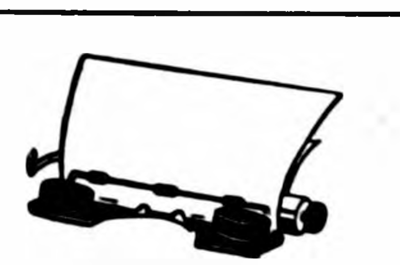
Perhaps it's established practice for members of the U. S. House of Representatives to dip into the taxpayers' pockets for the money to mail ornate congratulatory greetings to all high school graduates in their constituencies. We don't know. This is the first year Ye Ed has had a child in the graduating class, so we're new at the business.

We do know, at least, that Congressman Merwin Coad ostensibly (unless he singled out just a select few) sent to all "his" seniors a handsomely inscribed and embellished certificate offering [illegible]s best regards. It also caught our eye that the missive was sent by franked mail.

As well as the certificate was protected against being bent in the mail, we'd judge it would probably have cost close to 20 cents in postage to send the thing. Belmond High had 66 seniors. The 15 counties comprising the 6th Congressional District had one heck of a lot of seniors.

If Mr. Coad were interested at all in our opinion, which we doubt, we'd be inclined to tell him we were unimpressed with his "thoughtfulness." A brief, individual note to each senior, personally signed and mailed with a stamp on the envelope would have been received in much more kindly fashion at Ye Ed's abode.

Congressman Coad has been in Washington long enough now that he's thoroughly convinced the taxpayers' pockets nurture a "money tree" that may be freely plucked from at no real expense to the pluckees. WE know better; but we don't think HE'S ever going to find out. That's one good reason we're hopeful that this fall friend Curt Riehm of Garner may succeed in returning Pastor Coad to the pulpit, where his unworldly whims regarding public charity may be exercised at smaller cost to the general public.



Clipped Comment

From the Typewriters of Other Editors

Trafford offers some civic advice

Speaking at Britt before the Britt Commercial Club, L. T. Trafford, public relations director for Felco of Ft. Dodge, took a look at some of the problems of small cities and towns and made some potent observations.

"Low cost transportation, good roads and LOCAL JEALOUSIES are killing many small towns in Iowa," he bluntly said.

The transportation and road factor is something that even a good commercial club or chamber of commerce cannot stop. But the matter of local jealousies can be avoided.

"THE TOWN MUST FORGET itself into a strong merchandising group, and businessmen must learn how to sell" added the Ft. Dodge speaker.

He stated that surveys have shown that the small town businessman is often the worst salesman in the world with the least interest in the customer, and a great lack of selling and promoting technique.

This may be putting it pretty strong but the speaker backed up his statements with case histories and incidents as reported in the Britt News-Tribune.

"IT'S AN ATMOSPHERE OF jealousy that has a big part in killing a small town," he said. "It's an undercurrent of jealousy in which you hate to see your next door neighbor get ahead. This jealousy is not consistent with our attendance in church on Sunday," he added.

Trafford had some other thought-provoking remarks.

"An unethical type of business is the pseudo-wholesaler, the discount house or catalog house which tries to make you by-pass your legitimate local merchant who helps develop the community in which you live.

"THE PARADOX IS THAT BIG firms use cheap third-class postage rates to flood the country with catalogs to steal your business, then you pay taxes to help subsidize the post office losses that make this mailing possible," he pointed out.

The old cry of "trade at home" has been heard many times, but Mr. Trafford's summary was a blunt one. "You either hang together or you hang separately." — Forest City Summit

. . . Now, Equal Height

Shades of Procrustes and Adler's Elevated Shoes! The Democratic Party, that home sweet home for political nonconformists, is going to mold all its speakers to the same size at this year's nominating convention.

Using an adjustable elevator platform, the party will see that all the favored sons who step to the podium will rise exactly 11 feet 4 inches above the auditorium floor.

Procrustes, you will recall, was that mythological orge who fitted his guests to his bed by either streching them or chopping them down a size.

WE ARE HAPPY THAT THE Democrats, who usually chop each other up a bit at conventions anyway, have found this more elevated method of fitting their leaders to the demands of TV.

And the Republicans, if they're serious about 6-foot, 3-inch Henry Cabot Lodge as a possible vice-presidential candidate, had better consider jacking up their presidential nominee. Especially if they don't want the Democrats to pull ahead once again as the party that does things for the little man. — Christian Science Monitor

Retirement Can Kill

Just about all of us have known people who retired in seemingly good health, and died within a brief span of time. It happens far more often than it should. And a major reason is that too many of us reach retirement age without being prepared for it. Boredom sets in — the zest for living is lost. We don't know what to do with ourselves.

Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp, a member of the American Medical Association's Committee on Aging, has some important things to say about useful living in the latter years. First of all, of course, we must take the obvious precautions — proper diet, exercise and rest.

IN DR. KLUMPP'S WORDS, "You can run to retirement or you can run from retirement. To retire from is tragedy, but to retire to may mark the begining of the most satisfying part of your whole existence." This means, he pointed out, that preparation for useful activity must begin before retirement, not after. And this activity should not be related solely to a person's pre-retirement job. New and interesting horizons are needed. — Pocahontas Record-Democrat

WHAT DOES IT MATTER?—

The other day we were trying to check up on the day that a meeting was held. We asked one fellow who should have known (he was there), but the best he could do was to tell us "either Thursday or Friday." When the multiple choice answer didn't seem to suit us, he said a bit disgustedly, "Shucks, put either one. Who's going to know—and who cares?"

We couldn't come up with a ready answer for that; but nevertheless we kept checking until we found the bit of information needed to make our story "right." Our friend's remark did, however, set us to wondering just how much of the many hours of time we spend each year trying to get story details complete AND correct is really necessary.

NAMES ARE TOUGH COPY—

Of all the facts that we have to run down in the course of newsgetting, names are about the toughest to be continually right on. One reason is that people turning in stories or notes for stories as a general rule just don't give a hang if the names they submit are spelled right or not. It doesn't follow that THEY are indifferent as to whether THEIR name is spelled right or not. That's a PERSONAL matter, and they're pretty indignant if the spelling's wrong.

But ask them if they're SURE that a name they're handing in is spelled right and they'll say indifferently, "Oh, just leave it that way. I THINK that's the way they spell it."

For a newspaperman, a guess like that is in the same category as saying of a growling dog, "Don't be frightened. I don't think he'll bite." . . . It's that element of doubt that's unsettling.

TEACHERS IMPROVING—

We've mentioned how unforgiveably careless a lot (probably a majority) of school teachers are in regard to spelling their pupils' names right when they figure in a news item. In fact, we've mentioned it often enough that some of them have become fairly self-conscious about the matter and actually make some effort to get the names right.

Recently we got a list of pupils' names with the assurance from the teacher, "I KNOW that these are all right." (We'd climbed him in the past for wrong spellings.) As we copied the names into the story we were writing, though, we spotted two or three WE knew were wrong — and another we were dubious about.

We called up the school on the latter. The voice answering the phone confessed ignorance — but two others insisted the name was right. Still unsatisfied, we called the youngster's mother. Our hunch on the misspelling proved justified; and we did a bit of mumbling under our breath.

If their students were no closer to right in answering a test question than some of the teachers are in spelling their students' names, the kids would get marked down with a vengeance. Yet the teacher regards us as all-fired particular if we insist on her (or him) being certain of a pupil's name-spelling.

But, as we say, our crusade has paid off to some extent among the teachers. And even those who continue careless in this regard are conscious enough of our finicky attitude that they PRETEND they've checked a name list carefully for errors, even if they really haven't.

WHERE WAS SINSINIWA?—

One of Ye Ed's most enjoyable duties is searching out the items for the 'Way Back When corner on this page. In pursuit of these items we've now covered more than 60 years of Belmond history — from late 1899 up to the present.

It is not very often that we can't fully satisfy our curiosity when it's been piqued by an item. Sometimes it takes a few phone calls — to the likes of Thera Fitts or Ray Klemme. This week, though, we struck one that we'd appreciate a fill-in on.

It concerns Sinsiniwa college, which several Belmond young people attended some 40 years ago. We've never seen its location mentioned in the files. Some old-timer should be able to remember where and what type of a school it was — and whether it still exists under another name. If you can shed some light on the subject, please give us a ring or drop us a note in the mail.

Know your businessmen—

Joe Skarr likes running bus stop and cafe

How does the son of a construction worker — with almost a quarter century of experience in the trade, himself — suddenly get the yen to try out a completely different occupation?

Joe Skarr can tell you. His father, Arnie Skaar (you'll note that spelling of the family name has changed in a generation's time) spent a lifetime at building. Joe quit school at about the age of 15 or 16 to go to work with his father and did bricklaying, masonry and carpentry for 23 years.

Although an injury that made heavy labor more of a strain than it was in his younger days had some influence on his decision to seek a new means of livelihood, Joe says neither this nor a dislike for the building trade fully propter his desertion of it.

In fact, Joe says he still enjoyed the occupation when he pulled out of it. That was about two years before he became proprietor of the cafe, bus station and service station that he has operated on Highway 69 since St. Patric's Day of 1958. He spent two years at Kanawha as bookkeeper and parts man for a garage that has since gone out of business.

His daughter Kay was employed as a waitress at the cafe-bus stop, and when she learned that the business was for sale she told Joe about it. He recalls, "I couldn't so much as boil an egg at the time, but I enjoyed dealing with people and decided to look into it."

In the meantime he has picked up more than a few tricks of the restaurant trade and has experienced not even passing regrets over his purchase of the business from Roy McCormick.

Joe now feels at home in the kitchen to the extent that he can turn out a steak dinner with about the same dispatch as one of his cooks, he puts up short orders when a rush makes his assistance required — and three mornings a week he bakes the rolls that have become one of his cafe's major attractions.

From 90 to 120 home-baked rolls go over the counter daily. Some are put up "to go," but most of them are consumed with a cup of java during his customers' morning coffee breaks. He always runs out well before noon, and disposes of quite a sizeable order of baked goods from the local bakery in addition to the carmel and cinnamon rolls.

To look back for a moment on Joe's career before he became a restauranteur, the only interruption to his engagement in the building trade was three years in the Army toward the end of World War II. He spent two of those years in the European theater of operations, achieved a sergeant's rating for a time but was dropped back to T/5 after the war was over and ratings became harder to get.

Joe now recalls his first day as proprietor of the bus station and cafe as the most nervewracking of his life — including the period of his military service. He says the bus business is decidedly complicated, until you get the hang of reading schedules; and he was almost wholly dependent on his help to keep the cafe business rolling.

Now that he's got it all settled down to a routine, Joe says about the only thing that would set him to looking for another business would be a real good offer for the one he has now. He doesn't anticipate that such an offer is apt to displace him in the near future.

About a third of his business, Joe estimates, is comprised of tourist trade. Quite a few transients who travel Highway 69 with more or less regularity make it a habit to stop for a meal whenever they pass through Belmond. The very large share of his income is accounted for by the cafe and bus business, he states; although his service station trade picks up during the tourist season.

"You really meet all kinds," Joe says, "when you run a restaurant. Without doubt, though, the strangest customers we've had since I've had the cafe were the pair of Siamese twins who stopped a year or so ago. They were just youngsters. They really had the other customers goggle-eyed."

Joe says that some customers, particularly southerners, don't think he makes his coffee strong enough. He's even had carnival workers who were stopping over ask him to brew a couple of pots before closing at night to be warmed up first thing in the morning to have "proper" strength.

That Joe truly enjoys his business is obvious from the fact that he spends anywhere from 12 or 13 to as many as 17 hours a day at it. The cafe opens at 6:00 a. m., but someone's usually there by 5:00 or 5:30; and closing time is 9:00 p. m. unless slack business permits closing a bit earlier. Joe says he's not absent from the premises for more than two or three hours a day, and sometimes not that.

"I just like to see that everything's going right," he says.

2 from Belmond get ISU degrees

AMES (Special) — The 89th annual commencement program at Iowa State university came to a conclusion with awarding of degrees and certificates to a class of 1,058 and a reception for the graduates in Memorial Union.

President James H. Hilton personally greeted each graduate who came across the platform and was presented with a diploma.

In a brief farewell to the graduates before awarding of the diplomas, Dr. Hilton said, "Whatever the future may hold, we hope you will never lose faith in yourselves or in the future of our way of life. However fearsome the future may seem at times, I have an abiding faith in America, and we believe in you with all of our hearts."

Following the graduation exercises in the University Armory, a reception was held in Memorial Union where guests included graduates, their families and friends, and members of the university faculty.

Graduates came not only from Iowa but from 37 other states and 15 foreign lands.

In the Class of '60 from Belmond were: Leslie Anderson, a major in physical education for men, son of Mrs. Albert Anderson; and Robert McLaughlin, industrial administration, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin.

12 in 8th grade, 16 in 7th grade make honor roll

Twelve 8th grade pupils and 16 in 7th grade earned places on the junior high school honor roll for the second semester of the 1959-60 school year, according to Principal Paul Buck.

On the 8th grade honor list with B-averages for their semester grades were: Rochelle Fuller, Bruce Haugland, Stephen Hinman, Karleen Kolpin, Marlys McLaughlin, Cyndy Musselman, Douglas Pals, Bill Schubert, Carolyn Stecher, Kristine Thompson, Jolene Vanness and Sue Wilmarth.

Jeanne Finn had an average of B for the second nine weeks, but fell a bit short of qualifying for the semester honor roll. All those listed above also were on the honor list for the quarter.

Seventh grade students who maintained B averages for the entire semester were: Leslie Braner, Gwendolyn Buseman, Merry Bamford, Alan Charlson, Dennis Dorenkamp, Mike Granzow, Paul Hauge, Jane Hill, Billie McNutt, Pamela Modderman, Sterling Laaveg, Twyla Stadtlander, Janet Stadtlander, Bob Whitty, Neal Waddington and Dennis Swenson.

All of these boys and girls also had places on the honor roll for the fourth nine weeks except Pamela Modderman, Twyla and Janet Stadtlander.

Picnic and program closes EUB Vacation Bible school

The Daily Vacation Bible school of the E.U.B church ended Friday evening with a church picnic in the local school park. On Sunday morning, the children presented the morning worship service beginning at 9:30.

Total enrollment was 116 and teachers were: Elizabeth Lemke, Dorothy Ostendorf, JoAnn Nordman, Charlotte Dorenkamp, Dorothy Waddingham, Bertha Shaw, Mrs. Harry Ostendorf, Mrs. Vic Nordman, Mrs. Wayne Shaw and Rev. and Mrs. V. E. Shickell.

Others participating were Rev. Charles Johnson of the First Reformed church and Phyllis Ludwig of Tiffin, missionary to the Redbird Mission in Kentucky and a former missionary in Africa. Elizabeth Lemke served as pianist.

Little Heralds and Mission Band to meet this afternoon with WSWS

The Women's Society of World Service of the E.U.B church will meet Thursday afternoon in the church parlors for their regular monthly meeting and the annual Little Herald and Mission Band program. Hostesses are Mmes. Henry Wendel, Heiko Janssen, Lewis Myers and Grace Nissen.

David Nissen celebrated his 8th birthday Friday

Mrs. Grace Nissen spent Friday at the home of her daughter Mrs Richard Halfpap at Thornton. She helped Mrs Halfpap entertain for David's 8th birthday when he had eight little boy friends in to help him celebrate. David is suffering a broken arm for the past two weeks.

Albert Nissens of Iowa Falls to celebrate 50th anniversary

Mr and Mrs. Albert Nissen of Iowa Falls will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday. It will be held at the home of the Henry Tjadens, 718 College Ave at Iowa Falls. They would like to have their friends and relatives come from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock. The Nissens are former Meservey folks before moving to Iowa Falls.

Cemetery Society meets Tuesday of next week

The Meservey Cemetery Society will meet at the Dan Schmidt home Tuesday of next week.

Rev. V. E. Shickell and Mrs. Hughes took these to Camp Onspe, Cedar Falls, Monday morning: Ricky Morris, Tommy and Jimmy Dorenkamp, David Gobeli, Gary Pals, Donald Fischer and Marilyn Hughes. They will be there a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Pals attended the Golden Wedding Sunday at Hampton of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Passehl. They also visited at the Ray Meyer home that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morris accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pals and children to Pilot Knob Sunday where they met Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Willand of Joice and they had a picnic dinner together.

DOROTHY OSTENDORF

DOROTHY OSTENDORF GIRLS STATE CHOICE

Dorothy Ostendorf, Meservey High school junior, has been chosen by the Meservey unit of the American Legion Auxiliary as its representative to Hawkeye Girls State. This annual training camp in Americanism will be held June 19-25 on the campus of Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls.

Some 300 girls, all high school juniors from various parts of Iowa, will be delegates to Hawkeye Girls State, where they will learn the functions of the nation's representative form of government.

Miss Ostendorf is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ostendorf and has participated in a wide range of MHS activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fischer and Bob, Mrs. McCullough and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Willis McCullough of Albany, N. Y., were Tuesday evening visitors at the Mervin Morris home.

QUARTET SINGS TONIGHT

Some confusion may have been caused by an error in the headline of last week's story on the appearance of Westmar college's male quartet at the Meservey EUB church. A typographical mistake that gave the date of the concert as June 6 was not caught — but the story correctly stated that the quartet would sing at the church this (Thursday) evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Norman Boelman hostess to Junior Federated club

The Junior Federated club met May 25 at the schoolhouse with Mrs Norman Boelman as hostess. Nancy Miller presided. There were 11 members present.

Norman Pals and Marilyn Enderson each read a chapter from the book "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." The candy project was discussed as were the new booklets "Looking Ahead." Lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs Keith Dunton and daughter and Sharon Kuhlers left a week ago Tuesday for Redfield to visit at the Cleon Prestholt home.

Callers at the George Kuhlers home Memorial Day were Mr. and Mrs Cleon Prestholt, Kimberly and Kelly of Redfield, Mr and Mrs Harm H Pals of Belmond, Rev. and Mrs Eldon Pals, Becky and Bobby of LaCrosse, Wis., Mrs. Arden Johnston, Kay Lynn and Lori of Grundy Center. Evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Will J. Boelman of Belmond, Mr and Mrs. Pete Baker and family of Corwith and Mr and Mrs. Herman Boelman and girls of Alexander. They helped George Kuhlers celebrate his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs Victor Nordman and family attended the wedding at Northwood Saturday of Lonnie Harris and Myra Leighton.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Vic Nordman, Joann and Joyce, and Donnie Dirks went to Orient to attend the wedding of Joyce's college roommate, Cheryl Lovely, to Keith Jensen. Joyce was the bridesmaid and had gone to Orient Saturday evening.

The family of Hilko Pals had a family get together on the picnic grounds Sunday.

Mr and Mrs Al Nassen of Iowa Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Nissin, Steven and Brian were Sunday visitors at the Leslie Muhlenbruck home. Mrs. Nassen is Mrs. Muhlenbruck's sister and Mrs. Nissen's aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Morris of McCallsburg visited at the Marvin and Mervin Morris homes Sunday.

● Belmond Locals

VOL. 14 NO. 37 — OFFICIAL CITY PAPER — WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1960 — OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER — 12 PAGES THIS ISSUE

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

"Ask and ye shall learn" is a pretty good motto, Ye Ed has discovered. In our "Scanning" column of last week we inquired if anyone could enlighten us a bit on the whereabouts of Sinsiniwa college, an institution of learning that some local young people were reported in our files as attending a generation or more ago. Rose Ormsby called up to inform us that it not only WAS, but IS, a Catholic institution located in more or less open country in Wisconsin about six miles east of Dubuque.

Miss Ormsby says it still bears the same name and that she was a visitor to its premises not more than four years ago. It was established many years ago by a French missionary.

Apparently the reason it makes the public print less now than it used to is that a girls college that was conducted there has been discontinued — although an academy is still in operation there. The spacious grounds of Sinsiniwa also are the location of the Mother House of a Dominican order, which a sister of Rose and Father R. A. Ormsby entered — as did two sisters of Jim Barry. Several from Belmond attended the girls college, when that institution of learning was still in existence "'way back when."

It was a downcast bunch of Belmond Toastmasters who saw their "champ," Rev. Richard Jackson, declared ineligible to advance to regional competition due to a technicality after he'd won first in Sunday's zone contest at Cedar Rapids. Dave Hallowell, president of the local club, declares the Rowan pastor was "very gracious and a very good sport about the whole thing." After a moment's reflection Dave continued, in a burst of frankness, "Guess he was a good deal more gracious about it than I was."

Percy Brady, 18-year-old Eagle Grove youth who is supposed to be doing time at the state training school at Eldora, has been having a good deal of trouble with itchy feet. He just can't seem to stay put.

On April 16 he and two fellow inmates took off for distant parts, but got no farther than Eagle Grove before being back in the clutches of the law. Thursday of last week Percy and a companion again "took it on the lam." This time, in a car they'd "borrowed" at Eagle Grove, they got as far as Oklahoma City.

Monday, Deputy Sheriff Dale Walrod and Eagle Grove Police Chief Bob Koob left for the southland to pick up Percy and his chum. They hope that when they're returned to Eldora this time, the powers'll lock the door on 'em.

Edgar Mayhew tells us that Thursday of last week he spotted an albino hen pheasant not far from his farm in the Goodell vicinity. He thought at first it must be one of his Leghorn hens, and was surprised that it had wandered so far from the farmyard. Closer inspection, though, convinced him it was a "bleached" pheasant. He says it is entirely white except for a few dark feathers on each wing. . . . Maybe it's the ghost of a hen illegally shot last fall, huh?

Amateur entertainers who'd like a chance to "strut their stuff" in public are invited to contact Ed Gabrielson or George Sharp to make that fact known.

The Jaycees are putting together a stage program to be presented at the high school athletic field on Sunday evening, July 3rd, and are in search of talent.

This will NOT be an amateur contest. The Jaycees simply want to assemble a good variety of entertainment in order to end up with a well balanced program.

For many years the Chicago Tribune carried (and perhaps still does, for all we know) a column of potpourri items entitled, "In the Wake of the News." A daily two-line appeal reminded readers, "The Wake depends upon its friends," since it was mainly filled with contributed material. All of which is a round-about way of saying that this column, too, "depends upon its friends" — particularly when we get a request for information that we cannot readily satisfy.

Such a request we received last weekend from one R. H. Ahlstrom of Glenside, Pa., who with Mrs. W. H. LaMon of Downers Grove, Ill. (and no doubt a host of other Belmondites, past and present), claims that pioneer settler Simeon Overacker as an antecedent.

A 'Way-Back-When item that appeared in The Independent in 1954 someway caught Mr. Ahlstrom's attention, noting that one Charles F. Overacker had been visiting Belmond friends and was at that time editor of the Rockwood, Pa., Gazette. Mr. Ahlstrom wants to know if the Belmond newspaper later carried the obituary of Mr. Overacker or if any of his living kin have detailed information regarding this descendent of the early settler, Simeon Overacker (likely his father.) Help!

We invite particular attention to the advertisement of Iowa Electric Light and Power company in this issue that publicizes the "Gold Medallion" home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Schager near Alexander. This same home was prominently pictured in the annual financial report of the IEL&P.

A "Gold Medallion" home, as you all SHOULD know by now, is one that is all-electric even to being heated electrically.

Mrs. Schager is enthusiastic about the advantages of all-electric homekeeping. So is local IEL&P Manager Cecil Carstens, who is also pictured in the ad — conversing with the Schager family. This advertisement is being used throughout the area serviced by Iowa Electric Light and Power.

DISCUSSING OLD TIMES was the business of the moment as George A. Roberts (left) of Rhodesia, South Africa, and R. K. Bliss of Belmond were photographed during recent Alumni Days on the Iowa State university campus, Ames. Chatting at the Memorial Union, these old friends recalled when they were college roommates over a half century ago.

Roommates over 50 years ago—

Alumni Days reunite old friends

AMES (Special) — An Iowa State university 1906 graduate, who is a missionary in Rhodesia, South Africa, returned to his alma mater last week for Alumni Days activities.

He is George A. Roberts, who founded the first class of agriculture in Rhodesia in 1909. As a student at Iowa State in the early 1900's Roberts studied Animal Husbandry.

One of the biggest thrills of the week was visiting with his former roommate R. K. Bliss of Belmond, retired professor of agriculture and home economics extension, who served 50 years on the Iowa State university staff.

Bliss and Roberts roomed together 50 years ago in the basement of the Dairy Industry building.

"We had quite a class!" reported Bliss.

"When we were freshmen, we decided to have a class picnic, which was something that had never before been done," he said.

Freshmen were not allowed to have parties.

The upperclassmen kidnapped several freshman class members including the entertainment for the picnic, Bliss reported.

Just before graduating, Roberts attended a convention sponsored by the Methodist church in Nashville, Tenn., where he became interested in missionary work.

After extensive interviews with several church members, Bishop Hartzell of the Methodist church agreed to come to the Iowa State campus, where he met with Roberts' instructors.

It was finally decided that Roberts would make a good missionary, and he was immediately sent to South Africa.

Roberts felt well-prepared for such an assignment, since he had completed four years at Iowa State in the college of agriculture. He had studied all required courses except military drill and blacksmithing.

"I had heard so many Civil War tales from my father that I could not face that military drill," said Roberts, who finally talked his adviser into marking "athletics" across his military drill form, thus excusing him from the course.

Blacksmithing was "the other course I escaped," he said. His father had always told him to study hard so he would be prepared to do jobs for himself, except blacksmithing.

"If you have some blacksmithing to be done, take it to a tradesman," Roberts was told.

When Roberts arrived at the Rhodesia mission for his life work, his first assignment was to "put the natives in line and make them step."

Later the same day having some time, he asked what he might do to help.

"There's a little blacksmithing to be done," was the reply.

During his 55 years as a missionary Roberts has taught over 2,000 persons. Classes have grown from 17 in his first agriculture class to 1,200 at the present time.

"One of my biggest accomplishments was convincing the Africans they should use fertilizer," he said. It was a tough job because "they kept insisting it was dirty."

One of nine children, Roberts grew up on a farm in northwest Iowa.

"It's wonderful to return to the Iowa State campus, but I don't see how people get around nowadays," he said. "There are so many large buildings and one-way streets I'd never find my way to class."

Robert's wife accompanied him to the Iowa State University Alumni Days. They plan to spend several months in this country before returning to South Africa.

Mary Smith new secretary of Iowa department, WRC

Mrs. Leslie (Mary) Smith on Tuesday of this week accepted appointment as secretary of the Iowa department of the Woman's Relief Corps, whose annual convention she had attended at Newton from last Sunday to Tuesday afternoon.

Although Belmond has no unit of the WRC, auxiliary of the Grand Army of the Republic, Mrs. Smith has been active in the organization since belonging to the unit at Shell Rock before moving to Belmond.

She was president of the Iowa department of the WRC in 1950-51 and has held other posts of responsibility in both the state and national organizations.

Her appointment to the position of state secretary was made by Mrs. Zylphia Felton of New Virginia, president-elect of the Iowa department.

NEVA KYSER GRADUATES

Neva H. Kyser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kyser, on Tuesday of last week graduated from Southwestern college, Memphis, Tenn. She was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree at the school's 111th commencement. Seniors in the Class of '60 numbered 118. Miss Kyser was graduated with distinction in Spanish. The Southwestern commencement activities were attended by her parents.

Another "6 Wild Hours"

Twenty Belmond stores are cooperating tomorrow (Friday) in another "Six Wild Hours" during which bargains galore will be offered to entice new customers to Main street — and bring smiles to the faces of faithful Belmond shoppers. A similar promotion earlier this year was a resounding success and the merchants are counting on Friday's event to match its predecessor. The "Six Wild Hours" will extend from 12:00 noon to 6:00 p. m. Because quantities are in some cases limited, it will behoove shoppers to plan an early start on their bargain-hunting. Many prices are being cut to cost and below.

PFC. ROBERT KURTZ ENDS MARINE COMBAT TRAINING

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (FHTNC) — Marine Pfc. Robert J. Kurtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kurtz of Belmond, Iowa, has completed four weeks of individual combat training at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The course included the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

HELLO WORLD

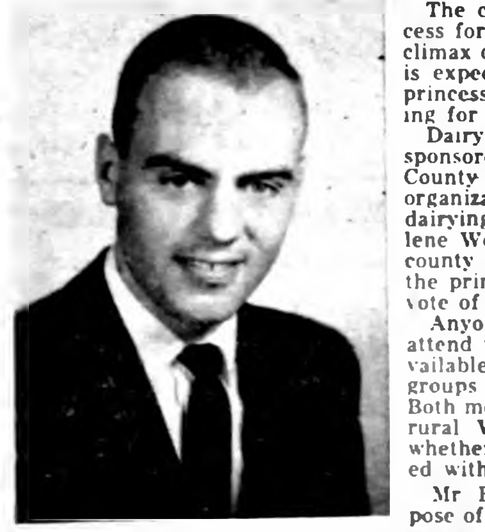
An 8-lb. 1-oz. son was born June 11 to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Houser at Des Moines. The mother is the former Betty Clare Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson. The new baby has been named Michael Edward.

Feast at Rowan on June 27th—

Banquet to highlight Dairy Month

Wright county's June Dairy Month Banquet will be held at the Rowan school a week from Monday, June 27, starting at 6:30 p m.

This annual banquet is sponsored by the Wright County Dairy Interests' association whose new president is Lauren Kreitlow of Dows. The new vice chairman is Leonard Madison of Goldfield. Other officers re-elected were Lynn Thompson, treasurer, and Aaron R. Bowman, secretary.



GRADUATE STUDY at Iowa State Teachers college in algebra and geometry was made possible this summer for Rich Koolbeck, BHS mathematics and science instructor, by a grant awarded him by the National Science Foundation. He began his eight-week summer course of study on Monday of this week. Mr. Koolbeck has been on the local faculty for three years and is varsity football and track coach in addition to handling his classroom assignment.

William J. Hitz of Polk City, vice president of the American Dairy association, will be the principal speaker. Mr. Hitz was a member of the president's commission to India and the Far East to help countries in that area to find solutions to some of their dairy problems.

Dwight Nichols, the all-American football player from Iowa State university, will also give a short talk at the banquet. Mr. Nichols has been employed by the Iowa State Dairy Promotion association to help promote dairy products in Iowa.

The crowning of the dairy princess for Wright county will be the climax of the evening's program. It is expected that about 10 dairy princess candidates will be competing for this honor.

Dairy princess candidates are sponsored by the different Wright County Dairy Interests' association organizations together to promote dairying and dairy products. Arlene Woodley, the 1959 Wright county dairy princess, will crown the princess who is elected by the vote of the people in the audience.

Anyone interested is welcome to attend this banquet. Tickets are available through any of the dairy groups sponsoring this dairy event. Both men and women of urban and rural Wright county are invited, whether or not they are connected with dairying in any way.

Mr Bowman notes that the purpose of the banquet is to explain to persons other than dairymen the value of dairy products and their importance in Wright county.

The banquet will be served in the school gymnasium-auditorium at Rowan and in the community room. Women of the Congregational church are catering the event.

The different dairy interests in Wright county cooperating with and sponsoring this event are: Belmond Co-op Creamery, Clarion Dairy, Dows Co-op Creamery, Dairy Herd Improvment association, Goldfield Co-op Creamery, Middleton's of Eagle Grove, North Iowa Breeders Co-op, Wright County Dairy Herd Producers.

Also, Pioneer Cheese factory of Renwick, Purebred Dairy Producers, Renwick Community Creamery, Jorgenson's of Eagle Grove, Clarion Produce, Meints Produce of Belmond, Wilson and Company of Eagle Grove and Snyder Produce, Eagle Grove.

Mason City man hospitalized here by highway crash

Virgil L. Orman of Mason City was released from Belmond Community hospital Monday after he had become a patient there following a highway mishap in which he was injured about 8:00 o'clock Thursday morning of last week. He was to face charges of failure to yield half the right-of-way to oncoming traffic, when his physical condition would permit.

When the pickup truck he was driving sideswiped two other trucks and a car 2½ miles south of Klemme, Orman suffered a shoulder fracture and concussion and also had two ribs broken. Patrolman Maynard Holland of Forest City reported that the accident apparently was caused by Orman falling asleep at the wheel.

The investigating officer's report stated that the pickup traveling south, struck the northbound trucks and then flipped over on the highway with its rear striking the front of the northbound car.

With Orman in the pickup was Marvin Hansen of Harlan, who was treated for lacerations but did not require hospitalization. Neither Thomas Roths nor Elmer Langhty of Klemme, drivers of the other trucks, nor driver of the car, Johanna Foss of Goodell, were injured.

Belmond Toastmaster judged winner in zone; declared "ineligible" because of technicality

Wrong numbers . . . every one

A nicer day to pick up a little spending cash would be hard to find. But Tuesday afternoon's balmy sunshine failed to bring out a single Cash Gift Day lucky number holder. Twelve prizes worth a total of $400 were posted, but not a one was claimed. Consequently, the CGD committee will keep the prizes for next week the same as for this past Tuesday to come to the same total of $400. There will be eight numbers worth $25 apiece posted at 2:00 p. m. and four worth $50 each at 3:00 o'clock.

H. N. Hill rites conducted Monday

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at Johnston Funeral Home for Herbert N. Hill, 90, a resident of Belmond for 60 years. A brief funeral message was spoken by Ed Spurling of Iowa Falls, a long-time friend of the Hill family.

Burial was in the Belmond cemetery. Serving as pallbearers were George Baxter, Dale Kessler, Henry Hokel, Vere Jenison, Carroll Bamford and Gerhard Johnson.

Mr. Hill had died at his home here last Saturday morning after an extended period of illness.

Born Feb. 23, 1870, in Illinois, the deceased was the son of Christian and Ellen Hill. He married Berdie Lee Stanley at Holtan, Kans., on Oct. 2, 1900 and that same year the couple moved to Belmond to make their home.

For over 50 years Mr. Hill was a jeweler and watchmaker, until ill health forced his retirement about seven years ago.

Mr. Hill's wife preceded him in death in 1948, and he was also preceded by his parents, three brothers and a sister. Surviving are his son Stanley of Belmond; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Trenary of Corwith and Mrs. Dean Elliott of North Egamont, Mass.; also a brother, Elmer Hill of Des Moines.

Weed clinic set for Friday night

A twilight weed control meeting open to all farm operators, landlords and herbicide handlers will be held Friday evening at the Ray Hagie farm. The meeting will start at 6:45 p. m. with a demonstration of the pre-emergence spraying of corn with atrazine, a new herbicide, for weed control.

Dr. E. P. "Dutch" Sylwester, weed specialist from Iowa State university, will discuss pre-emergence sprays and other weed control problems. "Dutch" will also identify any weeds that are brought to the meeting. The Clarion Farmers' Elevator will pay $1.00 to anyone who brings a weed that "Dutch" cannot identify.

Extension Director Aaron Bowman, who arranged the meeting, is urging that landlords and retailers handling weed control chemicals also attend this meeting.

The Ray Hagie farm is located a half mile west of County K and a half mile south of Highway 3. Temporary markers will be placed at the highway intersection giving the directions to the farm.

"Voc. Ag." post to Hampton man

Last vacancy on the Belmond Community School faculty for the 1960-61 school year was filled last week with the hiring of Darrell D. Staley of Hampton as vocational agriculture instructor. He will succeed Darwin Schroder, who resigned to accept a sales position with Ris-Van, Inc.

Mr. Staley is a 1959 graduate of Iowa State university, Ames, and during the past year served as "voc. ag." teacher at Aplington High school. He was graduated from Hampton High school in 1955. He is the son of Glenn Staley, elevator operator and feed manufacturer with headquarters at Hampton.

The new agriculture instructor is married and has a young daughter. He will make his home in the John Suntken residence on east Main street that is being vacated by Dr. Charles E. Carlson. Mr. Staley is hired on a 12-month basis and will begin his duties July 1.

DARRELL D. STALEY

MISSISSIPPI VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Griffen of Natchez, Miss., were guests in the A. C. Lieuwen home Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Odean Severseike gets M. D. degree from Minnesota U.

Odean Marlin Severseike, BHS graduate with the Class of '52 and son of Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Severseike, former Belmond residents now of Ames, last Saturday during graduation exercises at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis was awarded the degrees of Doctor of Medicine and Bachelor of Science.

The ceremonies were attended by Odean's parents, his sister Mrs. Gerald Swenson with her husband and children; also his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lee, and brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goeman.

Earns scholastic honor

While an undergraduate student at St. Olaf, Northfield, Minn., where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree, Mr. Severseike had been elected in his junior year to Phi Beta Kappa, collegiate national honorary society. Prior to his graduation from the university he was elected to membership in Alpha Omega Alpha, the corresponding national honorary medical fraternity.

Odean graduated from St. Olaf in 1956 at the top of his class, summa cum laude. At the University of Minnesota he ranked in the top three of his class, which numbered 122 medical students.

Future plans indefinite

Dr. Severseike will be doing internship at General hospital, Minneapolis, until July 1, after which his plans are not yet decided. He is considering either taking a residency that will permit him to continue study in a specialized field, or establishing a practice somewhere.

Mrs. Severseike is the former Phyllis Lee of Belmond. She and Dr. Severseike have one child, a daughter, Lori Lea.

Parade will offer children's prizes

Mrs. Bill Shirer, who is chairman for Beta Sigma Phi sorority in charge of planning the 4th of July parade, announces that a special section for children will be included in the parade.

Since there will be prizes for the best child entries, she urges that mothers be giving some thought to planning for the appearance of their youngsters in the parade. Further information will be given later.

Mrs. Shirer says plans are shaping up well for the commercial and organization divisions of the parade, but she thought it advisable that some advance warning be given regarding the children's division so some prompt effort can be given to devising entries.

As a part of their promotion of the 4th of July celebration here, the Jaycees are contributing $100 to be divided into prizes that will go to winning entries in the various parade divisions.

Charge going up in August—

IEL&P announces raise in gas rate

Cecil Carstens, division commercial manager for the Iowa Eelctric Light and Power company, announces an increase in the cost of gas to Belmond customers to cover the additional charges made by its pipeline supplier.

Manager Carstens explained that Northern Natural Gas company last Dec. 27 again increased its rates to IEL&P. His company delayed asking for an increase in retail rates because it had hoped the Federal Power Commission would soon make a final decision on two prior pipeline increases made in August of 1957 and November of '58.

As the FPC has taken no action to date, Mr. Carstens said that some adjustment in the retail charges is now necessary to cover the latest increase in pipeline charges.

The rate revision will result in an increase of six-tenths of a cent per 100 cubic feet. Mr. Carstens says the increase will amount to about 24 cents per month for a typical customer using gas for water heating and cooking only. In the winter, a typical customer using 30,000 cubic feet of gas for heating in the coldest month would pay $1.80 or more.

An increase in rates made in April of last year amounted to 1.2 cents per 100 cubic feet and covered the pipeline increases made to IEL&P in August of '57 and November of '58.

City Clerk Lois Hammond says that when the Belmond city council gave permission for that increase, it signed an agreement with the utilities firm that subsequent changes made necessary in the IEL&P's gas rates by altered pipeline charges might be automatically applied here. Although council action was not necessary on the latest rate change because of this escalator clause, Iowa Electric Light and Power nevertheless formally notified the council of the upcoming rate action at a meeting of the council members last Thursday night.

Mr. Carstens pointed out that the FPC has made no final decision on any of the last three increases put into effect by Northern Natural Gas. In discussing the possibility of a final settlement by the FPC, he said, "From past experience I believe that the Federal Power Commission will not approve the full amount that Northern has asked for and has been collecting from us. Whenever final settlement is made, I believe that Northern will be required to make some refund to us.

"In such an event, we will also make a refund of such excess amount which we may have collected from our customers."

Manager Carstens noted that the existing rate ordinance in Belmond, while allowing for automatic increases in charges to customers as mentioned above, also provides for making appropriate refunds to Belmond gas customers should a reduction in pipeline tariffs be ordered by the FPC.

The new gas rate in Belmond will be effective on billings based on meter reading on and after Aug. 1, Mr. Carstens says.

Mrs. Waddington's last rites today

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon for Mrs. Bruce Waddington, 76, who died Monday afternoon only a few minutes after admittance to Belmond Community hospital following a heart attack.

Rev. M. L. Jones will officiate over the final rites at the Methodist church. Burial will be in the Belmond cemetery. Pallbearers will be Ed Kennedy, John Leist, LeRoy Hayes, Stanley Moe, Lloyd Gordon and Kenneth Whitten.

Mrs. Waddington was at the home of her son George, in south Belmond, when stricken Monday afternoon. She and her husband had shared time between the home of George and that of their daughter, Mrs. Art Nielsen, near Clarion since Mrs. Waddington broke her arm about three weeks ago.

The obituary of Mrs. Waddington will be published next week.

Adult swimming lessons planned

Adults wishing to take swimming lessons may register at Luick Memorial Pool any time, starting today, for a six-week course that is to begin next Monday night.

Jerry Kintzi, pool manager, says adult swim students must have season tickets for the pool and pay a $3.00 enrollment fee for the course of six lessons. He says interest indicates a good-sized class, so adult non-swimmers need not be sensitive about enrolling for fear that their personal efforts will draw attention.

Monday night will be strictly "adult night" at the pool for the next six weeks, Mr. Kintzi says, with admittance limited to persons who have graduated from high school.

There will be open swimming for adults on Monday evenings from 6:00 to 7:00 and 8:00 to 9:00 o'clock, with the hour from 7:00 to 8:00 limited to swimming instruction.

Persons may enroll for adult lessons by phoning the pool, dial 320, and paying their fee next Monday night.

Quigley grandson dies of leukemia

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quigley, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson and Jack returned Sunday evening from St. Paul, Minn., where they had attended funeral services for Gerald Sparks, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sparks.

The youngster, a victim of leukemia, was a grandson of the Quigleys. His mother will be remembered as the former Lorraine Quigley of Belmond. Gerald had been ill about 10 months.

In addition to his parents, Gerald is survived by an eight-year-old brother, Dennis; by his maternal and paternal grandparents, the latter being Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sparks of St. Paul.

Elation turned to deep disappointment for a delegation of Belmond Toastmasters attending the zone speech contest Sunday at Cedar Rapids as Rev. Richard Jackson of the local club was judged first place winner — and then declared ineligible.

The Rowan pastor was competing against one Iowa and two Minnesota contestants for the right to advance to the regional contest, to be immediately followed by the national finals, at Atlanta, Ga., in August.

Actually, Mr. Jackson's selection as zone winner was never publicly announced, since before that could be done it was discovered that he did not meet the requirement of having been a Toastmaster member for at least a full year.

Didn't know of rule

This provision had not been called to the attention of Belmond Toastmaster officials. It was explained to President Dave Hallowell that little attention was paid to the restriction in area and state contests, in order not to discourage participation of new members.

However, it had never occurred before that a Toastmaster of less than one year's membership had — in this area of the country, at least — advanced as far and Mr. Jackson, so invoking of the rule had not proved necessary.

When the contestants were being interviewed informally after the conclusion of the contest, and while results of the judging were being awaited, Mr. Jackson related that he has belonged to the Belmond club only since last September.

Second Iowan winner

By the time the contest officials were aware of this fact, the judges had already agreed on the Belmond entrant as the winner. But with Mr. Jackson's ineligibility known, the zone title was officially awarded to the second-place winner, David Stanley of Muscatine, who was also runner-up to Mr. Jackson in the state contest held last month at Davenport.

Mr. Jackson had chosen as his topic, from a submitted list, "Are Leaders Created or Developed?" Although the unforeseen complication deprived him of the zone championship, his performance was generously praised by several high officers of the Toastmasters organization including International President Emil Nelson of Santa Ana, Calif.

"Wait till next year"

Accompanying Mr. Jackson to Cedar Rapids to hear him take part in the contest were his wife and five local club members and their wives: Mr. and Mrs. Hallowell, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Dick McFarlin, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Kutz.

They anticipate that their ace speaker will be a serious contender for high speech honors then — and be able to meet the eligibility qualifications to accept them.

FORTY YEARS of priesthood were celebrated Monday evening of last week by Rev. J.J. Buzynski (left), pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church of Clear Lake, at a reception tendered him by members of his parish. Joining in the festivities was a classmate of Father Buzynski, Rev. R. A. Ormsby (right) of Belmond's St. Francis church, who was a classmate of the Clear Lake priest at Loras college, Dubuque, and later at St. Paul (Minn.) Seminary, where they underwent their training for the clergy. Both men were ordained at St. Paul on June 6, 1920. Father Buzynski, who has been at Clear Lake for 17 years, was presented with a purse of $550 by his parishoners. Father Ormsby has served at Belmond for an even longer period, having come here July 9, 1939.

MR. AND MRS. ROY M. JOHNSON

Miss Shirley Jean Pals, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick D L. Pals, became the bride of Roy M. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jens P. Johnson, in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, May 28, at 7:30 o'clock at St. John Lutheran church. Rev. William Heinzig, assisted by Rev. Oscar Laaveg of Trinity Lutheran church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

Large baskets of white gladiolas and green stocks decorated the chancel, along with lighted tapers in seven-branch candelabra embellished with greenery and white satin bows. The mothers' pews were marked with white satin bows.

Willard Johnson of Rochester, Minn., brother of the groom, provided the nuptial music and accompanied his wife as she sang "I Love Thee," "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Eldon Pals, brother of the bride, and Charles Kalsett of Moorhead, cousin of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose white silk organza for her wedding gown. The fitted bodice of Chantilly lace was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves that tapered to points over the wrists. The floor-length bouffant skirt was highlighted by a front lace panel. A large back bow completed the silhouette.

Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion fell from a tiara of satin with pearls and iridescent sequins. Her jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried yellow roses on a white Bible, with lily of the valley streamers.

Barbara Reed of Bedford was maid of honor. Mrs. C. Malcolm Scott of Madison, Wis., sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Marilyn Pals, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore dresses of mint green nylon over net and taffeta with white headbands and white gloves. They carried crescent bouquets of white daisies.

Clark and Curtis Johnson of Rochester, Minn., nephews of the groom, were ringbearers. They carried the rings on white satin heart-shaped pillows. Their boutonnieres were yellow roses.

Ronald Johnson served his brother as best man. The groomsman was Marlin Pals, brother of the bride, and junior groomsman was Marlin Johnson of Alden, cousin of the groom. The ushers were Howard Pals, brother of the bride, and Peter Swan of Westbrook, Me. The groom had a yellow rose boutonniere and the other men had white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride chose a navy blue dress with white accessories. The mother of the groom wore a mauve dress with white accessories. Their corsages were of pink roses.

Janis Kalkwarf of Cedar Falls, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Centering the table was a four-tiered wedding cake trimmed with mint green flowers. Mint green and white candles and mint green ribbons completed the bridal table decorations

Karon Bohning of Alta and Marjorie Johnson of Rochester, Minn., cut and served the wedding cake. Linda Small of Kalona poured the punch and DeAnn Ramsey of Montezuma served the coffee. Dining room hostesses were Patricia Patten of Hampton and Shirley Harryman of Milton. The Ladies Aid of the church was in charge of the reception.

Kaye Pemble of Paton, Janice Porter of Fort Dodge and Eileen Roberts of Ottumwa opened and arranged the gifts.

After a short wedding trip through Wisconsin and Illinois, the couple is living in Des Moines. The groom is a graduate of St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., and the bride will graduate from Iowa Methodist School of Nursing, Des Moines, in September.

Selling soil bank land? ASC office should know of it

The county ASC office should be notified whenever farm land which involves an acreage allotment or a conservation reserve contract is bought or sold, it was pointed out this week by the Wright county ASC committee.

There are certain regulations concerning the combination and division of farms which must be carried out whenever land with acreage allotments changes hands. Notification of the county office will enable the necessary changes to be made on office records.

In many cases, the committee said, it is even better if the ASC office can be consulted before the farm real estate deal is closed. This may prevent later misunderstandings as to how allotments or conservation reserve contracts may be affected.

Dale Hauge is attending 4-H boys' short course

Fifteen 4-H boys and one leader from Wright county are attending 1960 4-H short course this week Tuesday through Thursday at Iowa State university, Ames. Delegates were selected by local boys' clubs in the county and will join more than 1,300 other 4-H'ers at the three-day short course.

The boys will take part in programs and discussions centered on the theme, "Learn, Live, Serve — Through 4-H." Leaders in agriculture and education, coaches and career counselors will speak to them at various sessions. Guest speaker at the opening assembly Tuesday evening will be Glenn Cunningham, former national mile champion and Olympic track star

Field tours of the agricultural engineering farm, agronomy and animal husbandry farms will point out new developments in agriculture. A variety of entertainment is scheduled throughout the conference and the election of the 1960 state boys' 4-H officers will take place Wednesday evening.

Also attending the State 4-H Short Course are Melvin Bosworth, Liberty Pathfinders, county boys' 4-H president, and John Rodecap, Lake Leaders, state 4-H office nominee.

Youth exchangee spending 2 weeks in Wright county

Nechama Zeitland, an Iowa farm youth exchangee from Bulfuria, Israel, will be a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Robie of Clarion, from tomorrow, (Fri.) until July 5. Miss Zeitlin is 22 years of age and comes from a medium-sized farm in Israel on which dairy cattle and poultry are the main livestock.

She is the youngest of three children, having both an older brother and sister. She has studied English for six years and has had one year of collge, majoring in sociology.

The student exchange program is one that many are familiar with in Wright county, since 4-H clubs donate funds to assist many Iowa boys and girls to spend six months in some foreign country.

In exchange, students from other foreign countries visit Iowa farm families. Many organizations in Wright county have had programs by exchangees, either returning Iowa youth or foreign.

Miss Zeitlin will leave Wright county on July 6 to visit an O'Brien county farm home for two weeks. She arrived May 13th in New York, visited a few days in Washington and arrived in Iowa the last week in May.

She will visit in Missouri and Ohio before returning to Washington, D. C., in early November. She leaves for home Nov. 7.

Visitors from 10 foreign nations tour this area

Visitors from 10 foreign countries visited Wright county farmers on Monday and Tuesday of last week to inspect crop and livestock production techniques.

Extension Director Aaron Bowman escorted two visitors from Germany and one each from Sweden, Ireland and England on Monday to see the beef feeding set-up at the Harry Espenhover farm in Lake township, to Fashion Farm at Meservey to see the "cow pool" and then to the Bernard Collins farm in Lincoln township to see a production set-up for raising 2,000 hogs per year.

Prof. W. H. Morris of Purdue university in Indiana was in charge of this group and Jim Russell, farm editor of the Des Moines Register, assisted in arranging the trip and accompanied the group on their tour in Wright county.

Monday noon the visitors were guests of the Clarion Rotary club and each gave the purpose of his visit to this country and a little of his observations so far.

Visitors from Spain, Tanganyika, Peru, India, Brazil and Libya arrived in Wright county on Tuesday escorted by Dr. C. A. Iverson and Bob Kern of Iowa State university. They also visited the beef feeding set-up on the Espenhover farm. The mechanized feeding was demonstrated by Harry Espenhover. Mr. Bowman visited with the group and explained farming procedures in Wright county.

Both groups will make several other stops in Iowa.

Most of the Tuesday visitors were editors or connected with radio or television stations in their own countries. Part of the delegation spoke English and one interpreter traveled with the group.

MICRO-MIXED
PURINA CATTLE CHOWS

MORE PROOF... FROM YOUR NEIGHBORS... IT PAYS TO FEED PURINA
Twenty steers were fed out in a 126-day Purina public feeding demonstration near Clarion, Iowa, last winter. They made 100 lbs. of beef for an average cost of $17.68.
In Clarion, Iowa, demonstration
steers gain 3.17 lbs. per day on Purina
This winter, Iowa cattlemen saw for themselves how feeder cattle can return more profit on a Purina Steer Fatena-grain ration. The steers averaged 3.17 lbs. daily gain, produced 100 lbs. of beef on 10.5 bushels of corn and 65 lbs. of Purina Steer Fatena. Average cost was $17.68 per cwt.
HOW THE DEMONSTRATION WAS RUN
Twenty high-altitude Montana steers were fed a ration of ground ear corn, shelled corn and two lbs. per head per day of Purina Special Steer Fatena with 5 mg. of stilbestrol. They weighed 735 lbs. apiece at the start . . . averaged 1135 lbs. at the end of 126 days.
See for yourself what Purina can do in your own feedlot. Public feeding demonstrations throughout the Midwest and West are proving that the Purina Cattle Program can help steers make fast low-cost gains. Stop in and visit with us about feeding demonstrations. We can recommend an easy-to-follow, researched Purina Cattle Program for you.

Broncs on Class A honor roll—

12 BHS track marks earn notice

SPORTS

Belmond High school's state champions figured more prominently than the athletic stars from any other Class A school in the Iowa high school honor roll of track and field achievements released last week by Harry G. Burrell of the Iowa State university publicity department.

Besides having the year's best times in two relay events, the Broncos had a tie for best in one individual event, second best time in three running events and third best at another distance and in one relay. Altogether, 12 BHS individuals or relay teams earned honor roll mention.

Best performances in their class were recorded by the Belmond mile relay quartet, both indoor and outdoor champions, at 3:33.3 and the two-mile relay team at 8:27.6.

Dave Suntken's jump of 6-1 in the high jump tied for Class A best of the season, his :22.4 in the 220 was second best turned in and his :10.1 in the 100 tied for second best.

State Champion Larry Kramer's 4:27.9 in the mile was second fastest in Class A and Mike Long's 21 seconds flat in the 180-yard low hurdles ranked third, as did the medley relay team's 3:43.3.

Bob Whipple, state champion in the football throw, had the fourth best toss of the year with a distance of 218 ft. 6 in.; and Mike Long's 20 ft. 8½ in. in the broad jump was fifth best. Although Lynn Jenison was overlooked because his :23.1 time in the 220 didn't win him a first place, that tied for fifth best of the season. His :53.9 in the 440 tied for 9th.

Clarion and Eagle Grove, who also helped to bring track fame to Wright county, earned their share of Class A honor roll glory.

Listings for Clarion were: 220-yard dash, John Pletcher, :23.2, seventh; Dan Stober, 120-yard high hurdles :15.7, sixth; Pletcher, 180-yard low hurdles :20.2, first; Pletcher, discus 137-9, seventh; Vince Hansen, football throw 215-2½, seventh.

Also, Jim Anderson, high jump 6-1, tie for first; Gary Meyer, broad jump 20-7, seventh; Meyer, high jump 5-11, tied for fourth Meyer, pole vault 11-3½, fifth; 440-yard relay :46.1, tie for sixth; 880-yard relay 1:35.1, sixth.

Eagle Grove listings were: Larry Umstead, 100-yard dash :10.3, tie for eighth; John Toillion, 880-yard run 2:07.6, tie for eighth; Ray Norris, 120-yard high hurdles :15.5, tie for third; Norris, 180-yard low hurdles :21.5, eighth; Fran Wilson, high jump 5-10, eighth; Doug Cumming, broad jump 21-8½, first; 440-yard relay :47.1, ninth; two-mile relay 8:31.8, second.

Osage was the only North Iowa conference school other than Belmond to rate on the Class A honor roll. The Green Devil listings were: Larry Pint, 100-yard dash :10.2, tie for fourth; Fred Flack, 100-yard dash :10.2, tie for fourth; John Van Voorhis, 220-yard dash :23.3, tie for ninth; Steve Halbach, football throw 219-4, third; 440-yard relay :45.0, first; 880-yard relay 1:34.5, third.

In Class B, Buffalo Center and Britt of the NIC each won mention. Mickey Costigan of the Bison tied for third best time in the 880 with 2:04.4 and had eighth best distance in the shot put with 47-1. In the high hurdles, Don Anderson of Britt rated eighth with a 15.8 timing.

TWO BELMOND LINKSMEN AMONG WINNERS AT F. C.

A pair of Belmond golfers finished among the flight winners at the annual Forest City Amateur last Sunday. Bob "Ozzie" Nelson posted a 41-37—78 to tie for the top spot in the 5th flight and Ed Albers came in with an 80 for his 18 holes to stake exclusive claim to first place in the 6th flight.

MURRAY OVERLOOKED

When the review of BHS senior letter-winners was published recently, the name of John Murray was inadvertantly omitted. He should have been listed as possessor of four Honor B's, two earned in football and two in track.

Managers, "umps" needed

Team managers and game umpires are needed for the PTA summer recreation baseball program, when peewee and midget league play starts next week. Director Don Hoppel says he hopes to depend on fathers of the players to oversee the teams and "call 'em" during the games. Any dads willing to serve either as managers or umpires are asked to have their youngsters deliver that information to Mr. Hoppel this week so he can make assignments.

24-20 slugfest won by Belmond

Belmond's Junior Legion ball team won a marathon contest with Garner on Tuesday of last week, taking a 24-20 decision after three hours and 35 minutes of play.

With Roger Ginapp, his No. 1 twirler, absent, Coach Don Hoppel called on Bob Burk and Bob Whipple alternately in an effort to staunch the flow of Garner runs. The host nine was having just as much trouble containing the Belmond batters.

Burk pitched three innings, was relieved for two by Whipple, returned to the mound in the sixth and then again withdrew in favor of Whipple in the seventh frame. Belmond collected 16 hits; but the victors committed some seven or eight errors to help keep their moundsmen in hot water most of the time.

Coach Hoppel says the local nine will play as a Junior Legion team rather than high school, in order that two or three out-of-town players can be carried on the roster.

Belmond errors bring 8-7 loss

An epidemic of errors in the last two innings brought Belmond's Junior Legion baseball nine an 8-7 defeat unday afternoon at Clear Lake in spite of a very respectable pitching performance by Roger Ginapp.

With a one-hitter working after five innings and Belmond in front 6-1, Ginapp saw victory escape when four Clear Lake hits in the sixth and seven frames were turned into seven runs.

CHEVROLET

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—

Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sideway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

Ted Christie, 65, buried at Goodell

Burial rites were conducted a week ago Wednesday at Amsterdam cemetery for Ted Christie, 65, of Rockwell, a former resident of the Goodell vicinity. He died the preceding Sunday at his Rockwell home, having suffered for several years from a heart condition.

Funeral services at Rockwell were held prior to burial in the Christie family plot.

Mr. Christie was survived by two sisters, Mrs. William Knisley of Rockwell and Mrs. Bruce Waddington of Rowan.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl VerHelst and family were Wednesday evening visitors at the Homer Olinger home at Rowan. Mr. Olinger is Mr. VerHelst's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Larson of Clear Lake were supper and evening visitors in the Alvin Haupt home. Elmer Larson is also a brother of Mrs. Haupt.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwane Haupt of Dows and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Haupt of Clarion visited Sunday evening in the home of the men's brother, Alvin Haupt.

Mrs. Alvin Haupt and her sister, Mrs. Walt Lauden of Klemme, went to Minneapolis the middle of the week to see Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson. Mrs. Thompson is the former Betty Lauden.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Harris went to Faribault, Minn., Sunday to see the peony gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Hanson and son spent Sunday with Mrs. Art Bates at Ruthven. Mrs. Bates is Mrs. Hanson's mother. Jean Bates returned home with the Hansons to spend the summer. Jean and Mrs. Hanson are sisters.

Boller boy picked as "Honor Cadet"

Mrs. Alvis Berhow has received word from Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Boller that their son Harry was named "Honor Cadet" of the year from among members of the military training unit of San Luis Obispo (Calif.) High school.

In the course of ceremonies at the conclusion of the school year, young Boller was awarded his stripes as Cadet Corporal and also a medal in recognition of his rating as "Honor Cadet."

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Boller are son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Berhow. The Bollers are former Goodell residents.

Mrs. Rhoda Okrueg returned last Sunday from the hospital.

Mrs. Roy Foss completed two weeks of teaching fourth grade at Klemme Vacation Bible school. A program and pot luck dinner was held on Sunday.

Program finishes vacation school

Annual vacation Bible school of the EUB church closed Friday evening with a program. Forty children were enrolled.

Missionary offerings were received daily. Each time $2.00 was accumulated, the children were allowed to pick a missionary to whom they wished the money to go.

Teachers for the Bible school were: Mrs. Bill Boller, Mrs. Walter Boller, Mrs. Melvin Sorenson, Mrs. Willis Anderson and Mrs. Bernard Nolte.

Assistants were: Mrs. Cortland Luick, Carolyn Boller, Marilyn Ruka, Barbara Ahlstrom and Marilyn King.

At the closing program, thanks were expressed by the Bible school staff to those who had furnished and served Kool Aid and cookies during the school sessions.

Swimming lesson start; 45 sign up for instruction

Red Cross swimming lessons started Monday morning with 45 signed up from Goodell. They are transported by bus every Monday, Wednesday and Friday to the Belmond pool. The bus driver is Mr. Milligan. Bus leaves at 9:30.

Mrs. Levi Klotzbach entered University hospital at Iowa City this past Wednesday. Her address is Mrs. Esther Klotzbach, University Hospital, Iowa City.

Mrs. Leaown Proper entered summer school at Cedar Falls Sunday.

Lula Wilkins enjoyed a ten-day vacation from her duties as post master. She attended the Christie funeral at Rockwell and spent a few days at the Glen Latch home in Rockwell during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Sandberg of Clear Lake visited last Thursday evening in the O. Sandberg and Amos Hanson home.

Olive Butts came home Monday for the summer vacation. She is senior English teacher at Fairmont, Minn.

The Busy Bee club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. John Lauen Saturday. They enjoyed a one o'clock luncheon and social afternoon.

MASON-LUNNING VOWS SPOKEN FRIDAY NIGHT

Miss Leola Frances Mason, daughter of Mrs. Edward Peterson of Goodell and the late Francis Mason, became the bride of Verdell Loren Lunning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lunning of Aredale, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Calvary Lutheran church at Crystal Lake. Rev. Robert Evenson read the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by Edward Peterson, wore a gown of nylon embroidered taffeta with a short veil. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lunning of Crystal Lake. The ushers were Wayne Mason of Goodell and Lynn Lunning of Aredale.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement.

The bride graduated with the class of 1960 from Belmond Community High school and the groom graduated in 1956 from Crystal Lake High school.

Mr. and Mrs. Lunning will make their home in Forest City where he is employed as foreman of the North-Ag Chemical and Supply company.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brugman of Garner visited Saturday at the home of the latter's aunt, Lula Wilkins.

Levi Klotzbach is visiting in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Braner, while Mrs. Klotzbach is in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNutt were Sunday supper guests in the home Mr. and Mrs. Bud McNutt at Belmond. Mr. and Mrs. Gene McNutt and Gayle of Clarion were there too.

Mr. and Mrs. William Janssen spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. William Irelan at Cincinnati, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Irelan came there Saturday evening from Denver, Colo. Mrs. Irelan is the former Fay Janssen. The Wayne Irelan's are coming to the parental Janssen home this Thursday to visit until Sunday.

Mrs. Harvey Ausborn and Mrs. Donald Ausborn of Klemme visit Sunday in the Harry L. Carpenter home.

New reporter for Goodell

This week marks the end of an "era," for The Independent. For the first time in more than 30 years, an issue of the newspaper is going to press without Mrs. Amos (Selma) Hanson as correspondent responsible for the Goodell news. Because of health reasons, Mrs. Hanson has felt compelled to give up her reporting work. The publishers of The Independent would be remiss if they did not publicly express their appreciation of the faithful performance of duty they were so long able to count on from Selma. Her duties, with this issue, are being taken up by Mrs. Bernard Nolte. People of Goodell and vicinity are urged to notify her of any news items they many have. Attention is called to the fact that Mrs. Nolte's present listing in the telephone book is incorrect. She may be reached by dialing 58821.

Rev. and Mrs. Park E. Miller went to Hampton Sunday and called on Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Krukow, Adam Banker and his sister, Clara Riggins.

No charge for taking samples—

Farmers offered "bargain" in soil testing

A free soil sampling service making possible the laboratory analysis of cropland soils will be available to farmers in Wright county for the rest of the summer so that reliable information is available for application of commercial fertilizer, according to County Extension Director Aaron Bowman.

Two soil samplers have been hired by two different groups in Wright county and are now being trained by Director Bowman. One of these men is Bob Toft, whose home is near Belmond and who is employed by the Wright county ASC committee as a program man to take soil samples during the summer.

The other is Gary Monroe Fisher of Eagle Grove, a student at Iowa State university. He is employed by four cooperative elevators in the west part of the county to take soil samples in their area. The cooperative elevators subsidizing the soil sampling in their areas are at Woolstock, Eagle Grove, Goldfield and Vincent.

Soil samples taken by Toft will be on farms that have applied for ACP practices under the jurisdiction of the ASC office at Clarion. Some of these practices needing soil samples are those requesting lime to correct acidity, establishing permanent pasture, additional rotation pastures, and certain soil bank areas if this aid is available for 1961.

Soil samples collected will be sent to the soil laboratory at Iowa State university for complete analysis. Farmers will pay the usual fee charged by the university for this service of $1.50 per sample.

Farmers desiring the soil sampling service should contact the Wright county extension service, the county ASC office of the cooperative elevators at Eagle Grove, Goldfield, Vincent or Woolstock. Requests can also be relayed by other elevators and fertilizer dealers.

Soil samples taken during the summer will allow ample time for the soil to be analyzed and recommendations returned to the farm operator for fall application of lime or fertilizer or to comply with ACP requests for aid through the ASC office. Soil analysis reports are usually good for five to six years.

Sixteen Wright county 4-H'ers returned home Friday from the 31st annual state girls' 4-H convention at Iowa State university, which had started on Tuesday. They were among 1,700 delegates.

Carolyn White, Clarion; Joan Mathre, Kanawha; Jeannette Croxell, Eagle Grove; Peggy Maxon, Clarion; Judy Moellering, Woolstock; Carolyn O'Neel, Clarion; Betty Krause, Kanawha; and Marcia Stoltenberg, Belmond.

Convention activities emphasized citizenship, group membership, and leadership and career opportunities.

"Being a good citizen does not depend upon the splash you make as you enter the stream of society; rather, it depends upon how you change the course of the stream," Dr. Robert Ray, director of the Institute of Public Affairs, State University of Iowa, told the delegates and leaders.

"The spirit of the American people will save the nation, not armaments," Mrs. Edith Sampson, Chicago lawyer and former delegate to the United Nations assembly, told the 4-H'ers. "The greatest danger in America is the inability of people to live in peace and harmony with their neighbors," she added.

Carolyn O'Neel of the Lake Leading Ladies 4-H club was Wright county's entry in the Better Grooming Contest. She received a red ribbon rating.

Carolyn White of the Lincoln Lassies League 4-H club sang in the 140-voice state 4-H chorus.

Judy Moellering of the Woolstock Willing Workers 4-H club participated in the "Country Girls' Creed" contest.

NEW CONVENIENCE IN EYEGLASS HEARING AIDS

How would you like an eyeglass hearing aid without a connecting wire or tube between the receiver in the ear and the transmitter in the eyeglass. Think of the convenience when you remove your hearing aid eyeglasses for eye rest or cleaning!

Physicians Hearing Aid Center is the exclusive distributor for the new Telex Radio Hearing Aid. A tiny radio receiver in your ear actually picks up the sound broadcast by the transmitter in the eyeglasses. Like any broadcast radio device, the Telex Radio Hearing Aid has absolutely no connections!

Physicians Hearing Aid Center is also your exclusive dealer for the Tynamite, world's smallest hearing aid, (all in the ear) and Vicon, Acousticon, and Qualitone Hearing Aids. Come in for professional consultation on your hearing loss — or write today for a free copy of the book, "Hearing: A Handy Guide for Laymen."

Veterinary Medicine

New things seem to be developing every day in the farming and livestock-raising industry. But, one thing remains the same today as it did a half century ago . . . This nation's number one swine killer continues to be hog cholera.

Cholera costs our farmers over $50,000,000 in losses every year. So great are these losses that the disease was made a chief object of attack for National Livestock Prevention Year in 1959.

There is only one way to cope with hog cholera. That is to have pigs vaccinated in advance. There are several types of vaccination which give firm protection, but it is best to leave it up to the veterinarian to determine which one to use. That choice involves a number of factors, including the condition of the hogs, their age, the immediacy of the cholera threat in the locality.

What makes cholera so hard to deal with? There are several factors: 1) It is caused by the most aggressive livestock disease virus known to man. 2) There is no cure, once cholera strikes. 3) It has certain symptoms resembling other diseases, thus leading to confusion.

The worst outbreaks usually occur in late spring, and again in late summer and fall, but the disease does strike and kill at all times of the year.

Hogs coming down with cholera tend to appear listless and dull. The have little appetite, and like to remain in their nests. Later, they may have a staggering weaving gait, knuckling at the lower leg joints. Other symptoms include gummed eyelids, convulsions, red discoloration of the belly, scouring and fever.

Of one thing we can be sure. Hog cholera is as potent a killer as it ever was. The wise swine producer will not let down his guard against it.

THE ABOVE INFORMATION IS CONTRIBUTED BY THE Wright County Veterinary Medical Assoc.

ORDINANCE NO. 119

AN ORDINANCE LICENSING AND REGULATING JUNK DEALERS IN THE CITY OF BELMOND, IOWA, AND PROVIDING A PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BELMOND, IOWA:

SECTION 1. DEFINITIONS. For the purpose of this ordinance:

(a) The word "person" shall mean any firm, person, partnership or corporation.

(b) The word "junk" shall mean and include scrap iron, scrap steel, or scrap metal of any kind, old bottles, rags, rubber, paper, dismantled automobiles, tractors, machinery and equipment of any kind dismantled for salvage and not for the repair thereof, and all other articles or things usually and customarily bought or sold by junk dealers.

(c) The words "junk yard" shall mean and include any lot, building, yard, parcel of real estate, or other place in, on, or upon which any person establishes, conducts or operates a business of buying or selling junk.

(d) "Junk Dealer" means, for the purpose of this ordinance, any person who conducts or operates a business of buying or selling any secondhand parts of automobiles, tractors, or any other machinery or equipment of any kind or nature whatsoever, or the wrecking and dismantling of any used automobiles, tractors, machinery, or mechanical equipment, or the purchase and sale, or storage, of any scrap iron, metals, bottles, rags, rubber, or any other materials or things usually or customarily bought or sold by persons, firms, or corporations engaged in the junk business.

SECTON 2. LICENSE REQUIRED. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, partnership or corporation to operate a junk business, or junk yard, in the City of Belmond, Iowa, without first procuring from the City Council a license therefor and paying a license fee as hereinafter provided. Said license to be issued only upon written application of such person, firm, partnership, or corporation desiring to conduct such business.

SECTION 3. LICENSE FEE. The license fee herein contemplated and to be paid by each junk dealer shall be an annual fee in the sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), payable on or before the first day of April in each year. Such license fee must be paid in full, prior to the issuance of any license to such junk dealer.

SECTION 4. FENCE REQUIRED. It shall be unlawful for any junk dealer to operate or conduct his business upon any premises unless such premises are completely enclosed with a fence of such height, not exceeding eight (8) feet, and of such materials as may be approved by the City Council. Such fence shall be maintained and painted in order to avoid an unsightly appearance.

SECTION 5. REQUIRED TO KEEP WITHIN FENCE. It shall be unlawful for any person to display, advertise, buy, or sell any junk except within the enclosure of the lot, yard, building, or other premises used for said junk business.

SECTION 6. USE OF STREETS. It shall be unlawful for any junk dealer to permit any scrap iron, used or wrecked automobile, or junk to remain for a period longer than one (1) hour upon any part of the public street in front of or adjacent to the place of business of such junk dealer, or upon any private property not enclosed with a fence as prescribed by Section 4 of this ordinance.

SECTION 7. NOTICE OF VIOLATION. In case any Police or other officer of the City shall find any junk dealer violating the provisions of this ordinance, he shall give such junk dealer a written notice to appear before the City Council at one of it's regular meetings to show cause why the Council shall not revoke the license of such junk dealer.

SECTION 8. REVOCATION OF LICENSE. In the event that any of the provisions of this Ordinance are violated, the City Council may revoke any license issued to said junk dealer, and said junk dealer shall not be entitled to any refund of any License Fee paid.

SECTION 9. PENALTY. Any violation of this ordinance shall constitute a misdemeanor and be punishable by a fine not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) or by imprisonment not to exceed thirty days.

SECTION 10. REPEALER. All ordinances, or parts of ordinances, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. WHEN EFFECTIVE. This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and publication, as provided by law.

PASSED, ADOPTED AND APPROVED, this 6th day of June, A. D. 1960.

The rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; but it fell not, for it was founded upon a rock. — Matt. 7:25

Belmond displayed extremely poor citizenship

If an out-of-town speaker came to Belmond and declared that 80 PER CENT of the adult residents of this community are POOR CITIZENS, what a hue and cry there would be. Yet, on the basis of last week's turn-out at the polls for the primary election, certainly this charge could be made.

Our present, unofficial population of 2,499 indicates that Belmond residents of age 21 or older number 1,616. From that total, only 325 bothered to exercise their voting privilege in the primary. That is just barely 20 per cent of the eligible voters, meaning that four out of five persons possessing the voting franchise failed to exercise it.

This is not only a shameful exhibition — it is a dangerous state of affairs. If we are so complacent over our democratic rights, we are ripe to have vital rights taken from us or at least infringed upon without our conscious knowledge of what is going on.

It has been many times repeated in the course of history that a strong nation has been reduced to impotence by the dry rot of complacency. We are by no means exempt from this process because of our illustrious past. We are the citizens who are shaping our nation's future — and it is no more secure than the strength of our democracy is secure.

We've heard all the excuses . . . "my single vote doesn't matter," and all the rest of them. But when four out of five people attach no importance to their RIGHT to vote, it DOES matter — very much.

Living in a democracy carries with it not only rights, but responsibilities. One of these responsibilities is to see that the BEST of available candidates is nominated by each party for the important offices to be filled in the general election. You CAN'T elect a good man in the fall who failed of nomination in June.

We should be shocked at such widespread default of the voting privilege as occurred last week. It prevailed not only here in Belmond and in Wright county, but in the state as a whole. A meager 19 per cent of Iowa's eligible voters went to the polls.

It is no wonder that candidates for office increasingly appeal to pressure groups, whose turnout to vote may be expected to be in reasonably high proportion. And if commitments to those groups prove often to the disadvantage of the general population, it can only be said that those negligent citizens who stay away from the voting booths in droves have brought the situation on themselves.

A candidate can have too MUCH to spend, too

A clipped editorial from the Algona Advance, which appears elsewhere on this page, points up some major hazards of running for political office in this day and age. Duane Dewel, who wrote the piece, knows whereof he speaks; for he was a successful contender for the state senate in three elections and was urged by many admirers to toss his hat in the ring for the gubernatorial, U. S. Senate or 6th District Congressional nomination early in the primary campaign just concluded.

It was contemplation of the heavy expense, plus other serious drawbacks to running for office, that dissuaded Mr. Dewel from responding to the pleas of his friends.

Jack Schroeder very obviously had more ample financial backing in the race for the Republican governorship nomination than did either of his opponents. Consequently, it could be said that he possessed in more ample degree than either Erbe or Nicholas this one vital ingredient for political success.

It is ironical, therefore, that this very fact probably contributed to the defeat of the young state senator from Davenport. At the time of the GOP state presidential convention convention in April, the Schroeder campaign headquarters appeared " lavish" in comparison with those of his opponents; and he even was misguided into indulging in the ostentation of having a live elephant on the Des Moines streets to publicize his candidacy.

Because they couldn't match him in financial support, his opponents — particularly Nicholas — implied very broadly that Schroeder must certainly have "sold out" to some nefarious "interests" in order to have such ample campaign funds.

We don't believe for a minute that Schroeder was a "bought" candidate. We think that his readiness to grapple with major issues appealed to a lot of other people just as it did to us. But the slurs aimed by Nicholas made Schroeder appear a political "plutocrat" and unquestionably hurt him at the polls.

The advisors who guided him into tolerating too sumptuous campaign headquarters and indulging in "show" such as the elephant represented in the eyes of his critics did Jack a grave disservice. They proved that — while cash must be regarded as a highly essential ingredient in political success — it doesn't pay to appear TOO well heeled when you're conducting a political campaign.

Before consigning the late primary to our files, we'd like to say that we were pleased to note that local voters who went to the polls seemed to share this column's enthusiasm for Mr. Schroeder and his forthright manner of facing issues. Had local sentiment prevailed statewide, Jack Schroeder would have "rode to glory."

Of the slightly more than 400 valid Republican ballots cast for gubernatorial candidates last week in Belmond and Iowa, Pleasant and Belmond townships, 54 per cent were marked for the young Davenporter.

Socialism becoming passe system?

The citizens of the communist countries have no means of changing the economic system under which they live. They have no vote, in any real sense of the term. The state, with all its apparatus of ruthless power, sees that they obey — or else.

But there are free countries where, in past times, socialism has made tremendous strides. And in certain conspicuous cases the pendulum has now swung the other way.

THE OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE is England. The Labor Party, once transcendent with its program of total nationalization, is out of power, and many competent observers believe that, unless it materially modifies its position, it will continue to go down hill and into eventual extinction as a political force.

The Conservative government, reelected last fall with a far heavier Parliamentary majority than even the most sanguine expected, is following a policy of all-out encouragement to private enterprise. The British people, and particularly the younger people, have proven with their ballots that this policy has majority approval and enthusiasm.

NOW SWEDEN PROVIDES ANother example. Her leading party, the Social Democrats, has in past times urged a program of total nationalization comparable to that of the British Labor Party. But, apparently, a great change is about to take place. An new proposed program states:

"The Social Democratic Party will support those forms of enterprise and ownership which best serve material progress and human welfare. It will favor public ownership and public control of natural resources and enterprise insofar as they are necessary to safeguard important interests of the citizens. . . ."

"IT WILL ENCOURAGE PRIvate enterpirse in those fields in which it proves able to combine efficiency and the will to progress with responsibility toward the consumers, the employees and the community. . . "

This, in the light of the Party's past position, marks a very important switch indeed.

Britain and Sweden have had a long and costly experience with socialism. Now they are beginning to turn their backs on it. May we be wise enough to learn form their examples. — Pocahontas Record-Democrat

This The Best Way?

The primary is over and the "people have spoken" in a choice of candidates for the fall election

Or have they?

Very few people have taken the trouble to know who the candidates are and what they stand for. Very few have even taken the trouble to vote.

And while it's a free country, a campaign is not for free and only those who could spend money had a chance for the nomination. Only the best of those running had a chance — many better men wouldn't run for any office.

In both parties it is the "old guard" who take an interest in politics who really determine the choice in the nomination.

And it often happens the best man running doesn't win because he is too honest to dodge issues, has too small a campaign fund; doesn't look pretty on TV; or runs into prejudices.

Don't eat the spaceship

Rarely have so many sensible suggestions been made by so few for so many.

One hundred housewives from all parts of the United States gathered recently in Washington at the behest of McCall's magazine to express their opinions of American food merchandising. In essence what they said was that they are grateful for many of the amazing advances made in packaging, but—

DO FROZEN FOODS HAVE TO be packaged only for families of four? Can't inner boxes be labeled as well as wrappers?

Couldn't all cereal boxes have spout dispensers?

Can't someone make a leak-proof cardboard milk container with wax that does not flake off and float?

How about lower prices instead of expensive coupon come-on advertising? (The sage One Hundred like supermarket ads that clearly state name, size and price of product.)

AND (BOLDEST STROKE OF all) do soap-powder manufacturers have to include dishes in their boxes? Or cereal manufacturers have to pack plastic dinosaurs and spaceships in theirs?

Our sympathies to the hard-pressed housewife on all of these scores, even the last. It's disturbing to have one's children demanding air-filled puffies in order to get some useless trinket, which then turns, up, well chewed, in dad's mouth.

But, from junior's point of view, nothing could be more exciting than the hunt through the candied popcorn. So please, ladies, if the manufacturers keep their cereal quality good, let the toys remain. And please, dad, don't eat the spaceship — Christian Science Monitor

BELMOND "TIMES"? —

Last weekend we received a communication from the Eagle Grove Eagle addressed to the Belmond Times. From the way Publisher Maurie Crabbe has backed Bill Nicholas in election after election when the turkey farmer didn't stand a ghost of a show, we know Maurie catches on slow.

However, we DO think that Brother Crabbe might acquaint his staff members with the fact that we're The Independent over here. The paper's borne several other names over the years, and been called a multitude of others. But the Times, we've never been.

Let it happen another time, and we'll start calling Maurie's sheet the Eagle Grove Antelope!

Most of the news photos now appearing in The Independent are taken by a new camera we acquired last month, a Pathfinder model of the Polaroid Land camera. Ye Ed wasn't very sold on this purchase, he must admit; but could see where a polaroid would have some marked advantages where time is concerned, if it would take satisfactory pictures. We've since been convinced that it WIIL take excellent pictures — IF you know how to operate it.

The Busch press camera that we previously used exclusively for news photography was, in terms of the trade, a good "box;" but we've never done film processing ourselves and consequently had quite a time problem in getting our film in to a professional studio for developing and printing on a schedule to meet press deadlines.

A good share of the time we never saw what a picture we'd taken looked like until it was engraved and returned to use ready to go in the paper. If the camera was working well (and sometimes it DID go on the blink) we usually ended up with a picture that was satisfactory. But this isn't a desireable way to handle news "pix" and with the new polaroid we know within a minute or two after we've taken a "shot" exactly what we got.

If we don't have what we wanted, our subject is right on hand and we have only to try again. AND we immediately have an actual picture that can be sent to the engraver, with no dark-room processing necessary.

Under the circumstances, we can take a routine news picture anytime up to midnight on Monday and have ample opportunity to get it engraved and back for printing in the last run of the week's issue on Wednesday morning.

A picture of unusual newsworthiness we could take anytime up to early afternoon on Tuesday and still rush it by car to Mason City for engraving and have it back for publication in the curent issue of the paper.

Actually, if importance warranted, we could even take a picture up to mid-morning on press day (Wednesday) and have it locked up in a page form by 1:00 p. m. to meet our regular press schedule.

POLAROIDS IMPROVED—

There has been a vast improvement in the quality of pictures produced by the polaroid camera. The earliest polaroids made prints only in sepia (brown) color, which would not make a newspaper engraving that was at all satisfactory.

Then came the first black and white prints, but they were 'milky" and the gray tones produced very inferior engravings for news pictures.

Now the polaroid process has been improved to the point that the camera's one-minute pictures are in sharply contrasted blacks and whites that reproduce excellently as engravings.

Also, Land cameras are now available with a really first-rate lens that will take pictures meeting the high standards required by news potography. In a majority of cases the dimension of a polaroid print, three and three-quarters inches by two and seven-eighths, isn't large enough for a satisfactory news picture — or maybe just a relatively small portion of the over-all picture will be wanted.

Enlarging a picture in the engraving process is a stern test of the camera's quality — and our Pathfinder measures up to the test very well. We can cut to three-inch width a picture that will be enlarged to six inches for printing in the paper, and the subject will remain very sharp in detail (proof that a good lens took the original picture).

We hope our readers will enjoy the polaroid photography and the greater number of pictures it will make possible. The Independent is always seeking "the best" for its subscribers — and purchase of this Pathfinder camera was another step in that direction.

Know your businessmen—

Ed Gentry has been movie operator 22 years

If you've wondered why once in a while an interruption blackens the New Belmond theater screen during the course of a movie (it doesn't happen very often), the answer usually is that the operator has missed his cue to cut in the second projection machine.

And the reason he missed it, within all probability, was simply because the boredom of casting those giant shadows on the distant screen had reduced the operator to glaze-eyed inattention momentarily.

"Movies may be romantic or full of action or suspense on the screen, but at the projection end of 'em it sometimes becomes mighty hard to stay awake," admits Ed Gentry, the New Belmond's manager.

He explains that the operator is warned that the end of a reel is at hand when a white dot flickers into momentary appearance in the upper righthand corner of the screen. That means the second projection machine, loaded with the next reel of film, should be started.

Five brief seconds later, another fleeting dot instructs the operator to "cut in" the second machine and turn off the one whose reel has just run out. With such short warning, it is understandable that the cues could once in a while be missed.

Ed has been a projectionist for 22 years, his first job in this line having been at Sheffield. His introduction to the movie business pre-dated the Sheffield experience by a good deal, though.

When Ed was a boy, his father on Saturday nights operated a movie at Laura, Ill., over a store building. Once in a while, when his Dad had to check the gasoline engine that operated the generator supplying electricity for the projection machine arc lights, Ed got to crank the machine.

In those days, the projection machines were not automatic — and a bell instructed the operator when he was cranking too fast or too slow, so the images on the screen were starting to jitter with unrealistic speed or to go into slow motion.

Ed was manager of the Sheffield theater for Leo Gilligan until 1952, when he came to Belmond as manager for George Hake and the late Mayo Beatty (he's working for Leo again, now, as current owner of the New Belmond).

Although there have been a great many tremendous improvements in movie making during the more than two decades he's been showing films, Ed speaks most highly of two of them. One is the development less than 10 years ago of fireproof film (earlier film burned rapidly and produced deadly fumes that suffocated more than one operator). The other is the process known as Cinemascope, which gives a more realistic aspect to figures on the screen than any preceeding method of filming.

Despite the great strides in the industry that have made movies "better than ever," Ed admits that the concession stand offering popcorn and candy has provided most small-town theaters with the margin of profit that permits them to continue operating.

Television came fairly close to delivering the death blow to the movie industry, as the industrial giant it has been for so many years. Especially hard hit were the theaters in the smaller communities — and a great many of these have had to close their doors.

In the past year, Ed reports, there has been a noticeable return of TV fans to the movies for occasional entertainment. He says, "Hardly a week goes by but what we see a family or two appearing at the theater who hadn't been there since they first bought a TV set. There is no question but what the public is not so glued to television as it was for a long while."

Ed operates the machines himself six nights a week. Friday nights he has a relief operator. For some time after he came to Belmond, his relief was Glenn Crapser. Later it was Dave Hall, then Tom Quigley, and now Dennis Eccles. Ed says that his wife Sadie is an important member of the management team, doing the bookwork and taking care of such chores as correspondence.

A second occupation of Ed's, which keeps him busy about 30 hours a week, is sign painting. This is a skill he picked up without any formal training, which you'd never guess from the professional-looking work he turns out.

Ed has, in fact, been a man of MANY trades during his lifetime. He put in three years at butchering, for two years was a carpenter, he was a track-walker for the Santa Fe railroad, spent a season as deck hand on a Mississippi river boat, and for some time was "chef" of the Sweet Shop which Leo Gilligan owned at Kanawha.

Miss Phyllis Aileen Soma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Soma, and Roland Duane Jenison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Jenison, were married at a candle-light service Saturday evening, June 4, at 8:00 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Oscar Laaveg performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar decorated with bouquets of white gladiolas and white candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white imported taffeta styled with a princess waistline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bouffant skirt, trimmed with lace, fell into a chapel train. Her veil of nylon tulle was held in place by a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of baby pink roses on a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Richard Elliott, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandra and Eloise Soma, sisters of the bride. They wore matching dresses of blue nylon organza over blue taffeta. Their matching head pieces, styled with short veils, were trimmed with pearls. They wore short white gloves and carried white satin baskets filled with blue and white daisies.

Best man was Lynn Jenison, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Jerry Jenison, brother of the groom, and David Long, close friend of the groom. All men wore white dinner jackets and white carnation boutonnieres.

Richard Elliott sang "Wither Thou Goest" before the wedding ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar. He was accompanied by Mrs. David Sappenfield.

The guests were seated by David Soma, brother of the bride, Charles Soma, cousin of the bride, Gary Harshbarger of Melvin and Jim Fetrow, friends of the groom.

Janice Soma, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were received by Kathy and Karen Soma, sister and cousin of the bride. Linda Dieser of Medford, Linda Jenison of Clarksville, Marcia White and Hope Jenison, cousins of the groom, opened and displayed the gifts.

The four-tiered wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Gaylon Johnson and Mrs. Lyle Jenison, aunts of the groom. Kay Robison and Marilyn Schroeder, friends of the bride, poured the coffee. Mrs. John Ofstethun of Clarion, friend of the bride, served punch to 250 wedding guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Chapman, aunt and uncle of the bride, were host and hostess. Eileen Morris, Mrs. Jim Stadtlander of Ames and Sharon Gabrielson, cousin of the bride, and Marilyn Sturgeon of Dows, cousin of the groom, served the bride's table.

The bride chose an aqua linen suit with white accessories for the wedding trip. She wore a corsage of baby pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Jenison are at home at 720 6th street NE in Belmond after a wedding trip to the Black Hills.

JUNE Dairy Month ADVICE TO THOSE WHO MUST WATCH THEIR PENNIES
1 start a SAVINGS ACCOUNT
Actually all of us should watch our pennies. And no matter what our income, we can save something each week. And even small weekly savings mount up in a hurry when they're earning interest in (Name) bank.
2 serve plenty of DAIRY FOODS
Because it's June Dairy Month we want to point out this other example of thriftiness. Dairy foods are not only delicious and nutritious, but economical, too. They are 30% of all you eat, yet cost only 15% of your food dollar.

VOL. 14 NO. 38 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1960 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | 16 PAGES THIS ISSUE

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

The Mainstreeters were happy to see the name of Don Muhm appear a couple of weeks ago on the front page of the Monday Des Moines Register as a farm feature writer. Don was on a staff of Iowa State college (then) students who put together an issue of The Independent 10 years ago this spring — or was it nine? Anyway, Don (who's a brother of Dr. Ralph Muhm at Kanawha) is doing all right in the journalistic world; and we're proud to have a slight claim on him.

Phyllis Pals was in Dallas, Tex., for four days extending through Thursday of last week attending the 61st annual convention of the National Association of Retail Grocers of the United States. Known to its members as NARGUS, the association represents 112,000 community food stores throughout the country — who, together, do 44 per cent of the nation's total retail food business.

It should be fully noted that "Phyl" did not attend simply as an affiliate (through P&G grocery) of NARGUS, but as one of 60 persons described as "among the nation's leading food dealers participating in the inspiring and informative convention program."

That is to say, "Phyl" was a speaker before the convention, taking as her topic, "Working for the Community Builds Our Business." We tried to worm out of her the gist of her speech, but didn't get very far. At any rate, Belmond can take pride in one of its merchants being chosen to address a gathering the size of NARGUS's national convention. A record-breaking 14,000 attended the confab.

From a Los Angeles gentleman who signs himself William R. Sullivan the Belmond Buyers Guide (The Independent's companion publication) received the following communique, which we pass along to the readers of Main Street for the good of their souls: "This world does not have an unlimited amount of space for an unlimited amount of people. The laws of nature have a statute of limitation; there are those who choose to ignore them, for which all of us have to pay." . . . Now lie awake tonight and think THAT over.

While the names Gowdy, Leinbach and Mussell may not be quite so basic as Smith and Jones, they are nice, simple names that can be committed to memory without much strain on the gray matter.

Consequently, it might be regarded that the former BHS schoolmates Margo Gowdy, Carol Ann Leinbach and Margaret Mussell did their relatives and friends something of a disservice in their choice of mates.

Margo has become Mrs. Brockmeyer, Carol Ann is now Mrs. Drenckpohl, and Margaret before long will answer to Mrs. Piepergerdes. Those are names to have down in the address book for ready reference!

The throng in attendance at the Leinbach-Drenckpohl nuptial ceremony Saturday night must have left the Methodist church convinced that one could look far afield to find as gifted a pair of musicians as provided the very beautiful music that preceded, accompanied and followed this particular wedding. Mrs. Paul (Maxine) Jenison at the organ and Mrs. Ronald (Virginia) Courson at the piano contributed greatly toward making these rites memorable for all who attended. And as lovely as any of the melodies was the sweetly sung "Wedding Benediction," composed by Mrs. Courson, herself.

In our headline last week to the effect that Dale Hauge was attending the 4-H boys' short course at Ames we were at least right to the extent that Dale's son Dennis did not go. That's what the story from the county extension office said. Mixing up the names of father and son was strictly our own doing. One of our pet tricks (of which we haven't been guilty for some little time, now) is to mix up the name of a bridegroom and his father in a wedding headline; so the Hauge booboo wasn't so bad as it could have been. Anyway — for the record — Dale didn't go; Dennis didn't go; NOBODY from the Pleasant Pioneers club went.

Flaws top winner at Raceways oval

Dean Flaws of Webster City was winner of the main event on last Sunday night's stock car racing program at Wright County Raceways, south of town, as a crowd estimated at 3,500 looked on.

Only Wright countian to be an event winner was Norm Baker of Clarion, who took the second heat. Other heat winners were Rich Green and Bob Flaws of Webster City and Darrel Fox of Iowa Falls.

Ted Zieman of Mason City won one of the semi-finals to the main event and Leo Christensen of West Bend ran off with the handicap race.

Not a CGD prize budged

Where DO those people go who have the Independents and Buyers Guides containing lucky Cash Gift Day numbers? The CGD committee is wondering; for 12 number-holders had a chance to pick up a total of $400 this week, simply by being at the right place at the right time. But where were they? Not a single one of the prizes was claimed. The award total will be continued at the same $400 next Tuesday, providing once again for eight $25 bundles of greenbacks at 2:00 p. m. and four batches of $50 each at 3:00 o'clock.

"WHAT IS SO RARE as a decent June day?" That might have been the question posed by James Russell Lowell, had his inspiration been a June month like we've been experiencing in this year 1960 A. D. The half-frozen "tadpoles" listening to words of instruction from Linda Hauge at Luick Memorial Swimming Pool are among 300 youngsters from Belmond who have signed up for swimming this summer under the Red Cross water safety program. A fair share of the time the weather has been more appropriate for activities of a "Polar Bear Club" than for ordinary swimming lessons. The night before this picture was taken (last Friday morning) the thermometer had registered a semi-wintery 44 degrees. Pool season ticket holders are looking forward to some corn-growin' weather that will make a dip in the pool a genuine pleasure rather than a test of courage.

Princess candidates chosen—

Belmond Co-op picks Miss Baker

Dairy products from Wright county farms will be featured at the June Dairy Month Banquet to be held Monday at Rowan Consolidated school. Starting with a cheese appetizer, the 500 attending the banquet will find an array of dairy products served throughout the menu including a special dairy drink, a variety of buttered and creamed dishes and ending with a dessert of ice cream.

This million dollar industry being promoted during June will be represented by two speakers, William J. Hitz of Polk City, vice president of the American Dairy association, and Dwight Nichols, the all-American football player from Iowa State university. Mr. Hitz will tell of his recent trip to India and the Far East. Mr. Nichols will relate some of his experiences as a football player.

Crowning of the Dairy Princess for Wright county will be the climax of the evening program. Candidates are being sponsored by several dairy interests of the county and members of the audience will vote for their choice as the Dairy Princess for 1960 Arlene Woodley, the 1959 Dairy Princess, will crown her successor.

Manager Curt Rise says that Cynthia Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker of Carion, has been chosen by Belmond Co-op Creamery as its princess candidate.

According to Aaron Bowman, secretary of the Wright County Dairy Interests association, by Tuesday of this week ony two other member organizations had advised him as to the identity of their candidates. Sonja Sime of Dows will represent the Farmers Co-op Creamery of Dows and Judy Keeling of Clarion will represent the Goldfield Co-op Creamery.

The dinner is being served by the ladies of the Congregational church at Rowan and is sponsored by the Wright County Dairy Interests' association, whose chairman is Lauren Kreitlow of Dows. Mr. Kreitlow will preside at the banquet.

Purpose of this banquet is to climax the county's promotional campaign for dairy products during the month of June. All the friends of dairying, both urban and rural men and women, are invited to attend the banquet whether or not they are engaged in dairying.

Tickets are avaiable locally from Belmond Co-op Creamery or Meints Produce.

JCC pushing plans ahead for July 4th celebration

Thanks to a last-minute influx of entries, the Belmond Jaycees have found it possible to follow through with plans for the "Miss Belmond" beauty and talent pageant scheduled as a highlight of their 4th of July celebration after fearing the pageant might have to be cancelled. In all other regards the plans have been developing satisfactorily and some excellent entertainment is promised those families who plan to exercise the good judgment of spending the Glorious 4th at home.

50 entries for parade

Ed Gabrielson, general chairman of the planning committee, says that 50 parade entries have been received. That excludes the kiddies' section, which will march ahead of the business and organization floats. All youngsters are urged to take part in the kiddies' division, which will form up at 9:00 a. m. Monday. More details on the parade will be published next week.

This year's carnival rides will be in the usual variety — merry-go-round, ferris wheel, whip, children's train and little cars, and like attractions. Both the Bethany Reformed and St. John Lutheran churches plan to have refreshment stands. The carnival will be operating Saturday, Sunday afternoon and Monday.

The amateur show on Sunday evening, to be presented from the stage in front of the bleachers at the BHS athletic field, promises to be a major highlight of the celebration, Chairman Gabrielson says. Some very interesting and talented acts have been lined up and the entertainment starting at 8:00 p. m. should be well worth attending, he declares.

On Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock a Teen Hop will be held at the Vets' hall with Jack Rockufeler of radio station KRIB at Mason City em-ceeing the dance. He has made several appearances in Belmond and has a lot of fans among the area's teen-agers.

Races for kiddies

Immediately following the Monday morning parade, there will be races for both boys and girls at the football field. Cash prizes will be awarded the top place winners in a number of age divisions.

A four-team peewee baseball tournament will provide fun on the afternoon of the 4th. Elimination games are scheduled for 2:00 and 3:00 o'clock, with the finals to start at 6:30.

Again, the No. 1 attraction of the entire Jaycee celebration will be the display of fireworks at the school athletic field immediately following the pageant. The Junior Chamber has invested quite a few hundred dollars in the fireworks and Mr. Gabrielson predicts that the exhibition will please all who witness it.

Two advance in GMI ranks—

Kellerman, Shobe get promotions

Effective last Thursday, Robert G. Kellerman and Harold Shobe were promoted to new posts at General Mills Oilseeds division plant that they had been handling on a trial basis for several months preceding. Mr. Kellerman became assistant to the plant superintendent and Mr. Shobe became supervisor of the refinery in addition to being supervisor of the safety and housekeeping department.

Plant Superintendent Walter B. Hotvet, in making the advancements public, said, "It gives me a great deal of pleasure to announce these two promotions. Mr. Kellerman will deal primarily with such things as MPF (Multi-Purpose Food), untoasted soy flakes and similar specialty products which we are now striving to get on the market. He will also handle the supervisory duties connected with the development, production and shipping of those items.

"In addition, he will assist me on various production and personnel tasks as required. The satisfactory promotion of these new products is important to the future of all of us, so I am sure Bob can count on everyone's cooperation to the fullest extent."

"Harold Shobe," Mr. Hotvet continued, "has been handling both of his departments for several months, but the refinery assignment has been on a temporary basis. This promotion puts him in sole charge of the refinery, as well as the S&H department, and recognizes a job well done."

Mr. Kellerman is starting on his 10th year with General Mills, Inc., having first joined the firm June 1, 1951, as a machinist with the Mechanical Division at the general offices at Minneapolis.

He was subsequently with the department of personnel administration, then assigned back to the Mechanical Division in personnel work, then sent to the research laboratory on a special assignment in personnel. He was at Minneapolis throughout this period of time, until coming to Belmond July 1, 1956, as refinery supervisor.

Mr. Shobe has been with General Mills for more than 14 years, having come here in November of 1945 through the urging of Walter Flumerfelt, a friend who was then plant superintendent. For 10 years he was lead man in the refinery, until his advancement to the position of safety and housekeeping supervisor in 1956.

BOB KELLERMAN (LEFT) AND HAROLD SHOBE STEP "UP"

Heinzig will fill Canada pastorate

Harold Fred Henzig, son of Mr and Mrs. William Heinzig, will be ordained as a minister in the course of ceremonies to be held at 8:00 p. m. Sunday at St. John Lutheran church. Ordinator will be Harold's father. The young man will be the first to be ordained in St. John church in its long history.

Other ministers who will take part in the ordination ceremonies, in addition to the host pastor, will be: Rev. J. C. Langholtz of Thornton, who will deliver the sermon; Rev. O. W. Ihmen of Rockwell, who will have charge of the liturgy; Rev. Oscar Laaveg of the Trinity Lutheran church, who will read the lesson. Another neighboring ministers will present the applicant for ordination.

After he has been ordained, Mr. Heinzig will be going to Redvers, Saskatchewan, Canada, where he will be pastor of the United Evangelical Lutheran church.

The Ladies Aid of St. John church presented Harold with a robe to be worn for the services and after taking up his pastoral duties.

Harold Heinzig graduated from Wartburg college, Waverly, in 1956 and last month was graduated from Wartburg Theological seminary at Dubuque with a Bachelor of Divinity degree.

Rev. William Heinzig, who has served 27 years with the American Lutheran church, was ordained in Canada. Both father and son graduated from the same seminary.

HAROLD FRED HEINZIG

LOUIS OBERHAUSER, JR., ADMITTED TO STATE BAR

Louis Oberhauser, Jr., who graduated earlier in the month from George Washington university, Washington, D. C., last week at Iowa City successfully passed examination for admittance to the Iowa state bar.

Ninety-five neophyte lawyers were admitted to the bar in the course of ceremonies Thursday at the State University of Iowa Memorial Union.

"SUB" POLICEMAN ON DUTY

Gaylord Martin, now owner of the Belmond Hotel but for many years a law enforcement and security officer before moving here several weeks back, is substituting for Officer Marvin Miller for a few days. The night officer is taking a short course on law enforcement at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City.

FINN COMPLETES COURSE

QUANTICO, Va. (FHTNC) — Marine Lt. Col. Howard J. Finn, son of Mrs. James Finn of Belmond, Ia., graduated June 2 from the Senior School at the Marine Corps Educational Center, Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. The nine-month course he had just completed included comprehensive instruction in the doctrine, tactics and techniques of modern amphibious warfare.

Griesy will serve in Japan mission field after study

Paul Val Griesy, son of Mrs. Selma Griesy and the late Cato Griesy, in combined services to be held Sunday evening at the Congregational church will be ordained as a Congregational minister and commissioned as a Christian missionary to Japan.

Participating in the services will be former pastors of the local Congregational church, church dignitaries and a classmate of Mr. Griesy's from Yale university's divinity school, from which Paul was graduated earlier this month.

The latter, who will deliver the ordination sermon is Rev. Toshihiro Takami, assistant minister of Ogi Machi church, Osaka, Japan.

Music accompanying the ceremonies will be provided on the organ by Mrs. Paul Watnem, assistant organist of the Congregational church.

A former local pastor, Rev. William Schorman of the First Congregational church, Cedar Falls, will pronounce the call to worship and offer the invocation. Another returning pastor, Rev. J. Leslie Leonard of the First Presbyterian church of Richland Center, Wis., will read the Scripture and lead in prayer.

McKeith to take part

Following the Rev. Mr. Takami's sermon, the official service or ordination will open with a statement by Joseph L. Simonsen of Hampton, moderator of the Webster City Association of Congregational Christian Churches and Ministers. The ordination covenant will be read by Rev. Preston S. Hinderks, pastor of the First Congregational church of Iowa Falls.

Prayer of ordination will be offered by Rev. Alfred B. McKeith, who was pastor here before accepting a call to the First Congregational church of Earlville. The declaration of ordination will be spoken by Mr. Simonson.

Hill unable to be present

The Rev. Mr. Hinderks will open the service of commissioning with a responsive reading. Presentation of the commission of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions will be made by Edwin B. Zeller of Cedar Rapids, a member of the prudential committee of the American Board.

Charge to the missionary will be made by Rev. Mark A. Follansbee, pastor of the Congregational-Baptist church of Northfield, Minn. The charge to the congregation will be issued by Rev. Judson E. Fiebiger of Grinnell, superintendent of the Congregational Christian Conference of Iowa; and the covenant of the congregation with the missionary will be led by a member of the local congregation substituting for Rev. William H. Hill, who will be absent from the services due to illness.

BHS graduate in '51

The prayer of consecration will also be offered by someone acting in behalf of the Rev. Mr. Hill. The Rev. Mr. Griesy will, himself, speak the benedication.

Paul was a graduate of Belmond High school with the Class of 1951 and until leaving Belmond to further his education was active in the Congregational church, of which he was a member.

He was graduated in 1955 from Carleton college, Northfield, Minn. From 1955 to 1957 he taught at Doshisha High school, Kyoto, Japan as representative of Carleton college, under the "Carleton in Japan" program supported by the student body and administered by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

Two years' study ahead

He entered the Yale University divinity school at New Haven, Conn., in 1957. While studying at Yale, Paul served as a youth assistant at the First Congregational church of Stratford, Conn., and during the summer of '58 was assistant minister of the McCone County Parish, Circle, Mont.

His appointment as a career missionary came from the American Board last December. He will sail on July 24 for Kyoto, where he will in September start two years of study in the Japanese language and culture.

The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, under which Paul will serve in Japan, was founded in 1810 and is the oldest foreign mission society in the United States. It is the world mission agency of the Congregational Christian churches of this country.

Over age 5-20 count in '58—

School census shows gain of 82

Belmond Community School district's biennial school census was completed last week, showing an increase of 82 in the number of children age five through 20 in the district.

Supt. Don Faris reports the count in that age bracket came to a total of 1,268 — 681 boys and 587 girls, compared to 1,186 in 1958. There was a smaller gain in the age-four-and-under group, the 1960 count being 449 compared to 431 two years ago.

Projecting these figures to obtain the probable school enrollment this coming fall, Mr. Faris predicts the pupils in Belmond Community district will total approximately 1,128.

At the start of last school year the enrollment was 1,094, but the figure grew by eight or 10 during the course of the year.

In Belmond proper, the count for the 5-through-20 age bracket was 346 boys and 317 girls. The census found 283 children in Belmond age four and under.

One by-product of the school census is to produce a figure that should quite closely approximate the number of eligible voters in Belmond.

The Independent recently endeavored to estimate the figure on the basis of a formula applied to state populations for that purpose. It came out to 1,616 persons age 21 or over, based on Belmond's 1960 census count of 2,499.

Subtracting the school-age children (946) from the population leaves 1,553 as the approximate number of individuals in Belmond of voting age. The discrepancy between this figure and The Independent's estimate is possibly explained by the number of boys and girls away to college and counted at the college sites, plus the young men over 21 who are in service and not included in their home-town population.

On the basis of the school census, it would appear that 1,550 should come quite close to the correct number of eligible voters in Belmond at present.

'58 auto smash-up brings about suit

Last Saturday in district court at Clarion, a petition was filed by E. J. Duesenberg, Inc., of Mason City asking $1,267.11 judgment from Wayne G. Buseman of Klemme and John Greenlander of Belmond.

Basis of the suit against the joint defendants is an auto accident that occurred north of Belmond at the junction of Highway 69 and the County U blacktop on Oct. 25, 1958.

A car owned by the plaintiff and driven by H. Milton Duesenberg of Clear Lake was badly damaged when it was struck almost head-on by an auto driven by Mr. Buseman. As an outgrowth of the accident, Mr. Greelander was charged with failure to yield right-of-way but was found not guilty.

Duesenberg, Inc., claims that the Duesenberg car was damaged due to a combination of factors involving neglect on the part of both Mr. Buseman and Mr. Greenlander. In addition to the principal sum, the plaintiff asks payment of five percent interest on that amount from the date of the accident.

VISITORS FROM WEST

Mrs. Lillian Milligan of San Bernandino, Calif., and George Gealow of Missoula, Mont., have been visiting their mother, Mrs. Charles Gealow.

TAKING CHARGE of the installation of officers of the Belmond Lions club Tuesday noon at Blue Bell tea room was Mel Robie of Clarion, governor-elect of Iowa District 9-E of the Lions. He will be responsible for supervising 35 clubs in the district. Lloyd Lerdal took office as president of the Belmond Lions, succeeding Roy Carwell.

2 WRIGHT COUNTY WOMEN TO ATTEND IFBF MEETING

Mrs. Leo Woodley of Clarion and Mrs. Jay Knuths of Rowan will represent Wright county at the three-day meeting of the women's committee of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation to be held at Des Moines, starting Sunday. The Wright delegates are county women's chairman and vice chairman, respectively.

Theme of the meeting will be "Citizenship." A banquet Sunday night will be one of the program's highlights. Business sessions will be held Monday and Tuesday.

Brain tumor fatal to Teresa Loats; final rites here

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the Methodist church for Teresa Ann Loats, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loats of Denver, Colo. Rev. M. L. Jones officiated over the rites and Johnston Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in Belmond cemetery, with Dwight Tyrrell, Dale Kessler, Jack Campbell and Roger Johnson serving as pallbearers.

Teresa Ann died Wednesday of last week at Children's hospital, Denver. She and her family had been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Loats, here only the week before. They had returned to Denver on Thursday, June 9.

First indication that the little girl was victim of the brain tumor which brought her death was offered the day before she left Belmond when she complained of a headache. Her condition became rapidly worse after her return home but the exact cause of her death was not discovered until a post mortem examination brought to light the tumor.

Little Teresa Ann was a pretty, bright and loveable youngster who made friends easily. She had won the admiration and affection of many persons in this community who'd been privileged to make her acquaintance on occasions that she had visited her grandparents here.

The deep sympathy of their numerous Belmond friends goes to Teresa Ann's parents on their tragic loss.

Teresa Ann was born at Audubon on March 23, 1950. She had lived at Lincoln and Fremont, Neb., before the family moved to Denver. She would have been in fifth grade in school this coming fall. In addition to her parents she is survived by two younger brothers, Andrew and Mark.

4-H FITTING DEMONSTRATION FOR LIVESTOCK EXHIBITORS

Wright county farm project 4-H members will learn how to prepare their animals for the fair and the correct way to show them at a special 4-H livestock fitting and showing demonstration July 1.

The demonstration will be held at the Eagle Grove fairground beginning at 9:30 a. m. Tom Wickersham, extension livestock specialist from Iowa State university, Ames, will demonstrate correct fitting and showing procedures for baby beef, dairy, swine and lambs.

ALBIN TOMSON IN HOSPITAL

On Wednesday of last week, Albin Tomson entered Mercy hospital at Mason City to undergo major surgery. He would appreciate mail from his friends, who may write to him by addressing cards and letters to Room 452.

No mirage; that's curb and gutter

It's no mirage. That is really curb and gutter pictured above! It was recently constructed in East Gate Addition, which is being developed by Builders Land company. This firm, a subsidiary of Fullerton Lumber company, has followed the curb and gutter with about three or four inches of pit-run gravel. When this has been firmly rolled it will receive a layer of three inches of crushed limestone, which in turn will be rolled and then converted into a type of blacktop by application of light asphalt oil. Manager John Klaassen of Fullerton Lumber says the promise of good streets has been attracting a generous number of prospective buyers for Eastgate lots — and 13 have bought, already. . . . The kids in the picture? They belong to Francis Ainger, who's a next-door neighbor to Eastgate Addition. They are Kathy, seven, and her little brother Jeffrey, who's two.

Alexander plans 2-day fun fest–

Celebration to mark town's Diamond Jubilee

Ambitious plans have been made, under auspices of the Alexander Community club, for celebration of Alexander's Diamond Jubilee on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, June 28-29. A variety of entertainment has been planned and the Sunset Amusement company, reputedly one of the midwest's largest carnivals, will provide 16 rides, 10 shows and numerous local concessions on its midway both days.

On the steering committee for the celebration are Rex Aldinger, Dallas Schear and Tom Jessen. Willard Latham is chairman of the parade committee and in charge of planning the old settlers' reunion are Mrs. Grace Richards and Mrs. Hilko Pals.

Races and relay contest will open the Diamond Jubilee program at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday at the school ball park. The school baseball diamond will be the scene of a ball game, Old Timers vs. Teenagers, at 2:00 p. m. At 7:00 p. m. a softball game is scheduled between the fast teams from Thornton and Sheffield.

One of the biggest attractions of the celebration will be the parade at 10:00 a. m Wednesday. Chairman Latham has been assisted in planning of this event by Carl Barkema, Ed Hensel and Don Farrer, who will be in charge of the three divisions — historical, kiddie and horses.

Only adult entries are being accepted for the historical section. They must depict scenes of progress or historical significance. Horses, either riding or harness, may be entered in that division by persons of any age.

All entrants in the kiddie division will be given free treats and prizes will be awarded for: (1) the funniest entry; (2) most original entry; and (3) best historical entry.

Parade entries should be sent to Mr. Latham so they arrive on or before Tuesday. The blank appearing with this story may be used. A number indicating order in the parade will be given each entry when it appears at 9:00 a. m. Wednesday at the school grounds, where the parade will form up. Entries not only from Alexander but from the surrounding towns are invited.

Between 2:00 and 4:00 p m Wednesday, the old settlers' reception will be held at the school auditorium, which will open its doors at 1:00 p. m. The evening's entertainment will be highlighted by a concert which the Alexander school band will present at 8:00 o'clock.

Melinda, Joel and Michael Benson of Kingsley are visiting their grandparents, Mr and Mrs. Alfred Jaacks, and other relatives.

Shower Friday evening honored Kaye Modderman

Kaye Modderman was honored Friday evening at a shower held at the Reformed church parlors. Hostesses were Mrs. Herbert Juhl of Coulter, Mrs Lawrence Fehmann of Latimer, Mrs Ed Robbins of Iowa Falls, Mrs Don Scott, Mrs. Willard Scott and Mrs. Merlin Bobst.

Linda Modderman of Latimer and Donna Frey were in charge of the entertainment. Mrs. Deloris Dorenkamp and Mrs Keith Madsen, the latter of Belmond, assisted the honoree in opening her gifts.

The over 100 guests were from Coulter, Iowa Falls, Belmond, Rowan, Rockwell, Sheffield, Latimer and Meservey.

DIXIE BENSON BRIDE OF RONALD MATHEWS

Miss Dixie Lee Benson of Rochester, Minn., daughter of Mrs. Hazel Benson of Grand Meadow, Minn., but formerly of Alexander and Belmond, was wed Saturday, June 11, at the Congregational church in Grand Meadow. She became the bride of Ron Mathews, son of Mr and Mrs Harold Mathews of Rochester, Minn.

Presiding clergyman was the Rev. Mr Sargeant. Matron of honor was Mrs. Dale Benson, Jr. About 200 guests attended the ceremony and the reception that followed.

A graduate of Grand Meadow High school, the bride afterward attended Iowa State Teachers college and is now employed as a receptionist at the Rochester museum.

Her husband is a graduate of Rochester High school and plans to continue his education at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

The newlyweds are making their home in Rochester until fall, when they will move to Minneapolis.

IT PAYS TO FEED PURINA

Dick Ersland shown above with his herd of Holstein Dairy cattle began the Purina Feeding Program about 3 years ago and has found it profitable with a notable increase in milk production almost from the very start. Dick mixes his grain with Purina Cow Chow Concentrate and top feeds Purina Bulky-Las (a high molasses feed). Dick sells his milk to the Belmond Co-op Creamery.

Dick also follows the Purina feeding program for his cattle and hogs using Purina 32 Special Steer for his cattle and starts his pigs on Baby Pig Chow feeding through to the finishing feed, Purina Hog Chow.

If you would like to get started on the Purina Feeding Program for your livestock and poultry call this firm today and talk with Rex Elphic, our Purina Feed salesman. Rex will be glad to give you any help that he can.

A simple turn of the Purina Check-R-Mixer dial gives these 2 farmers the latest research-proven formulas—suited exactly to their grains, and to their type of livestock and poultry. Check-R-Mix is today's scientific approach to low-cost production.

Meserveyans look through telescope

Sunday evening at Clarksville a group of Meserveyans had the unusual experience of inspecting the heavens through a 24-inch telescope built entirely by a pair of amateur astronomers, Bill Bailey and a Mr. Mather.

Enjoying this experience were Mr. and Mrs. Vic Nordman, Robert and Richard; also Collin Sprau.

All of the unusual instrument was made by the two amateur scientists except the lens.

The observatory dome and the telescope it houses have both been purchased by Iowa State university at Ames, as the instrument is appreciably larger than the one ISU currently possesses for astronomical studies.

GRIMES CLOVER BELLES

Rally Day of the 4-H girls of Cerro Gordo county found the Grimes Clover Belles 4-H club earning a generous amount of recognition. Kathleen Diddy, the club's candidate for county office, was elected as secretary-treasurer for 1960-61.

Two members of the club were among the top place winners in the Better Grooming contest. Russalyn Gaetzke was awarded first place in the junior division and Betty Vierkant placed fifth in the intermediate division.

Bertha Shaw, as county historian for the past year, read her report during the morning's business meeting.

In the pageant that comprised the afternoon program, Bertha Shaw, Genelle Schlichting, Janice Trampel, Linda Stadtlander, Diane Mennenga and Russalyn Gaetzke appeared in one scene with the county secretary.

Mary Kay Brown took part in a folk dance with a group that was to represent Cerro Gordo at the state convention. In a representation of the International Farm Youth Exchange program, Linda Stadtlander appeared as a Philippine girl.

The Clover Belles were among the clubs recognized for having 100 per cent of their membership present for Rally Day.

On June 6, members of the club took part in a tour of outstanding gardens in the county, conducted by Ben Vance, extension horticulturist from Iowa State university, Ames. A stop was made at Kathleen Diddy's garden.

Present for the visit to Kathleen's garden were Russalyn Gaetzke, Bertha Shaw and her mother Mrs. Wayne Shaw, Kathy and Linda Kuhlers and their mother Mrs. Clarence Kuhlers.

SALUTE
to a great industry
THE health of our nation depends in a large part on the dairy industry. Dairy foods are an important part of our diet from birth on throughout our lives. To the dairy farmers, the creameries, the dairies, the cheese makers, the ice cream manufacturers and all processors of dairy products, we tip our hat. They have set high standards for freshness, purity, wholesomeness and nutrition and supply all of us with good food for our daily meals.

DeEtta Brownfield, Eugene Mehl spoke wedding vows on June 11th

MR. AND MRS. EUGENE MEHL

Trinity Lutheran church was the setting for the marriage of Miss DeEtta Brownfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jebsen of Fort Dodge, and Eugene J. Mehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford J. Mehl of Belmond, Saturday evening, June 11, at 8:00 o'clock. Rev. Oscar Laaveg and Rev. Raymond Mehl jointly officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The chancel was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and pink beauty berry and lighted tapers in two candelabra. A prelude of nuptial organ music was played by Mrs. Harold Simerson, who also accompanied Mrs. Ivan Kortkamp as she sang "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer." The bride and groom sang "The Wedding Prayer" together at the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her step-father, chose white silk organza and Chantilly lace for her wedding gown. The fitted bodice of Chantilly lace was fashioned with a scoop neckline outlined in scallops and long sleeves that tapered to points over the wrists. The floor-length bouffant skirt of silk organza was highlighted by appliques of Chantilly lace centered with large white handmade roses.

The bride's finger-tip veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of beaded pearls. Her jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible covered with satin and lace and attached to the top was a white orchid with white streamers.

Mrs. Philip Slotvig, a close friend of the bride, was matron of honor. Her princess style street-length dress was pale pink with matching accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Marlin Mehl, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Gene Jebsen, brother of the bride, and Philip Slotvig, close friend of the groom. All the men of the wedding party wore dark suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride chose a moss green fitted suit with white accessories. The mother of the groom chose a light blue lace print dress with white accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Mrs. K. Don Thompson of Fort Dodge, a former college roommate of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Centering the table was a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with pink and white rosebuds and white wedding bells. A double silver coffee service and tall white lighted tapers in silver candelabra completed the bridal table decorations.

Mrs William Swenson of Belmond was dining room hostess. Mrs. Frank Patterson and Mrs. Thomas Greenwood, Jr., poured coffee Mrs. Raymond Mehl and Mrs. Gerald Banning cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Howard Palmer of Fort Dodge, and Carole Magilton of Charles City, a former student of the bride, opened and displayed the gifts.

The bride chose a beige sheath with matching sweater and navy accessories as her going away costume and wore her white orchid as a corsage.

After a short wedding trip to Minnesota, Mr. and Mrs. Mehl are at home in Belmond where they will spend the summer. In August, they will move to Kansas City, Mo., where Mr. Mehl will resume his studies at the Kansas City College Mrs. Ray E. Thorpe of Des Moines. Mehl has signed a contract to teach vocal music and English at the West Junior High school in Kansas City, Kan.

Guests from a long distance included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mehl and family of Barnaveld, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. William Parr of Kansas City, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Carey of Chicago, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Thorpe of Des Moines.

Five will attend important parley; churches merging

All three Belmond churches that will be directly concerned with the formal organization of The American Lutheran church will be represented at the constituting convention of the Iowa district that is to be hed Friday and Saturday at Wartburg college, Waverly.

Involved in this consolidation of three church bodies are the Evangelical Lutheran church, the United Evangelical Lutheran church and the American Lutheran church.

After certification of 395 congregations and about 360 pastors to the new Iowa district, following legal constituting of the district, first order of business will be election of a district president.

Although any pastor in the new ALC theoretically might be elected, it is generally regarded that the head of the district will be one of the presidents currently at the head of the merging churches: Dr. H W. Siefkes, ALC, Waterloo; Dr. V. T. Jordahl, ELC, Mason City; and Rev. C. M. Videback, UELC, Atlantic. The district president will be installed by the new ALC's national president, Dr. F. A. Schoitz of Minneapolis.

Rev. William Heinzig and Ben Heginger will represent St. John Lutheran church at the constituting convention Rev. Oscar Laaveg will represent Trinity and St. Olaf churches. Elected as lay delegates from these churches were Richard McFarlin and Mrs. Gerhard Thompson, respectively.

Sheriff's activity keeps courts busy

Arrests made or brought about by the Wright county sheriff's office were responsibe last Friday for a bumper crop of court cases — mainly in district court — in which nine defendants were found guilty. Seven out of the nine charges involved Eagle Grove residents, Deputy Sheriff Dale Walrod informed The Independent.

Among the defendants was Percy Brady, 18, of Eagle Grove, whose escape from Eldora State Training school and flight to Oklahoma City in a stolen auto was reported last week. His companion in this escapade was Burl Kishline, 18, of Davenport, also an inmate at Eldora.

Judge G. R. Hill sentenced Kishline to not more than 10 years at Anamosa state reformatory for men after the youth pleaded guilty to larceny of a motor vehicle. Brady chose to appear before the grand jury for possible indictment and meanwhile is being held in the county jail after having failed to post $2,000 bond.

● OBITUARY

HARRIETT WADDINGTON

Harriett Agnes Christie was born on Feb. 15, 1884, at Butterfield Grove near Goodell, daughter of George and Lavina Christie. She grew to womanhood in the Goodell vicinity and on March 23, 1910, was married to Bruce Waddington.

Two children were born to them — a son, George, now of Belmond; and a daughter, Naida, now Mrs Art Nielsen of Clarion. She and Mr. Waddington spent most of their married lives as residents of Belmond but lately had made their home near Rowan.

Mrs. Waddington was fatally stricken with a heart attack on Monday, June 13, dying only a few minutes after her admittance to Belmond Community hospital. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. M. L. Jones officiating and Fulton Funeral Home in charge. Burial was in the Belmond cemetery.

A sister, four brothers and a grandson preceded her in death. Survivors include, in addition to her husband and two children, a sister, Mrs William Knisley of Rockwell; also five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

4-H shrine plans to celebrate its fifth anniversary

Five years ago June 1, the 4-H Historical building at Clarion was opened to the public for the three-month summer season of June, July and August. Since that time 2,728 visitors from 30 states and five foreign countries have signed the register.

In commemoration of this fifth anniversary, a special open house will be held at the 4-H building Sunday from 1:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. 4-H members in uniform will act as hostesses on that day.

On display will be found interesting exhibits of early rural education and other Wright county activity. Among the displays will be a complete set of McGuffy readers.

This restored rural school is located in the Clarion city park on Highway 3 and is a museum of the early days of 4-H club work. It is dedicated to the memory of O. H. Benson, the originator of the 4-H emblem.

2 teachers given workshop grants

Mrs. Lucile Chapman and Mrs. Leona Stevens, both of whom teach at Goodell, are among 33 Iowans selected to receive scholarships to the 3rd School Health Education Workshop being held June 20 through July 1 at Drake University, Des Moines.

The scholarships, which pay two-thirds of the workshop expenses, are provided by the Iowa Heart association, Iowa Tuberculosis and Health association, Iowa Hospital association and the American Cancer Society, Iowa Division, Inc.

Other sponsors of the Workshop include the Iowa State Department of Health, Iowa State Department of Public Instruction and Drake university.

The Workshop is planned to help school personnel understand responsibilities and opportunities in the school health program, and to give them new facts and ideas in subject matter and teaching methods.

Mrs. Chapman teaches fifth and sixth grades in Goodell grade school and Mrs. Stevens teaches kindergarten.

Cards of Thanks

To Dr. Leinbach, the nurses, nurses' aides, Father Ormsby and to all who have done so much and have offered help — for the cards, gifts, and visits while I was at the hospital and since I came home, I wish to thank you. We deeply appreciated the help of Mary Hildebrand, Red Cross Service chairman, in getting Bob home. James T. Barry. g38t1*

I wish to express my most sincere gratitude to everyone who in any way showed such wonderful kindness and helpfulness during my husband's illness and after his death. Mrs. Sidney Williams. g38t1*

I would like to express my thanks to all of my friends for their many "get well" wishes, cards, flowers, visits and gifts and to all those who have assisted in any way during my weeks of hospitalization and recuperation following eye surgery. It was all greatly appreciated. Bob Raecker. 38t1

A sincere thank you to all who sent me cards, and who visited me in the hospital; also to the doctors and nurses, and especially to Rev. Johnson for his visits. Mrs. Annie Koenen. 38t1*

I wish to thank the doctors and hospital staff for their fine care, also Rev. Jones for his call and all those who sent cards and flowers also for the gifts and visits while I was in the hospital. Thomas J. Wilson. 38t1*

I wish to thank all of my friends and relatives for the many cards, flowers and visits I received while I was in the hospital. Also, thank you, Dr. Leinbach, Dr. Pitcher and all the hospital staff for your fine care. Mrs. Carl Barkema.

The kindness and sympathy of neighbors, relatives and friends in our recent sorrow will always remain with us a precious memory. Our sincere thanks to those who served the dinner and the lunch: also to the doctors and nurses at Belmond hospital. Bruce Waddington and family. 38t1

"Thank you" to everyone who remembered me with cards, flowers and in so many ways while I was in the hospital at Des Moines. It was all deeply appreciated. Mrs. John Schulte. 38t1

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved father and husband who departed from us two years ago, June 22.

Tho' we don't understand
Why he was taken away
We have our saddest thoughts on Sunday
Which was his favorite day.
We try to think of happy times
With courage in our hearts
For we know he isn't gone forever
We are only now apart.

Sadly missed by Mrs. J. S. Wagoner and children. 38t1

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM A. LOCKETT

• • • • • •

Carol Joan Mennenga Wed June 8 to William A. Lockett of Rowan

Miss Carol Joan Mennenga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mennenga, became the bride of William A. Lockett, son of Mrs. Bernice Lockett of Rowan and the the late Albert Lockett, Wednesday evening, June 8, in a candlelight ceremony at Immanuel Reformed church. Rev. Julius Brandt read the double-ring service.

The chancel was decorated with baskets of blue and white carnations and candelabra. Organist was Mrs. Herman Groen, cousin of the bride. She accompanied Velda Mennenga, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of lace over taffeta. Her finger-tip veil of tulle, edged with Chantilly lace, fell from a small pearl tiara. She carried a white Bible, a gift of the groom.

Betty Mennenga, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Velda Mennenga, also a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore street-length dresses of light blue taffeta with white accessories and carried colonial bouquets of blue and white carnations.

Kathy Pals of Mason City, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dress of light blue lace over blue taffeta with white accessories and carried a miniature colonial bouquet of blue and white carnations. Jackie Mennenga, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer. He wore a dark suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

The best man was Andy Bowles of Ogden, a brother-in-law of the groom. The groomsman was Robert Leist of Rowan.

Candlelighters were Douglas Mennenga, brother of the bride, and Craig Mennenga, cousin of the bride. Wayne Pastour, cousin of the bride, and Robert Wenzel served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a navy dress with white accessories and the groom's mother wore a light blue dress with dark accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the church parlors for about 185 guests. The bride's colors of blue and white were carried out in the decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Jelto Boelman served as dining room host and hostess.

Mrs. Andy Bowles of Ogden, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Andrew Pals, aunt of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake which was decorated in white with blue sugar bells. Mrs. D. A. Pals, aunt of the bride, poured and Mrs. Clemons of Dumont, aunt of the groom, served punch.

Linda Modderman, cousin of the groom, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Adolph Meinders and Mrs. Joyce Boelman, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Dick Rink of Clarion, sister of the groom, Marilyn Mennenga, cousin of the bride, and Lorraine Davenport opened and arranged the gifts.

The bride chose for going away a light blue linen sheath dress with matching jacket, white accessories and a corsage of blue and white carnations.

The couple left a week later for Tobyhanna, Pa., where they will be at home until Feb. 1 while he is finishing his army duty.

WESSELS TO OBSERVE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY AT MESERVEY SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wessels of Meservey will observe their 50th wedding anniversary this Sunday by holding open house from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. at the dining room of the Meservey school. All relatives and friends are cordially invited to greet them at that time.

Gertie Gerdes and Dick Wessels were married June 28, 1910, at the parsonage of the Immanuel Reformed church east of Belmond, the Rev. Mr. Thorman performing the ceremony.

They farmed near Meservey and Belmond until 1935, when they moved to Meservey. For the past 15 years or more Mr. Wessels has been employed by Meservey Hardware.

The Wessels were the parents of five children, all of whom are living: Luke and George of Belmond, Henry of Klemme, Mrs. Fred (Edna) Weide of Meservey and Mrs. Fred (Trenetta) Steenhard of Blairsburg. Their family also includes 14 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

NEW BELMOND

Film Highlights

—from—

COMING ATTRACTIONS

"Our Man in Havana" (showing Thursday through Saturday) is an offbeat film with JUST the right cast for such hijinks as are involved in the plot. Some very strange things happen when a vacuum-cleaner salesman turns super-spy and sells fabulous (but PHONY!) secrets to foreign powers.

Alex Guiness plays the Casper Milquetoast salesman — a part made to order for this master of "soft sell" comedy.

Director of this merry thriller is Carol Reed, who was responsible for the never to be forgotten "The Third Man." Burl Ives, Ernie Kovacs, Maureen O'Harra and Noel Coward all help to make this the funniest cloak-and-dagger spine tingler that you'll be seeing for many a moon.

A pigeon called Herman plays one of the lead roles in "The Gazebo," Sunday through Wednesday, which should give you some idea of what to expect from this film version of the Broadway smash hit of the same title. Put Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds together and you have about as deft a comedy team as Hollywood can assemble. This mystery-comedy is a fitting sequel to the first Ford-Reynolds rib-tickler, "It Started with a Kiss."

Marilyn Mennenga left via plane Sunday evening from Minneapolis, Minn., for New York City to continue her work with the communications department of Pan American airines at Idle Wild airport after spending two weeks at the parental George Mennenga home. While here on a 10-day medical leave, Marilyn underwent a tonsilectomy at the local hospital and was able to attend the wedding of her cousin, Carol Mennenga.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Durant and sons, Murry and Russell of Dallas, Tex., are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Soma and with other relatives.

Record turn-out for PTA ball—

139 peewees and midgets sign up

By last weekend 139 boys had signed up for summer recreation baseball, Director Don Hoppel reports. Enough additional youngsters to bring the total well over 140 have signified they intend to play ball but hadn't yet reported. The record turn-out has resulted in a shortage of suits for the midget players, according to Hoppel; a situation which he hoped will be corrected shortly.

Play in the midget and peewee leagues was scheduled to start Tuesday evening at the Jaycee diamond west of Second avenue NE. The second round, Friday night, was to pit the peewee Cardinals against the Red Sox and midget Indians against the Braves. Next Tuesday evening will match the Cubs and Pirates in the peewee game and the Orioles and Yankees in the midget fray.

All night double-headers will start at 6:45 o'clock and day games, scheduled to start the latter part of July, will get underway at 1:30 p. m.

Rosters of the midget teams are as follows:

4-H'ers softball season underway

Wright County's three 4-H softball leagues have a total of 25 teams, with approximately 300 4-H members participating, according to Gerald K. Anderson, county extension associate.

The 10 boys' 4-H junior and 11 senior teams began their season the first week in June and the four girls' 4-H teams will begin play next week. The teams in all leagues will play every other team, which will mean a total of 106 games will be played this season.

To accommodate the large number of games to be played during the summer, diamonds are used at Goldfield, Renwick, Woolstock, Clarion, Rowan and Belmond.

In the boys 4-H league junior team members must have not been over 14 years old on Jan. 1 of this year.

Pleasant township has not been faring so well in the senior league, still seeking its first victory after two defeats. Iowa and Woolstock are each unbeaten in three games and Dayton has won two without a loss.

In the junior league, Pleasant, Dayton and Vernon all have yet to meet defeat, the first two having been victors in two games each and Vernon in three. Woolstock has bowed only once in four starts.

These standings were released as of last Friday, June 17.

Kramer says he'll attend U. of Iowa

Larry Kramer, Belmond's state champion miler, advised The Independent this week that he has decided to attend the State University of Iowa next fall and has been accepted for enrollment.

Okahoma State university at Stillwater had expressed interest in Larry as a student, but its athletic department had informed him it could not make a firm offer as to the extent of his scholarship until almost the middle of July. Larry felt he could not wait that long to advise SUI of his decision, so he accepted the generous scholarship offer that he'd received from Iowa.

He will not be eligible for varsity competition as a freshman, under Big 10 rules. However, Coach Francis Cretzmeyer is already looking forward to Larry's availability as a sophomore, when he may be an important member of a first-class quartet the Hawkeyes could assemble for either the distance medley or four-mile relay.

Other key members of such a team would be Jim Tucker of Hampton and Ralph Trimble of Cedar Rapids.

Britt noses out Jr. Legion nine

Belmond's Junior Legion baseball team lost a tough one Sunday night at Britt, fumbling victory away in the bottom half of the seventh and final inning. They had gone into the last frame with a 5-4 lead but gave Britt two unearned runs on a hit and a pair of errors to lose 6-5.

Roger Ginapp hurled three-hit ball for the losers and struck out 11 batters. Belmond connected for four safeties against Dawson of Corwith, pitching for the Britt nine. Not one of the winner's runs was earned.

Conversion of the Belmond team from high school to Junior Legion classification was prompted by recent addition of Gilbert Schulte and Donnie Pals of Alexander to the squad — which would not have been allowable if the team represented BHS.

ASC elections this year at meetings, not by mail

Community committees of farmers who assist in the administration of the government's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program (ASC) will be elected in Iowa this year at township meetings instead of by mail.

The elections, which are held annually, will be conducted on Thursday, July 14, at simultaneous meetings in 1,601 Iowa townships including those in Wright county. The hour and location of the election meetings in this county will be announced soon. All farmers are urged to watch for the announcement and to make plans to attend.

A total of 2,591 farmers, land owners, owner-oprators and tenants are eligible to vote in the community elections in this county. In the state as a whole, approximately 280,000 are eligible to vote.

The return to the original farm program system of holding election meetings will give every farmer the opportunity to participate in the nomination as well as the election of candidates for community committee membership. The meetings will also serve to encourage more farmers to take an active, personal interest in the conduct of ASC activities.

Under the mail election system, which was used in Iowa from 1951 through 1959, candidates for community committeemen were nominated by appointed ASC township election boards and the names listed on ballots mailed to all eligible voters.

Besides providing for "open nominations," the meeting plan of holding elections is more economical and has the additional advantage of providing ASC officials an opportunity to present timely program information to farmers.

At each township meeting, an ASC community committee of three members and two alternates will be elected for one-year terms beginning on Aug. 1. Newly elected community committee chairmen of each county will meet on July 30 to name the county ASC committee of three members and two alternates, who also will hold office for one year beginning Aug. 1. Complete information on eligibility to serve on county and community committees may be obtained at the county ASC office.

The ASC, an agency of the United States department of agriculture, is responsible for administration of commodity price support, wool incentive, cost-sharing agricultural conservation and soil bank programs. Statewide operations are directed by the Iowa ASC committee working through the farmer-elected county and community committees. An ASC office is maintained in every Iowa county.

Carved from 5,000-acre stock farm—

Town of Alexander platted on June 8, 1885

(Following are excerpts of Alexander history gathered from a variety of sources by Mrs. Grace Richards and Mrs. Hilko Pals. They admit that there are omissions and that there may be some errors despite their efforts for the greatest accuracy they could manage.)

First settler in the immediate vicinity of what is now Alexander was a man by the name of Malin, who came in 1860 but moved on after two years. He was followed not long afterward by John Martin, who was employed to manage what was known from the name of its owner as the Cobb farm.

Mr. Cobb filed ownership of this tract containing something over 5,000 acres of land in 1859. Alexander is built on what was a part of that farm. Up to the latter part of the 1880's immense herds of horses and cattle ranged over this ground, young men being hired to watch over the stock night and day.

In 1881 the Dubuque and Dakota branch of the Iowa Central railway was completed through Scott township and its first station in this vicinity was erected on Section 4, some distance east of its present location. Several years later a larger depot was built, which was destroyed by a tornado on June 11, 1925.

Town platted in 1885

With W. F. Kelley as the surveyor, the town of Alexander was laid out in 1885 and was officially platted June 8 of that year by F. E. Carter. In accordance with the tradition of the day, Alexander was named after a man who had a part in building of the railroad.

First store in the settlement that was to become Alexander was one for the selling of general merchandise put up in 1882 north of the railroad tracks for E. B. Hill, the builder being Bob Rickett. A Mr. Cameron subsequently bought the store, which was destroyed by fire about 1885.

After destruction of this store, another was built by Tom Scott. It still stands and is known as the old Peters restaurant. Another early business place was the blacksmith shop north of the tracks built and operated by Henry Underkofler. His shop was later built on a second location, the present site of W. P. Aldinger's store, after the first building was destroyed by fire about 1921.

Got post office in 1882

Razed by fire at the same time were establishments known as Houg's store, the pool hall and a tonsorial parlor that also dispensed tobacco and soft drinks.

Alexander acquired a post office on Nov. 13, 1882, Egbert B. Hill being the first postmaster.

An early grain elevator was built by Moore Brothers. It changed hands several times and while being in the possession of a Wisconsin firm it burned to the ground about 1916. A second elevator stood for a time south of the tracks after its construction in the late 1880's.

First harness shop in the community was established by Benjamin G. Cunningham where the present D-X station stands. In 1910 E. Ray Green operated a combination harness shop and furniture store there, in front of which he erected Alexander's first gasoline pumps.

Yaw gave school grounds

First lumberyard in Alexander was built by the Interstate Lumber company and had Harm Groen as its manager. It was later sold to the Shull Lumber company and then to the Fullerton Lumber company.

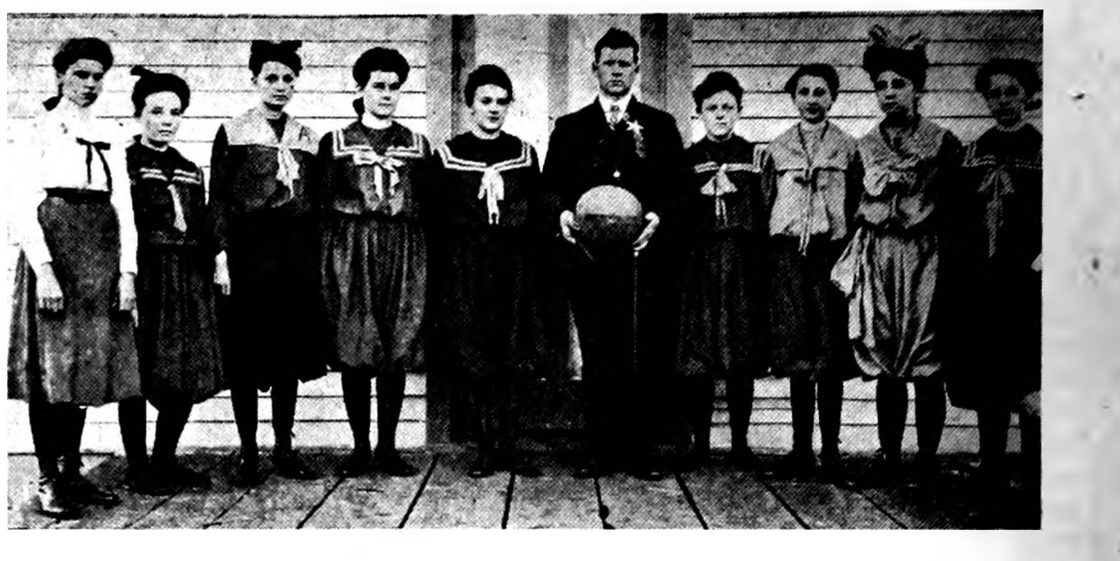
Ground for the first school in Alexander was contributed by Harvey Yaw and the initial building was constructed in 1882. Alexander Consolidated School district was established in 1914, at which time the present building was erected.

Emmett Crosby was owner-operator of the town's first drug store, the first hardware was operated by Alva Gellette and a meat market was operated by Ben Hansen. Mrs. J. F. Douglas conducted the first public eating house, which was located on the end of Main street.

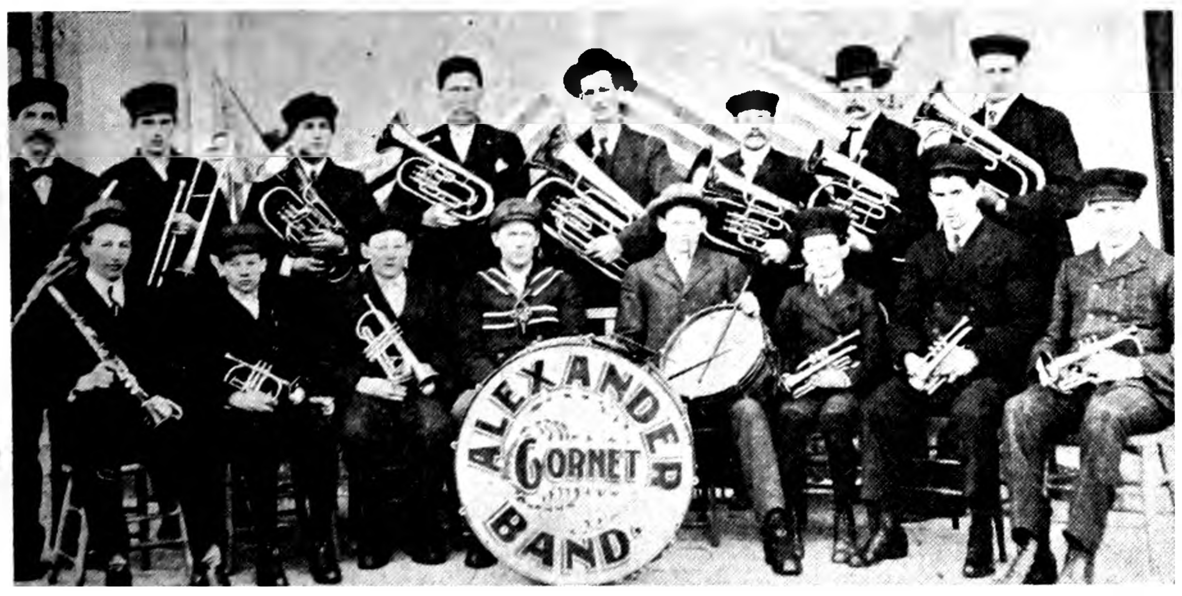
Alexander's cemetery was established June 7, 1894. First to be buried there was a Mrs. Reynolds, mother of Mrs. John Demaris.

For a number of years Alexander had a thriving Farmers Co-op creamery, which was first organized in 1911 and housed in a building in the north part of town. Harry Gates served as its buttermaker during its heyday. It was predated by an earlier creamery located in the extreme northeast corner of town.

An interesting highlight of the community's religious past concerns the existence of a group of Seven Day Adventists, which existed for a period of years starting just before the turn of the century. They never possessed a church, meeting instead in the homes of the various members.



THESE YOUNG LADIES comprised a "town team" in Alexander about 1910. There was no high school prior to the school consolidation in 1914. Their coach, though, was a teacher, George Shafer. The first two players on the left will be familiar to Alexandrians of today as Mrs. Lewis Bell (Dora Larsen) and Mrs. Bertha Rodemeyer (Bertha Yaw). Reading on from left to right are: Emma Latch, Minnie Yaw, Minnie Messelheiser, Coach Shafer, Fern Gillette, Lillie Latch, May Underkofler and Hazel Demaris.



THERE WAS MUSIC, loud and stirring, when the musicians above blended their efforts some 52 or 53 years ago as the Alexander Cornet Band. Among its members was C. C. Benson, prominent Belmond insurance man, who is the "baby" of the band seated third from the right in the front row. A year or two later, Claude's parents moved to Belmond in order that he could attend high school, Alexander's school not extending to high school level at the time. Shown in the picture are the following (left to right): top row — Fred Madsen, Carl Bohlen, Hans Pals, Charlie Hansen, Adolph Schoeneigh, George Yaw, Ole Houg, Cornelius Dirksen; bottom row — Fred Bell, Orville Houg, Ross Dull, Fred Dull, Herbert Dull, C. C. Benson, Frank Underkoffler and Fred Dunn. It might be noted that the son of Fred Madsen, bearing the same name, is today in the plumbing and heating business at Belmond.

In creating today's strong church—

Methodists had some stormy times

(Editor's note: this is the first of several articles on churches of Alexander, past and present, for which material was gathered by Rev. John H. Hoekstra of the Reformed church. The history of the latter will appear in the July 7 issue, just prior to the ceremony of dedication marking completion of that church's extensive remodeling program.)

Alexander's Methodist church survived through several stormy times to become the strong and progressive church that it is today. Articles of incorporation were signed in the county recorder's office at Hampton on July 2, 1888, so the church lacks just three years of reaching its Diamond Jubilee at the same time Alexander is celebrating this anniversary.

Land for a church site was given by a Mr. Scott. A little more than seven years later, in October of 1895, an Alexander circuit was formed that included the Alexander and Latimer appointments. A congregation meeting at the Ingebretson schoolhouse was added in January of 1898.

Under this arrangement, Rev. M. O. Lambly was the first minister, serving 1895-97.

In 1897 a quarrel within the church resulted in the expulsion of Mr. A. L. Riefsneyder and a subsequent split in the congregation brought about the withdrawal of other members. On the heels of this incident, the Alexander Congregational church was formed Sept. 14, 1897.

Fall of 1899 saw Meservey added to the Methodist charge, whose pastor was Rev. L. S. Baker. Ill health forced him to resign and Rev. A. H. Maynard finished the year.

While Rev. Frank C. Farr was minister from the fall of 1900 for the two years following, pay of the pastor was increased from $450 to $700 per year. It is also noted in the church records of that time that a revival service conducted at Meservey by Evangelist D. D. Benedict brought "professed" confessions of more than 100.

The records show that while the charge continued to include Alexander and Meservey in 1902-03, J. E. Shirk was the pastor, followed by Joseph W. Ogden, 1903-04. E. E. Rorick, 1904-05, was noted to have received $600 in saary "and parsonage." W. Z. Horbury served for eight months in 1906-07.

When the latter resigned, Ed H. Sands was appointed to supply during the last quarter of the conference year. Fred W. Howlett served both Alexander and Latimer in 1908-09.

Then followed: John Westwood, 1909-1910; Mr. Howlett again during 1910-11; S. Wesley Deakin 1911-12, during whose pastorate the Epworth League was formed. Mr. Deakin resigned in 1912 in order ingside college. to further his schooling at Morn-

Dissension reared its head again during the ministry of C. R. Dix, who succeeded Mr. Deakin in 1912 but in February of the year following "was asked to resign,"

Rev. R. W. Buress, Methodist pastor at Belmond, was asked by the presiding elder to fill out the remainder of the year. At essentially the same time the old parsonage was sold for $1,000 and plans launched for building a new one on the adjoining lot. The contract was let to F. H. Bohlen.

While A. G. Peterson was pastor in 1913-14, the parsonage was completed at a cost of $2,030. The records show that the Rev. Mr. Buress raised the last $200 needed to leave the parsonage free of debt.

John W. Ingram was minister from 1914 until April of 1915 but resigned with the observation that since the church board was under the control of one man and the salary was insufficient to pay the pastor's board, the incumbent was forced to leave. He declared he was "sorry to do so," as "outsiders" had made it very pleasant for him.

Mr. Buress finished out the troubled year. Matters were apparently ironed out under his influence, for F. Forester, who served the church during 1915-17, reported the congregation to be "loyal and faithful in every way."

Other ministers who served in the Methodist pulpit, recalled personally by persons still living in the community, included the Reverends Mr. Draeper, Wilkensen, Joseph Edge and O'Connor. Most of these served in a supply basis while pastors of the Belmond church.

Since the days of World War I, to which the material at hand takes the Methodist church history, the Congregational church recombined with the original parent church to form today's Community Methodist church.

Facts concerning the Congregational church and its reunion with the Methodist church will be related in another article.

IRS ruling a serious threat to businesses

We'd like you to do a little imagining for a moment. Imagine that the Belmond city council were to impose a three per cent sales tax on all business transactions in this community. It would, unquestionably, impose a crippling burden on local business firms. It would place them at a tremendous disadvantage in endeavoring to compete with firms in neighboring towns.

It could be taken for granted that the businessmen thus handicapped would make every effort to fight this tax. And, logically, it would seem that such expense they went to for this purpose might be considered a bona fide business expense as much as insuring against fire or public liability, hiring competent help, or meeting any of the other requirements of assuring the future of their business.

When an onerous sales tax was imposed by the city administration of Hope, Ark., last year, Alex H. Washburn, publisher of The Hope Star, spent over $6,000 in an endeavor to get it repealed. It was driving business away from Hope in great chunks — and in ruining the community's business was dealing a severe blow to the newspaper's normal — and necessary — income.

But when Mr. Washburn listed on his income tax form the amount of $6,024.96 as a necessary and deductible business expense it was wholly disallowed by the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS has taken the same action in disallowing deductions claimed by private power companies for messages carried to the public that point out what it costs the individual citizen because government power authorities are allowed to compete unfairly with private enterprise in this field.

In fact, IRS has RULED (there is no law to back up the ruling) that business expense is not tax deductible if it goes for advertising "for the promotion or defeat of legislation" or for "propaganda." Even should a business be fighting for its life against patently unfair government competition or restrictions, the cost of that fight is not deductible by IRS calculation.

Obviously, should a businessman feel it obligatory to hire someone to petition Congress in his behalf to ward off legislation that would kill or cripple his business, and should he advertise to tell his story to his fellow citizens, these acts would entail strictly BUSINESS expense. But the IRS says he would have to meet these costs entirely out of his profits and pay income taxes on them.

This amounts to putting a tax on free speech, to all practical intents and purposes. Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana has recognized this infringement on constitutional rights and has moved to prevent it. Any businessman who can envision himself caught in the IRS trap — and who could consider himself safely exempt? — should regard H. R. 7123 as one of the important measures remaining for Congress to pass.

Witch-hunting affidavit on its way out?

It is to be hoped that the U. S House of Representatives will follow the lead of the enlightened members of the U. S. Senate who voted Wednesday of last week in favor of repealing the non-subversive affidavit that has been required of students receiving college loans from the government.

As sponsored by Sen. John F. Kennedy (Dem., Mass.), applicants for such loans would still be required to take an oath of allegiance to the United States and its constitution. To our notion, this should be a sufficient gesture of patriotic ardor to demand of this particular class of Uncle Sam's creditors.

In expressing his opposition to repeal of the affidavit, Iowa's Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper declared "it's an ominous situation" and offered the opinion that some professors must want to teach the overthrow of the government by violence and force.

This is a sentiment that has been commonly expressed by those believing the affidavit is properly required of young people and others obtaining loans for advanced schooling. But this writer cannot see that it has one iota of validity.

Persons who have been offended by the affidavit requirement have not been opposed simply to the declaration of opposition to Communist principles, but rather to the singling out of one class of federal borrowers as more suspect than any other where Communist leanings might be involved.

We've heard many a "patriot" express great indignation at the widespread opposition to the affidavit, who would have been 10 times as angry if his particular profession or business had been chosen as its target.

Say that farmers — or small business men — or any of the other hundred and one classes of government borrowers comprised the LONE group asked to sign such an affidavit to obtain federal credit. Would there be a hue and cry from that group? You KNOW there would!

If it would be wrong to ask farmers (and ONLY farmers) to declare they weren't Communists in order to obtain a government loan, why is it any less wrong to demand this of students (and ONLY students)? Senator Hickenlooper and his ilk are finding a deep, dark significance where none exists, when they impute ulterior motives to the extensive outcries of educators against the affidavit.

The educators are only asking, "Why malign the patriotic integrity of those engaged in formal teaching and learning, as an isolated group?"

It is not that young men and women of America are ashamed to repudiate Communism, as one supporter of the affidavit accused. They just see no reason why their patriotism should be questioned, any more than the next person's.

That affidavit is an instrument of witch-hunting that would never uncover a single witch. No true Communist sympathizer would ever hesitate a moment to swear black is white, if it seemed opportune to do so.

On the other hand, as matters stand, many worthy students are being deprived of needed financial aid toward obtaining their educations because the self-respecting institutions of learning which they attend will NOT compromise their principles by shutting their eyes to the implications of this affidavit.

Iowa's constitutional conventions

A history of Iowa's constitution, which is of some consequence in view of the forthcoming vote on the possibility of revising that document, is of some interest at the present time. The history can also be summarised very briefly.

Iowa was originally a part of the Louisiana purchase, of course. In 1838 President Martin VanBuren approved the formation of the territory of Iowa. A constitution, ordained by Congress and imposed upon the people, was copied entirely from the supreme document of the Wisconsin territory.

CONSTITUTION OF 1844

In 1844 the people of the territory of Iowa voted to form a state government and a constitutional convention, meeting in Iowa City for 26 days, wrote the Constitution of 1844.

This constitution was rejected by the people because they disapproved of geographical limitations being imposed upon the state by the United States House of Representatives.

CONSTITUTION OF 1846

A second attempt to write a state constitution was undertaken in 1846. The job was handled by 32 delegates who spent fourteen days at the job. This document was approved by the people but later dissatisfaction with the constitution grew because of the provisions which prohibited banks. Hence another constitutional convention was approved by vote of the people in 1856.

PRESENT CONSTITUTION

Thirty-five delegates met for 39 days and revised the former constitution into the document which now serves the state of Iowa. It was approved by a vote of the people by a large majority.

The contents of the present constitution contain twelve articles and 176 sections. Twenty amendments have been passed by the legislature and approved by the people. — Iowa Falls Citizen

Tellin' "Big Brother"

It isn't often a weekly newspaper has the opportunity or the nerve to "straighten out" the "big brother" Des Moines Register.

However the big paper last Saturday had an editorial on the dove problem which intrigued a lot of people during the last session of the legislature. The question was on an open season on doves.

The Register said "It (the open season on doves) occupied far too much attention . . . at the last session (of the legislature)."

The fact is not one moment of debate was had in either house on the dove bill. The only attention was about one minute when the bill was introduced and read. It then went to committee and was never heard from again.

However, maybe that was too much attention at the —Algona Advance

For want of a bid . . .

Senator Paul Douglas is an effective comparison shopper.

When he finds that he can walk into a chain auto supply store and buy for $3.89 a wrench set for which the Army paid $29, he reports that the Army is wasting money by its procurement policies.

The Army is not alone in this failing. Senator Douglas found the Navy had bought for $10,550 five hundred lamp sockets which he priced at a retail store for $125. The Air Force, he charged, has also made more than its share of such foolish purchases.

THE SENATOR ESTIMATES that altogether such extravagant purchasing costs the Defense Department two to three billion dollars a year.

According to Senator Douglas, 86.4 per cent of all Defense Department supplies were bought last year through negotiated contracts rather than competitive bidding.

ADMITTEDLY THERE ARE OCcasions when, because of emergency need or a highly specialized type of purchase, a negotiated contract is advisable. But it is hard to see how this applies to wrench sets, plugs, etc.—or to any 86 per cent of the Pentagon's total business.

Senator Douglas has helpfully pointed out a multibillion-dollar leak at Defense. We trust that in their own interest the military buyers will henceforth try to do more of their ordinary business on a bid basis. For want of a bid the nail may cost so much the battle will be lost. — Christian Science Monitor

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY"—

To the full-page congratulatory ad that Belmond business firms have placed in this issue offering their best wishes to Alexander on its 75th anniversary, we'd like to add our own expression of congratulations.

We believe it is significant that Alexander is so proudly "telling the world" about its Diamond Jubilee and has laid elaborate plans for celebrating the occasion. Many a small town is on its "death bed" in this age when the trend of population is to larger and larger urban areas. But we've never heard of anyone celebrating a birthday simultaneous with lying supine and holding a lily on their chest.

Certainly it bodes well for Alexander's future that its citizens are greeting with such pride this 75th milestone of their community's existence. For PRIDE is the key that holds the answer to the kind of future a town such as Alexander may properly look forward to.

Pride inspires a community to look ahead — except when having just cause for a backward glance on the occasion of an anniversary such as our neighbors will observe next week. Inspection of Alexander offers quick evidence that it HAS looked ahead, and IS looking ahead,

It has a number of businesses that would do credit to a town several times Alexander's size; it has a well staffed and well administered school system; it has two churches that show Christian faith runs strong in the community; it has civic organizations that are alive and purposeful; it has homes that are amply supplied with the comforts and conveniences of our modern day; and it has people who are friendly, and out-going, and keenly interested in the world they live in.

Belmond and Alexander have been good neighbors over a span of three quarters of a century. We are grateful that that friendship has always existed on a high plane and been fruitful to the people of both communities. We can see no reason why the next 75 years of friendship should not be anticipated for its mutual benefits by these good neighbors.

JUNE DAIRY MONTH—

Next week also is significant in these parts in that it marks the climax of June Dairy Month, whose observance each year concerns a considerable number of our good farm citizens who are long-time affiliates of Belmond Co-operative Creamery. These dairy farmers have been a valuable asset in our agricultural economy; and the creamery has most certainly been a valuable jewel in Belmond's crown of commerce.

While we're passing out congratulations, it would be most appropriate to the month at hand to add our good wishes to the creamery and to its loyal patrons. It is noteworthy that in a day and age when many a "home town" creamery is locking its doors or fighting desperately for existence, the Belmond Co-op Creamery has vastly improved its facilities and is looking forward to a rewarding future

That the creamery has meant much to Belmond over an extended period of time is emphasized by this excerpt from The Belmond Herald files of just 50 years ago:

"The Belmond creamery is gradually extending its list of patrons. Cream is now being shipped here from Nebraska. In addition to their retail trade they will ship out about 45,000 pounds of butter this month, for which they get about 2¼ cents over the market price or 27 cents per lb. The creamery has first-class machinery and Mr. Vanderham is one of the best buttermakers in the United States — two of the factors that are making it famous."

WHERE BUFFALO ROAM —

While "the deer" (if not the antelope) "play" to this very day on our Wright county prairie, the memoirs of even the earliest settlers do not report seeing "buffalo roam" this area.

The same issue of The Belmond Herald quoted above offered another item of interest that opened: "For some unexplained reason, it has been a much mooted question whether the buffalo ever roamed over the prairies of central Iowa. It has always seemed incredible to us that they should give the luxuriant prairie grass of Iowa wide berth to roam over the dried up plains of the west."

Editor E. A. Pierce then continued, "We are glad we are now able to set the matter at rest. Last week, M. D. Sullivan dug up a buffalo head on his farm near town. It was found at the famous boiling spring which is always open winter and summer, and was undoubtedly the drinking place of herds of deer, elk and buffalo during the winter months in early days as the numerous bones which have been found in the adjacent swampy land mutely testify.

"The specimen which is on exhibition at this office is considerably larger than the buffalo head picked up in North Dakota and contributed to our museum by S. N. Hinman. By the way, this is a mineral spring and all bones or shells left in it for a few days receive a nice metal coating."

We presume this "boiling spring" was long ago tiled out of existence. But it is interesting to read about it and the prize it once yielded.

Know your businessmen—

Lloyd's glad fate ended his farming career

Lloyd Lerdal more or less looked forward to spending a lifetime at the occupation of farming when a quirk in health made him think again nine years ago this coming December. He'd found that operating a tractor made him subject to dizzy spells, and he could forsee that this state of affairs might lead to a mishap that would leave him permanently "plowed down."

As a consequence, he left the farm and leased the local Standard Oil station the following March (1952). He sold 80 of his 240 acres at the time and subsequently disposed of the other 160. In retrospect, he feels no regrets whatever over his enforced departure from farming.

In fact, he says, "I was probably lucky I had to get out when I did. I'm sure I'm doing much better financially now with the service station than I'd be doing if I were still operating that farm."

Lloyd believes his present, ultra-modern station is at least the fourth in the series of stations Standard Oil has had on the same corner over a period of more than half a century. When he took over the station lease, the company told him they'd build him a fine, new station if he'd boost his gasoline sales to a certain gallonage.

He reached the required figure in the very first year he operated the station. It wasn't until 1955 that Standard Oil got around to it, but true to its word the station Lloyd now has was constructed in that year. It has paid off well, for it brought about an increase in car servicing that's about double what the station did before.

Business increased regularly, month by month, in total volume until March of this year, Lloyd says — from the time he took charge. Now, for the past three months, it has failed to show an increase but has matched the business of the equivalent months a year ago.

"Whether this is just a temporary levelling off or indicates that our business has reached its peak for the time being, I don't know," Lloyd confesses, but he adds, "Either way, the station is doing OK and I'm not worrying about it."

Because of the fame of the name and the nationwide availablity of its products, Standard Oil attracts much transient business wherever its signs appear. Lloyd estimates that during the summer 70 per cent of his trade comes from transients; and the rest of the year a good half of his business comes from general highway traffic.

He emphasizes to his help NEVER to assume that a customer stopping for service is a one-timer. He says, "We give them the best service we can, because you never know when that car might drive through Belmond again."

It's been fortunate, Lloyd notes, that the heavy end of his business comes in the summer when his own sons have been able to provide extra help. All four of them have assisted him at one time or another.

The eldest, Kenny, is now in the insurance business; but Bud (Roland), next in line, plans to resume working at the station when he completes a three-year hitch in the Army next month. Bob is in the Navy (stationed in Hawaii, currently) and entirely happy with his lot. The youngest son, Tom, will be a BHS sophomore next fall and will be "available" for anyway a couple of summers yet.

Of course, Lloyd needs other help in addition to that he's "raised," and has both Dennis Pastour and Ardell Kaduce working full time at present.

Because his station does so much transient business, one of Lloyd's continual problems is returning to their rightful owners the host of articles left behind — mainly in the rest rooms — year in and year out.

A couple of years ago a Des Moines lawyer forgot his well-padded billfold, which contained $168 and a great quantity of cards and papers. Lloyd dispatched the billfold to the attorney by registered mail. He knows that it arrived — but he's still awaiting a "thank you."

On another occasion he spotted what locked like a "play" ring in the women's washroom. He doubted that it had any value at all, and was on the point of throwing it away when one of his sons asked for it to give to his daughter "for kicks." A day later the ring's owner phoned from Des Moines telling of loss of her "sterling silver keepsake." That taught Lloyd a lesson on the possible sentimental value of articles that he's never forgotten.

Still another time Lloyd was routed out of bed about 4:00 a. m. to sell a tire to a fishing party. Half asleep, he overcharged his customer $7.20 when he misread the price book. It was some three months later that the same car happened to call again at the station and Lloyd inquired if the owner remembered the earlier purchase.

The vacation-bound gent had never given the tire's price a second thought and didn't realize he'd been unintentionally "stung." But since the amount of his overcharge was refunded, a dozen and a half or more persons from the motorist's home town have given Lloyd business — and they always mention the example of honesty that attracted them to Lloyd's Standard Service.

Have milking stanchions for 22 cows—

ROBERT WENZEL AND BROWN SWISS HEIFERS (HOW'D THAT ANGUS GET IN THERE?)

Anyone driving past the farmstead of Fred Wenzel, Sr., five miles east of Belmond on blacktopped County U road is apt to be impressed by two things. One, the farmyard, its buildings, garden and all the surroundings are neat as a pin; second, its dairy herd of Brown Swiss cows makes about as pretty a picture as you'd want to see.

In a dairy territory where the very large majority of herds are comprised of Holsteins, the Wenzel's (Fred, Sr., farms with two of his boys, James, 25, and Robert, 22) Brown Swiss cows really catch the eye.

"Dad" Wenzel used to raise Guernseys; but his sons have talked him into a preference for Brown Swiss on several accounts. For one, they insist the Brown Swiss is more economical to feed than the Holstein; for another, they say the breed is ruggeder than the Guernsey. They note, in addition, that the Brown Swiss are unusually tame — along with being pretty to look at.

Before starting their conversion to a Brown Swiss herd about five years ago, the Wenzels conferred with a fancier of that breed, Earl Anderson of Ventura. They were impressed with what Mr Anderson had to tell them; and they have never had any regrets over shifting over to Brown Swiss.

At present, the Wenzels have a milking herd of 17, 11 of which are Brown Swiss. Then there are 16 heifers, only one of which is a Guernsey, and there are 14 current crop calves, nine of which are heifers. It is plain to see that the Wenzel herd is growing with a fair degree of rapidity.

All the herd is made up of grade stock. The cows are bred to a thoroughbred Brown Swiss bull, which the Wensels, themselves, own. In addition to keeping the bloodline of their Brown Swiss milk animals pure, the bull is also used for crossbreeding the Guernsey stock to strengthen in the calves the Brown Swiss qualities that the Wenzels admire.

Their milking barn is equipped with two rows of stanchions that will accommodate 22 cows at a time. With two milking machines, they march down the rows and get the milking job done with considerable speed.

If you ask the Wenzels why they are so enthusiastic about the dairy aspect of their farming operation, they will tell you that their enthusiasm stems mainly from those every-other-week creamery checks. Robert adds, "As the herd grows, the calves become an increasingly important added dividend."

The Wenzels have had pretty good luck in getting heifer calves; but they say that by the time a Brown Swiss steer has reached marketable age (which is about the same as that at which a heifer could be sold as ready-to-produce), it will bring about as good a price as a female calf.

Having the first essentials of enough labor to do the dairying chores as well as the field work — AND enjoyment in working around cows — the Wenzels agree that 'most any farming operation in this area can profit by including a dairy herd. They emphasize that it must be large enough to be an efficient operation, though.

The elder Wenzels plan to retire from the farm this year and will build a new home in Alexander. This will leave the home place to James and his bride of a few months and to Robert. They will continue to farm the 247 acres, with help from their father when he feels like giving it.

Fred, Sr., and his wife moved onto the farm when he bought it in 1927 and they regard that they have a rest coming to them.

They have two other sons, both on farms that their parents own. They are located on a half section two miles west and two north of the home farm. George, 28, has 159 acres to look after and Fred, Jr., 32, 154 acres.

DICK KAMM WITH PART OF HIS HERD OF GRADE HOLSTEINS

Twins help with dairy work—

Milking parlor planned by Kamm

While many a farm family has been getting entirely out of dairying, A. H. "Dick" Kamm is laying plans for increasing the size of his dairy herd and building a milking parlor to up-grade the efficiency of his operation.

He and his 15-year old twin sons, Rick and Dick, look after a herd of 40 cows and heifers. Twenty-one of them are of milking age, but only nine are fresh at the present.

All of the Kamm herd are Holsteins, except for a couple of Guernseys. This is the biggest herd Dick has had, but he intends to increase it to about 50 head after the milking parlor is built. He and the boys plan to tackle the construction job this summer, doing the large part of the building themselves.

It will be a three-stall affair. It will not be equipped with a pipeline arrangement for carrying the milk from cow to tank, but Dick hopes the day will come when he can add this refinement.

Only the help of the boys has made it possible for Dick to continue with a dairy herd, he admits.

"For a farm to engage in dairying today," he says, "there has to be enough help that field work doesn't have to be slighted for milking, and vice versa. And, of course, you have to like working with cows or the deal is no good. Fortunately, both of the boys enjoy having cows around just as much as I do."

Dick operates 240 rented acres, divided into parcels of 160 and 80. He is in the process of buying the 80.

All of the Kamm herd are grade cows, but Dick says at least a couple of them have proved themselves quite remarkable producers. One of them this past spring gave over 91 pounds of milk in a single day. It and another one have for a period of nearly the last 10 months been averaging 85 pounds daily on only two milkings per day.

When the milking parlor is ready for use — sometime this coming fall, Dick hopes — he expects it will materially reduce the labor involved in caring for the cows and speed up milking a good deal.

He says that higher dairy standards — from the standpoints of cleanliness and quality — have sent upward the cost of operating a dairy herd so that it is impractical to mantain one under a certain minimum size. Unless basic and unavoidable overhead is divided among quite a few cows, a farmer just can't afford to keep a herd, Dick declares.

He says that his son Dick has shown considerable interest in following in his father's footsteps and is starting a dairy herd of his own. He has a couple of heifers who will freshen in August and two yearlings. In addition, he calls one of the Guernseys his, though his dad hasn't quite figured out how the boy gained possession of this particular "bossie."

Rick has shown less inclination to become a farmer in his own right, thinking at this point that he might like to become a veterinarian. He's always johnny-on-the-spot to treat ailing animals on the farm, to do the vaccinating and other jobs that might fall a veterinary's lot.

Dick the elder says his sons are first-class help around the farm and that they perform some of the work — cultivating, for example — probably better than their dad, himself, can.

"If it weren't that there are the three of us to do the work, probably the cows would have to go," Dick admits.

$350 MILLION is a lot of money

THAT'S about the amount the dairy industry contributes yearly to Iowa's IOWA wealth. We all use that money — the butcher, the baker, the business man and, yes, the bank. Money is our business, and we know how important dairying is to Iowa.

It employs 200,000 full-time employees and that $350 million does a lot in making Iowa the prosperous progressive state it is.

So our hat is off to the dairy farmer, the creamery owner and everyone else in the widespread dairy industry of Iowa.

● ● ● ● ● ● ● ● ●

They like those milk checks—

Ersland, 2 sons form partnership

Dick Ersand has included a dairy herd in his farming operation ever since he became a tenant on a Tyrrell farm 15 years ago. He says, "The day might come when I get out of dairying; but I don't see it coming soon."

To the contrary, since entering a partnership with his two sons — Gary, age 22, and Larry, 20 — the first of this year, Dick has been contemplating an increase in the size of his dairy herd.

At present the Erslands have a herd of 30 Holsteins, of which 20 are fresh. For the past two years the cows and heifers have been bred to an Angus bull and all the calves fed for the market.

For the four years prior, while Dick was increasing his herd, he bred his dairy herd artificially Now that his boys have joined in partnership with him, Dick has more or less made up his mind to increase the herd size to 40.

This will require the purchase of eight or 10 yearling heifers this coming winter and as they freshen will increase to about 25 the number of head in milk production, as a usual thing.

Dick says he and his sons are willing to "bother with cows" because they like that regular check from the creamery every other week. With three of them to do the farm work, two take care of the milking while the other concentrates on field work.

"You have to have a herd not under a minimum number of head for efficiency if you're going to make out in dairying," according to Dick, "and you also need enough manpower so that the regular farmwork gets done in spite of the dairying chores."

He points out that about the same amount of equipment is required for a small herd as for one considerably larger. Only if this basic cost is spread over a large enough number of cows does the operation pay off.

Dick added, "If I had to depend on a hired man, and he didn't like to milk, I'd just have to get out of dairying. But the boys don't mind helping look after the cows, so we're fixed where labor is concerned."

For the past 17 years, Dick has been associated with W. P. Tyrrell. He worked on the Tyrrell home farm for two years before becoming tenant on the 240-acre farm on the Alexander road that Gary and his wife (the former Meredith Jenison) now live on.

Nine years ago he also took over operation of the half section that lies just a short ways east of Highway 69 on the Alexander road. So he and his two sons now jointly farm 560 acres.

Gary worked last year on the Tyrrell home place, before deciding to come in with his father and brother Larry on the partnership arrangement devised the first of this year.

The Erslands engage fairly heavily in stock feeding, in addition to their dairying operation. They are finishing off 29 head of beef cattle right now and have 28 beef calves on hand for fall feeding.

In addition, they have 60 baby pigs on hand, farrowed in about the past month by eight sows; and 11 more sows will farrow in July and August. They had 150 pigs farrowed during the period of December up to Feb. 1, 30 of which went to market just week before last.

The Erslands plan their hog breeding program to miss the fall and spring pig markets that the majority of farmers have their programs coincide with.

While waiting for their market stock to be sold, they find those milk checks mighty handy. That's why there seems good likelihood that you'll find dairy cows browsing on the Erslands' pastures for a good many years to come.

Methodist church of Belmond now in new district

Last Friday the assignment of churches of the North Iowa Conference of The Methodist Church found the Methodist church of Belmond attached to a new district. Under a new alignment approved Monday of last week and effective Friday, the local church will be affiliated with the Fort Dodge district.

Church officials say the realignment is expected to provide a better distribution of the work load among superintendents by equalizing the number of churches for which each is responsible.

Belmond Methodists were formerly affiliated with the Algona District, which has been eliminated in the process of creating seven districts where eight existed before. The Belmond church is one of 63 in the new Fort Dodge district, which has an individual membership of 22,094.

An entirely new Mason City district was formed in the process of redistributing the counties formerly attached to the Algona and Davenport districts. All of the previous districts had their boundaries altered.

It was announced by Bishop F. Gerald Ensley that superintendent of the Fort Dodge district will be Charles R. Buckwalter of Storm Lake. Counties in this district in addition to Wright and Webster will be Pocahontas, Humboldt, Sac, Calhoun and Hamilton.

Other districts will be known by their headquarters as Cedar Rapids, Dubuque, Sioux City, Spencer and Waterloo.

...the home owner

Iowans can be proud of their wonderful record for home ownership . . . in the top 5 per cent among all states.

What makes this record possible? The desire to own our homes, of course. But, also, our stable Iowa economy . . . steady jobs, so a family can acquire a home with confidence.

Here, again, the brewing industry plays an important role. It gives employment to over 23,000 Iowa workers. Its Iowa payrolls run into the millions. In addition, taxes on beer sold in Iowa total over $25,000,000.00 . . . this, too, holding down home owners' tax bills proportionately.

Yes, for the home owner, the farmer, the business man, for our whole state, we can all agree . . .

VOL. 41 NO. 39 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1960 | 6-27-65 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | 12 PAGES THIS ISSUE

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

What WE want to know is why the heck General Mills doesn't pay its help at Rossford, O., well enough that Belmond emigres there can afford to subscribe for The Independent individually. We're mighty happy that these folks want to keep informed as to what's going on in "the old home town," but . . .

Last week we received from Ray Wright, who apparently is secretary of the ex-Belmondites of Rossford, the following note: "Please send us The Independent again this year. We still have four former Belmond families here at the General Mills plant. We like to read about our friends at Belmond."

This week they'll also find a picture of a fugitive from Rossford, Frank Ratasky, and his family. It frets us, though, that these fellahs (Leo Renaud, Wayne Wolf and Dick Holgate are the others) can't manage private subscriptions. Anyhoo — glad to have you with us for another year, gentlemen.

Another renewal subscriber last week was Mrs. Mayme Dillon, who must be just about our oldest subscriber, from the standpoint of continuously taking either The Independent or one of its predecessors.

She says he has been reading one of Belmond's papers or another for 72 years. (We doubt that any of the Mainstreeters will ever survive to PUBLISH a newspaper for that long.)

Mrs. Dillon says she became a reader of the Belmond paper of that day when she was 14 years old. She became a reader when she was hired (at 25 cents per week) to serve as a reporter of lo[illegible] items.

The odd-looking fruit here pictured was brought to the Independent by Mrs. Sema Helland after she had "gathered" it while picking strawberries in the patch of her sister Mrs. Bert Kalkwarf. It consisted of a luscious strawberry of normal shape bedded upon and completely surrounded by a frill of several other berries completely joined to form a rosy cushion.

When the strawberry "corsage" was brought in to the office, it was still quite green; but a day lying on the front counter brought it to ruddy and tempting ripeness. It didn't make a very good photographic subject, but we did the best we could to get a picture of it — which appears above. Sunday morning Ye Ed had it as topping on some sliced peaches. It was delicious!

Ye Ed has had one or two readers ask him how he managed to get Fred Wenzel, Sr., transplanted from the "Leinbach road" gravel to the "church road" blacktop in the feature story regarding Mr. Wenzel and his sons' dairy operation in last week's paper. It was easy. All it took was a memory so short that it failed to bridge the period between writing the story one Thursday and gathering the material for it a week earlier. . . . Of all people, Ye Ed should know where the heck that blacktop is!

Credit Gaylord Martin, new owner-proprietor of Hotel Belmond, with bringing about one of the most noticeable improvements to take place on Main street in a long time. His sprucing up of the hotel's exterior makes the establishment much more attractive in appearance. We suspect it may also attract more patronage than the hostelry enjoyed in its former rather down-at-the-heels state . . . We cast a vote of thanks in behalf of Mr. Martin's business brethren up and down "the main drag."

Jacobmeyer rites Friday afternoon

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:00 p. m. for Mrs. Frank Jacobmeyer, 74, who died Tuesday afternoon at her home.

Rev. M. L. Jones will conduct the rites at the Methodist church and Johnston Funeral Home will be in charge. Burial will be in the Belmond cemetery.

MALE QUARTET TO SING

Next Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock the Trinity Lutheran church will present in a sacred concert a male quartet known as "The Seminaires." The four young men are from the Lutheran Brethren Schools at Fergus Falls, Minn. They are presently engaged in a summer tour that will take them through 12 states and to the province of Saskatchewan in Canada.

Adolph Wenzel wins $25

Last week, some 4,000 copies of The Independent were mailed throughout the Belfrede area — instead of about equal numbers of The Independent and Belmond Buyers Guide to match the same total. This change from customary practice did not, however, influence the distribution of more Cash Gift Day "moolah" than usual. Twelve numbers worth cash were posted Tuesday afternoon; but Adolph Wenzel (at 2:00 p. m.) brought in the day's only winner — and thereby profited to the amount of $25. Next Tuesday the prize total will be continued at $400, split into eight $25 awards at 2:00 and half that many $50's at 3:00 o'clock.

Rev. R. A. Ormsby's 40 years of priesthood and more than 20 years as pastor of St. Francis parish were recognized last week by his parishoners with a check that will enable the popular clergyman to enjoy a seven-week trip abroad.

With Steve McLaughlin as chairman and Gene Griffin as co-chairman, a drive was conducted throughout the St. Francis-St. Mary's (Goodell) parish for funds to finance the trip. Father Ormsby's "flock" gave generously, more than $2,000 being collected.

Father Ormsby will leave from New York aboard the S. S. Queen Mary for England on July 14 and will make his return voyage from England to the States on the S. S. Queen Elizabeth, departing Sept. 1.

This will be the Belmond priest's first visit to Europe. He will travel with a Catholic touring group from Winona, Minn. Two other priests will be in the party. Father Ormsby says the tour has a decidedly interesting itinerary and will include Berlin, which is accessible only by special arrangements due to Russian control of the land surrounding.

A highlight of the tour will be a visit to the Vatican at Rome, during which the group will be granted an audience with Pope John XXVIII.

Tyrrell elected finance chairman for county GOP

Two Belmond men were elected to important Republican positions in the county last Friday night as about 40 members of the party's county central committee met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hagie near Clarion.

W. P. Tyrrell was chosen as treasurer and Russell Schaal was the committee's choice to serve as chairman of the Republican county convention on July 1.

Otto Knudsen of Eagle Grove was elected to continue as chairman of the central committee, a post he has filled since Ray Hagie resigned earlier in the year to run for the office of state representative. Mrs. Alre Watts of Clarion will continue as vice chairman.

Mrs. Dale M. Smith of Eagle Grove was elected to remain as secretary of the central committee. She had held that post temporarily since Mr. Knudsen took office as chairman last February.

In a poll of the committee members as to their preference among the candidates who had run for the GOP nomination as U. S. Senator the following counts were produced: for Jack Miller, Davenport, 16; Dayton Countryman, Nevada, 12; Rollo Bergeson, Des Moines, six; Ken Stringer, Davenport, two; Oliver Reeves, Waverly, one; Ernest Seemans, Waterloo, none.

Nomination of the party's candidate for the senate will be a matter of business at the Republican state convention next month, county delegates to which are to be named at next week's convention at Clarion.

LEE ALDRICH III NAMED TO DEAN'S LIST AT ISU

R. E. Lee Aldrich III, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Aldrich, Jr., of Belmond, was named to the Dean's List at Iowa State university for the spring quarter. Young Aldrich is a graduate of Rowan High school. He is an agriculture education major.

Only about the top seven per cent of undergraduates at Iowa State qualify for the Dean's List, which is announced at the end of each quarter of study.

MAX HANSEN

Fort Dodge man on paper's staff for eight weeks

Starting next Tuesday, Max Hansen of Fort Dodge will be a temporary addition to The Independent staff, assisting on both advertising and news for the next eight weeks. He will completely take over responsibility for editing the newspaper during the two weeks in early August that Editor J. R. Gallagher will be on vacation and then will be vacation substitute for R. H. Gowdy, advertising and business manager, the following two weeks.

Although he has been employed as a salesman for the past several years, Mr. Hansen is a former newspaperman and is contemplating a re-entry into the field of journalism.

For 7½ years he was with the Nevada Evening Journal, working in all departments during that period. He was business and advertising manager at the time of his resignation from the Journal staff.

Thereafter he was for 3¼ years an employee of the Des Moines Register and Tribune in the advertising department, calling primarily on financial, wholesale and political advertisers.

Mr. Hansen's journalistic achievements include acceptance of an article by the Saturday Evening Post. This was published two years ago and pertained to a family trailer-vacation to Yellowstone Park which Mr. and Mrs. Hansen and their five children (they now have six) enjoyed on an economical budget. Mr. Hansen's own photography illustrated the article.

Question: who'll be "Miss Belmond"—

Jaycees set for 'glorious' 4th

JCC plans include parade, pageant —and fireworks

A grand and glorious" 4th of July in the tradition of "the good old days" has been planned for Belmond and vicinity by the Belmond Junior Chamber of Commerce for two reasons, explains Ed Gabrielson, chairman of the planning committee.

First, the Jaycees are intent on providing wholesome entertainment for persons of all ages; second, they are determined to keep as many families as possible off the highways and safe from the dangers of holiday traffic.

Actually, a full weekend of fun is scheduled, cimaxing with the "Miss Belmond" beauty-and-talent pageant on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock, followed by an impressive display of fireworks at 9:30 o'clock.

Saturday will see a carnival set up for business at the school athletic grounds (rides will continue to operate through Monday evening); and Saturday at 8:30 p. m. Jack Rockufeler of radio station KRIB, Mason City, will conduct one of his popular Teen Hops at Veterans Memorial hall.

Sunday will find the carnival in full swing during the afternoon and an amateur show taking the spotlight at 8:00 o'clock that evening. R. B. Thompson will serve as master of ceremonies and introduce the following acts, some of which will make more than one appearance.

Steve and Donald Hinman accordion-organ duet; Julie and Janie Kinseth tap dance; men's barbershop quartet from Alexander; BHS Swing-it-teers band directed by Gary Porter; Kathy Dorr in a comedy monologue; Wright county 4-H folk dancing group in Lithuanian dance.

Candy McClenahan, piano solo; David Didio and combo; The Four Pesos, BHS Melody Maids, "pop" septet which made a big hit at the spring concert of the a cappela choir; Don Hoppel and Jerry Chandler in pantomime of recording by Louie Prima and Keeley Smith.

Monday's festivities will start with the kiddies' parade, which is to form up at the city park at 8:30 o'clock and to start on its line of march up Main street at 9:00. Co-Chairmen Edith Shirer and Jan Meints say prizes will be awarded for the best pet entry, best costume and best decorated bicycle.

Seventy-nine entries have been received for the main parade, which will assemble at 9:30 a. m. along the school grounds adjoining the high school and Ramsay Elementary. This is more than a year ago, and Co-Chairmen Elaine Sharp and Marvis Tideback predict an even finer parade than that which earned generous praise last summer.

Starting at 10:00 a. m., the floats and other entries will march down Third street, cut south to Main street at 1st avenue, and follow Main to Dougherty Jewelry's corner. There the route will bear south so the parade will pass Belmond Community hospital by resuming its eastward march on First street SE, continuing to Sixth avenue and then going north to Third street NE again and thence east to the new school grounds adjoining the athletic field.

Judges will pick two winners among the business floats, two more among those entered by organizations, and also select the best horse-and-rider to receive a prize.

Immediately after the parade, races for the youngsters will be held on the football field. At 12:00 noon in the bus barn, the senior Chamber of Commerce will serve a barbecue. It will not be free, but the 25 cents per serving of barbecued beef sandwich, baked beans, potato chips and either coffee or milk will no more than cover cost of the food.

After riding in the morning parade, the "Miss Belmond" candidates will make their second appearance of the day when they compete in the swim suit portion of the judging at 2:00 p. m. at Luick Memorial Swimming Pool.

Seeking the right to represent Belmond at the "Miss Iowa" contest at Clear Lake in August are the following:

Lynne Arends, 1960 graduate of Rowan High school and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arends, who will demonstrate her talent in the evening pageant with a humorous reading. She is sponsored by Farmers Grain company.

Firemen sponsor candidate

Catherine Bonte, 1960 graduate of BHS and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bonte, who will sing a vocal solo. Belmond Volunteer Fire department, sponsor.

Lavonne Hansen, 1960 graduate of Rowan High school and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hansen. She, too, will be heard in a vocal selection. Belmond Publishing company, sponsor.

Kathryn McLaughlin, 1960 BHS graduate and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin. She will offer a humorous reading. Her sponsor is Hattel's Super Valu grocery.

Peewee tourney 2:30 p. m.

Gloria Rogalla, 1959 BHS graduate and now a student at Morningside college, Sioux City; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rogalla. She will be heard as a vocal soloist. P&G grocery, sponsor.

Sondra Stoltenberg, 1959 graduate of BHS and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Stoltenberg. She will give a humorous reading, also. Iowa Electric Light and Power company, sponsor.

A peewee ball tournament, starting at 2:30 p. m. at the high school diamond, and a concert by the BHS band under direction of Maurice Fahrney at the football field at 7:30 will intervene before the "Miss Belmond" pageant starts at 8:00 Monday evening.

"Bud" Trafford em-cee

Mayor L. T. "Bud" Trafford will be master-of-ceremonies. Judging the girls in the talent revue, as they will have done earlier at the swimming pool and at a tea at Blue Bell tea room on attributes of figure, poise and personality, will be the following:

Russell Tokheim of Forest City, news editor of the F. C. Summit and chairman of Forest City's 1959 Jaycee beauty-talent contest.

Mrs. Bernard Collins of Clarion, president of the Federated Women's Clubs of Wright County.

James Carroll, Alexander superintendent of schools.

Others assisting in phases of the pageant will be: Keith Wiggins, emcee for the swim suit judging at the swimming pool; Connie Gabrielson, 1959 "Miss Belmond," and Mrs. Laura Guthrie, hostesses for the luncheon attended by the contestants and their mothers.

Donors of prizes listed

Donors of prizes that will be distributed among the "Miss Belmond" candidates are the following firms: Anthony's, Belmond Hardware, Belmond Publishing company, Dougherty Jewelry, Elliott Hardware, First State bank, Hattel's Super Valu, Hildman's Variety, Iowa Electric Light and Power company, Johnston Furniture, Kennedy Furniture, Kessler's, Model Dry Cleaners, Nolan Rexall Drug, P&G Grocery, Ted's Shoe store, Texaco Cafe, The Style Shop and Waddington's.

This year's talent program is to be kept considerably shorter than that of last 4th of July, Chairman Gabrielson promises, so all should be in readiness for the fireworks display at approximately 9:30 o'clock. Gates to the football field will be opened following the pageant's close, so all spectators can enjoy the fireworks from a good vantage point.

● ● ● ● ● ● ● ● ●

FRIENDLY RIVALS for the title of "Miss Belmond" are the five young women pictured above who will vie in the beauty-talent pageant that will be a major feature of the Jaycees' 4th of July celebration. Also a contestant, but unable to be present when the picture was taken, is Gloria Rogalla. Shown as they were assembled Monday night to receive preliminary instructions are (left) to right): seated — Lynne Arends and Lavonne Hansen, both of Rowan; standing — Catherine Bonte, Sondra Stoltenberg and Kathryn McLaughlin.

Fulton Funeral Home was in charge and burial was in St. Francis cemetery. Serving as pallbearers were: Ed Kennedy, Don McNulty, James W. Barry, Lloyd Buterbaugh, Ira Studebaker, Jr., and Martial Holtzbauer.

A complete obituary will appear later.

Eight years since opening—

Staff marks hospital "birthday"

Belmond Community hospital's 8th anniversary was celebrated by its staff — unofficially known as the J&M or Jug and Mug club — at a dinner party Wednesday of last week at Holiday Lounge, Clear Lake.

Original members of the staff had the anniversary figured out right down to the hour. According to Margaret Schollian, medical librarian, the hospital opened its doors for business at 4:00 p. m. on June 23, 1952.

A contest was conducted at the time, offering prizes to the first baby born in the new hospital. Winner by a narrow margin was Kathy Whipple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Whipple.

Each year at the time of the hospital's anniversary, a "birthday" card is received from Kathy and is prominently posted on the bulletin board.

Mrs. Schollian informed The Independent that in its first eight years, Belmond Community hospital recorded 7,553 admissions, had 2,095 surgical operations performed in it, and boasted a total of baby deliveries that exactly equalled its year of establishment, 1952. It has witnessed the birth of 16 sets of twins — or exactly one out of every 122 deliveries.

Wednesday of last week was also an occasion of farewell as the hospital staff members honored Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Dulmes of Klemme in recognition of their imminent departure to make their home in California. Dr. Dulmes has been a member of the hospital's medical staff ever since the hospital opened.

Today was the last that Dr. Dulmes was to have his Klemme office open, after practicing in that community for 27 years. He had practiced at Grundy Center for three years before going to Klemme, so he will have spent 30 years as an Iowa physician.

He has been named as a physician with the student health service of Long Beach (Calif.) State college and will move west as soon as Mrs. Dulmes has obtained living accommodations. She left for California on Tuesday morning of this week.

The Dulmes's only child, a son Dick, will remain in Iowa and make his home at Britt. He is employed by the state highway commission.

Will choose state delegates—

County political parleys tomorrow

Both Republicans and Democrats of Wright county will convene at the court house in Clarion tomorrow (Friday) morning at 10:00 o'clock for the primary purpose of selecting delegates to attend the state party conventions later in July.

Particular interest centers in the GOP state delegation this year due to the fact that the state convention will be required to nominate a party candidate for the office of U. S. Senator. None of the six primary candidates for the senate nomination obtained the required 35 per cent of the total ballots cast.

Only 17 of the 37 delegates officially eligible to participate in the Democratic county convention were elected in the primary by write-in votes. A large majority of those who were chosen received only one vote.

Those elected to attend the convention Friday were: Belmond Ward I, Marjorie Kennedy; Boone township, Eleanor Huntley; Clarion Ward I, Martin Morrissey; Clarion Ward II, Richard Bradley; Clarion Ward II, Viola West; Eagle Grove Ward I, Margaret Thorne and Gwen Johnson; Eagle Grove Ward III, Glen Williams and Erma Lewright.

Eagle Grove township, Leslie Paint; Lake, Marion Robinson; Norway, Olaf Eliason and Martin Hill; Pleasant, Alvin Halfpap; Wall Lake, Gerald Blackman; Woolstock, Mrs. Howard Jones.

Most of the 137 delegates the Republican voters were eligible to elect from the 28 precincts in the county were determined by ballots cast in the primary. A few vacancies remain to be filled at the convention though; and the election canvass by the board of supervisors left a handful of delegates on the convention list from precincts in which they do not reside and were not eligible for election.

Delegates from precincts in this part of the county were declared by the auditor's office to be elected as follows:

Belmond Ward I — Rita Schaal, Onnalee Benson, Cora Greenlander, Russell Schaal and Elsie Pitcher; Belmond Ward II — R. B. Thompson, C. C. Christie, Ralph Christie, *Clarence Johnson, *John Spitler, Jr., and *Walt Hotvel (*ineligible by virtue of residence in another precinct); Belmond Ward III — Dorothy McNeal, J. R. Gallagher, Eldoris Bunnell, Cecil Carstens, Don Faris, Annabelle Green, Margaret Jenison.

Alice Svendsen to head auxiliary

Mrs. Alice Svendsen was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary unit of Eimbrink post No. 35 at the regular meeting of the auxiliary held Tuesday of last week at Veterans' Memorial hall. She succeeds Mrs. Anna Helgeland, who headed the organization during 1959-60.

New officers of the unit, who will be installed in July, include the following in addition to Mrs. Svendsen: vice president, Hattie Allison; secretary, Agnes Rikansrud; treasurer, Cecelia Holtzbauer; sergeant-at-arms, Marie Zook; chaplain, Carrie Gellett; historian, Lillian Thompson.

EN ROUTE TO GERMANY

Sgt. and Mrs. Edwin Quandt and son arrived Saturday morning from Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., to visit in the H. R. Bayliss home and with Mrs. Ella Pierce and other relatives. Mrs. Quandt and son will live here until they can join Sergeant Quandt in Germany, where he is to be stationed.

DAIRY PRINCESS of Wright county for 1960 was chosen Monday evening at Rowan at the annual June Dairy Month banquet of the Wright County Dairy Interests association. Winner of the title on the basis of ballots cast by the large audience in attendance was Karen Duitscher of Clarion (second from right above), candidate of the Wright County Dairy Herd Improvement association. The crown was bestowed upon her by 1959's Dairy Princess, Arlene Woodley of Rowan. Left to right above are: Cynthia Baker, Clarion, candidate of Belmond Co-op Creamery; Sonja Sime, Dows, Dows Co-op Creamery; Miss Woodley; Judy Keeling, Clarion, Goldfield Co-op Creamery; Miss Duitscher; and Janice Sebert, Carion, candidate of the Clarion Dairy. Major speakers on the banquet program were William J. Hitz of Polk City, vice president of the American Dairy association, and Dwight Nichols, all-American football player with Iowa State university's famed "Dirty Thirty" of the 1959 season.

AMONG LAW OFFICERS attending the 24th annual Peace Officers Short Course last week at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, was Marvin Miller (second from right) of the Belmond police force. Included on the short course agenda were sessions dealing with narcotics, civil defense, photography, psychiatry, poisons, notable Iowa crimes, weapons, and new decisions in criminal law. The 85 officers attending included those shown above with Officer Miller (left to right) as Elmer Hightower of Waterloo, Black Hawk county sheriff, demonstrated the operation of a mold for casting bullets: Val Hronek, Pocahontas county deputy sheriff; Miller; and Paul Bartholemew, Fort Madison policeman.

Fireworks exhibit slated for Friday

Annual Fireworks display sponsored by the Meservey American Legion post and Auxiliary will be held on Friday evening in the local park. The preceding Kiddie Parade will begin at 7:00 o'clock and march down Main street to the park.

The Auxiliary will present prizes in three parade classes as follows: Class I — babies through first grade; Class II — Second through fourth; Class III — fifth and above.

Games will be played directed by the Legionnaires and treats will be provided. Admission to the fireworks is free.

Lunch will be sold on the grounds by the Legion Auxiliary.

Jr. Women's club concludes season

Final meeting of the season for the Meservey Junior Federated club was held Monday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. J. E. Koenen, with 14 members present.

Mrs. Nathan Pals presented a quiz on the news and Mrs. Merlin Ruiter presented the lesson on the topic, "Put Your Best Foot Forward." After the lesson, members evaluated their own appearances by checking on clothing, accessories and like factors.

Ideas for program booklets and the booklet cover for next year were considered.

Lunch was served by the hostess. The club will resume regular meetings in September.

Beulah Langlitz again will head Legion Auxiliary

Beulah Langlitz was reelected president of the Meservey unit of the American Legion Auxiliary at a regular meeting of the organization held Wednesday evening of last week. She will be installed for the 1960-61 activity year in July.

Other officers who will be installed at the same time are: vice president, Thina Smith; secretary, Sylvia Raecker; treasurer, Phyllis Fischer; sergeant-at-arms, Mary Raecker; chaplain, Gertrude Stadtlander; historian, Ethel Wendel.

On the executive board are Lucille Diddy, Alverda Koenen and Mae Messelheiser.

Plans were made for the usual Kiddie Parade to precede the 4th of July fireworks. A report on the mother-daughter banquet was presented.

Lunch was served by Thina Smith and Mae Messelheiser.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dirks received word last week of the birth of a baby boy to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Dirksen of Alexander. Mrs. Dirksen is the former Grace Dirks. The new boy has two older sisters.

George Dirks, Sr., has been a patient in the Mercy hospital at Mason City where he has been undergoing treatment.

Mrs. Arlene Kaldenberg and Claudia of Early spent the weekend in the parental John R. Schmidt home and also visited friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Snell of Waterloo stopped Sunday in the parental Herman C. Fischer home en route to Colorado on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Manganiello and children of Long Island, N. Y., are visiting with her mother, Mrs. Lillie Faaborg, and with the Jack Faaborg family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miller left this week for a two-week vacation. Mrs. Donald Meints, regularly employed at the bank, will take over the greater part of the responsibilities during the absence of Mr. Miller, local bank manager.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown drove to Spencer Sunday where they enjoyed a picnic with members of the family of Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Helen McDonald of Tucson, Ariz., returned home with them for a short stay before returning to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Pummrehn and family of Alden were Sunday night visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ruiter. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kaduce of Garner also stopped for a visit in the Ruiter home Sunday.

Friends and relatives from Meservey attended the wedding Saturday morning of Betty Floy and Jerry Suntken held at the Catholic church at Rockwell. Mr. and Mrs. Suntken will make their home in Meservey where he is employed at the Raecker garage.

Dean and Merlin Wessels of St. Charles, Ill., are visiting at the home of their uncle, Dale Fischer. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wessels, and sister are at the parental Mrs. Ella Wessels home at Belmond.

Mrs. Amalia Lemke and Elizabeth, Mrs. Amelia Zimmerman and Eva Schluter were Tuesday supper guests at the Mrs. Conlon home at Clarion. It was a pot luck supper for Eva Schluter's and Mrs. Conlon's birthdays.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the Moody Quandt home were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quandt of Austin, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baxter and Mr. and Mrs. Luke Wessels of Mason City.

Elizabeth Lemke was a business caller in Iowa Falls Tuesday.

Mrs. Edward (Bud) Kuhlers surprized her husband on Tuesday evening when she had asked these folks in to help him celebrate his birthday: Mr. and Mrs. Marilyn Kuhlers, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Groen and Diann, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuhlers, Sr., and Dena Kuhlers.

Mrs. Amalia Lemke accompanied her sister, Mrs. Haberkamp of Garner, to Minneapolis, Minn., last weekend. They took Miss Habercamp there from where she left on a trip to Germany. Miss Habercamp is Mrs. Lemke's niece.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sigurdson and children of Fort Wayne, Ind., came Friday to the Andrew Pals home to spend the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Donat of Cedar Falls spent Sunday in the Pals home. The ladies are Mr. Donat's daughters. They helped Carla, the Pals' one-year-old daughter, celebrate her birthday.

LIBRARY HOURS

The summer library opened Wednesday of this week at the school house. The hours will be 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock every Wednesday evening until fall.

GRIMES CLOVER BELLES

Regular meeting of the Grimes Clover Belles 4-H club was held June 15 at the home of Genelle Schlichting, with nine members and three leaders present.

The club also elected its demonstration teams for the fair. The junior team consists of Genelle Schlichting and Linda Stadtlander, with Kathleen Diddy and Mary Brown making up the senior team.

Janice Trampel gave a talk on "Pattern Alterations." Genelle Schlichting gave a demonstration on "Washing Sweaters." Russalyn Gaetzke and Diane Mennenga gave a team demonstration on "Darts, Tucks, and Gathers." Genelle Schlichting and Kathleen Diddy gave a team demonstration on the "Construction of a Simple Blouse."

Lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. George Schlichting was a guest.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Honoring physical perfection and prowess pre-dates today's adulation of athletes by a good many years. The Greeks applied the title "athlete" at first to one who took part in any kind of competition — musical, equestrian, gymnastic. In time the term was limited to gymnasts — and still later was reserved for professionals.

Such an "athlete" is Steve Reeves in "Goliath and the Barbarians," showing Thursday through Saturday.

Reeves had to train rigorously for the title role. He did not, though, as did the ancient Greeks, confine his diet to fresh cheese, wheat bread and dried figs. . . . Love interest in this spectacle is provided by lithe Chelo Alonso, a Cuban lass whose dancing took her to Paris and the Follies Bergere, where she did more than all right.

Both Elizabeth Taylor and Katharine Hepburn were nominated for Academy Awards on the strength of their performances in "Suddenly Last Summer," film version of the Tennessee Williams play of the same name. That should be a tip-off on the type of acting that has made this Columbia release a dramatic smash. Montgomery Clift, Albert Dekker and Mercedes McCambridge contribute generously to this fitting successor to Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "The Rose Tattoo." It's on Sunday through Wednesday.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN W. DRENCKPOHL

Leinbach-Drenckpohl wedding rites performed June 18, Methodist church

In an 8:00 o'clock candlelight ceremony at the Methodist church the evening of June 18th, Miss Carol Ann Leinbach, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Leinbach, and John W. Drenckpohl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin J. Drenckpohl of Le Sueur, Minn., were united in marriage. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. M. L. Jones, assisted by Rev. Harold Dayton of the Methodist church at Le Sueur.

Preceding the ceremony, a half hour of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Paul Jenison, organist, and Mrs. Ronald Courson, pianist. Mrs. Jenison also accompanied Caryl Weyhrich of Minneapolis, Minn., who before the ceremony sang "Only Believe," composed by Mrs. Courson; Bach's "God My Shepherd Walks Beside Me," following the meditation by Mr. Dayton; and "Wedding Benediction," also composed by Mrs. Courson, as the couple knelt at the altar.

The chancel altar was flanked by banks of emerald and jade foliage with accents of white beauty berries arranged in an ascending line toward the focal point of the stained glass cross. Rising above these, on each side, were large baskets of white gladiolas. The candelabra on the chancel and along the aisle were adorned with emerald foliage and white satin ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Murray Hamburg original wedding gown of candlelight peau de soie. It was styled with a portrait neckline of candlelight imported Alencon lace; elbow-length sleeves, fitted, princess style bodice and a very bouffant floor-length skirt. Edging the bodice at the back were Alencon lace appliques from which the chapel-length train descended.

The bride's veil of French illusion was of finger-tip length, falling from a coronation crown of seed pearls, and was loaned to her by Mrs. Clyde Wishart, a friend from Minneapolis. She wore wrist-length white gloves and her white lace handkerchief was one her mother had carried on her wedding day. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls with matching earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses with trailing ivy and white satin ribbon.

Margaret Mussell of Des Moines served as maid of honor; the groom's sisters, Mrs. Richard Dahn and Mary Drenckpohl, both of Le Sueur, were bridesmaids; and the bride's sister, Joan Leinbach, was junior bridesmaid. The bridesmaids wore identical raspberry sherbet dresses, ballerina-length, of imported silk organza over taffeta.

These were styled with portrait necklines, elbow-length sleeves, tightly fitted bodices and with deep hemlines. They wore short white gloves and bandeaus of ivy and lilies if the valley. They carried cascade bouquets of split white carnations and trailing ivy.

The junior bridesmaid was dressed exactly like the bridesmaids, except that her dress was of white silk orgaza over raspberry sherbet taffeta. Her cascade bouquet was of white split carnations and garnet roses.

James Togeas of Fort Dodge was best man and the groomsmen were Bruce Leinbach, brother of the bride, and Curtis Stensrud of Minneapolis. The guests were seated by Dr. John King, Clyde Wishart and Paul Isakson, all of Minneapolis. Candlelighters were David Drenckpohl of Le Sueur, brother of the groom, and Steven Pitcher. All the men were attired in midnight blue tuxedos with white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a sheath dress of pale pink organza with matching accessories. The groom's mother chose a pure silk sheath dress of beige print with matching accessories. They wore garnet rose corsages.

Following the ceremony, a candle-light reception was held in the church's Fellowship hall. The tables were laid with white cloths covered by pink net caught into swag drapery by soft bows. Silver candelabra and pale pink candles adorned the tables. Serving trays and dishes were in silver and crystal

Centering the smaller table between the two long serving tables was the five-tiered wedding cake, which was frosted in white, decorated with pink rosebuds and green leaves, lighted with tiny lights and topped by a pink satin crescent with satin bows and dainty rosebuds and a miniature bride and groom.

The floral arrangements were of white gladiolas edged with pink, pink carnations and garnet roses against a background of emerald leaves and pink beauty berries. The punch bowl and wedding cake were encircled by wreaths of smilax.

Jeanne Weberg and Mrs. John King of Minneapolis served the punch. Patricia Wold and Janet Nelson of Minneapolis cut the wedding cake. Gretchen Oberhauser and Mrs. James Gorder of Minneapolis poured coffee. Mrs. Malcolm Scott of Madison, Wis., and Joan Leinbach alternated at the guest book.

Marjorie Bodamer, St. Louis Park, Josephine Thorson of Minneapolis and Beverly Sheriff of Goodell assisted in serving. Acting as hosts and hostesses were: Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Hruska, Dr. and Mrs. Arlo Pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser, Mrs. Clark McNeal and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Courson.

The bride's going away costume was a yellow and white checked suit of silk with Chanel jacket bound in yellow and a yellow linen overblouse. She wore a small floral hat of white roses and green leaves and her accessories were in black patent leather. Her corsage was of white roses from her bridal bouquet.

The bride and groom are both graduates of St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., class of 1959. Mrs. Drenckpohl has been employed the past year as a nurse on the staff at Fairview hospital in Minneapolis. Mr. Drenckpohl is in the graduate school of chemistry at the University of Minnesota, where he has a teaching assistantship and is working for his Master's degree. They will reside in Minneapolis,

Out-of-town guests were present from: Washington, D. C.; Le Sueur, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Buffalo and Austin, Minn.; Madison, Wis.; Fort Dodge, Ames, Rockwell City, Des Moines, Klemme, Iowa City, Kanawha, Ellsworth, Clarion and Alexander

Prenuptial courtesies honoring the bride were: a miscellaneous shower given at Grethen House, Clear Lake, with Mrs. Arlo Pitcher and Mrs. Glenn Hruska, hostesses; a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser, assisted by Mrs. Clark McNeal and Mrs. Ronald Courson; a buffet supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gowdy; and a bridesmaids' luncheon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Hanson, with Mrs. Donald Bunnell, Mrs. George Richards and Mrs. Paul Jenison as assistant hostesses.

In addition, the dining room at the Hanford Motor Lodge at Mason City was the scene of a pre-nuptial rehearsal dinner at 6:30 p.m. June 17. It was given by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Drenckpohl, in honor of the bridal couple A three-course dinner was served at tables decorated with pink and white floral arrangements, the bride's colors. Twenty-eight guests were present, all members of the Leinbach-Drenckpohl wedding party.

NEW CONVENIENCE IN EYEGLASS HEARING AIDS

How would you like an eyeglass hearing aid without a connecting wire or tube between the receiver in the ear and the transmitter in the eyeglass. Think of the convenience when you remove your hearing aid eyeglasses for eye rest or cleaning!

Physicians Hearing Aid Center is the exclusive distributor for the new Telex Radio Hearing Aid. A tiny radio receiver in your ear actually picks up the sound broadcast by the transmitter in the eyeglasses. Like any broadcast radio device, the Telex Radio Hearing Aid has absolutely no connections!

Physicians Hearing Aid Center is also your exclusive dealer for the Tynamite, world's smallest hearing aid, (all in the ear) and Vicon, Acousticon, and Qualitone Hearing Aids. Come in for professional consultation on your hearing loss — or write today for a free copy of the book, "Hearing: A Handy Guide for Laymen."

IT ONLY FEELS LIKE POWER STEERING
(Corvair doesn't need it)

Corvair's ingenious design simply places the engine in the rear. That means less weight on the front wheels and a lighter, happier feel in the curve of your hands. No power assist is needed in a car that's naturally nimble.

See what a fresh engineering approach can do? From handling and parking ease right on, there just isn't anything ordinary or conventional about Corvair. Look at its practically flat floor, four-wheel independent suspension, fold-down rear seat. Its air-cooled rear engine that never needs water or anti-freeze or radiator repairs . . . and leaves engine heat and noise back where you've been. All these special advantages are standard in every Corvair. Just wait till you see how much they add to your driving pleasure. But why wait!

Hancock county pleased with its voting machines

(Since The Independent has for some time been urging adoption of voting machines in Wright county, the following comments are offered on the Initial experience of Hancock Itial experience of Hancock county in the use of these machines. The neighboring county voted for the first time by machine in last month's primary election.)

A check of primary election costs for 1960 indicates that the amount spent on conducting the recent election was approximately $1,200 less than the corresponding election in 1958. Auditor Arthur Ross says this represents a drop of about 34.5 per cent. At least equal savings — likely greater — are expected in the Hancock county fall election.

Cost of election supplies and printing of ballots was cut from $1,754.20 to $1,390.10. Pay to election board members, who numbered only 60 as compared to 175 in 1958, was down from $1,804.94 to $939.95.

Mr. Ross notes that adoption of the machines prompted consolidation of two precincts that had previously voted independently, making just 16 precincts in the county.

Factors which prompted the Hancock county board of supervisors to add their county to the growing list of Iowa counties employing voting machines included the following: (1) reduced expense of holding elections; (2) complete elimination of spoiled ballots; (3) greater accuracy in compiling vote totals; (4) election results obtainable much more quickly.

Auditor Ross says the savings achieved by the machines was actually greater than indicated, because an increase in cost of supplies raised the 1960 primary figure — and this would have made hand-voting higher than in '58, also.

Hancock is buying its machines over a period of 10 years on payments of $5,000 per year. While this will make county costs attributable to elections higher for the next decade than they would otherwise have been, the cost of elections for many years thereafter will be drastically reduced, the supervisors are confident.

According to the Garner Leader voters interviewed expressed themselves as highly pleased with the machines; and the election officials report the machines "operated without a hitch."

This month, no emphasis was placed on speed in obtaining complete returns, Mr. Ross says. Whereas results ordinarily would be phoned in by precincts finished with their count, delivery of the results by an election official was allowed in the recent primary to provide first knowledge of the results at the auditor's office.

In next fall's general election, phone calls as soon as the polls are closed will be requested so an early tally of candidates' vote totals will be available.

Because some voters were a bit awed by the machines and regarded them as somewhat complicated, meetings will be conducted throughout the county prior to the November election at which voters may master the inticacies of machine voting.

Mr. Ross stresses that a voter simply cannot spoil his ballot voting by machine. He might inadvertantly vote for a candidate he hadn't intended to vote for; but that vote will be a "valid" one and will not spoil any of the other votes he casts.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY SUNTKEN

• • • • • •

Betty Floy and Jerry Suntken spoke marriage vows at Rockwell church

Miss Betty Floy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Floy of Thornton, became the bride of Jerry Suntken, son of Mrs. Onno H. Suntken of Belmond and the late Onno H. Suntken, at a 10:00 a. m. nuptial mass Saturday morning at Sacred Heart church in Rockwell. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. R. S. Bohrer.

Mrs. James McLaughlin provided the nuptial music assisted by Mrs. Larry Clemons, a sister of the bride, as vocal soloist.

The bride, on the arm of her father, appeared in a floor-length bridal gown which had a bodice of rosepoint lace fashioned with a Sabrina neckline which dipped gently in the back. Long sleeves formed a point over the hand. The full skirt of tulle over satin had rosepoint medallion applique and the sweep train was edged with scalloped lace which swept up to the front of the bodice.

A crown of sequins and nylon tulle held her veil. The bride carried an orchid and orange blossoms with streamers on a white prayer book.

Maid of honor was Arlene Floy, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Norma Schmidt, Joyce Wonsmos, Diana Floy and Rosemary Quinlan, all of Thornton. The attendants were identically dressed in blue street-length dresses with white accessories and each carried a bouquet of white gladiolas and pink roses.

The flower girl, Teresa Lynn Floy, youngest sister of the bride, wore a dress of blue lace over nylon with white accessories and carried a white basket of rose petals.

Larry Suntken of Cedar Rapids, brother of the groom, was best man and the groom's attendants and ushers were Roger Fekkers of Meservey, Larry Clemons of Thornton and Ferd Lemke and Edward Kuhlers, both of Meservey.

Brian Nissen of Meservey, as ringbearer, carried the wedding rings on a white satin pillow with ribbon streamers.

The bride's mother chose a soft blue lace dress with beige accessories, while the groom's mother was gowned in an ice blue dress with blue and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses.

Mrs. Bill Floy, Jr., decorated the altar with garden flowers and made the bridesmaids' bouquets, corsages and boutonnieres.

Following the ceremony, a reception dinner was held at Thornton in the school gymnasium.

Mrs. Joe Duea of Thornton and Mrs. Richard Halfpop of Meservey were dining room hostesses, assisted by 13 girls who were high school friends of the bride.

Mrs. Lee Floy, an aunt of the bride, cut the five-tiered wedding cake, which was served with ice cream.

The bride is a graduate of Thornton High school and attended Iowa Wesleyan college at Mount Pleasant. The groom graduated from Meservey High school and is employed at Raecker's Chevrolet garage at Meservey.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Meservey.

127 GUESTS ATTENDED JENISON OPEN HOUSE

One hundred and twenty-seven friends and relatives attended the open house held Sunday at their home for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jenison in observance of the Silver Wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Jenison of Utica, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Jenison of Clarion and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ersland planned the courtesy for their parents.

Mrs. Melvin Richardson of Clarion and Mrs. William Heginger poured; Mrs. Larry Olson of Clarion and Connie Nordschow of Downey, Calif., were in charge of the guest book and gifts; Mrs. Merle Nordschow and Meredith Nordschow cut the cake, which had been made by Mrs. Donald Foss of Meservey.

Relatives attending from out of town were Mrs. Jenison's mother, Mrs. Martha Nordschow and also Mrs. Jenison's sister, Meredith Nordschow, both of San Francisco, Calif.; a brother, Merle Nordschow, and family of Downey, Calif., and other relatives from Clarion, Swea City, Charles City, Bloomfield, Webster City, Lake Mills, Alexander, Latimer and Mason City.

Michael Lieuwen's 6th Birthday Celebrated

Michael Lieuwen's 6th birthday was celebrated Wednesday afternoon of last week at the George Lieuwen home. Thirteen boys and girls of Michael's last year's school class were the guests. Games were played and after Mike had opened his gifts, lunch was served.

Evening guests in honor of Michael's birthday were Alice Iorio of Minneapolis, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ahlstrom and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Churchhouse and JoAnn, Mrs. Fred Albers, Johanna and Christine Ann and Mrs. Jack Fulton.

Mrs. Leslie Smith hostess to Grandmothers club meeting

The Grandmother's club met Monday evening at the Blue Bell tea room with Mrs. Leslie Smith as hostess. Assisting her were Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Mrs. Courtand Luick of Goodell and Mrs. J. E. Ketchum.

The Charter list closed with this meeting containing 35 names. However, the membership list remains open for those who wish to join.

The meetings will be the fourth Monday of each month. The next meeting will be July 25 at the library basement.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wessels observed 50th anniversary

The open house honoring the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wessels Sunday was attended by 170 relatives and friends.

There was a short program and refreshments were served. The silver service used at the serving table was a gift to Mr. Wessels' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Wessels, on their Golden Wedding anniversary.

The honorees received many flowers, gifts and cards in remembrance of the occasion.

● Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. James Kimball and children visited at the home of Mrs. Kinball's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rubendall, and with other relatives and friends. They left Tuesday morning for Lincoln, Neb., to visit Mr. Kimball's mother and other relatives. From there they will go to San Diego, Calif., where Mr. Kimball will be employed by the company for which he worked before moving to Conneciticut.

Final rites today for Edith Norris

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Methodist church for Mrs. George Norris, 77, who died Monday morning at Belmond Community hospital. She had been a patient there for 10 days, having declined steadily in health since the death of her husband on May 7.

Fulton Funeral Home is in charge of the rites and Rev. M. L. Jones is officiating clergyman. Burial will be in the Belmond cemetery.

Edith Mary Stevens was born Dec. 14, 1882, at Henley-on-Thames, Oxfordshire, England. She emigrated to the United States when she was 17 years of age and made her home with an aunt and uncle in Illinois.

She was wed on March 14, 1908, to George Norris. They farmed for a time in Ilinois, later moving to Belmond. Here Mr. Norris was employed by the sugar beet factory that operated during the 'twenties and for a time afterward. In 1939, Mr. Norris was transferred to Mason City and with his wife made his home there until last year, when they returned to this community.

Two children survive Mrs. Norris, Mrs. Carl (Violet) Helmich of Renwick and George Norris of Belmond. She also leaves seven grandchildren. In addition to her husband she was preceded in death by a sister, Ann, and two brothers, Ernest and Frederick.

Mrs. Norris was a woman of unusual abilities and included the writing of poetry among her skills. Her talent as a poet was recognized by the inclusion of a specimen of her writing in the 1952 brochure of poems published by the Iowa Poetry Day association.

Bob Busick jailed as window peeper

Bob Busick, 20, of Belmond was sentenced Monday in the court of Justice of the Peace Cecil Winbigler to 30 days in the Wright county jail on a charge of disorderly conduct.

He was arrested on the complaint of a local resident who caught the young man in the act of window peeping.

Upon his arrest by Chief of Police Ray Thompson, Officer Marvin Miller and Deputy Sheriff Dale Walrod, Busick admitted to prowling four resident properties in the past four weeks for the purpose of window peeping.

Meet the newcomers: the Frank Rataskys

Pictured above are one of Belmond's newest families, the Frank Rataskys. Mr. Ratasky, who in April became superintendent of General Mills' Larro feed plant here, was joined by his family only this month. They live at 1008 Third street NE, the home in Kirkendall addition that was built for and occupied for some time by Ed Gabrielson but is now own- by Phyllis Pals.

From left to right in the photo above are: Raymond, age six; Michael, eight; Mrs. (Meredith) Ratasky holding Randolph, one year old; and Frank holding Martin, age two.

Mr. Ratasky went to work for General Mills at Rossford, O., when he was only 16 and was employed in the plant of GMI's Feed Division there for 17 years before being appointed to his management position here.

Play commences in PTA leagues

Play in the PTA summer recreation baseball leagues opened Tuesday of last week with a pair of close games, followed by a couple of run aways on Thursday evening. Tuesday night's peewee games saw the Giants, captained by Fred Whipple, nip Keith Boller's Cubs 5-4; and in the midget game, Neal Waddington's Tigers edged Bob Misner's Orioles 11 to 7

In the Tiger-Oriole fray, the losers held a 7-7 tie at the end of three innings but were unable to push another tally across while the Tigers scored four in the 5th.

Thursday night saw Jim Dickson's Cards trounce Kenny Eygabroad's Red Sox 13 to 1 in the peewee game. Winner of the midget contest was Craig Boller's Indians, who had an easy time against Keith Sheller's Braves, 15-3.

Tomorrow (Friday) night will find the Giants vs. Red Sox in the peewee game and Tigers vs. Braves in the midgets' On Tuesday it will be Cards vs. Cubs and Indians vs. Yankees.

Local pinsters do well at state—

Lois Hafermann Class B Champion

LOIS HAFERMANN
Displaying championship medal

Belmond's women bowlers gathered by a large margin the most prize money in the 1960 state tournament of the Iowa Women's Bowling association that they have ever picked up in state competition. Altogether, the feminine pinbusters from Bowl-Mor Lanes racked up more than $400 in prizes, according to the prize list just lately released.

Setting the pace for the Belmond keglers was Lois Hafermann, the first state champion Bowl-Mor Lanes has ever produced. She won 1st place in the Class B singles with a 572, which paid off with $75 and a medal.

She also picked up $40 for 3rd in Class B all-events on 1,576 pins and was a member of the Joe's Skelly team that split $86 for 13th place among the Class B teams. That gave Lois a bit over $132 as her total cash take.

Edna Eccles reaped a total of $61.50. She and Thelma Cairns combined for a 910 that gave them 8th in Class D doubles, good for a prize of $40; she also picked up $23 50 for 22nd in the Class C singles on a 504 and finished 11th in Class C all-events with 1,417 pins that paid off $18.

Dorothy Pearson got 9th place in the Class C singles on a series of 518, good for $37. Mrs. Cairns, besides splitting the $40 doubles prize with Mrs. Eccles, had a 441 in the Class D singles that gave her 89th prize and brought her individual winnings to $27.

Eleanor Robertson was 30th in Class B singles, her 532 bringing her $18.50. She also split $9.67 with Cathy Chapman for 134th in Class B doubles on a 940; and $7.00 for 32nd place in the Class B all-events with 1,492 pins put her total take at a little over $30.

Those who shared in the $86 check won by Joe's Skelly's 2,325 series, in addition to Mrs. Hafermann, were Ethel Avery, Alice Busick, Gladys Walters and Donna Robertson.

Mrs. Busick and Carol Ann Waddington posted an 871 in the Class C doubles to tie for 138th and divide a $7.00 prize. Donna Robertson and Gladys Walters tied for 172nd place with an 858 score and shared $4.00.

Chapman's Truck Stop was the only local team besides Skelly's that placed in the money. Chapman's finished 83rd in the Class C division with 2,106 pins for a pay-off of $24. To her share of this prize, Captain Jan Francis added $6 00 for 117th place in the Class D singles on a series of 433.

Larry Dorr wins men's handicap golf tournament

Larry Dorr easily won the men's handicap golf tournament at Clarmond Country club Sunday, outdistancing a large field with a net score of 63 for his 18 holes of play. A first-year golfer with a handicap of 33 — just two strokes less than the maximum — Larry posted a 50-46 for a scratch 96.

This put him seven strokes ahead of Dick Newman of Clarion and John Brummond of Kanawha, who tied for runner-up honors with nets of 70. Newman, who carries a 16 handicap, followed a 46 with a 40 for a gross of 86. Brummond was more consistent with a 43-42—85, from which a handicap of 15 was deducted.

A pair of Belmond club-swingers tied for 4th and 5th. Maynard Holmgaard, who carries a 15 handicap, turned in a 41 as a starter but then slipped to a 45. Rollie Kinseth, whose handicap is 13, reversed the procedure with an opening 43 and a 41 on his "in" nine.

Dale Kessler, Belmond, shared 6th place with Fred Wolf, Rowan. Kessler, with a handicap of 13, turned in a 43-42—85 for a net of 72. Wolf, carrying a 25-stroke handicap, managed a 50-47—92 for a matching 72.

Jr. Legion team beats Kanawha, loses to Klemme

Belmond's Junior Legion nine split a pair of games last week, nipping Kanawha in a free scoring battle Wednesday, 14 to 12; and then giving Klemme an unearned run in the bottom half of the final inning Sunday to lose 7 to 6.

Larry Tideback pitched against Kanawha. He gave up only four hits, but yielded nine walks and nicked three batters before Bob Burk relieved him with two down in the 6th frame.

A couple of six-run innings helped Belmond take the decision, and in each of those frames Mark Mason connected for a key hit. In the 4th inning he smashed out a home run and in the 6th a lusty double. In the last inning he poled a three-bagger but was then caught at the plate.

Roger Ginapp was hurler for Belmond on Sunday. He was touched for nine hits, but tightened up after the first three innings and gave up only three safeties thereafter Belmond got only two hits off the offerings of D. Anderson in five frames but clustered three safe blows in the 6th for four runs and a 6-5 lead.

Klemme evened the count on a triple and single in the bottom of the 6th and then made a single and two errors good for the deciding tally in the 7th.

8th Clarmond golf classic July 4th

Next Monday will find the usual talented field in pursuit of the Clarmond Amateur Golf tournament championship as the 8th edition of this annual links classick is conducted. Topping the list of contenders will be George Lee of Humboldt, the defending champion who last year had a record-breaking 105 for his 27 holes with the help of a four-under par middle round of 32.

Because the tournaments of the past couple of years have finished at sun-down, due to the large number of entries, the tourney committee this year is limiting the field to 140. To help reduce the number of golfers competing Sunday, no Clarmond entrants will be allowed to play that day unless they carry a handicap of eight or lower.

Although the Clarmond Amateurs have always wound up in remarkably early order considering the number of competitors, the committee regarded the time has arrived to place a limit on the entries to prevent too late a finish.

Another innovation this year will be the use of 18 holes, rather than nine, as the basis for qualifying. Under this arrangement, no golfer will know what flight he is in until completing two rounds. Also, it will eliminate the advantage of the entrant who has a wide spread between his first and second nines, with the second appreciably better than the first.

Since the Clarmond Amateur was first conducted in 1953, it has gained stature in the annual calendar of one-day tournaments until it is regarded as one of the best tourney's of its kind held in Iowa.

Wright countians maintaining fast bond-buying pace

At the end of May, purchases of U. S. Savings bonds in Wright county had climbed to $667,207 for 51 per cent of the 1960 quota, it was reported this week by Robert L. Davison of Clarion, volunteer chairman for savings bonds activities in the county.

Sales during May amounted to $129,631, putting the county over the half-way mark and surpassing both national and state paces of bond buying. National average for the five months was 42 per cent.

May sales for all of Iowa were $9,771,860, giving the state a five-month total of $69,623,007 for 45 per cent of goal. Among the eight mid-western states in this region, Iowa was highest in dollar volume and in per cent of quota attained.

Chairman Davison reported that Iowa had the second highest dollar volume in the nation for Series H bonds, those whose owners deceive interest checks by mail twice a year.

Five-month sales of E and H bonds and per cent of quotas reached are shown for other counties in this area: Hardin county, $895,789 for 54 per cent; Hamilton, $673,054 for 49 per cent; Webster, $1,233,669 for 48 per cent; Winnebago, $437,463 for 47 per cent; Hancock, $504,989 for 46 per cent; Humboldt, $393,092 for 41 per cent; and Cerro Gordo $744,876 for 35 per cent.

Right to kill, maim not among those we're given

One hundred and 84 years ago members of the Continental Congress met in Piladelphia and affixed their signatures to a document declaring it to be self evident that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights.

On July 4th this year, millions of Americans will leave their homes to celebrate that event and to exercise one of those rights — the pursuit of Happiness.

In that pursuit, hundreds of Americans will lose the vastly more precious right of Life. Thousands more will be deprived of Liberty through crippling injuries that will confine them to hospital or home, many of them permanently.

Since 1776, eight wars have been fought to preserve for you the rights proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence. On this 184th anniversary, do YOUR part to preserve them for others.

Drive carefully. Swim carefully. Make certain that you are not the cause of any other American losing his life, his liberty, or his ability to pursue happiness on a holiday weekend.

Civil-righters ever look in U.S. Constitution?

We laugh at the way in which local and state laws are disregarded for convenience sake. If it's poor politics or hard on business to enforce certain laws, they often don't get enforced—and that's that.

Sometimes they've outgrown their usefulness and are patently obsolete. Sometimes the degree of public resistance was underestimated, and the objective of the law isn't regarded worth the complaints that enforcement would produce.

We're used to such laws being tempered with "judgment" in their administration — or lack thereof. But did it ever occur to you that the same philosophy of "practical politics" could nullify a law so fundamental that it is a part of the Constitution of the United States?

Rather ironically, it seemed to us, it was through an editorial published in a southern newspaper that this fact was brought to our attention — in connection with the civil rights dispute over the voting privilege of southern Negroes. The Franklin (N. C.) Press observed: "To many plain Americans, the Washington civil rights hassle — with its fillibuster and its almost incredible round-the-clock sessions — seems a bit silly.

"It's worse than that. It's wholly unnecessary."

The Press then pointed out, ". . . the remedy for the situation this legislation seeks to meet is clearly set out in the U. S. Constitution itself. It's been there more than 90 years."

Section 2 of the 14th Amendment is then cited to the effect that ". . . when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President or Vice President (etc.) . . . is denied to any of the male inhabitants of (a) State . . . or in any way abridged . . . the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens 21 years of age in such State."

All of which simply means that in those states wherein eligible voters are disenfranchised on one pretext or another, the number deprived of the right to vote shall be deducted from the population figure that is the basis for determining that state's number of Representatives in Congress.

Comments the Franklin Press, "That's simple and direct; that would be efficacious; and that would be in obedience to the Constitution — for the section does not say 'may' reduce; it says 'shall'."

"And of course the responsibility for obeying that mandate is on the body that apportions representation in Congress — Congress itself. Is it possible that nobody in Congress, no proponent of voting rights for the Negroes, has ever bothered to read the 14th Amendment?"

It MUST be known by civil rights-minded Congressmen that the 14th Amendment says what it does. But it's like double-parking, and lotteries, and illegal liquor-by-the-drink and a host of other "minor evils." It's most convenient to pretend that the law DOESN'T EXIST that offers the cure for the evil.

But as the Franklin Press editor points out, the remedy to the civil rights dispute IS readily at hand. . . . Which nevertheless does NOT mean that you may expect to see Section 2 of the 14th Amendment invoked in the near future as a means of bringing that particular hassle to an end.

Mercy not Reds' way of friendliness

Our South American neighbor Chile has recently been through a terrible natural catastrophe. Hundreds have been killed and maimed — and the natural result of such a disaster — is the spread of disease, shortage of clothing, food, etc.

Our country has moved in to help. Hundreds of disaster-trained personnel have been flown in and tons and tons of supplies have been sent to the desperate people of Chile.

THERE HAS BEEN NO thought of asking for pay, asking for favors, or asking for any kind of commitment. There was need, and our country moved in at once to help fill that need.

We have not heard of any mercy missions from Russia, from Cuba, from Red China — naturally there will be none. But it will only be a short time before these countries and the puppets they have in Chili will be screaming about how we have victimized the people of this country. That is the way they work.

CHILEANS NOW ARE GRATEful for this great humanitarian act, in which the United States citizens have given freely for those in need. They have indicated that our prompt action has done much to upset plans of the sizeable Chilean communist party.

We don't know, but it will be interesting to see whether prompt help in such a disaster makes friends — or whether those who have been stricken will take all they can get and then attack those who have been generous — Lyon County Reporter

Getting ridiculous!

The postmaster-general, still trying to make a money-maker out of the Post Office Department, says this:

"We propose . . . having the people (persons) who actually use the mails pay the cost of doing so, rather than transferring a large part of this 'expense' to the taxpayers as is now the case."

Very well, let us apply this new users-pay to everything else the government runs. For instance:

—Ship owners only will pay for lighthouses, Coast Guard rescues, harbor and channel maintenance.

—FAMILIES OF CRIMINALS only will pay for prison costs.

—Farmers only will pay for all agricultural extension work.

—Drivers only will pay for highways and highway police, on a miles-driven basis.

—Only those who call the fire department will pay for it.

THIS soon becomes ridiculous, of course, but no more so than the idea of the postmaster-general. — Chilton (Wis.) Times-Journal

Leave No. 35 Be!

An effort on the part of Mason City Chamber of Commerce is under way to change the proposed route of Federal Highway No 35 from its present location, which parallels Highway 69, to a point farther east, so as to make closer access to Mason City and Clear Lake.

The present route was located as proposed after long and careful study, and is the natural location for it. But now political pressure will be brought to bear to change it, and if this effort is successful, heaven only knows where these routes will zig-zag. One rule and one rule only should be followed—the straightest route from far north to far south, and far east to far west. — Lake Mills Graphic

"H. R." has a point

H. R. Gross, congressman from the Third Iowa district, is often called "a thorn in the flesh" by some of his fellow statesmen at Washington. H. R. has an uncanny habit of questioning a lot of foolish spending by his associates. This isn't too pleasing to some of the brothers. But it makes sense to his constituents in the Third Iowa district, no doubt.

We remember when H. R. was a newscaster for Radio Station WHO at Des Moines. He ran for governor but didn't make it. After he moved to Wateroo he aspired to congress. That time he did make it. He's been representative now for twelve years.

But to go on with our story.

Seems that the lower house voted 160 million dollars to the National Science Foundation to be used in the year starting July 1. The other day the Foundation disclosed that it has approved a grant of $50,000 of that amount to be used by Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., "for a study of bird sounds." That's when H. R. got into the act. In a speech he inquired:

"Is it too much to hope that the day will come when some foundation, richly endowed by congress, will make a study and record for posterity the anguished sounds of taxpayers when they read how their money is being frittered away?"

SPEAKING TO YOU?

SCANNING THE HORIZON

WITH YE ED

THAT SPRING STILL "BOILS" —

Our guess that the "boiling spring" mentioned in last week's Scanning column had probably been tiled out of existence proved to be wrong. If you read the column, you will know that the spring was on a farm property formerly owned by the late M. D. Sullivan, where 50 years ago a fine specimen of a buffalo skull was unearthed. The latest plat of Wright county shows that particular farm to be owned now by H. G. Graeppler.

Mary Rankins, one of our standbys for keeping us filled in on local history, phoned to say that as late as three or four years ago the spring was still "boiling," as she had visited it. The large pasture in which the spring was still active adjoins the east branch of the Iowa river just a mile north of blacktopped County U road.

It's Mary's opinion that the mineral water of the spring was of medicinal value and she used to fill containers with the water occasionally, for that reason. She felt the location might have been developed into a profitable spa, had someone had the initiative to do so. (With little more to go on, Colfax was a famous health resort for quite a number of years, durits hey-day — and before it became known primarily as the home of Monroe folding tables.)

Postmaster George Jenison says he remembers being taken by his father, the late Earl Jenison, to visit the spring when he was a boy. He remembers vividly letting a small pail attached to a long rope into the spring. The entire length of the rope was played out without reaching the bottom of the spring.

The pasture containing the spring is virgin land that has never felt the plow. Some of it is quite boggy, but it provides rich browsing for the cattle foraging on it.

There is, to us, something reassuring about discovering that so near at hand is a vestige of the past that remains essentially the same as it was a half century and even much longer ago. In these days when nature's balances have been so extensively upset by man's greediness, one small spring, at least, merrily bubbles on just as it did when it was a watering spot for buffalo and other beasts of the plain — longer ago than anyone can remember.

"THE THREE TREES" —

As we wrote that last sentence, our mind went back to an old record classic of early Victrola days, about "The three trees" that dwelt by a "beautiful bubbling spring . . there . . . there . . . and THERE!" Whereupon the orchestral accompaniment concluded with a flourishing ta-DA-da. How many of you remember it?

FRIENDLY FELLOW —

When Max Hansen, who's going to work for The Independent the next couple of months, walked into the office for an interview a short while back his face seemed vaguely familiar to Ye Ed.

However, his name was unfamiliar and we discounted the "Where have I seen you before" feeling as probably prompted by his facial similarity to someone whom we HAD known at some time in the past.

After a bit of conversation on matters related to his visit. Max asked Ye Ed casually, "Do you belong to the Lions club here?" . . . We allowed as how we do and Max continued, "Remember the fellow who was a self-invited guest at the Lions' Ladies Night dinner at Costa's a year ago last February?"

Then light began to dawn.

While Bud Trafford, an early arrival, was making last minute preparations for the banquet a stranger dropped in at the popular eating place, not knowing it had been taken over by the Lions for the evening He was from Fort Dodge. Bud, having lived there for several years, greeted him cordially . . . and the first thing they knew an invitation to dinner had been extended and accepted.

In the course of calling for a "few words" from this one and that during the program, Em-cee Trafford asked Max if he would like the floor for a moment. We suspect Mr. Hansen has never been caught at a lack for words. He unhesitatingly availed himself of the opportunity and regaled the audience for five minutes or longer with an impromptu talk that bespoke his appreciation for having been made a guest of the occasion (he is a member of the Fort Dodge Lions club).

We expect that as he makes his acquaintance around town during the course of his stay here, other local Lions will be nagged by the familiarity of Max's face. The above provides the explanation.

Know your businessmen—

Happy occasions bring folks to Dougherty's.

Russell Dougherty looks on Dougherty Jewelry as a "happy store." It has this attribute, he explains, because it has an important role in so many happy and significant occasions.

It is there that the young man comes to purchase the diamond that his sweetheart will always wear so proudly on her finger. There guests buy many of the presents that will help the young couple set up housekeeping with some of the "nice things" in which they will take permanent pride.

From Dougherty's come gifts for the new baby; gifts to mark birthdays and anniversaries that are life's milestones; that watch that makes graduation a doubly thrilling event for the boy or girl who gets the timepiece.

People come to shop at Dougherty's in a festive mood, because in a great majority of cases the merchandise they are buying is intended to convey to the person who'll receive it the giver's respect, admiration or love — or all three.

"What happier sort of business could a person be in?" Russ asks, in a manner that makes clear he is sure of no argument.

Last Oct. 15 witnessed the 10th anniversary of Russ's coming to Belmond. He was initially in partnership with George Kyseth, Clarion jeweler from whom Russ learned jewelry merchandising and repair. The partners agreed in May of 1953 to dissolve their association and Russ bought Mr. Kyseth's interest in the firm.

He had accepted a job with Kyseth Jewelry in July of 1946, not long after he had returned to civilian life following 3½ years of wartime duty with the U.S. Navy. Russ was a Radioman (with 2nd Class rating at the time of his discharge) attached to an amphibious outfit that abetted the Marines in some of their ruggedest invasions — incuding that at Tarawa.

A month after donning "civies," Russ started learning the jewelry business from Mr. Kyseth under the GI Bill. It was a decidedly "big day" for him when he became the independent owner of the jewelry store here a little less than seven years later.

Russ takes frank pride in the completeness of his stock, which he says is surpassed by no jewelry store in a town of anywhere near Bemond's size for a good many miles around — and matched by few except in considerably larger communities.

In addition to providing his customers whatever they might seek in the way of diamonds, watches or clocks, jewelry (both quality and costume), silverware, fine chinaware and glassware, Dougherty Jewelry does an extensive repair business.

"We're a fix-it shop for clocks, watches, jewelry, eye glasses and hearing aids," Russ comments. "And in the repair department, as well as behind the sales counter, Archie Allen is my right-hand man. I don't know what I'd do without him."

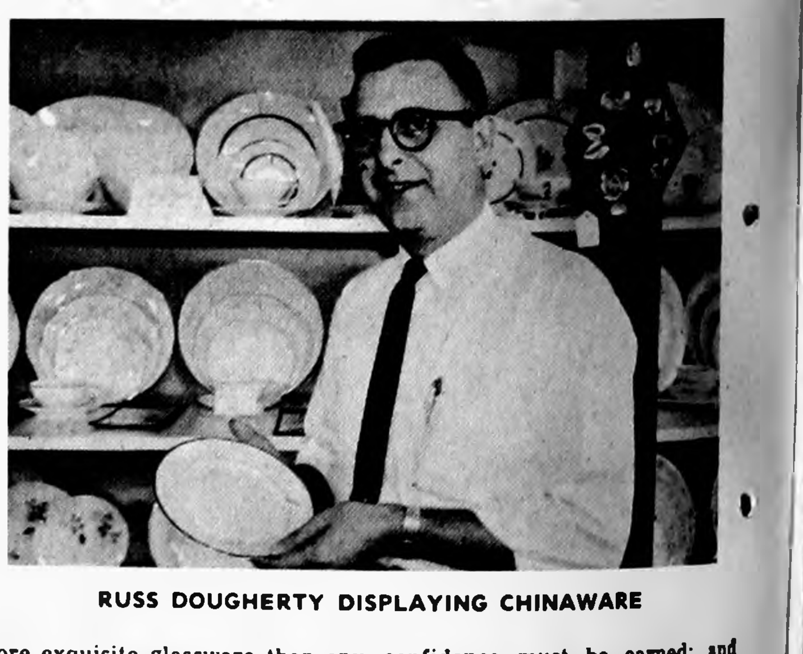
Archie has been with Dougherty's for 8½ years. He was an apprentice watchmaker when he joined Russ, having gotten his formal training at Elgin Watchmakers college, Elgin, Ill. Since then he's become a registered watchmaker and, Russ declares, "really knows his business."

Several jewelry traditions have faded somewhat in recent years, the proprietor of Dougherty Jewelry says. For example, investment of money in diamonds by business and professional men has pretty much ceased because of the diversified investments available today.

Also, sterling silver has to a growing degree taken second place to the fine silverplate tableware that can be bought today in the homes of newlywed couples — though deep pride is still attached to sterling silver service by many.

Undisturbed, though, is the tradition of "a watch for graduation."

Russ notes that remarkable advancements have been made in numerous jewelry items in relatively recent years. Watches are the best that have ever been produced for example. And chemical developments have resulted in more exquisite glassware than any but the most gifted artisans of the past could produce.



RUSS DOUGHERTY DISPLAYING CHINAWARE

Similar chemical discoveries have produced the rhodium process that helps make today's costume jewelry the finest ever (no longer does "cheap" jewelry stain the wearer with tell-tale green); and the settings of costume pieces have never been so colorful.

"Probably the greatest gratification that comes from running a store like Dougherty Jewelry," Russ summarizes, "lies in the confidence which customers place in us when purchasing gifts of high quality. Knowing such merchandise is a specialized art. Customers must depend on the jeweler's judgment and his integrity. That confidence must be earned; and its pleasing to say that our store seems to have won it in great measure."

MRS. H. B. JANSSEN

Plans advancing for organization of Woman's club

Mrs. George Richards was elected temporary chairman by a group of 20 women who met recently for the purpose of organizing a Federated Woman's club at Alexander. Mrs. Foster Barkema was chosen as temporary secretary.

Plans for organization will be advanced and tentative by-laws drafted at the group's next meeting, to be held July 14 at 8:00 p. m. at the home economics room of the Alexander Consolidated school.

All women interested in such a club as that proposed are invited to attend the next meeting to participate in its organization.

Mrs. Barkema, Mrs. Jelto Eden and Mrs. James Staley volunteered to serve as hostesses for the July 14 meeting.

Farewell party honors Rev. Price and family

Rev. and Mrs. B. R. Price and Luray were honored Thursday evening of last week at a farewell party by the congregation of the Community Methodist church.

Rex Aldinger was the master of ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Price each gave talks, Elaine Schear played a piano solo and the Myers girls sang, accompanied by Diana Myers. A purse of money was presented by Mr. Price and gifts from the Sunday school and Women's Society of Christian Service to Mrs. Price.

The Prices have moved to Goldfield where he will serve the Methodist church as minister.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE OF IOWA
IN AND FOR WRIGHT COUNTY

ORIGINAL NOTICE

L. B COX, A. C. HANSON and ROY A. HENDERSON, as Trustees of the FRED AND ALICE LUICK MEMORIAL BUILDING TRUST,

Plaintiffs

vs.

BELMOND COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT, of the Counties of Wright and Hancock, State of Iowa;
MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF BELMOND COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT, in the Counties of Wright and Hancock, State of Iowa, to-wit: MARVIEU MENNENGA, President, L. B. COX, H. C. SIMERSON, GERALD McNULTY, CARL GREEN, and HELEN McCLURE, Secretary;
CITY OF BELMOND, IOWA;
MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BELMOND, IOWA, to-wit: LOWELL T. TRAFFORD, Mayor, ROBERT CHURCHOUSE, GUY McCLENAHAN, GLEN CRAPSER, ELDON BOYD, ROBERT E. MISNER, and LOIS J. HAMMOND, City Clerk;
R. E. LEE ALDRICH, JR.,

Defendants

TO: THE AFORESAID DEFENDANTS:

You are hereby notified that Plaintiffs' Petition in the above entitled cause is now on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, claiming in substance that Plaintiffs are Trustees of the Fred Luick and Alice Luick Memorial Building Trust; the City of Belmond is a municipal corporation located in Wright County, Iowa; Belmond Community School District is a municipal corporation operating public schools in Wright and Hancock Counties, Iowa; R. E. Lee Aldrich, Jr., resides in Wright County, Iowa, and represents a class of persons who will benefit from the construction and use of a memorial building in the City of Belmond, Iowa. The electors of the Belmond Community School District voted November 4, 1959, to authorize the issuance of bonds for the construction of a new high school building, and subsequently the Board of Education of Belmond Community School District took legal steps to proceed with the construction of said high school building. Plaintiffs desire to carry out the terms of the Fred Luick and Alice Luick Memorial Building Trust with respect to the construction and equipping of a memorial building, but are uncertain as to the proper manner of so doing and request a declaratory judgment with respect to the rights of the Plaintiffs and the Defendants. Plaintiffs have no adequate remedy at law.

In said Petition, Plaintiffs pray for an order and decree:

1. Construing and interpreting the deed of trust as to whether or not the trustees must build and equip a memorial building, or whether the Trustees may deliver the cash to the Belmond Community School District and its Board of Education, so that the Belmond Community School District can construct and equip said memorial building.

2. Determining, declaring and decreeing the ownership of said memorial building when the same has been completed, specifically, as to whether said memorial building shall be owned by the Belmond Community School District or by the Fred Luick and Alice Luick Memorial Building Trust.

3. Determining, declaring and decreeing the responsibility for maintenance and operation of said memorial building after the same has been completed, and specifically, whether this obligation shall be on the Belmond Community School District or upon the Fred Luick and Alice Luick Memorial Building Trust.

You are also notified to appear before said Court at Clarion in Wright County, Iowa, on or before August 4, 1960: and that unless you so appear, your default will be entered and judgment or decree rendered against you for the relief demanded in said petition.

MAIN STREET

BY PAT, DICK, DUANE

A display that almost shamed the later fireworks was put on by George Sharp, Jaycee president, at Monday night's Miss Belmond pageant. He was responsible for presenting the title winner, lovely Lavonne Hansen of Rowan, with her royal regalia and trophy.

It's the sort of situation upon which any red-blooded American youth capitalizes by extracting a kiss as the price of the honors bestowed. But to George's estimate of the prospects, the right moment just never presented itself.

Em-cee "Bud" Trafford was having none of the namby-pambyness, however, calling George brusquely to account for the omitted osculation. George already had the headstart of a good sunburn; but the blush he came up with would have lit the stage, without floodlights.

Incidentally, too much credit could not be given the Jaycees for the wonderful time they provided Belmond and environs with the three-day celebration that concluded Monday night. On the other hand, we unhappily suspect that all too many of the people who enjoy the end result blithely take for granted the labor that is required to put on such an event. And a lot of effort it is! . . . So if you DO appreciate the numerous labors the Jaycees engage in to the benefit of all of us, why not take the slight trouble to TELL them how you feel. An occasional sincere word of praise and gratitude will go a long way toward keeping these young fellows interested in continuing their good works.

Eleven-year-old Craig Mennenga left Friday morning by plane from Minneapolis for New York City, where he was to be met by his brother, Curt Mennenga. The latter had arranged a round-trip ticket for Craig so he could come east for a visit and some sight-seeing.

Craig will not only be a guest of his brother and sister-in-law, who live at Bergenfield, N. J., but will also be a guest of his sister-in-law's parents, the Douglas Kellys, in New York and will have the pleasure of visiting his sister Marilyn, who's now a New Yorker.

Curt instructed his parents that Craig should plan to spend three weekends, to allow plenty of time for seeing points of interest and "doing" the big city. A trip to Washington, D. C., is also on the agenda. Needless to say, Craig thinks his big brother's the best ever.

While it got pretty noisy up at the football field a bit later in the evening, you could just about have heard a pin drop 4th of July night when Emcee "Bud" Trafford presided over ceremonies that attended the awarding of that spankin' new Chevvy the Jaycees were seeking an owner for. Miss Belmond (Lavonne Hansen), Arlo Stoltenberg, Dr. Glenn Hruska and Roger Kinseth were delegated to see that proceedings were on the up-and-up. The winner? John Ostendorf of Alexander. What with Miss Belmond being from Rowan, the home folks weren't doin' too well Monday night.

The steady boy friend of Lavonne ("Miss Belmond") Hansen wasn't present at Saturday night's pageant to see the Rowan miss crowned. He was at Iowa City visiting relatives. He's Bruce Rampelberg, son of Rev. and Mrs. Jack Rampelberg.

Not optimistic about her chances in the "Miss Belmond" contest, Lavonne had not encouraged him to attend the pageant for fear of "spoiling his weekend."

One of the questions asked Miss Hansen as a finalist was whether teen-agers should "go steady." She recommended against the practice, even though she had to admit she hasn't followed her own advice. Lucky fellow, that Bruce!

Received a note from the A. M. Graebers, for many years residents of Goodell but now living at Flint, Mich., asking that their subscription to The Independent be renewed for another year. Wrote Mrs. Graeber: "We look forward each week to the paper; it's like getting a letter from old friends. Sorry to hear Mrs. Hanson is having to give up her reporting; but wish Mrs. Nolte success."

County Assessor Ross Henry doesn't think much of that proclamation of the Iowa Tax Commission that county assessors will be expected to return to the practice of having each tax-paying property visited annually for the purpose of fixing assessed valuation.

He says the very large majority of counties have abandoned that expensive system of assessment as too costly to be practical.

He has been hiring four field assessors to assist him. They make only such field visits, though, as particular circumstances indicate to be necessary. He figures that, to abide by the commission's ruly, he will need no less than 20 fieldmen for assistants.

WICKERSHAM SHOWS 4-H'ERS HOW TO GROOM FAIR STOCK

Tom Wickersham, livestock specialist from Iowa State university, last Friday demonstrated to Wright county 4-H members the correct way to fit and show their animals at the coming fairs.

Approximately 100 4-H'ers and parents attended the demonstration at the Eagle Grove Fairgrounds. Correct fitting and showing procedures were demonstrated on beef, lambs, dairy and swine.

Wickersham explained that the reason for fitting an animal for show was not to fool the judge but to bring out the good points of the animal.

ASC voting sites set; election next Thursday

Sites at which community election meetings for the various townships of Wright county will be held were announced this week. All will be held at 8:00 p. m. next Thursday, July 14.

The ASC is responsible for local administration of the federal government's agricultural price support, wool incentive, cost-sharing conservation and soil bank programs.

Location of the meetings are as follows: Belmond township—township hall in Belmond; Blaine — Dows city hall; Boone — Center schoolhouse; Dayton — Center school.

Liberty — Goldfield school; Lincoln — Center schoolhouse; Norway — Norway community center; Pleasant — Belmond public library basement.

Troy township — Center school, District 5; Vernon—Center school; Wall Lake — Center school; Woolstock — Woolstock town hall.

The first order of business at each meeting will be nomination of candidates. This will be followed by the election of a community ASC committee of three members and two alternate members.

The new chairmen of all community committees in the county will meet at the Wright county ASC office in Clarion on July 30 to name the ASC county committee of three members and two alternates. The term of office of all county and community committeemen will begin on Aug. 1 and run until the annual elections in 1961.

This system of election of county and community committees is virtually the same as that used annually from 1934 through 1950. The community elections were conducted by mail from 1951 through 1959, but it was decided to return to the township meeting system this year in order to give every farmer a more active part in the nomination and election of committeemen.

The present Wright county ASC committee members are personally urging all farmers to attend and participate in their respective township election meetings. As one means of stimulating interest in the meetings, a letter explaining the importance of ASC community committees has been sent to all persons known to be eligible to vote in the ASC elections.

Any farm landlord, owner-operator or tenant who believes he is eligible to vote in the ASC elections but failed to receive a letter regarding the community elections should check with the county ASC office.

According to county ASC office records, a total of 2591 persons are eligible to vote in the community elections in Wright county.

Demo's re-elect Robinson chief; select delegates

Marion Robinson of Holmes was re-elected chairman of the Wright county Democratic central committee at the county convention held last Friday at Clarion.

Mrs. Iris Groves of Clarion was elected vice chairman to succeed Mrs. Kenneth (Bette) Ketchum, who last year moved to Blue Earth, Minn.

Keynote speaker for the convention was Richard Wilson of Clarion, who is candidate for state representative from Wright county.

The convention chose 24 delegates to attend the state Democratic convention at Des Moines on July 23, and another eight delegates were named to attend the state judicial convention on July 30.

Delegates named to the state convention were: Bud Gannon, Martin Hill, Tillie Hill, Richard Wilson, Richard Bradley, Iris Groves and Harold Henry, all of Clarion; Marjorie Kennedy, Susan Anderson and Alvin Halfpap of Belmond.

John Hanson, Jr., Erma Lewright, Mervin Newkirk, Glenn Williams, Mrs. Sara Maier and Don Spangler of Eagle Grove; Mrs. John Frohling, Woolstock; Mark Nelson and Eleanor Huntley, Renwick; Olaf Eliason and Laurence Espe, Kanawha; Marion Robinson and Norris Ulstead, Holmes; Lawrence P. Johnson, Jr., Goldfield.

Delegates to the state judicial convention will be: Ross Stanberry, Martin Morrisey, Ray Bailey, Mrs. Vera Woiwood, Mildred Bradley, Katherine Morrissey, all of Clarion; Mrs. Glenn Wilson, Eagle Grove; and Ed Arndorfer, Galt.

SNACK SUPPER JULY 13TH

A snack supper is being served at the Immanuel Reformed church east of town next Wednesday, with a special low price for youngsters under the age of 12. Serving will start at 5:30 p. m.

Carnival worker's prompt thinking saves youngster

Quick thinking by an employee of the Sunset Amusement company Wednesday afternoon of last week possibly saved tragedy from blighting Alexander's highly successful Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Sandra Jean Smith, five, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith, had become ill on the tiltawhirl and the operator was slowing it down to enable her to dismount from her car. She did so before the cars were stopped and it was immediately evident she was going to be struck by the car behind hers.

Patrick Clive, 32, of Chicago without hesitation threw himself in front of the youngster to protect her from the rolling car. He was hurled into the center mechanism of the amusement device.

Dr. G. Earl Jurgenson of Meservey and Sandra Johnson, a registered nurse visiting at Alexander, gave the carnival worker first aid and he was then rushed to Belmond Community hospital.

Here he was found to have suffered a brain concussion and chest contusions. Although his local physician felt he was leaving the hospital too soon, Clive asked the next morning to be released in order that he could rejoin the carnival at Clear Lake. He explained that he was concerned over losing his job if he didn't show up.

Big crowds attend celebration

With the weather cooperating to the fullest degree, the Belmond Jaycees last weekend marked up another highly successful 4th of July celebration that provided entertainment for an estimated four or five thousand. Major highlight of the three-day affair was crowning Monday night of Lavonne Hansen of Rowan as Miss Belmond of 1960.

First runner-up in the Miss Belmond contest was Lynne Arends, a Rowan High school classmate of the winner (both graduated this past spring) and the second runner-up was Gloria Rogalla. Miss Congeniality, chosen by her fellow contestants for her friendliness and helpfulness, was Sondra Stoltenberg.
